"See that everything is securely closed for the night, Ben," I said to the old butler, whose eyes were already half-closed, and then slowly mounted the stairs. Usually I flew up them as a bird, but Claude's words had filled me with happy thoughts, and it seemed as though some sweet, soothing spirit and favored me with its white wings, and I must make no hurried movement, lest it should fly away. I entered my room, closed and bolted my door, and sank into a chair before my dressing bureau. My windows opened upon a little balcony, and the curtains trembled with the cool breeze, which came laden with the scent of the flowers it had trained upon it. I seemed filled with a delicious languor, and it required some effort to at last rouse myself to the task of preparing for bed. With lingering touch I unclasped the jewels from my ears. They were family heirlooms of great value my aunt had given me on my eighteenth birthday. Their light seemed almost to dazzle me, as I placed them in my jewel case, then glanced at my betrothal ring, which caught and held the light reflected from their depths. Then one by one I took the pins from my hair, and let it fall a soft, shimmering mass upon my shoulders. How Claude had admired it when one day on horseback it had escaped its thraldom. Would he love me the same when its gold had turned to gray and wrinkles had taken place of dimples? And, peering into the glass, I strove to fancy the change, and ... in imagination, two score and ten to my age, when, great Heaven! was that face white and blanched, eyes with wild terror, mouth half apart, with lips from which every trace of color had fled, the same which, a moment before, had pictured unsullied happiness? What had brought the change? Only a man's bare foot projecting from under my bed and causing its own hideous reflection in the glass. It was black and broad, the foot of a negro. I watched it as a cat might watch a mouse, a snake, a bird, with a fascination which seemed to enchant and enthrall me. I strove to scream aloud, but the effort, mercifully, was a vain one. My mouth, dry and parched, could utter no sound. My breath came hard and quick. My heart beat so loudly that I thought that he must hear it. "Ah, if Claude were but here!" And with that thought the horrid spell broke. Some degree of calmness took the place of almost frenzy. The remembrance that for his sake I must make some effort to escape. But, ah! was ever a prisoner in more helpless chains? Slowly, determinedly, I withdrew my eyes from the fearful thing less courage at the sight should fail me. I tried to think, but reason seemed to have deserted me, and a hopeless terror to have taken possession of me. "For Claude's sake! for Claude's sake!" This I murmured again and again to myself, trying on the transient calmness it might bring. Should I go to the door, unlock and unbolt it? I knew he would suspect, and that my trembling fingers should fail at their work, while perhaps a hand as hideous as the foot would clutch and bar me. Or, should I succeed, what then? The servants were in a remote part of the house, and the butler, who had been in my aunt's service some 20 years, was no match for a muscular opponent.

Then came an impulse to leap to the street—anything to escape that horrid presence which seemed to fill my room; but I abandoned that, unless as a more merciful means of ending my life. Back my eyes crept to the fearful ... immovable! What were his thoughts? Where his eyes? Watching ... I wondered—exulting with Satanic glee over the poor, trapped bird which had fallen into his net. Something must be done to save me from madness! This I realized as I rose to my feet and yawned aloud. Had I not screamed instead? No, there was no movement of the foot.

"How hot it is!" I exclaimed aloud, and my voice sounded as though it had come from a great distance. Then, standing for a moment by the open window, I stepped out upon the open balcony. The night winds seemed to greet me lovingly; the bands which had been wrapped so tightly about my heart were loosened, the hot weight pressing on my brain lifted.

The street was silent and deserted. The world lay all around me wrapped in sleep. I seemed alone—deserted by all, when, suddenly, a whistle loud and clear broke upon my ear. The air was one Claude loved and I had sung so often to him, as he stood beside me, his dear eyes looking into mine. Ah! would he ever hear my voice again? Nearer and nearer came the sound; a man's footfall, quick and clear, ringing out upon the pavement. Should he come this way, could I not in the name of humanity appeal to him for help? But how? Would not the ears behind me be quicker to catch my words than he who passed unconsciously on his route? There was but one way—to write and throw down to him my letter, and to do this I must go back into my room—perhaps to find impatience had overmastered prudence, and to be met by the horrid thing itself. But courage born of desperation came to me. One rapid glance showed me the state of affairs was unaltered, and, humming a tune, I believe, if memory serves me rightly, I went over and sat down at my desk.

"For heaven's sake help me," I wrote. "A man is in my room, my door bolted. I cannot escape! I will reward you liberally."

Then throwing down my pencil, as though the mood for writing had deserted me, I cautiously held the paper in my hand and stepped again on the balcony. The steps were very near now. The whistle under my window. I could see the man and form as he passed under the gaslight. He glanced upward. With the swiftness of thought I wrapped the paper in my handkerchief and threw it at his feet. He saw and picked it up, retraced his steps to the light and read the words I had inscribed, and as he did so, I saw it was Claude—my Claude, and knew that he would save me. He kissed his hand and waved the handkerchief, then hastened off, and as his form disappeared from sight the sick terror once more took possession of my heart, and I wondered how he could reach me. I must go back and pretend to undress to prevent suspicion. With ears strained for every sound, nerves quivering and unstrung, I began to remove the first ribbon or clasp, until at last I took off my dress and slipped on a wrapper, when once more my eyes fell upon the fearful semblance of a human foot, and courage, reason and endurance deserted me while my eyes were fastened on that spot. Not even when I heard footsteps hastening back, reahsing a ladder was being placed outside my window, saw the men, Claude foremost, rush into the room, watched them drag the intruder, black and hideous, from his lair, heard his muttered growl of vengeance, could I take my gaze from that one spot. Claude's tenderness, his appeals seemed to be as naught, I heard but understood them not until I felt fainting in his arms.

It was not until long after, when youthful health and vigor had conquered the fierce fever which then had seized me, that I understood how Claude, anxious and restless with love and foreboding, wandering back to the house to see if my light was out, and all still and safe, had come barely in time to save my life. The man had meant to murder me, doubtless, even had he spared my life, reason soon would have been forever eclipsed. He is now serving out a long sentence, and I have given Claude what I promised when I penned my words, as I thought to a stranger, "a liberal reward."

The Weight of the Earth.

The calculations of astronomers extending over many years have fixed the weight of the earth at 6,000,000,000,000,000,000, or six thousand and sixty-nine quintillion tons.

A well known statistician, J. Holt Schooling, endeavors to make the meaning of the figures clearer by various devices, such as shovelling the earth off into space, weighing it with the moon and so forth.

In the cut shown here the earth is compared with the moon. It may thus be seen that our planet weighs as much as seventy-eight moons.

The seventy-eight moons are each a shade smaller than the true size, in order to allow for the weight of the steel frame. Each side of this measures more than 20,000 miles in length, and is made of square steel strips that are 720 miles thick. The round rods that serve to fix the moons in this frame are each 115 miles in diameter.

It is found that the entire globe weighs fifty-two and a half times as much as Europe, eleven and a half times as much as Asia, seventeen and a half times as much as Africa, and thirteen and a third times as much as the two Americas.

The physical labor of counting the weight of the earth in tons is stupendous. Mr. Schooling imagines that the Colosseum at Rome is haunted by the ghosts of the 87,000 persons who once found room in it, and that they have been counting since A. D. 79 at the rate of 100 tons a minute. They would not have made a perceptible impression on the total. But if the inhabitants of a hundred million stars, each with a proportion of 1500 millions, were to undertake the task, they could get through with it in seven hours.

The statistician also considers the labor of carting the earth away. Supposing the occupants of greater planets found it desirable to do this. A million trains of ten thousand wagons each are loaded with the earth and discharge it into space at the rate of 15,000 tons per wagon. If they had started the work about 4615 years ago they would be about through with it now.

Such a disposal of the earth as this would be no disturbance of the universe.

Burdock BLOOD BITTERS

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

For all Blood Diseases, from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

The happiest moment in a woman's life is when she feels for the first time the clinging caress of her own baby's fingers. How many thousands of women miss this greatest, womanliest happiness and live out dreary babeless, loveless lives, because of ill health. Every woman should realize the supreme importance of healthy vigor and strength of the organs distinctly feminine. Unless a woman is willing to be that least envied of her sex, a childless woman, she cannot afford to neglect this feature of her health.

The best known and most successful medicine for the cure of all diseases and weaknesses of the female reproductive organs is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Hundreds of homes that for years remained childless now ring with childish laughter as a result of the beneficial effects of the "Favorite Prescription." It is the preparation of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V Pierce. For years it has been used by Dr. Pierce in his daily practice in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., the greatest institution of the kind in the world. It has relieved thousands of women from suffering and pain and prepared thousands for the successful performance of the duties of maternity.

W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay County, Arkansas, writes: "Since I last wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us. My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement, and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, heartier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic. It is a fact, sir, and we have not had to be up with her as often as twice at night since her birth. My wife had not even a fever for the two or three days after the child was born, although the attending physician told us that such would be the case. Our neighbors remarked to me that they thought my wife the stoutest little woman they ever knew. We think our good health due to the use of your family medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them.

A NIGHT'S EVENTS.

"Good-bye, then, Kate, if you will not repent at this last moment and go with me. I heartily wish you would. I do not feel at all comfortable about leaving you alone, even for a single night." So said my aunt, as she stood ready for her journey to her country home.

My trunks were standing strapped and packed with hers, but I had insisted upon remaining until the next day to attend to the last things necessary, and she had given consent very reluctantly, and, even at this late moment, seemed repenting. But I laughed as I kissed her again and again, and said:

"You forget, aunt, Claude is to spend the evening with me, so I will not have time to feel lonely; and, as for fear, it would be a sensation so novel that I think I would quite fancy an experience. Besides you have left two or three of the servants, and I do not know that your absolute presence would scare away any intruders." But she shook her head with rather an unbelieving air, and the last look I had, as she leaned from the carriage window to wave her hand in adieu, was one of loving anxiety. But on my own face was no shadow of care, as I glanced for a moment with a little pardonable pride at its reflection in the long mirror in the drawing room. A glad delight was dancing in the bright blue eyes at thought of the evening's anticipated pleasure, for was not Claude coming, and was not that name synonymous with all life and concentrated sweetness? Had not the thought of one evening more spent with him lent weight to the entreaty that I might remain another day under plea of usefulness? What practical test had I ever given that I could be useful?

When Claude came I laughingly recounted to him my aunt's foolish fears and how near, through them, we came to losing these few precious hours; but somehow, for the first time, his laugh failed to echo mine, and when the clock upon the mantle chimed eleven silvery strokes, and he rose to go, he said, very earnestly:

"I half believe, Kate, your aunt was right, and almost wish you had gone with her."

"That is all very well to say now," I answered, "when the time has come really to say good-by. If you had let me know your wishes this morning, I should have endeavored to comply with them."

"My selfishness forbade my giving them room, and, besides, it is a mere temporary infection. (This with a half laugh). Your aunt, as you say, is no formidable protection, and, after all, Kate (growing serious), I leave my darling in the good God's hands. Only, dear, I shall be very glad when the time comes that I can offer her a husband's protecting love."

Then, kissing the cheeks into which the scarlet blood had rushed at his words, he held me for one moment with a new earnestness clasped to his heart, uttered a last good-night and left me.

"See that everything is securely closed for the night, Ben," I said to the old butler, whose eyes were already half-closed, and then slowly mounted the stairs. Usually I flew up them as a bird, but Claude's words had filled me with happy thoughts, and it seemed as though some sweet, soothing spirit had favored me with its white wings, and I must make no hurried movement, lest it should fly away. THE GYPSY MOTH.

The Big Fight by Massachusetts With the Pest—Story of its Ravages.

Yesterday Mr. Robert Fife, of Smith, brought to the EXAMINER office a beautiful moth, which, from the cut accompanying a report of its ravages in Massachusetts, he feared was a specimen of the gypsy moth. He captured the specimen or, rather, two of them—male and female—in his orchard. However, his fears, and the fears of other owners of orchards, will be allayed by the fact that according to Mr. J. A. Fife, natural science master at the Collegiate Institute, and president of the Natural Science Association, the moths in question are the American Silk Worm Moth (tela polyphemus). However, these moths, bearing so close a resemblance to the gypsy moth, and the public being so much interested in the local ravages of the tent caterpillar (clisiocampa Americana), a perusal of the account of the trouble given in the United States by the gypsy moth, which may, at any moment, invade Canada, will be interesting. Forewarned is forearmed:

Massachusetts is at last, it seems, to be rid of the gypsy moth. The extermination is under way, and, with vigilance, liberal appropriations and scientific methods, it is believed that the end of the long battle is in sight. It is almost thirty years since Leopold Trouvelot, a French naturalist, brought the pest to this country for purposes of scientific experiment. Some of the moths escaped, and a hint of the harm they might do was recognized in 1870 by Professor C. V. Riley, State Entomologist of Missouri, who called attention to the rapid increase of the pest in New England. The real history of the gypsy moth and the battle for its extermination began in 1889. Hundreds of thousands appeared in localities where they had never been seen before and destroyed every green thing they touched. In 1890 the first gypsy moth commission was appointed by Governor Brackett. Its first estimate of the infested district was a tract about a mile square, and $25,000 was appropriated. In May it reported that the district was sixteen times as large as it had supposed, and received $25,000 more.

MEN TO FIGHT THE PEST.

Eighty-nine men were employed on the trees, and special police were appointed to patrol the roads and disinfect carriages, so that they would not spread the pest to other points. The matter was finally placed in the hands of the State Board of Agriculture in 1891, and laws were made governing the action of citizens in infested districts, and $50,000 more was appropriated. This was followed in 1892 by an appropriation of $75,000.

The moth was not discovered in any new towns in 1892, and there was no alarming outbreak. This was encouraging, but it was clear that the only way to exterminate it was to put an army of men in the field for several years. The Board asks for $165,000 and was given $100,000, and $100,000 more was asked from Congress. This sum was advanced in 1894, and $150,000 in 1895, and up to the present time almost seven hundred thousand dollars have been used. This year for the first time sees a decided decrease in the amount of money required.

In defending its calls for continued liberal appropriations, the Board of Agriculture pointed out that Massachusetts had $2,500,000,000 of taxable property on which to levy $200,000 a year, and that a man with property worth $5,000 would in that case have to pay only about forty cents a year, a sum which, compared with the incalculable damage the moth might do if not exterminated, is insignificant. The encouraging reports this year have reassured the many scientists who have seen in this little moth tremendous possibilities for damage to the whole United States.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION.

Prof. C. H. Fernald, of the State Board of Agriculture, in an interview says the territory covered by the gypsy moth is about two hundred square miles. They are in about twenty towns in Eastern Massachusetts, and this territory has been attacked from the outside till about half the area has been cleared.

The cost of extermination, as estimated by Professor Fernald, would be $200,000 each year, for five years; $100,000 yearly for another five years, and about fifteen thousand dollars yearly for the third five years. This, in all, would make a cost of about three dollars and twenty-five cents per man.

The moth eats everything that grows except the tobacco leaves. Professor Howard is to investigate the matter further this summer for the National Secretary of Agriculture, and if his report is satisfactory the burden of the work may be taken up by the national government. If pursued carefully, Professor Fernald says, the war against the moth may be completed within the first decade of the twentieth century, so that nothing but future importation need be feared.

SCALES LIKE A FISH

Terrible Condition of a Baby from a Scaly Skin Humor.

Our baby boy was born July 1, 1894. In the fall his legs became rough, from some skin trouble, from his knees down to his toes, also his arms, breast, and abdomen. We tried a great many different kinds of remedies, but without success. In the summer of 1895 it became a little better, but in the fall, and all winter, it was a sight to behold. He had scales on his body and arms like a fish, and almost black. In fact we were ashamed with it, but could not help it. We were almost in despair until we had used CUTICURA REMEDIES for about four days, when we noticed an improvement. Every time my wife washed him, her apron became covered with a scale-like skin. To-day it is gone, his skin is as smooth as any child, and we owe it, with the blessings of God, to CUTICURA REMEDIES. If you can use this testimony, we give our full consent.

GEO. HUYSKEN & WIFE,
375 Maple Street, Detroit, Mich.

In all the world there is no other treatment so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective as CUTICURA, greatest of skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies. CUTICURA REMEDIES daily perform more great cures of humiliating, disfiguring, humiliating skin, scalp, and blood diseases than all other blood and skin remedies combined. A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, gentle applications of CUTICURA (ointment), and mild doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures, constitute the only unfailing external and internal treatment for all forms of skin, scalp, and blood humor known.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank was held at the banking house, Toronto, on Tuesday, 15th June, 1897.

Among those present were: Col. Sir C. S. Gzowski, A.D.C., K.C.M.G., G. R. R. Cockburn, Donald Mackay, Hugh Ryan, G. M. Rose, Hon. J. C. Aikens, S. Nordheimer, John Hallam, A. S. Irving, C. S. Gzowski, jr., R. D. Perry, D. Ullyott, (Peterborough), F. M. Purdy and others.

On motion, Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn was called to the chair, and Mr. McGill was requested to act as secretary.

Messrs. C. S. Gzowski, jr., and F. M. Purdy were appointed Scrutineers.

At the request of the chairman, the secretary read the following report:

The Directors beg to present to the Shareholders the 40th Annual Report, for the year ending 31st May, 1897, together with the usual statement of Assets and Liabilities.

The net profits after deducting charges of management, interest accrued upon deposits and making provision for all bad and doubtful debts, were	$74,133 26
Profit and loss brought forward from 31st May, 1896	15,523 35
		$89,656 61
Which have been appropriated as follows:
Dividend 2½ per cent. paid 1st December, 1896	$25,000 00
Dividend 2½ per cent. paid 1st June, 1897	25,000 00
Added to rest	15,000 00
Reserved for officers guarantee fund	5,000 00
Written off bank premises	2,061 61
		72,061 61
Balance of profits carried forward		$17,595 00

The resolution passed at the last Annual General Meeting authorizing the reduction of the Capital Stock to $1,000,000, was approved by the Treasury Board on the 4th of September, 1896, and the Reserved Dividend was paid on the 15th October following.

A resolution will be proposed to the Shareholders asking them to authorize the payment of $5,000 to a Guarantee Fund for the Officers of the Bank, which it is thought advisable to institute.

The Bank Premises and Furniture Account have been reduced during the year by $2,061.61.

The Rest Account has been increased to $65,600, and the Profit and Loss account to $17,595.

The Head Office and all the Branches have been inspected during the year.

Considering the continued commercial depression, the business of the Bank has been fairly good, and the profits have been satisfactory.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. R. R. COCKBURN,
President.

EAGER MULTITUDES

Attend the Monster $40,000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them

VICTORIA THE GREAT.

The Laureate's Poem on the Queen's Jubilee.

HON. MR. LAURIER AT MANCHESTER

White Star Steamer Majestic Took the Party Through the Big Canal—The Colonial Premiers May be Invited to Make Definite Proposals on Trade Matters.

New York, June 17.—In its forthcoming issue The Independent, under the headline, "Victoria the Great," will publish the following poem, written for that paper by Alfred Austin, poet laureate of England:

The dew was on the summer lawn,
The roses bloomed, the woods were green,
When forth there came, as fresh as dawn,
A maiden with majestic mien.

They girt a crown about her brow,
They placed a sceptre in her hand,
And loud rung out a nation's vow,
"God guard the lady of the land."

And now the cuckoo calls once more,
And once again June's roses blow,
And round her throne her people pour,
Recalling sixty years ago.

And all the goodly days between,
Glory and sorrow, love and pain,
The wifely mother, widowed Queen,
The loftiest, as the longest, reign.

She shared her subjects' bane and bliss,
Welcomed the wise, the base withstood,
And taught by her clear life it is
The greatest greatness to be good.

Yet, while for peace she wrought and prayed,
She bore the trident, wore the helm,
And, Mistress of the Main, she made
An Empire of her island realm.

So, gathering now, from near, from far,
From rule whereon ne'er sets the day,
From Southern Cross and Northern Star,
Her people lift their hearts and pray:

Longer and longer may she reign,
And, through a summer night serene,
Whence day doth never wholly wane,
God spare and bless our Empress-Queen.
—Swinford, Old Manor, Ashford, Kent, England.

MR. LAURIER AT MANCHESTER.

The White Star Majestic's Tender Took the Premier Through the Canal.

Liverpool, June 16.—The tender of the White Star Line steamer Majestic took a large party to-day, including the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of Canada, and the other visiting Premiers, on a trip through the Manchester Canal.

What Mr Laurier Said.

Manchester, June 16.—The Premier of Canada, the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, who, with the other visiting Premiers, came here to-day by way of the Manchester Ship Canal, replying at luncheon to the toast, "Our Colonies," said:

The colonies are desirous of closer commercial union with Great Britain, but they are not inclined to abandon free trade, which has so prospered Great Britain that Canada has endeavored to open the door to closer commercial relations between Great Britain and her colonies, being animated thereto by gratitude to the country which has been a sort of mother to them and by business instincts. Canada will be glad to send many of her products to England, and, if Australia follows suit, who can doubt that the trade of Great Britain and her colonies will increase? Let there be free trade for Canada and free trade for Great Britain, but let's there also be commercial union all round. [Applause.]

THE CANADIAN VOLUNTEERS

Had a Warm Reception in London—The Royal Colonial Corps There.

London, June 16. The Canadian contingent of volunteers arrived in London last night from Liverpool, and notwithstanding the lateness of the hour there was a great crowd of enthusiastic Londoners at the station to greet them. As the men lined up on the platform under the electric lights for inspection their fine physique and general soldierly appearance called forth many appreciative remarks. Major-General Lord Methuen, C. B., in command of the Home District, was present with his staff to greet them as were also Sir Donald Smith, High Commissioner, and others.

At "open order" the Major-General inspected the men and appeared to entertain an excellent opinion of them. He addressed a few words to Col. Aylmer to that effect, and the command was given. Fours were formed, and the 200 swung out into the London streets amid a ringing cheer from the spectators.

Along the route to Chelsea Barracks the demonstrations of welcome were many and enthusiastic, and "three cheers for the Canadians" could be heard repeated again and again.

That the Canadian contingent is the equal, if not the superior, of any of the already arrived colonies is the opinion of all who saw them.

The sergeants of the Artists' Corps, one of London's crack volunteer regiments, will entertain the sergeants of the colonial corps on Friday night next.

The men who are all in robust health, say they had a very pleasant trip, although strict military discipline and exercise was maintained. They had but one day that might be termed rough weather.

THE ZOLLVEREIN.

A Belief That the Whole Question of Trade Treaties Will be Revised.

Montreal, June 16. The Star publishes the following special cable from London: "It is believed in well-informed circles that the Imperial Ministers have been led by Canada's preferential tariff, and under Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's sympathetic guidance, to carefully reconsider the whole question of the trade policy of the Empire, and that the Belgian-German treaties must go. The last-named impression seems not yet to be widespread.

"As to the next step, it is believed that Mr. Chamberlain, with the help of Lord Salisbury, Messrs. Caplin, Long and other avowed Protectionist members of Parliament, and with the acquiescence of Lord Salisbury, who has always been a luke-warm free trader, had prevailed on the Cabinet to invite the colonial premiers to make definite proposals for a preferential tariff agreement throughout the Empire.

"I learn that England, in the light of existing conditions, would have compensated the colonies by placing a small duty on foreign goods stuffs and on raw materials, competing with the colonial products in the British markets, as Mr. Chamberlain proposed last year. This policy, however, has been suddenly checkmated by Mr. Reid, the Premier of New South Wales, who comes out dead against Mr. Chamberlain's proposals. Mr. Reid is of opinion that the propositions given above were in the nature of pure protection, and so, ruinous to British greatness and development.

"Mr. Laurier's denunciation of protection as 'the greatest of all mistakes' for any nation, and his declaration that Canada has no desire to disturb England's free trade policy, will act powerfully in support of Mr. Reid's attitude. The Canadian Premier's sentiments elicit widespread approval in free trade circles here.

"Mr. Laurier says that Canada will, of course, accept a preference in the British markets, if offered to her; but he does not believe that English common sense will allow such a policy, nor does he believe the colonies would benefit from it in the long run.

"Mr. Laurier's arrival in London to-night is awaited with keen interest, for his bearing and public utterances have placed him in the forefront of the colonial premiers. The Premier is in Manchester to-day."

The Queen's Eyesight

London, June 16.—The sensational stories circulated in the United States by a newspaper in regard to the eyesight of Queen Victoria, which is said by that paper to be so bad that Her Majesty is almost totally blind, are not believed here. There has been no hint that the Queen's sight is any worse than might be expected in a woman of her age. Sir John Watt Reid, the Queen's resident physician, is now away on a holiday, so it is evident that Her Majesty's health causes him no anxiety.

The Queen's First Step.

Balmoral, Scotland, June 16.—Queen Victoria left Balmoral to-day for Windsor Castle. This is the first step of Her Majesty in the long program arranged to celebrate the 60th anniversary of her accession to the throne. Saturday next is known now as the eve of the Jubilee, and by that time all preparations for the busy week to follow will have been completed.

What Does Turkey Mean?

Lamia, Thessaly, June 16.—The Turkish troops are posting guns on the Othrys Heights, concealing them beneath branches of trees. They have also placed artillery in the burned convent of Anassolitia, and Turkish scouts have been seen during the night-time on the neutral ground between the two armies. This activity upon the part of the Turks has created much distrust among the Greeks.

Britain Swept by Gales.

London, June 16.—The north of England and Scotland have been swept by heavy gales. The suburbs of Glasgow and the country around that city are flooded and the railroads are submerged.

A terrible storm has swept over Liverpool, and Nelson's flagship, the Foudroyant, which is now touring the coast as a show ship, has been driven ashore and is expected to be lost.

THE FAST SERVICE

Voted Through by an Immense Majority.

DRUMMOND RAILWAY AGREEMENT

Also Passed the House After a Bitter Attack by Mr Foster—Additional Explanations by Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Blair Respectively—A Late Sitting.

Ottawa, June 16. (Special.) This has been an interesting day in the House. The fast Atlantic service has been under debate and the curious spectacle was presented of prominent Liberals opposing the proposal of the Government, while from the Conservative ranks came support to counterbalance these defections. The question was not regarded on either side as a party one, and the adoption of the contract being assured, individual members felt at liberty to state their position. It will be remembered that Mr. Wood of Hamilton led the Opposition to the fast line when the contract came up for ratification the other day. He continued his argument to-day when the debate was resumed. The chief points made by Mr. Wood and by all the opponents of the project were that Canada could not afford it, and that the conditions of navigation in the Gulf of St. Lawrence are such as to preclude the possibility of steaming at the rate of twenty knots an hour. Mr. Ellis (St. John), Dr. Macdonald (Huron), Mr. Charlton, Mr. McMillan (Huron), Mr. Ratz, Mr. Rogers, Mr. Stubbs, all reckoned as Government supporters, spoke in opposition, while in every case admitting that the Government had made a very good bargain. Mr. Foster expressed doubt as to the wisdom of making an experiment with the bottle-necked type of steamer proposed, and favorably mentioned the Knapp barrel ship, the inventor of which had as much confidence in his vessel as Petersen & Tate had in their bottle-necked vessel.

The great portion of the morning session was taken up on the bill respecting the Supreme Court. The bill limits the right of appeal from the Ontario Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court.

When the East Line resolution was called up Sir Richard Cartwright explained that the other day he had neglected to make an important announcement. It was to the effect that Petersen, Tate & Co. had agreed, in addition to the fast line, to establish a freight service of speed and capacity. This service would be to Montreal in summer and to Halifax or St John in winter, whichever happened to be chosen as the terminus of the fast line.

Sir Charles Tupper: What will be the speed of these freight vessels?

Sir Richard Cartwright: I cannot say exactly, but it will not be less than the speed of the Beaver Line.

Sir Charles Tupper: What is their speed?

Sir Richard Cartwright: Not less than 11 knots per hour.

Mr. Wood (Liberal, Hamilton) resumed his speech in opposition to the scheme. He read long extracts from Mr. Sandford Fleming's pamphlet against the St. Lawrence route. He quoted an article from The Globe of last August in opposition to the project.

Sir Charles Tupper said that a few days later The Globe published one of the strongest articles in favor of the service.

Mr. Ellis (Liberal, St. John) said that when this matter came up in 1889 the Liberal party was opposed to the expenditure of $500,000 per annum. Circumstances had not changed since then. The country knew no more about the matter now than it did eight years ago. He believed Canada could spend half a million dollars to better advantage than on this service. However, as the Government had pledged themselves to it, and the Opposition would vote for it, he supposed it was almost useless for anyone to oppose it. A great drawback to the success of the new undertaking arose from the fact that the country would be experimenting with the class of steamers which were to be put on. Certainly the fact that an entirely new type was to be adopted increased the difficulties.

Dr. McDonald (Huron) said he had opposed this scheme three times and he proposed to oppose it again.

Mr. Gillies (Conservative, Richmond, N. S.) supported the project, and strongly urged the claims of Louisburg, Cape Breton, as the best point for the steamers to arrive at and depart from on this side of the Atlantic. He thought the efforts of the Allans to thwart Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co. in carrying out their contract reflected very little credit on the firm.

At 1 o'clock the House adjourned.

After lunch Mr. Gillies continued his speech.

Mr. Charlton opposed the scheme altogether. The proposed subsidy would entail a total burden upon the country of sixteen millions of dollars. He was appalled at these increases proposed by the Government at a time when the conditions of the people of this country were far from prosperous. What did the people of Western Ontario care about a fast service? What did his constituents care about it? We did not need it. The whole thing was part of an Imperial scheme, concurrently with the C. P. R. and the Pacific steamers, and was fostered and encouraged by the Imperial authorities.

Mr. Charlton concluded by expressing the view that at the very least the country was being pledged to an expenditure which, capitalized, would amount to eight million dollars. As a representative of Ontario he opposed the scheme.

Mr. Clarke (West Toronto) followed, and promptly repudiated Mr. Charlton's statement that in opposing this project he voiced the feelings of the people of Ontario. He (Mr. Clarke) believed the scheme was required by Canadians as a part of an Imperial scheme in the best sense of the term. He described what had been done in the building of the C. P. R. and the establishment of the direct line. This service was needed to complete communication with the Mother Land and in the interests of our great Empire. [Hear, hear.] The Toronto Board of Trade, with 1000 members, one-third of whom lived outside of Toronto, had repeatedly declared

THE BRIDGE IS SAFE.

THE appearance of Hon. A. S. Hardy at Lancaster has served to incisively prick the oratorical bubbles that Mr. Whitney's band has been blowing in Western Ontario. Mr. Hardy's speech was an effective exposure of the fallacies presented by the leader of the Opposition, and a powerful defence of the administration of the Liberal Government of Ontario. Mr. Hardy's speech, crystallised into a sentence, showed that the affairs of the country had been effectively administered, and that the country had received value for every dollar expended. This is satisfactory Government. With every public service liberally supported, and the public money spent for public purposes only, there is no burning desire on the part of the sensible electors of Ontario to make change for the mere sake of change. It would not be thought wise to exchange capable administration for untried experimentalism. Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition, states that we are on the verge of direct taxation. Has he or his following shown any particular capacity to govern the country by direct taxation? Has the history of the party he represents, either in the Dominion or any of the provincial areas, shown a capacity for economical prudent and clean administration? Have they not, on the other hand, won a name for extravagant expenditure and corrupt methods that have resulted in a check to the resources that will take many years of careful and reparative administration to counteract? The bridge that carries us safely over the stream is good enough for Ontario.

A FINE BENEFACTION.

THE Sun Life Assurance Company doesn't do things by halves. It does not content itself with leading the country in the development of its insurance business, but shows its loyalty and public spirit by a splendid benefaction in celebration of the Diamond Jubilee. This takes the form of a drinking fountain to be erected on Dominion Square, Montreal, The design is that of a solid granite pile surmounted by the figure of a sleeping lion; the height from the ground to the highest point will be 11 feet 7 inches. On the front of the monument will be a drinking fountain surmounted by a wreath of palms. On the stone above will be a polished granite slab bearing a small inscription: "1837—1897. A tribute to Her Majesty, Queen Victoria." Above this will be a shield containing the Royal Arms at the sides and rear at the same level as the coat of arms, and thus at not too great a height to be easily read will be a series of eleven shields, each containing a few words emblematic of the immense strides in every direction which the Empire has taken during Her Majesty's reign. The only reference to the company will be that on a small slab on the rear face containing the words:—"Presented to the City of Montreal by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada on the occasion of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee, 1897."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Marchand Government had only just taken office when the return to Quebec of those twenty-two families from Michigan marked the improvement in the Province's prospects.

THE mere fact of men coming from Canada, who have been able to wear kilts here without having the knees frosen off them, will be quite an education for some people across the herring pond, says the Brantford Courier.

THE Liverpool Daily Post says of Mr. Laurier's speech at the banquet of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce:—"No competent listener on that occasion will ever forget the natural yet artistic splendor of his deliverance."

NOT A LONG-LIVED TARIEF.

Protectionists Predict a Short Life for the McKinley Tariff.

Montreal Star.

The likelihood of the new American tariff, now in process of being pieced together, enjoying any length of life, is exceedingly slender. It contains nearly all the elements of weakness that caused the collapse of the McKinley tariff, and has several suicidal features particularly its own. The lumber duties, for instance, were absent from the execrated McKinley schedules, and dear lumber will be a capital producer of discontent all through the great timberless districts. Then the wool duties have been restored, and nothing was more effective in stirring up the revolt against the McKinley tariff than the general belief that it was to blame for dear clothing. Every time a merchant increased the price of a piece of goods, he blandly excused himself to his customer by remarking, "The McKinley tariff, you know!" As Tom Reed said, it was "a hundred counters talking against one platform." Then the old agricultural schedules are restored, and when it is remembered how they irritated the section bordering on Canada without in any way soothing the agricultural west, their possibilities as breeders of discontent can be appreciated.

The signs of popular hostility to the new duties are to be seen already on all sides. The "sound money" Democrats are as outspoken as ever they were against the McKinley rates; and without the active aid of the "gold" Democracy the Republicans would probably not have now been in a position to pass this or any other tariff. Mr. Wanamaker lifts a warning voice from within the very centre of the Republican camp; and, except in the lobbies of Congress, there is little visible enthusiasm over the measure. We may easily see it flung away, and the business of the Republic paralyzed while another is in process of incubation after the next Presidential year.

CHEESE

Montreal, June 15th—In sympathy with the firmer tone of the country cheese markets, the feeling here is stronger, and if the markets keep in their present groove it would not surprise shippers to see a 9c market here very shortly. As it is now, finest Ontarios are easily worth 8¾c, when the prices being paid up west are taken into consideration.

The exports of cheese from New York for the week foot up 21,558 boxes, including 15,631 boxes to Liverpool, 589 boxes to Southampton, 388 boxes to London, 3,493 boxes to Glasgow, 272 boxes to Bristol, and 1,265 boxes to Hull.

The situation in New York is reported as follows: The market has cleaned up very closely of large full-cream cheese, and a few more could probably be sold, more especially of white if here, in view of the White Star boat sailing on Monday next week, instead of Wednesday; very little stock is available, however, and the week is closing in a strong manner, though values little more than nominal for the day. The Cunard steamer next week will sail on Thursday instead of Saturday, and much of the cheese that usually arrives here on Wednesday and Thursday each week will be shipped to-day and arrive here on Monday. Small size full cream have not cleaned very closely, still have sold fairly during the week, and as quality is generally full grass holders are firm in their views at generally 8c for fancy both white and coloured.

THE OLD MADE YOUNG.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS MAY STILL BE THE PORTION OF SUFFERERS ADVANCED IN YEARS. THE NEW INGREDIENT IS WORKING WONDERS.

People who get past middle life are apt to think that their days of usefulness are almost gone when they are seized with Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Sciatica, or some other dread disease, they consider their days are numbered and pain and suffering will be their lot for the few remaining years of their sojourn on earth.

With the advent of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, which contains the new Ingredient, a new hope has been opened up for aged sufferers Its action in driving away the aches and pains which Rheumatism and Sciatica, two of the commonest diseases to which the old are subject, has made many an aged one rejoice.

As an example of what great things Kootenay is doing for old people we might mention the case of Mrs. Catherine Burgess, 165 Jackson St. E., Hamilton, who states under oath that she is seventy-three years of age, that for two years she was afflicted with Rheumatism and Sciatica, had severe pains in her back and kidneys and broke out with Erysipelas. Since taking "Kootenay" she has been free from pain, has no eruption, a splendid appetite, sleeps well and is a hearty woman in every respect.

Then we might mention the cases of Mr. Patrick Ryder, a retired farmer, 69 years of age, living at 940 Lorne Ave., London, Ont., who swears that he suffered 36 years from Rheumatism, tried hundreds of local applications, but got no relief till he took Ryckman's Kootenay Cure which banished his rheumatism and restored his health.

Mr. John Hyde, of 141½ McNab St., Hamilton, Ont., under oath testifies that he is 72 years of age, suffered from Dyspepsia and Constipation for 35 years and was cured by Kootenay Cure.

No need to multiply instances of how this wonderful remedy has befriended the aged and given them a new lease of life If you are anxious to know more of this marvellous Kootenay Cure, address the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont., and full information will be sent you free.

The confidence of the people in Hood's Sarsaparilla is due to its unequalled record of wonderful cures.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

THE FAST SERVICE.

in most unequivocal terms in favor of the service. President Baird in 1892, President Wilkie in 1893 and President Caldecott in 1895, in their presidential addresses, spoke strongly in favor of the project, and they were known to be representative men. He congratulated Mr. Dobell on the favorable arrangement he had made for this service. If he had succeeded in securing proper vessels with the requisite speed and capacity, and saved $25,000 per annum, he had undoubtedly rendered good service to the country. He congratulated the Government on their proposals, and in carrying out a policy inaugurated by their predecessors. [General applause.]

Mr. McMillan (Liberal, Huron) said he had never heard a farmer in Ontario lift up his voice in favor of the fast line. There was less need for the service now, as cold storage lines were being established to leading ports of Great Britain. In the name of the farmers of Ontario he warned the Government that if they continued these great expenditures they would have to settle with the people. He believed the St. Lawrence was a very dangerous route.

Mr. Casey said he would be very sorry to believe that the farmers of Ontario as a whole were opposed to this scheme. Personally he favored the project, as needed in the interests of the country.

Mr. Rogers (Patron, Frontenac) opposed the scheme. He thought some heed should be paid to the views of men like Mr. Sandford Fleming. He believed it would be better to postpone this matter for a while, as types of vessels were changing continuously. He would be glad to support any motion to postpone the contract, but those holding the same views as himself were numerically small in the House, hence he would take the responsibility of moving an amendment. [Ironical cheering.]

Mr. Ratz (Liberal, Middlesex), as the representative of a farming constituency, opposed the scheme.

Mr. Stubbs said the project was unanimously condemned by the farmers of Cardwell, and as their representative he held the same views.

Mr. Foster congratulated the Government, and especially the leader of the House, on his sudden conversion to this service. He was glad to know now that Sir Richard had adopted an Imperial policy. But, while he had been able to change some of those sitting behind him, he had not been so successful to catch on as their leaders. [Laughter.]

Mr. McNeill was enthusiastic in favor of the project from an Imperial standpoint. He congratulated the Government on the prompt action they had taken in this matter.

The House then divided on the motion for ratification of the contract, which was carried by 135 to 22.

The nays were Messrs. Cameron, Somerville, McMillan, McDonald (Huron), Wood (Hamilton), Ellis, Stubbs, Richardson, Oliver, Erb, McInnes, Ratz, Meigs, Graham and Burnett (Liberals); Wilson, Hale and Ross Robertson (Conservatives), and Tolmie, Douglas, Rogers and Pettet (Patrons).

The bill from the Senate, "An Act respecting Interest," passed through committee and got its third reading.

INTERCOLONIAL EXTENSION.

Mr. Blair Explains the Proposals—A Misconception, the Minister Said.

At 8 o'clock Mr. Blair moved the House into committee on the Intercolonial Railway proposals, and at the suggestion of Mr. Foster, proceeded with his explanation thereof.

He complained, at the outset, that the debate precipitated the other day upon his bare explanation of the proposals had led to a general misconception of the scheme throughout the country. The word had gone out to the Opposition press to brand this as a flagrant outrage and himself as a jobber and corruptionist. It was very easy to cry jobbery and corruption. [Opposition hear, hear.] He proposed to show that there was ample justification for extending the I. C. R. to Montreal. In the past the I. C. R. had been under difficulties, and to treat it as other railways it should be extended to a larger distributing centre. At present it terminated at a village 170 miles from Montreal, where it was left to the mercy of its rivals. People had come to the conclusion that because the I. C. R. had so long been a burden to the people there was something radically wrong about it, and the less they had to do with it the better. The trouble was that the road was cribbed, cabined and confined, but with an extension to Montreal the era of deficits would be past. He knew, indeed, that the late Government had intended doing this, but they put it off from day to day. The Grand Trunk had all along enforced most onerous conditions upon the I. C. R. by exacting from the Government road a larger proportion of the mileage receipts than it was fairly entitled to charge. After paying these tolls very little profit was left to the I. C. R., and the Government was at the mercy of the G. T. R. It could not send a representative to those conventions whereat such matters are adjusted. The cry had been raised that even by the acquisition of the extension it would be at a long mileage disadvantage as compared with the C. P. R., but the question of mileage did not enter into the Government calculation.

Sir Charles Tupper: Hear, hear.

Mr. Blair, continuing, said that he was bound to take into consideration the local business all along the route. But, because this difference in distance could not be extinguished, was the I. C. R. forever to remain where it was? There was nothing in the charge that this would add seven or eight millions to the public debt. It would rather reduce the public debt by stopping the present loss in the operation of the Intercolonial. [Opposition laughter.]

Now, as to the estimate upon which he had reached the conclusion that the extension would pay, he would give the following figures, supplied to him by the officials of the I. C. R., who had instituted a comparison between the business of the I. C. R. last year, 1895-96, and the business which it was estimated would be done during the first year of the work of the extension, together with the cost of operation in each case:

Gross earnings	$2,957,642
Working expenses	3,012,000
Loss	55,000

	Estimated first year.
Gross earnings	$3,885,000
Working expenses	3,363,000
Surplus	520,000
Rental	210,000
Net surplus	310,000

Thus, continued Mr. Blair, we shall have a surplus of $300,000 a year when we get the road extended, instead of a loss of $55,000. [Ministerial cheers.]

Mr. Wallace: That was for last year. Can the hon. gentleman give us the earnings for this year, it is nearly completed?

Mr. Blair: The year is not ended, and not till it is shall I be able to give the figures, but my estimate is that the deficit this year will be more like $100,000. [Hear, hear, and laughter.]

Continuing, the Minister gave the net earnings of the Drummond Counties Railway, showing that they had run from $12,644 in 1893 to $29,000 last year, and $28,445 for ten months of the current year. By adding the necessary 43 miles the road would duplicate and triplicate its receipts, and thus at one blow cut off one-half the debt which the Opposition charged he was piling on the country. But it was as a through line the road would be chiefly valuable, and in that respect the bargain was a good one.

As to the $37,500 yearly rental for the 35 miles of Grand Trunk road to be used, it was a reasonable payment. The road cost a million and a half, and half the interest on that at five per cent. amounted to $37,500, and it was better to take the Grand Trunk's estimate and pay half the interest on it than attempt to build a new line at the cost of Government roads in the past.

In conclusion, Mr. Blair submitted the resolution with every confidence that it would be acceptable to the House, notwithstanding the misrepresentations of the Opposition. It was due to the time taken up by the tariff that the resolution was not brought down long ago, not because the Government feared to give more time for the fuller consideration of the proposal.

Mr. Foster rose to reply amidst Opposition cheers. The House, he said, had listened attentively to the apology which the Minister had made to the House. All through his address Mr. Blair had not acted as a gentleman laying a simple business proposition before the House, reasoning it out on grounds of public policy for the acceptance of Parliament; on the contrary, he had spent much time in defending himself from newspaper attacks of jobbery. Mr. Blair's action reminded him of the old French proverb, "Qui s'excuse s'accuse." [Hear, hear.] In place of controversial matter the Minister should have devoted himself to the business view alone. But what he had utterly failed to do was to lay down his basis of expectation where the added business was to come from. Everything was prophecy and contingency. The cardinal defect of the presentation of this scheme was the fact that he had given no definite information before Parliament. Mr. Blair had treated his own followers as if they sat behind him simply to vote as he wished.

Dealing with the cost of the Drummond Counties Railway it appeared from the promoters' statement that it cost $1,000,000. The total subsidies paid to the railway amounted to $782,000.

Mr. Blair: Of which the Dominion only contributed $287,000.

Mr. Foster: No, $207,000.

Mr. Blair: My recollection is $287,000.

Mr. Foster: And your reports show $207,000.

The Drummond Counties Railway Company had then only spent $720,000 or thereabouts of their own money on this road. The Government was buying back $207,000 of the Dominion's own money. [Opposition cheers.] For an actual cost of $720,000 the Government was paying $1,660,000, equal to 8 per cent., for 99 years. [Opposition cheers.] The Minister had not taken the mileage into account in arranging this scheme. From Montreal to St. John the difference in favor of the C. P. R. was 287 miles, and to Halifax 76 miles. But, if the Government did not consider the mileage, the shipper would, and he would undoubtedly select the shorter route. To points on the I. C. R. as far as Moncton, that road might fairly be expected to have a monopoly, but where was to be the accretion of local traffic? Not a dollar more could the Government expect under that head. [Hear, hear.]

As regards through freight, was it likely that the Grand Trunk would sit idly by and let the I. C. R. get the traffic from territory which the G. T. R. was specially built to serve? The idea was a preposterous one. Personally he (Mr. Foster) held that the question of mileage was the great question in connection with this proposition.

Mr. Charlton asked if Mr. Foster was opposed to the extension of the I. C. R. into Montreal under any circumstances.

Mr. Foster would not say that he was. But there was every difference between an idea and the way the idea was carried out, and results coming from it. He challenged the Government to show how, under the disadvantages, circumstances of the road and competition of the Grand Trunk and C. P. R., this increased business was to be got.

Mr. Pope (Conservative, Compton) said Mr. Foster's admission to Mr. Charlton that there were circumstances under which he would favor the extension of the I. C. R. to Montreal answered his previous three-quarters of an hour's speech. He supported the resolution because in the past the Intercolonial had had to take skim milk while the other roads got the cream. [Liberal cheers.] The change from Levis to Montreal would be a great boon to the Intercolonial. Having heard adverse statements against the Drummond Counties Road he had taken the trouble to go over it last Saturday. Far from it being a lumbering road merely, it was a first-class railway.

Mr. Wallace: It is a tan-bark road.

Mr. Pope: The ex-Minister of Something or other [Liberal laughter] says it is a tan-bark road. Well, if he went down into that section and did some of his barking there he would get tanned. [Liberal laughter.]

Mr. Haggart said the road would never pay operating expenses.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Craig and Dupont, both of whom opposed the resolutions.

Mr. Wallace condemned the Government for not supplying the House with information regarding this project.

Mr. Wallace was proceeding with his criticism of the Drummond Counties Railway deal when Mr. Pope arose and resented what he considered an implied reflection upon himself.

Mr. Wallace advised him to take his medicine quietly. [Laughter.]

Mr. Pope interrupted, and said when anyone insinuated that he was a boodler he insinuated what was not true. He denied that he had, or ever had had, any interest in the Drummond Counties Railway.

Mr. Wallace concluded by condemning what he called a bad bargain for the Dominion.

The House then divided on Mr. Blair's motion to go into committee, which was carried by 91 to 47.

Messrs. Pope, Poupore and Moore, Conservatives, voted for the Government; Messrs. Angers and Monet, Liberals, with the Opposition.

The House then went into committee, but immediately rose. At 2.10 a.m. the House adjourned.

Chase's Ointment Cures All Skin Irritations.

GRACIE AITON.

Of the many skin diseases, eczema is one of the worst and most common. The one effective remedy so far discovered for it is Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. Mr. Andrew Aiton, of Hartland, N.B., says:

"My little daughter, Grace Ella, aged three and a half, was a dreadful sufferer from eczema for three years. We tried a number of alleged cures and several doctors, but all without effect. Her's was indeed a bad case. Her little body was entirely covered with rash. One day our local druggist, Mr. Wm. E. Thistle, recommended me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. I did so, and four boxes effected a complete cure and saved our child."

Dr Chase's Ointment is just as effective for piles, salt rheum and sores of all descriptions. For sale by all dealers and Edmanson, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto; price 60 cents.

There is nothing to equal Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for severe colds and lung troubles. Large bottle 25 cents.

Biliousness and liver complaint, headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

Saturday Afternoon Excursion.

The City of Peterborough will run her first Saturday afternoon excursion this season on Saturday, June 19th, to Victoria Park and Jubilee, leaving the C. P. R. wharf at 2 o'clock, calling at Ashburnham. Return tickets to Victoria Park, 25c; to Jubilee, 50c. 2d141

Idyl Wyld.

Idyl Wyld is again open for the season and is still under the popular management of Spellman Bros., who, as of yore, will make excursion parties and guests at the hotel heartily welcome. There will be a good boat service to the resort this summer from all points.

Demise of Mrs. Wm. Hayden.

The Peterborough friends of Mr. Wm. Hayden, formerly G. T. R. stationmaster in Peterborough, who was recently moved to Waubaushene, will regret to learn of the death of his wife yesterday. Mrs. Hayden had been an invalid for years. Last evening Mr. D. Belleghem left for Waubaushene to take charge of the funeral arrangements.

Says he Knows the Chief.

Chief Rossel received a telegram from Detective Holman, of the Grand Trunk Railway, this morning, stating that he had under arrest at St. Hyacinthe a man giving his name as Joe Miller, professing to hail from Peterborough, and claiming acquaintanceship with the Chief who, however, telegraphed back that he knew naught of the man.

Fresh Fish! Fresh Fish!

The season for fresh Fish is now fully open. We have arranged for a continuous supply, fresh every day, of Bass, Maskinonge, White Fish and Salmon Trout. Customers will please place their orders early in the morning and give us a chance to deliver in good time. Sea Salmon for Jubilee week. Fresh fruits and vegetables every morning.—J. B. OKE & Co., 418 George street.

Sent Back to Toronto.

A tramp giving his name as Henry Williams was sent here from Toronto last night on the train, but he will be promptly returned to the Queen's City to day as Peterborough will have none of him. Williams was sent here, as he stated that in 1841 he was born in Peterborough leaving the town eight or ten years ago. He knows no one here, however, and the magistrate disbelieving his story, ordered him to be sent back to Toronto again.

Foresters' Excursion.

One of the best excursions of the season is that which is given annually by the Canadian Foresters. This year Courts Peterborough and Young Peterborough will unite and hold the excursion on Dominion Day to Jubilee Point, the steamer leaving the Peterborough wharf at 7.40 a.m. and calling at Ashburnham. A first-class orchestra will furnish music for dancing and an excellent programme of sports has been arranged for the afternoon. Tickets 40 cents, children 20 cents.

ANOTHER JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Maggie Brown and Mr. R. McGill Hood.

Last evening at seven o'clock the wedding took place of Miss Maggie Brown, daughter of the late John Brown, No. 33 Lewis street, to Mr. R. McGill Hood, of the wholesale firm of M. L. Schoman & Co., Montreal.

The ceremony took place at the family residence and was performed by Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of St. John's church, the bride being given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Morrison, of Lindsay. The parlour where the marriage was solemnized was very prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion.

The bride wore a handsome fawn gown with garniture of sequins and chiffon, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. She was assisted by Miss Bessie Coulter, who was prettily gowned in heliotrope and carried pink roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Robert Brown, brother of the bride.

Amongst the many beautiful gifts received was a handsome diamond and turquoise ring from the bride's brothers and sisters.

At the conclusion of the ceremony an informal reception was held when about forty relatives of the bride partook of the wedding dejeuner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood have gone east on a wedding trip which will last until September, when they will take up residence in Montreal.

DIAMOND JUBILEE NOTES.

Little Notes of the Progress Made in Celebration Arrangements.

At a well-attended meeting of the Central Jubilee Committee in the town clerk's office last night arrangements were made for the employment of several outside bands for the occasion, including the Campbellford band, and Councillor Cobb was given carte blanche for the decoration of the town buildings.

Some of the merchants are making elaborate arrangements for the decoration and illumination of their premises. Some of the plans prepared suggest magnificent effects.

It would be a good idea if the local butchers would do as their Montreal brethren purpose doing on Jubilee Day, viz., dressing in white and riding their horses in the parade.

The wheelmen propose decorating their wheels profusely for the occasion. It wouldn't be a bad idea if the committee offered a prize for the prettiest decorated bicycle in the procession.

Mr. P. Campbell, of the Sports Committe, in answer to a request, yesterday evening received a "sanction" for the chairman of the C.W.A. Racing Board from the bicycle races to be run at the Driving Park on Jubilee Day. Mr. Alex. Gibson is appointed official time-keeper.

It is time for citizens to begin making arrangements for decoration and illumination for Jubilee Day.

The staging for the illumination of Victoria (Court House) Park for Jubilee Day is in place.

The members of the Independent (ladies) Bicycle Club have not yet decided whether to turn out with the Jubilee Day procession or not. A meeting was held last evento discuss the project but no decision was reached.

"HARD TIMES" PARADE.

Not Many Turned out, but those that Turned out were "all the Way."

The "hard times" parade of the Victoria Club wheelmen last night caused quite a crowd to assemble on the street. A more disreputable looking crowd of tramps could not have been gathered from the four corners of the earth, and as the most antiquated old wheels imaginable were ridden, the ludicrous effect was increased, and many a hearty roar of laughter was heard as they paraded up and down George street during the evening. Those participating were Messrs. H. R. H. Kenner, A. McNee, W. J. Thompson, Fred Dickson, Gus Hay, Chris Graham, Ernie Wasson and Alf Terrill, and just who looked the toughest it would be hard to say.

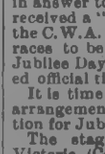
Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 28 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.



Grand Jubilee Concert.

The only Jubilee concert of the season. Hear the children sing Godfrey's "The Land of the Maple," which has captured Toronto and every other place where it has been rendered. Everyone who has heard Mr. Sturrock believes him equal to, and many prefer him to Harold Jarvis. The Toronto Mail says he has "a wonderfully true, deep and steady voice." Hear him sing "Her Majesty," a special Jubilee song, by Stephen Adams (composer of "The Holy City.") Don't miss hearing our own popular young violiniste, Miss Lottie Bell. Hear Miss McCollum's rendering of the thrilling incident of the Matabele war. Opera House Friday night.

Mr. Man!

One dollar spent at Gough Bros.' gigantic clothing sale will have the buying powers of two. Shouldn't you welcome this kind of economy? Keen buyers should be quick to take advantage of such inducements by paying ready cash for clothing that appeals to their good judgment and purse. What we save you save. It would be a senseless effort to induce such a crowded sale as we are having unless every customer was satisfied. Gough Bros.' reputation for good clothing, low prices and the faithful performance of every promise made, give a significance to this sale. Nobody spends their money here without a good reason. Hundreds who have visited our store this week can endorse all that they have heard and read about the unmistakeable low prices which prevail. There has been a perfect cyclone of bargains, and the choice of suits is as good as ever. Judge for yourselves:

Men's Serge Suits, in blue and black, heavy twill, farmer satin lined, perfect-fitting goods, worth $10 for $5.

Men's all-wool Canadian and Imported Tweeds, in twills and checks, in various shades, well made and trimmed, worth $8 for $4.

Men's Summer Clothing, in Coats and Vests, and Coat and Pants, or the single unlined Coat, just the thing for a warm day, from $1 to $3.50.

Hundreds of such bargains for the workingmen and their families, for business men and their families, for professional men and their families. Our window is dressed with samples of these fine suits, to be sold at exactly half price, which is a good deal less than wholesale cost.

GOUGH BROS.

MRS. J. J. RAE REMEMBERED.

Entertained at a Farewell Tea and Presented with Affectionate Addresses.

At the close of the prayer meeting in the Charlotte street church last night, a farewell tea was tendered to Mrs. Rae, who will leave the town shortly. Advantage was taken of the occasion to present Mrs. Rae with the following address on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, read by the secretary, Mrs. T. H. Brooks, the accompanying presentation was made by Mrs. J. J. McBain:

Dear Mrs Rae:

In anticipation of the separation which is about to take place between yourself and the other members of the society represented here to-night, this simple entertainment has been prepared, thereby to express our friendship for you who have been intimately associated with us during the past three years, sharing the anxieties, burdens and successes of the work which has been carried on.

And now, Mrs. Rae, as we glance over these years, we cannot fail to recall with pleasure and gratitude the willing and efficient efforts which you have so cheerfully made to assist us in every way within your power, and we wish to acknowledge the same, as well as to express our friendship and good wishes by presenting you with this pudding dish, hoping that it will often serve as a pleasant reminder of your association with the Ladies' Aid Society of the Charlotte street church.

[Signed,]

MRS. M. E. HAMILTON, President.
MRS. T. H. BROOKS, Secretary.

Peterborough, 16th June, 1897.

Mrs. Rae, who was, as thoroughly as she was delightedly, surprised, made a touching reply to the loving remembrance implied in the sentiments of the address, which she would esteem and long remember as a token of loving regard that had inspired such thoughtfulness and kindly good wishes.

Little Nellie Rae was presented from the same source with a silver fern pot, filled with beautiful flowers, which the "cute" little recipient naively and gracefully acknowledged. The presentation was made by Miss Mary Jory.

ANOTHER ADDRESS

came from the representatives of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary, and was read by Mrs. Jory as follows:

DEAR MRS. RAE—As you are about to leave us to labour in another part of the Master's vineyard, we sincerely regret the severance of the tie that binds our hearts so closely in this blessed work for Christ. However, we all feel that we cannot allow you to go without some expression of our appreciation of your willing service in connection with our W.M.S.

You have indeed cheered us by your presence and aided us very materially by your helpful suggestions and earnest prayers.

You may rest assured that although seperated here, you and your "Little Nellie" (who has also been a member with us) have our best wishes for your future prosperity wherever in our beloved Canada your lot may be cast.

Go, labour on, spend and be spent,
Thy joy to do thy Father's will,
It is the way the Master went,
Should not the servant tread it still?

Signed on behalf of the Woman's Auxiliary.

MRS. J. K. MOORE, President.

Peterborough, June 16th, 1897.

Mrs. Rae while listening to this address seemed moved by strong feelings and returned her thanks in appropriate terms.

STILL ANOTHER.

Advantage was taken of the occasion to give a recognition of the services of Mrs. J. W. Bacon, who has for a long time been an earnest and active member of the Auxiliary and who is about to leave the town. She was the recipient of the following address, also read by Mrs. Jory:

DEAR MRS. BACON,—As you are about to leave us for a distant home, we most sincerely wish to express our esteem for you as a faithful, efficient and one of the oldest members of our Missionary Auxiliary. You carry with you our best wishes for your temporal and spiritual prosperity and we hope and trust that God may use you still more in His blessed service and when your labours on earth are ended may you hear the good summons, "Come up higher."

Signed on behalf of the Auxiliary,

MRS. J. K. MOORE, President.

Peterborough, June 16th, 1897.

Mrs. Bacon responded in earnest terms and all recognized the sincerity of her well chosen words.

During the evening the assembled company sang with fine effect the pathetic hymn:

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love:
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

After partaking of the excellent refreshments provided, a most pleasant and profitable evening was brought to a close. The absence of Rev. Mr. Rae, who was out of town, was much regretted.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Robt. H. Fairweather was in Lindsay yesterday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and the Misses Bradshaw of Lindsay, are guests at the residence of Mrs. John Brown, Louis street.

The family of Mr. William Scott, G.T.R. baggageman on Conductor Morris' train, removed to-day to Lindsay, where they will reside in future.

Mr. R. M. McWilliams is home from his law studies in Toronto for the summer, and is receiving the congratulations of his friends as having passed his examinations with such success.

Rev. D. C. Crossley, who is to occupy the pulpit of the Charlotte street church for the next term, is at present lying very ill at his home in Napanee from the effects of an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. Walter S. Davidson has successfully passed his second year examination in the Ontario Law Society and to day his friends are congratulating him on his success. Mr. Davidson studied for several years with the local law firm of Stratton & Hall.

Mr. W. J. Spence, who will be remembered as having won three scholarships two years ago at Collegiate Institute senior leaving examinations, continues his success. He is attending Victoria College, and at the last University first year examinations took the Ames scholarship, worth $60.

Rev. R. E. Spence, who captured the Prince of Wales' gold medal for general proficiency in Arts at the recent examinations in Toronto University, returned to town last evening. Mr. Spence's achievement is emphasized by the fact that he won the medal the first time since it was offered for general proficiency in 1895. In 1896 no one reached the standard—first-class honours in all subjects. Mr. Spence is to be congratulated on his brilliant success.

JUBILEE SUNDAY.

Arrangements Made to Attend Divine Worship by the Societies.

A meeting was held last evening of the representatives of the municipal bodies and the local societies to discuss the details of the suggestion of the Sons of England relative to attending divine worship next Sunday in a body.

It was decided to leave the details to the Sons of England to arrange and it is announced to-day by them that all the societies will meet in the Central Park at 2.45 o'clock in the afternoon and form into procession as follows:

Union Jack.
Sons of England Band.
True Blues.
Orangemen.
Knights of Maccabees.
A. O. U. W.
Independent Foresters.
Ancient Foresters.
Independent Order of Oddfellows.
St. Andrew's Society.
Board of Education.
Town Council.
Sons of England.

Each society will appoint its own marshal, and the procession will march down George street to Hunter street to St. John's church, where Rev. H. Symonds will deliver the sermon.

Afterwards the societies will return to Central Park and sing the National Anthem.

ST. LUKE'S GARDEN PARTY.

The Proceeds Will be Used in Connection With the Renovating of the Church.

Ashburnham was invaded last evening by an influx of Peterborough citizens in addition to a large attendande of village people in attendance at St. Luke's garden party, in Mr. R. B. Rogers pretty grounds, which were very prettily decorated for the occasion with Chinese lanterns.

The affair was held under the joint auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary and the Girl's Guild of St. Luke's church, and the funds are to be devoted to renovating and cleaning the interior of the edifice. By the large number present it is evident that the two societies can be congratulated on the success of the entertainment, financially and, as to the excellence of the programme provided, those in attendance will vouch.

The Fire Brigade Band was present and during the evening kindly played a large number of selections in their usual pleasing style.

Those assisting the programme were Mrs. Seward, Miss Vina Belleghem, Mr. Jas. Brown, Mr. E. Hall and Rev. W. L. Baynes Read.

A brisk trade was done in cake, coffee and ice cream, and as the grounds appear to be especially adapted for the purpose for which they were used last evening, the entertainment passed off most pleasantly.

Young Women's Christian Asso.

There will be an association meeting on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All the members are requested to come on time and bring in their reports. Any having had tickets for sale for garden party kindly bring receipts before the time of meeting if possible. The ladies desire to thank Mr. McDonald for putting in a commodious linen press for the boarding house.

POOR LUCK.

The 'Lunge are not Biting This Year on Account of the High Water.

One of the fishing parties returned from Buckhorn last night and report having only had fair luck, being only able to land between thirty and forty bass and one 'lunge.

The party was composed of Messrs. T. E. Bradburn, R. M. Dennistoun, H. C. Winch, T. H. G. Denne, W. J. Wattam, R. J. Kingan and R. J. Winch.

The fish seem disinclined to take the minnow this year, as on account of the high water the feeding grounds have been greatly extended and worms and grubs are plentiful. There are also a great quantity of minnows in shoals.

The party found that the only way to land bass was by trying them with the fly in the early morning or in the evening.

The lakes were swarming with fishermen yesterday, but all complain of poor luck for the same reason. One man trolled all the way from Bobcaygeon to Eastwood's and never had a strike, and Mr. Dennistoun fared in the same way, although he was out nearly all day.

Mr. Alex. Patterson was down at Rice Lake and returned last night. Although the fish were jumping all around him he failed to land one.

Chemong is overrun with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton from Rochester, who are accompanied by their families.

New Invention in Photography.

Mr. A. E. Ford, photographer, Charlotte street, has introduced into Peterborough the new "Bas Relief" photography, which is becoming very popular in the large cities. Mr. Ford has some excellent samples of the new process, developed in his own photograph studio, on exhibition in his art window, which are being greatly admired. The special attractiveness of the "Bas Relief" consists in developing the usual flat photograph into fine statuesque effects. The features and figures are made to stand out prominently from the background, and give a more life-like outline of the subject. When skilfully taken and moulded into artistic mats and frames, a very novel effect is produced. The pictures can be taken in all sizes from the "cabinet" size up. Residences, animals, etc., can als be reproduced by this new process, and there is scarcely any limit to its effectiveness in its application to photography. Mr. Ford has secured the exclusive right in Peterborough for this new process and extends a cordial invitation to the public to call at the studio and inspect the new photography now on exhibition. Ladies, especially will be pleased as well as surprised at the striking improvement which the "Bas Relief" affords. Mr. Ford is prepared to produce the best results attainable, and will cheerfully afford every inspection desired. 3d

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

Hastings and the Peterborough juniors will probably play a match at Jubilee Point within the next few weeks for a trophy, which Commodore Calcutt, with his accustomed liberality, will offer.

The Hastings Star makes the following reference to the game of lacrosse which the Peterborough Granites played in that town last Saturday: From start to finish the game was quiet and clean, no rough playing being done. The game was too much one-sided to be very interesting, our defence having nothing much to do. The Peterborough boys are a gentlemanly lot, and in time we expect to see them one of the leading teams of that place. The first goal was scored by Sawyer for Peterborough in ten minutes, and in the remaining fifty minutes actual play, Hastings scored five goals. Among the many players whom we may make mention of is Mr. H. Barlow, who lately came here from Sterling.

CRICKET.

The Trinity College School team from Port Hope comes up on Saturday, when the local club will play its first match of the season. Play will begin at about eleven o'clock in the morning and will last all day, luncheon being served on the grounds at the Nicholls Park. The cricketers extend a cordial invitation to all their friends to witness the initial game of the season.

THE WHEEL.

A paragraph in our sporting column yesterday seems to need some explanation. The paragraph was written with the sole object of emphasising the danger that arises from the circumstances indicated. It is understood that the park is for the use of the general public for the purposes of sport and pleasure. The beautiful oval is devoted to cricket and allied games, and the track is devoted to the wheel. The track being an excellent one is a great attraction to cyclists and it is no surprise that large numbers congregate nigotly. It seems that a little mutual forbearance and an understanding as to the times that pleasure riders and practising wheelmen may respectively occupy the course, would ease the difficulty. If the latter could manage to do their work in the morning, and leave the track clear in the evening, or some similar arrangement could be agreed upon, the danger of accident that, under certain circumstances, exists, would be removed. It is to be understood that no one has a right to a monopoly of the course at any time except by mutual concession. And surely the interests that seem now to come somewhat in conflict, might come to an understanding that would be to the advantage of all concerned.

A gentlemen largely interested in wheeling, suggests that the racing men have possession of the course for the purposes of practice from 6 30 to 7.30 in the evening, and that after that hour it be understood that no rapid riding is to be done on the course. It is to be hoped that an amicable and mutually satisfactory arrangement like this, or something similar, will be arrived at.

FROM THE ROCKIES.

Mr. Lou Knowles Writes From the Far West—He is With a Topographical Survey Party.

Mr. F. B. Knowles has just received the appended letter from his son Lou, formerly of the Canadian General Electric Works, who was a general favourite during his residence in town. His comments on "life in the Rockies" will be found interesting:

JUMPING POND PARK CAMP,
ROCKY MOUNTAINS, June 1st.

DEAR FATHER,—This is about the first opportunity I have had to write since starting out on the 13th May, and as the chief is going to start for town on Sunday, and as to-day is the same as the last few days have been—snow, rain, cold and dismal, too much so for work—the most of us are employing our time writing letters. Our party consists of nine people all told, nine horses, two wagons and a light buckboard. The personnel—A. O. Wheeler, Ottawa, chief; W. H. McKenzie (my friend), assistant chief; H. Wheeler, brother to chief; 3 Kidds, 2 Douglases and Lafferty from Calgary; Lowndes, teamster; Jamieson, Cook, and yours truly. Our work is what is called topographical survey, that is, taking observations and photographs from the highest points on a given radius, which means climbing all the highest points on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, between the source of High River and Jumping Pond Creek.

It sounds well and no doubt seems very easy to people away down east where the altitudes are low and the air of a good thick quality. But when a fellow has to pack a load on his back and climb about 7,500 feet in the air, in places hundreds of feet almost perpendicularly, it takes the romance and beauty out of it, and incidentally more breath than you can pump through your lungs. It tries a fellow's powers of endurance to the utmost limit. The higher up you go the harder it is to breathe and the extra exertion is more than a person can imagine who has not gone through the ordeal. The gold ducats you speak of are not on this side of the divide. But there is plenty of coal. Just where our camp is situated, coal is in abundance, sticking out of the ground enough to last a century, and coming down one of the mountain streams a few days ago, I passed what appeared to be a beautiful sample of coal over a mile long. We have had some good fishing here, at least the Kidds have, but though very pretty trout and a good size, they don't taste so good as the speckled beauties farther east. I have not caught any myself, being usually ready for bed after supper. You see we breakfast at 6. Have to break the ice in the pail to wash in the morning. A long day's climb, and only a light lunch, which you pack along with you, is quite sufficient exercise for me without chasing the finny tribe, especially after the experience I have gone through the last nine months. My health stands the racket pretty well, wet or dry. Have gone over half a day soaked to the waist in ice cold water, without any perceptible evil effect, and my appetite—when not too tired—is of the large variety, that, too, on pork and onions, beans, etc., which I used to dislike very much. So you see my breathing apparatus is holding its own. Remember me to the boys and all inquiring friends.

Yours,
H. L. KNOWLES.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 39; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

FOR THE BLOOD

In Spring Time get Pure Blood by using B.B.B.

No other remedy possesses such perfect cleansing, healing and purifying properties as Burdock Blood Bitters. It not only cleanses internally, but it heals, when applied externally, all sores ulcers, abscesses, scrofulous sores, blotches, eruptions, etc., leaving the skin clean and pure as a babe's. Taken internally it removes all morbid effete or waste matter from the system, and thoroughly regulates all the organs of the body, restoring the stomach, liver, bowels and blood to healthy action.

REMARKABLE ESCALADING.

By a Pyramid U. S. Soldiers Send a Man Over a 31-Foot Wall.

A remarkable feat has just been accomplished by United States soldiers stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill. An improvised parapet thirty-one feet high was scaled by means of a pyramid of soldiers. Eighteen of the heaviest and strongest of the men formed the base of the pyramid. Upon the shoulders of these stood ten men. Up climbed six men and stood on the shoulders of the ten, then four on the shoulders of the six, then three on the shoulders of the four. The huge pyramid swayed and rocked unsteadily, but it hung bravely together. Could it have stood perfectly upright the upper man could have reached the edge of the parapet. But this was of course impossible.

To cap the pyramid and scale the wall was assigned to Corporal Leary, a lithe, athletic infantryman. Getting a swift running start he climbed like a cat up over the backs and shoulders of his fellows and finally, standing upon the shoulders of the three upper men, he sprang upward and catching the edge of the parapet with his fingers in a few seconds drew himself up over the edge and into the stronghold of the imaginary enemy. The whole effort required just four minutes, and it must be recorded as a truly remarkable feat, breaking, as it did, the world's previous best record for escalading by three feet. Corporal Leary has been recommended for promotion.

Escalading has long been recognized as of great importance. The soldiers of the different armies of Europe have been for many years drilled in this particular branch of the service, and some squads have become remarkably proficient. This feat of the soldiers of Fort Sheridan is certain to be followed by attempts elsewhere all over the world to excel the record of thirty-one feet.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

Patent Churn.

One of the main points in a new churn is a spindle, which passes through the bottom and is kept perfectly tight without packing by a specially constructed patent brushing, which does not leak and improves with use. The churn is square or oblong, and the retardation of the corners to the revolving liquid is said to produce the most perfect ebullition, and the centrifugal force of the flicht driving the liquid away from it leaves a space in the centre which is constantly being filled by liquid falling from the sides, thus taking in air continually and producing the largest quantity of butter of the best quality in the shortest time. It is easily worked, the flicht is near the bottom, and need not be removed to take up the butter, but can be displaced in an instant by slackening a thumb-nut.

Can Work all the Time.

FROM THE GALLERY.

British Columbia Railway Men Battling for a Charter—Some Hot Talk.

Ottawa, June 15.—(Special.)—The fight between the Pacific Coast Line Railway Syndicate and Mr. Heinze culminated in the Railway Committee this morning. There does not seem to be any possibility of the two companies coming to terms, and now it looks like war to the knife. As previously stated, the war is over a charter from Robson, the terminus of the Crow's Nest Road, to the Pacific coast.

The Heinze bill came up in committee this morning. It is understood to be the one favored by the Government. Mr. Heinze was not present, and by what transpired it is possible he was scared of what might develop in committee.

Mr. Charles Hyman, ex-M.P., who is one of Mr. Heinze's fellow-promoters, was heard in support of the bill. He could not give some of the information asked for, and Mr. McInnes, M.P., remarked that he (Mr. Hyman) had evidently not been long connected with the scheme. Mr. Hyman admitted that the company had an understanding with the C. P. R. Mr. McInnes and Rev. Mr. Maxwell, another British Columbia M.P., attacked Mr. Heinze's scheme sharply, Mr. Maxwell saying that Heinze and Warfield were disreputable outsiders, and he wanted them present to answer a few questions.

Mr. Morrison thought the matter should not be made one of persons. Even if Mr. Heinze were as bad as painted it was no reason to oppose the road.

Mr. Blair said the Government was not committed to the project.

Mr. McInnes moved that Messrs. Heinze and Warfield appear before the committee to give information regarding their financial status.

This motion was defeated on the casting vote of the chairman, Mr. Sutherland. Then Mr. McInnes called attention to the fact that there was no quorum present. The chairman declared there was a quorum.

The chairman counted and found the committee seven short of a quorum. Accordingly he declared the meeting at an end.

As anticipated, it was not by any means plain sailing for the Casey Bicycle bill in the Senate Railway Committee to-day. The bill was supported by Mr. Casey and Mr. E. B. Ryckman of Toronto, as well as Senator Lougheed, who has charge of the bill in the Upper House. Mr. Wainwright of the G.T.R., Thomas Tait and Judge Clark of the C.P.R. strongly opposed the measure.

After the representatives of both sides had been heard Senator Snowball spoke warmly in support of the measure.

He was followed by Hon. G. W. Allan of Toronto, who recognized that there was a good deal in the contention of the wheelmen, although he did not think they should get everything they wanted. He suggested that the matter was one for compromise, and thought two parties should come together and endeavor to agree. This view seemed to strike the committee in a favorable light. It was accordingly decided to adjourn till to-morrow morning to see whether in the meantime a compromise could be arranged. Subsequently the representatives of the railways and Wheelmen's Association held a meeting. Mr. Ryckman offered that the association would not hold the railways responsible for damages to wheels on transit if bicycles were carried free. The railway men refused this, hence to-morrow morning when the committee meets a fight will take place on the straight issue of the bill.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

A New Source of Power.

A new and simple source of power is proposed for engines and is declared to be not only practicable, but advantageous in respect to the latter, it being claimed that the material producing the power can be used continuously without the necessity of renewal. According to this idea, originating with Hermann Poppe, of Hamburg, Germany, a mixture is employed of ammonia vapor and carbolic acid gas, eventually under access of steam, which, however, is not essential, and thus, by the expansion of the gas mixture entering under pressure, a cooling of the vapors in the cylinder of the engine is produced. In this way a salt of ammonia is formed by a smaller or larger part of the gas mixture, and this salt, as provided in the subsequent operation, is returned to a disintegrating apparatus, working under pressure, in order to be disintegrated by heat into its volatile components, which latter are again utilized for power purposes.

A New Record.

"Munson now holds the record for meanness."

"Why?"

"He bought his engagement ring on the installment plan. The girl gifted him the other night, and now he has signed his claim to the ring over to the man who sold it to him."—Philadelphia North American.

Something of an Admission.

"Of course, all my aunts say that the baby looks like me," said the blushing young man.

"What does your wife say to that?" asked the elder man.

"Well, she admits that perhaps I may resemble the baby a little."

Testing His Honesty.

Your druggist is honest if when you ask him for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion he gives you just what you ask for. He knows this is the best form in which to take Cod Liver Oil.

Salt Rheum Cured.

GENTLEMEN, — Your Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of salt rheum three years ago. I was so bad that I lost my finger nails, and I can truly say that I know of no more valuable medicine in the world than B.B.B. I have had no return of salt rheum since.

Almighty Voice.

Almighty Voice, the Northwest Indian who killed four men, made a mighty attempt to escape; but the deadly shrapnel shell from the cannons of the Northwest Mounted Police made him bite the dust. His skull was shattered and his brains protruded. Only one shell of the thirty-eight fired against him went astray, and prior to the death shot Almighty Voice had received two wounds, one in the ankle and one in the knee. It seems certain he made at least one attempt to escape, as an improvised crutch, found seventy-five yards away from the bluff, as well as a track made by him when creeping back, indicates.

The Indians had no food reserve, and no water; they were living on any birds they could shoot, and drinking the sap of trees; they had very little ammunition, and, in fact, were completely at bay.

There were signs all around that Almighty Voice and the deluded lad with him were driven to the last extremity. The digging of the pit with the piece of old iron, marks on the trees whence sap had been drunk, the cutting of leaves with knives, all speak of patience bred of despair. The end of the affair has given a feeling of relief to all this neighborhood, and security to life and property is felt to be assured.

Their work finished, the detachments have returned to their respective quarters, and it was deemed quite safe to permit the Mounted Police detachment to depart for the jubilee celebration.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

When a man is ruined and there is no help for it, a good wife is the one stay and comfort left to him. But no man, who is a man, wants to put his wife to this extremity. For woman in her gentle nature suffers with the husband she comforts and consoles. It is a humiliation to any proud woman that the man of her choice should prove at last a failure — broken in purse and in spirit. Back of all business failures lies ill-health. No man who is suffering from brain fag, nervous prostration and debility, due to impure blood and a disordered digestion can long succeed in business. Every woman should make it her duty to see that her husband takes proper care of his health.

The best medicine in all the world for hard-worked business men is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is medicine for both body and mind. It makes the digestion good, the liver active, and the appetite keen. It fills the blood with the life-giving elements that build new tissues. It invigorates and purifies. It is the one great blood-maker and flesh-builder. There's nothing in the market "just as good."

A. L. Purdy, Esq., of Otterpond, Caldwell Co., Ky., writes: "I herewith inclose stamps to pay postage on one of your cloth-bound 'People's Medical Advisers.' I know your book to be a good one. I had suffered seven years with liver complaint when I read about your 'Golden Medical Discovery' in one of your books. After using a few bottles of the 'Discovery' and three vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets' I was completely cured."

One copy of a good, practical, medical work is worth more in a home than a thousand works of fiction. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best home medical book extant. It contains 1,008 pages and three hundred illustrations and is written in plain, everyday language that any one may understand. Over a million women own copies of it and 680,000 of them paid $1.50 each for their copies. A new and large edition will be given away absolutely FREE. If you want a copy in a paper cover, send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing and customs only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. If you desire a fine French cloth binding, send 50 one-cent stamps.

A CYNOSURE.

His front name was Adolphus and his surname it was Brown.
The girls all said his mustache was the prettiest in the town.
His hair was a deep auburn and it crinkled up in curls
That made him the cynosure of all the village girls.

Now, being a cynosure, he had more or less conceit,
You could see it in his manner when he walked across the street.
His very air proclaimed aloud to everyone in town;
"Say, don't yo uthink I'm handsome? My name's Adolphus Brown."

Well, so it went for several years. Adolphus cut a dash,
But being a cynosure doesn't pay in ready cash,
And, finally, his father brought the youth up with a jerk,
And he said, says he: "Adolphus, you have got to go to work."

Now, when Adolphus heard these words, and thought what they implied,
His first thought was that he would go and be a suicide;
But of nerve to swallow poison, he found there was a lack,
And the thought of a revolver sent cold shivers down his back.

And so Adolphus still survives, with his mustache and his curls,
And he still is a cynosure for all the village girls;
In fact, he's rather more so now than he ever was before,
For he's selling lace and ribbons in McCloskey's bargin store.

HER ORGAN.

By VIRGINIA N. LEEDS.

It was all on account of Miss Malvina's organ. If she hadn't had an organ it would probably never have happened. The dictionary declares that an organ such as Miss Malvina possessed is "a membraneous receptacle, the principal organ of digestion, in which food is prepared for nourishing the body."

Perhaps Miss Malvina's organ was a membraneous receptacle. There were no absolute proofs to the contrary—but that it was an organ of digestion was simply a slander. There was no digestion about it. It was indigestion all the way through. The food that went into it, if it made up its mind to remain, didn't nourish her body in the least and only subjected her to every kind of discomfort.

Taken as a whole, this organ, which for lack of corroboration we shall call a membraneous receptacle, was a barrel organ of indigestion in which nothing except torture was prepared for either body or soul.

It had lost to Miss Malvina friends, fortune and husband. The former had dropped off, one by one, on account of their pet specifics being rejected by either Miss Malvina or her organ; the second was a fine musical talent which she might have turned to account but for the same melancholy cause, and the third was perhaps the most dismal of all.

Col. Wilds, a gallant officer, had in the earlier days lost his heart to Miss Malvina, and would no doubt have married her, but during a sojourn in India he had fallen victim to a liver complaint, which so disgusted him with dis-orders of the human machinery, that any young woman possessed of so unpardonable a thing as an "organ" hadn't the remotest chance with the gallant officer.

Miss Malvina, therefore, was simply not in it at all. And so at the time our story opens we find Miss Malvina, wretched, friendless, sickly and dependent upon a disagreeable old aunt.

To be sickly is bad enough without being friendless, but to be both and to have an "organ" into the bargain is hard luck indeed.

Mrs. Smithers, Miss Malvina's aunt, was a detestable person. She believed thoroughly in the text that a fool and his money are soon parted, and she obeyed the text to the letter. She had plenty of money and no heirs, but, like all misers, she did not consider that she had near enough, and she hoarded it up for Heaven knows what purpose.

She was in no wise a charitably disposed individual though the fact of her giving a home to her orphaned niece might imply that she was. But no one would think so if he knew in what manner the home was held out.

"Dear Malvina," she wrote. "As you cannot starve, I suppose I must take you in."

And poor Malvina, whose organ had rendered her a meek and miserable mortal, responded weakly:

"Dear Aunt: As you say, I cannot starve and so I must accept your generous offer."

And when Miss Malvina arrived, in company with a goodly-sized apothecary shop, Mrs. Smithers' acerbity was by no means appeased.

"Bother your organ!" she exclaimed.

"It bothers me," returned poor Malvina.

This exclamation and pitiful rejoinder became an almost daily phrase.

Mrs. Smithers had not the slightest patience with her niece's membraneous receptacle, and at every meal such mortal enemies as hot bread pies confronted poor Malvina. The organ, naturally, cried out against such indignities, and Miss Malvina grew hourly worse.

Such torments as the poor thing knew no words can describe.

Finally, to Mrs. Smithers' utter horror, the family physician had to be summoned.

Nor was this the worst. After prescribing all sorts of villainous compounds, which Miss Malvina's organ rejected with scorn, Dr. Calomel insisted that Miss Malvina should come to his private sanitarium, known as The Rest.

Mrs. Smithers was as one demented. She fumed and raged and almost tore her false hair, for the board alone, without medical attendance, was $25 a week.

But Dr. Calomel was quite as determined as she was, and at last, after a fearful struggle, he won the day.

Mrs. Smithers can hardly be said to have given in graciously, for as soon as the doctor went away she flounced into the miserable little hall room she allowed Miss Malvina, and where the poor thing was having a wrestling match with her organ, and exclaimed, vindictively:

"I wish that 'organ' of yours was in Gehenna!"

Poor Malvina! she wished so, too, if she didn't have to accompany it there, but it was not transplanted just for the wishing.

A few days later, in fear and trembling, Miss Malvina drove up in Dr. Calomel's own neatly-appointed brougham to the door of the Rest.

At the time of her arrival there were only three other patients—Mrs. Weeks, a chronic dyspeptic; Miss Paine, a combination invalid; and an old gentleman who was a bundle of nerves.

It was against the latter individual that Miss Malvina was particularly warned, the slightest irritating circumstance causing him to tear his hair and cry "Fire!"

For a week Miss Malvina rested, lying quietly on a neat little white bedstead, gazing at harmoniously-tinted walls. On the eighth day she was so much improved that she came down to dinner.

It was a unique banquet. The convives all brought bottles and spoons with them, and some took their drops before eating and some afterwards. Moreover, the bread was dry and the drinking water was hot.

Miss Malvina was introduced to her fellow invalids. Mrs. Weeks and Miss Paine, who were already at the table when she entered, and she was having a very nice time with them, comparing symptoms, when a footstep and a man's voice caused her to look up. Then there occurred to poor Miss Malvina the one event of her life.

The gentleman of the nerves and eccentric tendencies was none other than her old admirer, Col. Wilds.

Miss Malvina started and blushed and recognized him in a moment. His hair had turned white and he no longer wore a uniform, but he was the same gallant man—indeed, age had improved him.

Col. Wilds recognized Miss Malvina also, and their meeting was an interesting one.

"Why, bless my soul, Miss Malvina!" cried the colonel, "to think of our coming together again after all these years and under such delightful circumstances. What's your trouble?"

"An organ," murmured Miss Malvina.

"Only one?" exclaimed the colonel. "Why, I've got a thousand, and every one of 'em out of tune!"

Miss Malvina said she was sorry, and began inquiring about his symptoms.

The colonel entertained her with a list of the most intense horrors, and the meal passed off delightfully.

After dinner they played dominoes. It was a party of ghosts: pale faces, wasted hands, an occasional groan, enlivened from time to time by a hacking cough.

At a quarter of nine Mrs. Weeks dropped a domino. Col. Wilds shrieked "Fire!" and they were all carried off and put to bed like babies.

In consequence of the excitement Mrs. Weeks and Miss Paine went to rest for another week, and the following evening Miss Malvina and Col. Wilds sat down to a tete-a-tete game.

Miss Malvina could not help noticing how handsome her former lover had become, and how highly polished and pink his bald head was.

They were having a most charming game, when suddenly a moth miller sputtered into the gas and fell whizzing among the dominoes.

Immediately Col. Wilds went off.

Poor Miss Malvina was so overcome she scarcely knew what to do. Not liking to sit gazing at her old friend, who was behaving himself in a most childish and foolish manner, she hastily arose, and, walking across the room, took from her pocket a small box from which she extracted an "excitement pill," which she swallowed.

In a moment the colonel was at her side.

"Miss Malvina!" he cried, "what is it? You are ill!"

"It's only my organ," faltered Miss Malvina.

In his courtly sympathy Col. Wilds forgot his own ills.

After this for a week he and Miss Malvina sat down tete-a-tete, and during that time he never once exhibited a nerve, and she almost forgot that she even had an organ.

But happiness in this world is short lived and Fate is a cruel jade.

On the eighth evening, when the colonel and Miss Malvina were enjoying the most harmonious game of dominoes they had yet played, and when each was touchingly reluctant to beat the other, a note was brought to Miss Malvina.

She tore it open and read:

"Dear Malvina—I pay for no well persons. I hear that you have entirely recovered, and that that miserable organ of yours performs its functions like a Christian.

"Come home at once."

Miss Malvina laid down the note and a tear fell among the dominoes.

"My dear Miss Malvina!" cried the colonel, sympathetically, "what is troubling you? Tell me, I beg!"

"Alas! Col. Wilds, I must leave this haven of rest."

"But why?"

"My aunt refuses to pay my board any longer."

"Allow me to do so!"

"Oh! Col. Wilds!"

"Why not? I'm a millionaire, unmarried and of age!"

Miss Malvina blushed like a schoolgirl.

"You are so kind—but what would the world say?"

"Nothing, if you will follow my wishes."

"What are they?" inquired Miss Malvina, innocently.

"Be my wife!"

"But Col. Wilds, my organ?"

"No objection whatever," answered the colonel, cheerfully; "it counteracts my nerves."

Poor Miss Malvina; all the physics in the world had been tried upon her and all had failed, for no one had ever thought of giving her a dose of happiness. That dose being administered, her recovery was rapid and complete.

One day there was a quiet little wedding at The Rest, and afterwards, as Miss Malvina—Miss Malvina no longer—threw all her medicines out of the window, she said to herself:

"Dear me; did I ever think I'd live to see the day when I would bless my organ!"—Ladies' World.

FOR WHEEL PEOPLE.

Who is going to Chatham on Dominion Day?

The Sports Committee has obtained a sanction from the C.W.A. for all the bicycle races which are announced for that day.

Mr. John White has received word from the Toronto Civic Employees Association to the effect that the bicycle races which will be run off by them in Peterborough on Dominion Day, are sanctioned by the C. W.A.

The Chathamites have wisely placed the rate of admission to the track on July 1, 2, 3, at 25 cents, with 25 cents extra for grand stand. Excellent seats may be reserved beforehand at 50 cents each, on application to the meet secretary.

The latest expression of the bicycle craze in Paris has been the appearance of a lawyer at the courts in bicycling knickers, yellow shoes, silk stockings, cloth cap, and —lawyer's gown. He was promptly ejected, and his case was adjourned.

Among the bishops of England who cycle, may be mentioned the venerable Dr. Elliott, Lord Bishop of Glouster and Bristol, who learned to ride at the advanced age of 78 years; Dr. Boyd-Carpenter, Bishop of Ripon; Dr. Bardsley, Bishop of Carlisle; and Dr. Johnson, Bishop of Colchester.

Nothing is so annoying as a squeak on a bicycle, and nothing is so hard to locate. You think you havegot it and you find you haven't. Often a little oil in the head post or the tightning of the nuts will obviate the difficulty, which is often caused by the loosening of some of the parts. Some squeaks defy all attempts at detection, and then your only salvation is the repair man.

The experience of Nieuport, the French rider, who came near dying of heart failure after a race on a Paris track, should be a warning to the cyclist who considers speed the summum bonum of cycle riding. The professional racer will take his life in his hands for a purse, must risk the danger, but the hump-backed scorcher is the victim of his own delusion, and the abomination of the rest of humanity.

There seems to be no end to the ingenuity of the bicycle inventor. The last one in the market has patented a convertible wheel, which in the twinkling of an eye, by the separation of the top and bottom bars and the intervention of an attachment, can be converted from a diamond into a drop frame, or into a tandem for men or a tandem for a man and a woman. There are braces which give rigidity to the wheel whether it be used as a single wheel for a man or a woman or a tandem for both.

One of the secrets of riding a bicycle safely in a crowded street is to ride it slowly, to never relax your watchfulness, and to keep at a distance of from three yards to six yards behind the vehicle you are following. If, when riding as slowly as six miles an hour, you approach within a yard of the back of the lorry or other vehicle and it stops suddenly you are bound to run into it. In six yards, or even three yards, you may avoid the collision, but hardly in less if you are going any faster than at a snail's pace. If on the other hand, you are riding at eight miles an hour or more, the collision may be serious.

If only it were possible to prevent carts and carriages from using a foot and a half of the roadway next to the sidewalk, it would not be necessary for cyclists to care about having special paths laids for them, as has been done in New Jersey and in Belgium, says a writer in Wheeling. It is very noticeable of any popular road that the cycle traffic soon marks out a course for itself, and if only that track were not cut up by heavier vehicles, it would not be long before there were very few roads which did not afford good wheeling. If the soil washed from the upper part of the road were allowed to lie a little at the side it would speedily be rolled hard, as all the cycle traffic would confine itself to the narrow path thus defined on each side of the way. As to the fine polish which may be obtained through this constant rolling the old cinder paths were witness, the inner edge having quite a glistening surface such as no other system of rolling could have produced.

One of the most remarkable things connected with cycling is that riders well past the prime of life are continually doing smart things. Probably not one in a hundred of these get into print, but here are one or two which did: James Sim, of England, aged sixty, was recently hailed before the magistrate and fined for riding at violent speed," knocking pedestrians endwise and creating a general reign of terror along the Queen's highway. Jason Furlong, of Maryland, 71 years, was at last accounts in gaol working out a fine of $5 imposed for scorching on the roads. Jason broke the law on a borrowed machine, and his visible personal estate was not equal to meeting the demand of the court for the "V." Oscar Kelsey, of Fort Layfayette, at the age of 58, a novice at road racing, started in one of the Decoration Day events. Annabelle Brown, of Philadelphia, 51 years of age, a few days ago made a century run in ten hours and a half, and afterward attended an evening lecture. W. C. Smedley, aged 51, won the Chicago road race.

BASKET BALL MATCH.

One Will Take Place a Week From To-morrow Evening in the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium.

In connection with the opening of the new Y.W.C.A. a feature of the programme on Friday evening, 25th inst., will be a game of basket ball in the new gymnasium.

The contestants will be the Reds and Blues, seven men having been selected from each side, whose names will appear later.

The change in the programme will be for honours, physical, when the Reds will be given a final opportunity to gain up on those ten points they were behind in the contest.

Another feature of next week's programme will be a bicycle parade on Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 a.m., when all wheelmen will be asked to decorate and turn out.

JUBILEE STAMPS.

The New Issue in Very Brisk Demand.

There is an extraordinary demand for the special issue of Jubilee stamps, which will be placed on the market on Saturday morning. An immense number of applications have been made in advance to the postoffice officials, and in the case of the rarer denominations, the entire issue has already been asked for, and to such an extent that in Montreal big premiums have been offered for the privilege of a corner. These applications and the interviews necessitated, have seriously interfered with the ordinary duties of the officials during the past few days.

It need hardly be said that to all applicants the same answer has been returned; "You must come with your money on the 19th and take your chance with other people."

Those who are endeavouring to buy in large quantities claim that within a very few weeks the stamps will be worth a great deal of money, and some people assert that not more than twenty per cent. of the issue will ever be used to carry a portion of Her Maiesty's mail. Those who make this claim will back up their opinion by locking up considerable money in the purchase and storage of large quantities.

ASHBURNHAM BRIEFS.

Rev. F. Woodger of Wooler, was the guest of Rev. W. C. Beer, yesterday, and gave an intering address at the prayer meeting in the Mark street church last nibht.

The Mark street Sunday school will hold its annual excursion to Jubilee Point on Tuesday, July 6th.

A lawn social will be held at the Mark street parsonage grounds on Friday evening, June 18th, when there will be an interesting programme. The Sons of England Band will be in attendance.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

EAGER MULTITUDES

Attend the Monster $40,000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them.

Don't let go that Mighty Dollar until you have seen what we are doing for you.

THEY'LL GO TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

To Mark the Accession of the Queen to the Throne—Mr. Redmond Opposed the Motion on Behalf of the Irish.

—Her Majesty's Health is Good.

Windsor, Eng., June 17.—Queen Victoria arrived here from Balmoral at 9 o'clock this morning. Thousands of people lined the route from the railroad station to the castle. Her Majesty looked the picture of health and repeatedly bowed to the cheering of her subjects.

Were it necessary to furnish proof of the utter falsity of the cruel, sensational stories circulated in the United States by a New York newspaper, which has alleged and reiterated that Queen Victoria had suddenly and unexpectedly become almost totally blind, thus throwing a damper over the Jubilee celebrations, it could have been found in the bright and cheerful appearance of Her Majesty on her arrival here to-day.

But, in addition, it is learned that the Queen has personally read numerous documents and programs connected with the Jubilee festivities during the past few days, and that within the same time she has with her own hand written frequent corrections and alterations, and it is known beyond any possible doubt that Her Majesty has recently corrected the proofs of a new book on her reign.

As to here general health, evidence of its being perfectly satisfactory for a woman of her age is furnished in the fact that it was at first arranged that, on returning to the palace on Jubilee Day, June 22; the order of the procession would be reversed, in order to enable the Queen to return at the earliest possible moment, but Her Majesty decided to keep in the same place along the whole route, thus involving another half an hour of fatigue in the streets.

MR. LAURIER IN LONDON.

The Colonial Premiers Warmly Greeted on Their Arrival There.

London, June 17.—(Telegram cable.)—The colonial Premiers arrived in London to-day from Manchester. Lord Ampthill representing the Colonial Secretary, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, met the party and extended a cordial greeting. The Premier and Mrs. Laurier are well.

It is more than probable that Mr. Laurier will attend a meeting of the colonial party in the House of Commons on Monday to hear an address to Premier Seddon of Australia.

Mr. Laurier proceeded to Cambridge to-day, where the honorary degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him and others. His reception was most flattering, loud cheering greeting Canada's Premier on his being presented.

Arrangements are being made to have a combined team of colonials compete with the British volunteer artillery at the Shoeburyness meeting.

Mrs. Chamberlain, wife of the Colonial Secretary, held an at home to-day to receive those of the ladies of the colonial Premiers' party who had not gone to Cambridge.

COMMONERS WILL ATTEND CHURCH

To Celebrate the Accession of Queen Victoria to the Throne.

London, June 17.—The House of Commons to-day resumed its sittings after the Whitsuntide holidays, with a sparse attendance.

Government Leader and First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. A. J. Balfour, moved that the House attend the Church of St. Margaret's, Westminster, on Sunday, in order to celebrate the accession of Queen Victoria to the throne.

Mr. William Redmond, Parnellite member for East Cavan, in behalf of his constituents, and, he believed, in behalf of the majority of the Irish people, opposed the motion. In doing so, he said the Irish could not join in the ceremony, for although Great Britain had reaped great benefits from the Queen's reign, it was entirely the reverse with Ireland, therefore he protested against the motion, which, however, was carried without a division, nobody rising to support Mr. Redmond's motion.

WENT TO LONDON TO SUICIDE.

Has the Excitement of the Jubilee Turned Some People's Heads?

London, June 17.—The body of a fashionably dressed woman about 30 years of age was found yesterday floating in the Thames near the Tower Bridge. In her purse she had some gold and silver, a gold wedding ring and two dress rings, a gold brooch and other articles, and on a key ring also found upon her were some American coins. All the clothing on the body was of the best materials. This is the seventeenth body found in the lower Thames by the police during the last three weeks. They are believed to be the bodies of suicides, as in nearly all cases valuables were found on the persons of the drowned.

There is nothing mysterious in the finding of the bodies, and the police account for the somewhat unusual number of suicides by the fact that the population of this city has been largely increased by Jubilee visitors from nearly all parts of the world.

Buffalo Britons Will Have a Good Time

Buffalo, N.Y., June 17.—The Britishers and their guests who are to celebrate the Queen's Diamond Jubilee with a banquet at the Ellicott Club in this city next Tuesday will have a good time if the menu and the excellence of the feast of reason to follow it are any criterion. The list of toasts and songs, which will form the most important part of the affair, has just been finished. The banquet is to be preceded by the singing of "God Save the Queen." Then follows the toast "The Queen," which is to be responded to by Mr. R. Langford Patteson, M.D. Mr. William Page will speak in response to the toast "The Briton Abroad." Then follow the toasts England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, which are to be replied to by Messrs. W. Staniland, Rev. George Grey Valard, Mr. James N. Adam and Mr. J. Lloyd Jones respectively. Rev. G. Herbert Gaviller answers to "The Colonies." Then comes the singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever." "The Victorian Era" will be Dr. T. Harwood Pattison's care. The customary toasts of "The Land We Live In" and "The Press" follow.

Bishop Huntington's Courtesy.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 17.—Bishop Huntington has authorized clergymen and lay readers in the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York to include in the services of the first Sunday after Trinity a prayer, a copy of which he has issued, for Queen Victoria and the welfare of England.

GIVING HER COUNTRY AWAY.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani Does Not Want Annexation and Says Her Country People Feel the Same.

Washington, June 17.—In an interview to-day ex-Queen Liliuokalani said of the proposed treaty between the United States and Hawaii: "Fifteen hundred people are giving away my country. The people of my country do not want to be annexed to the United States. Nor do the people of the United States want annexation. It is the work of 1500 people, mostly Americans, who have settled in Hawaii. Of this number those who are not native-born Americans are of American parentage. None of my people want the islands annexed. The population of the island is 100,000. Of this number 40,000 are native Hawaiians. The rest are Americans, Germans, Portuguese, Japanese, Chinese, English and a small proportion from other countries. The 1500 Americans who are responsible for what was done yesterday are running the affairs of the islands.

"There is no provision made in this treaty for me. In the Harrison treaty I was allowed $20,000 per year, but that treaty never went into effect. I have never received one dollar from the United States. No one looked after my interests in the preparation of this treaty. Yet my people, who form so large a part of the population of the island, would want justice done me."

Prefer Annexation to Britain

Plymouth, June 17.—Bishop Willis of Honolulu has just arrived here from Hawaii. In an interview he is quoted as saying that the feeling in the islands is against the United States and greatly in favor of British annexation. But, he says, Great Britain has held aloof, although a third of the capital of the country is British.

Continuing, Bishop Willis remarked that he thought that if Great Britain would not take the country, the next best course was for Japan to reinstate Queen Liliuokalani. Referring to the annexation of the islands by the United States, the Bishop said that the proposal was only advanced in order to please certain politicians, as America did not want the islands, "because the law of expulsion would become nullified if Hawaii were annexed."

In conclusion, the Bishop is quoted as saying there is no doubt that Japan will enforce her claims in Hawaii, in which country her commercial prospects are good.

COULDN'T WORK OUR GOVERNMENT

And New Yankee Anglers Will Try the State Government at Albany.

Lockport, N. Y., June 17.—Some time ago the Niagara County Anglers' Club communicated with the Canadian Marine and Fisheries Commission, asking that the Canadian laws be modified so as to place American and Canadian fishermen on the Niagara River and the lake near Youngstown on an equal basis.

At present the laws of both the United States and Canada operate jointly against American fishermen. The club to-day received what purports to be a final reply from the Canadian department, in which they absolutely refuse to make any changes in the fish laws at present.

HEINZE AND WARFIELD

Were on Hand at the Capital Yesterday.

WILL GET NO CHARTER THIS YEAR

Neither Will Their Opponents of the Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern—An Effort to Come to an Agreement —Honors for the Papal Ablegate and Others.

Ottawa, June 17.—(Special.)—From present appearances the House will have pretty well cleaned off the order paper by Saturday afternoon. There will then, however, be considerable work left for the Senators, and prorogation depends altogether on the celerity with which the Upper House disposes of business. Should the Senate be inclined that way, prorogation could take place on Monday.

All railway legislation applying to the section of British Columbia from the western terminus of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass Railway to the Pacific coast is off for this year. Yesterday Mr. Heinze's representatives, consisting of Charley Hyman, ex-M. P., and A. S. Holt of Montreal (Dan Mann's partner), had a conference with some of the representatives of the coast line, when an interim agreement was reached, but when this was submitted to Mr. Gemmill, solicitor for the Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern, he reported against it, so that Dr. Milne, on behalf of the coast line syndicate, had to notify Messrs. Holt and Hyman that the arrangement could not be carried out. The agreement was to permit both charters to be put through by the committee and to allow the Government to decide as to which road was to get the subsidy. Then there was to be an amalgamation and presumably a pooling of interests, with a "divy" all round from the subsidy which the Government was to give.

When the Railway Committee met this morning Messrs. Heinze and Warfield, his first lieutenant, were present. It did not suit the purposes of the coast line men then to proceed. They accordingly withdrew, leaving the Heinze crowd in a minority. It was impossible to scare up a quorum, and the committee therefore adjourned sine die. The whole matter consequently goes over until next year.

Mgr. Merry del Val to-night, at the commencement exercises of Ottawa University, received the degree of Doctor of Canon Law. This is the highest degree that the University can confer. Mgr. Del Val is already possessed of the Doctor of Divinity degree, having received it at Rome, but the Doctor of Canon Law degree is held in higher estimation at the Papal See.

Dean Harris of St. Catharines, Ont., and Rev. Abbe Gosselin of Quebec, members of the Royal Society of Canada, received the degree of LL. D.

There will be a scramble for Jubilee stamps on Saturday all over the country. An immense number of applications have been made in advance to the postoffice officials. To all applicants the same answer has been returned: "You must come with your money on the 19th and take your chance with other people." Those who are endeavoring to buy them up in large quantities claim that within a very few weeks the stamps will be worth a great deal of money, and some people assert that not more than 20 per cent. of the issue will ever be used to carry any portion of Her Majesty's mails. Those who make this claim will back up their opinion by locking up considerable money in the purchase and storage of large quantities. One Ottawa man wanted to get 10,000 half-cent stamps, but was sorry to hear that he was doomed to disappointment.

The Finance Committee of the city corporation to-night accepted the offer of Aemilius Jarvis & Sons of Toronto for $300,000 worth of city debentures ranging over various periods. The premium offered was about 4 1-2 per cent.

Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the law relating to the inspection of petroleum provides that the Governor-General-in-Council may designate a place at which petroleum may be imported in tank cars and in tank ships respectively, and on the joint recommendation of the Ministers of Customs and Inland Revenue prescribe regulations under which any oil may be so imported, but all petroleum so imported shall, before being removed for consumption, be put into packages, inspected and marked in accordance with the requirements of section 7 of this act. The Governor-General may, with regard to petroleum oil, the produce of Canada, from time to time make regulations prescribing time and place and mode of its inspection, storage, transportation and delivery. It is provided that the flash test for high-test petroleum shall be 270 degrees, instead of 200, as under the old statutes. The new regulations will not permit the use of tank wagons for distribution of imported oil, at all events.

Carleton County Council has declined the city's offer to abolish market tolls if the county will reciprocate by abolishing toll gates.

Dr. W. A. Browne, manager of the Plattsburg, N.Y., Opera House, has been appointed manager of the new Russell Theatre in this city. Dr. Browne is an old theatrical man, having had 20 years' experience in Boston, Kansas and Plattsburg.

Dr. Carr Harris, engineering professor at the Royal Military College, has retired from the staff.

Dr. William Kingsford, the well-known historian and engineer, is making a careful examination of the Drummond Counties Railway for the Government.

The Turk More Peaceful.

London, June 18.—The Daily Telegraph's Athens correspondent says:

"It is reported here that the peace conference and the Porte have accepted a settlement giving Turkey either the town of Ligaria, southeast of Milouna, or Neseros, north of Larissa."

The Athens correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says the Porte has abandoned the policy of delay

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE law forbids any person to sleep in a bake shop. That's right. If a baker wishes to rise in the world he must stay up with his bread.

WHILE the tender of the Majestic is taking Mr. Laurier in triumph up the Manchester Canal, Sir Charles Tupper is sailing up Salt Creek in a very leaky party punt. This is not the irony of political fate but the operation of cause and effect n both cases.

THE Hamilton Times says that Mr. Hardy's county council bill is working well, and the general verdict is that the work is better and more quickly done by the small council than it was by the large bodies. Moreover, already the pettiness of sectionalism is disappearing. Many of those who objected to the reduction are now convinced that both the numbers of the councillors and of the meetings might be further reduced, with good results.

THE Mail and Empire has failed by means of a sensational despatch, built largely on the fish story model, to get the Montreal Orangemen to act upon the suggestion of marching in a body on Jubilee Day. They have shown a wise forbearance in deferring to the prejudices of the less well-informed of their fellow-citizens. Loyalty is not always best expressed by the beating of tom-toms and flaunting of colours. Good citizenship is often shown by wise subordination of feelings, which are perfectly legitimate upon proper occasions.

THE St. Mary's Journal says,—"During the past ten years, ten million days of statute labour and $35,000,000 have been expended on the roads of Ontario. Are the results consistent with that large expenditure?" Certainly not. Under a proper system of expenditure the laying out of half the sum mentioned would have been attended with doubtless doubly better results. The statute labour system has seen its days of usefulness pass away. Though it was at one time suitable to the condition of the country, it is now as much out of date as a reaping hook in the harvest field in competition with a modern self-binder.

A DESPATCH from Buffalo says that "there is every reason to believe that the forthcoming banquet in honour of the Queen's Jubilee will be one of the grandest affairs of the kind ever held in that city. The decorating committee is doing wonders to decorate the room, which will resemble an old baronial hall. The music committee is arranging for appropriate patriotic songs and the speakers will include some of the best known citizens." One of the citizens of Buffalo, best known by reputation in Canada, is Mr. De Barry. His speeches are not long, but they are generally very effective. As a rule his his eloquence is confined to the one word, "Git."

(Montreal Star.)

A new epidemic has broken out among your Uncle Samuel's ships. It is not the blind staggers this time, nor a tendency to run aground, but plain, every-day American dyspepsia. The revenue cutter Chandler is the first victim. This gallant vessel was backing out from the Barge Office in New York harbour day before yesterday, when it inadvertently lunched off a doughnut which it found floating in the harbour and was presently on the sick list. It absorbed the dyspeptic compound through an open valve, whence it passed into the condenser and promptly necessitated a rest and medical treatment.

This should be a warning to the other members of the American fleet. The national habit of snatching hasty lunches in the very midst of business is sure, if persisted in, to get them into trouble. A dexterously-swallowed doughnut and a gulp of water may be a popular lunch with merchant princelings of New York, but a mere metal revenue cutter cannot be expected to stand such a strain on its internal economy. Had it managed a kiln-dried ham sandwich, the result would quite probably not have been any more encouraging. It will be a sad thing if this national custom of lightning lunching cripples the national fleet; but the wise men of Gotham cannot hope that a poor, uneducated, more or less sea-faring revenue cutter will know enough to shun a practice that has the high authority of their example.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influence the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure troubles of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

MUNYON'S GUIDE TO HEALTH.

Your Druggist Will Hand It to You for the Asking.

IT MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

Tells you the Symptoms of All Common Diseases—Tells You Just What to do for Each—Shows You How to be Your Own Doctor.

Thousands of dollars have been spent by Prof. Munyon in the preparation of a people's handy health manual. One that could be understood by anybody that could read—that would render doctors' visits and doctors' bills absolutely unnecessary, and to-day it is as near perfect as scientific research, money and the most advanced medical knowledge can make it.

It is called "Munyon's Guide to Health," and it is yours for the asking. Not a penny of cost to you. Get it at your drug store. If your druggist has n't it a postal card to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street, Toronto, will bring it.

The Munyon remedies act instantly, giving relief after the first two or three doses and effecting a rapid cure, even in the most obstinate cases. There is a separate Munyon Remedy for each disease and each specific has plain directions, so there can be no mistake.

Where you are in doubt, a personal letter to Prof. Munyon will be answered, with free medical advice for any disease.

RAILROAD RESOLUTIONS THROUGH

The Free Corn Item of the Tariff Was Attacked in Committee But Finally Passed—Another Cent Per Ton Lopped Off the Duty on Bituminous Coal.

Ottawa, June 17.—(Special.)—At the opening of the morning sitting of the House Mr. Henderson withdrew his notice of a bill to prohibit the export from Canada of bacon and hams made from hogs fed on American corn. He explained that as the session was so far advanced he would not press the measure.

There was some further discussion of dismissals, this time in connection with the Inland Revenue Department, and Sir Henri Joly said he had made only 38 new appointments. Eleven dismissals had taken place for active partisanship.

When the House went into committee on the Intercolonial extension resolution Mr. Foster again attacked Mr. Blair, but the Minister made no response.

On clause 44 Mr. Haggart called attention to an apparent error in the reference to the rates of freight "east" of Montreal. He thought the word, as shown by the context, should be "west."

Mr. Blair, who in the meantime had been conning the printed document over, admitted that there were several typographical errors, and that Mr. Haggart's contention was correct.

Thereupon Mr. Foster insisted that the House should see the original.

Mr. Blair and Mr. Davies argued that this was contrary to parliamentary practice.

Messrs. Wallace, Ingram, Clancy and others insisted that the original should be produced.

Mr. Britton also thought it should be produced.

Presently Sir Richard Cartwright rose and said if the Opposition could not go on without the veritable original, Mr. Blair would produce it.

Sir Charles Tupper accordingly renewed the request for the original contract.

Mr. Blair said if the terms of the original agreement were not carried out in the contract passed by the House, why the company would refuse to go ahead with it. He had no objection to produce the original, and meantime the committee might go on with the resolution.

On the Drummond Counties agreement Mr. Haggart pointed out another serious mistake. It provided that the new line shall be constructed "with a uniform grade of 52.80 per mile." This he said should read "maximum" grade, etc., and it was altered accordingly. As to who the bondholders were, Mr. Blair did not know, but the Government would get the road unencumbered, and the rolling stock would be purchased by the Government at a fair valuation.

Mr. Foster asked if it were not strange that, having purchased a road without having made, until the contract was signed, the examination of the railway, he should also have bound himself to buy the rolling stock at a valuation, without knowing anything about it.

A couple of clerical errors in the agreement were rectified, and Mr. Blair observed that he would supply the omission pointed out by Mr. Wallace, namely, the omission of the usual "L.S." signifying the place of the seal, at the end of both agreements.

"Does that mean large steal?" asked Mr. Cochrane.

"Or latest steal," suggested another.

"I would advise my hon. friend to defer that question. The Minister of Public Works is not in his place just now," observed Mr. Foster.

At this the Opposition laughed itself into right good humor, and the remaining clauses of the second agreement went through and were duly reported.

The House then went into committee of ways and means on the tariff. Mr. Fielding, in reply to Sir Charles Tupper's protest, said the Government did not intend to make any change in the sugar duty as originally brought down, namely, 50 cents on raw sugar and $1 on refined, as against 50 cents and $1.12 under the Foster tariff. The Government would take the recess to think it over.

Mr. Foster pointed out that, having struck a blow at the business, and acknowledging they did not know what they were about, the best thing the Government could do in the meantime was to restore the duty to the shape in which they found it.

The item went through.

The item regarding candy and sweetened gums, chewing gum, etc., 1-2 cent per pound and 35 per cent., was amended by striking out chewing gum, which therefore becomes dutiable at 20 per cent.

Dies for making Jubilee medals were added to the free list.

"Quebracho," a new tanning extract, and "Patent Prepared Dyes" were also placed on the free list.

A long discussion ensued on the item of free corn. Dr. Sproule pointed out that under the National Policy the importation of United States corn had fallen from 7,387,000 bushels to 2,762,000, the difference being replaced, doubtless, by Canadian-grown grains. Four-fifths of the farmers in Canada did not want free corn. Those who did were only the stock raisers, and their importation of corn would take the place of barley, peas and oats.

Mr. Charlton argued, amidst Opposition cheers, that giving free corn to the Americans was giving them a tariff concession that brought no concession in return. Canada already gave the Americans six times the advantage they gave us in the free list. In fact the agricultural schedule of the United States tariff was prohibitive against Canadian products, so that we should retain corn on the free list until we got some reductions in return, urged Mr. Charlton.

Mr. Moore spoke against free corn as being in the interest merely of a few wealthy farmers. It was another blow at the N. P.

Mr. Stenson favored free corn, and Col. Tisdale upheld the sentiments expressed by Mr. Charlton. Free corn, he held, would mean the loss of millions of dollars to the Canadian farmer.

Dr. Christie said his constituents were all in favor of free corn. As beef could be raised three cents a pound cheaper and pork 1 1-2 cents a pound cheaper on corn than on any other food, why not give the Canadian farmer free corn, argued Mr. McMillan, one of the largest stock raisers in Ontario.

Mr. Clancy held that Canada could produce all the corn required in this country. It had increased in production until now we produce within less than three million bushels of the requirements of the country, last year's production having been 13 million bushels. Heaven help the farmers if such narrow-minded men as Mr. McMillan were to represent them and dictate the policy of the Minister of Agriculture. Mr. McMillan was more a manufacturer than a farmer, buying the less fortunate farmers' cattle and turning them into beef.

Mr. Clancy concluded by moving in amendment:

"That in the opinion of this House it is inexpedient, and opposed to the best agricultural interests of Canada, to place Indian corn on the free list."

Mr. Fisher paid a tribute to Mr. McMillan as an advanced farmer. The Government's decision to make corn free was to help the farmer as a manufacturer of beef and pork, and such other products. It was true that corn could be grown profitably in parts of this country, but not generally, and it was better for farmers to grow what they could grow best, and import such grains as they could not cultivate profitably. He thought better terms could be obtained from the States by not asking a quid pro quo for every concession made.

Mr. Clancey said the Government had not explained the reasons why corn had been singled out to be placed on the free list.

Mr. Clarke also was opposed to the Government's policy on free corn. Pork-packers in Toronto were strongly opposed to corn-fed pork.

After further discussion Mr. Clancey's amendment was defeated by 76 to 33 votes.

Mr. Kaulbach (Conservative) voted with the Government, and Mr. Stubbs (Independent) with the Opposition.

Mr. Fielding moved to change velvets, velveteens, etc., from 35 per cent. to 30 per cent.

Mr. Paterson moved to amend the mining machinery list by taking "fans" and rotary pressure blowers out of the free list and making them dutiable, and putting rock emery grinding machines on the free list.

Mr. Fielding asked permission to change the wording of the coal item. The equivalent duty to the American long ton should be 53c instead of 54c. He proposed to put in a proviso that our rate would be reduced to 40c if the Americans did likewise. A reciprocal tariff would apply to the 53c rate, but if the Americans accept our offer of 40c, that rate should be the minimum from all countries.

Mr. Foster: That is a very important point. It was coming down to reciprocity on a single article. It was not taking the tariff question as a whole. The Government would not be giving to Great Britain a preference, but would break in on the principle on which they staked their political existence. It was one of the most absurd things he had ever heard of.

Mr. Fielding said they ought to be practical, and to endeavor to get as low a rate for our coal as possible.

The item passed as amended.

Artificial limbs were added to the free list.

A clause preventing importers from amending entries on goods brought in since the tariff was enacted, and on which duties had been reduced, was adopted.

The committee rose and reported progress.

All the tariff items passed except the clause relating to export duties on logs, pulpwood and ores.

The House adjourned at 2.15 a.m.

What a Wonderful lot of People there are who Suffer from Backache.

From the Millionaire Sitting in His Office Clipping Coupons Down to the Humble Citizen who Swings a Pick for a Dollar a Day, Nobody is Free from it, and it all Comes From the Same Cause—The Kidneys are to Blame.

Backache is really nothing but kidney ache.

You can be perfectly sure that it means a disordered condition of the kidneys.

Here is some Montreal proof worth reading:—

Mrs. Laby, says: "My uncle, Mr. John Hughes, has been a very great sufferer from kidney disease, pain across the back, frightful headaches and dizziness, as well as severe urinary difficulties.

He was in a fearful state, could not rest, and often had to walk the floor half the night so great were the pains. We gave him a great many kinds of medicine, but they did him no good. He then went to the hospital, but the doctors there said that he had a complication of diseases, and only afforded him temporary relief. On coming back home he was soon as bad as ever.

Well, we saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and thought he might as well try them, as they could do him no harm, so he started to use them and got better in a very short time. In fact, he only used them for six weeks.

He is all right now, the pains have disappeared entirely, he eats well, sleeps well and works right along every day. We can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly. 126

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. Premiums may be paid for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 years or for life, and if so desired the Company will commute the Instalment into a single cash payment. Same terms and conditions as in all other policies. Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." CORA PECK, Amsterdam, N. Y.

"Type and Press."

The active enterprise of Messrs. Miller & Richard has found a new outlet in the publication of a journal, "Type and Press," devoted to the interests of the printing trade, with which this energetic firm has been associated for many years. The journal will be issued regularly and sent to Canadian printers and publishers and will be of special interest and, if carefully perused, of special profit to the craft, whose members are invited to contribute timely articles or suggest topics for treatment. The initial number is full of interesting information and contains, besides much valuable matter, fine specimen pages of the latest plain and fancy type faces to be supplied by the firm.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

In the Y.M.C.A. opening announcements of a few days ago it was stated that Mr. Tom Rodger would be present on Sunday, June 27, and give two addresses. Mr. Rodger cannot come owing to an engagement in an American city. His place will be taken by Mr. T. F. Best, General Secretary, Y.M.C.A., Brantford. Mr. Best is an experienced Association worker, very popular with young men wherever he is known. Besides being an all round athlete, he is a pleasing speaker and all the young men of Peterborough should plan to meet him on this his first visit.

The public are reminded that the dedication exercises will take place next Thursday, June 24th, when Rev. W. W. Weeks will be the principal speaker.

Special programme on Friday evening, high tea, basket ball match, at home, musicale, and a band concert by the 57 Battalion band.

Public School Jubilation.

At the public schools this afternoon the pupils listened to a pedagogic lecture on the reign of her Majesty, Queen Victoria, and sang with lusty and youthful loyalty such patriotic songs as the "Maple Leaf Forever," "The Red, White and Blue," and "God Save the Queen," from 1.30 to 2.30, when they were dismissed for the day.

The Jubilee Guardian.

THE Christian Guardian celebrates its Diamond Jubilee by publishing a fine special edition in colours, illustrated by pictures of the Queen and Royal Family, Royal residence, a portrait of Barbara Heck, and a picture of the "Old Blue Church," and Barbara Heck's grave. It contains a large quantity of special matter pertinent to the great Jubilee which it shares with Her Majesty. One paragraph of the contents states that in 1837 the "Upper Canada Academy," now Victoria University, was established. Altogether the Diamond Jubilee Number of the Guardian is a very creditable one and worthy of the great denomination that journal so efficiently represents.

Mr. Man!

One dollar spent at Gough Bros.' gigantic clothing sale will have the buying powers of two. Shouldn't you welcome this kind of economy? Keen buyers should be quick to take advantage of such inducements by paying ready cash for clothing that appeals to their good judgment and purse. What we save you save. It would be a senseless effort to induce such a crowded sale as we are having unless every customer was satisfied. Gough Bros.' reputation for good clothing, low prices and the faithful performance of every promise made, give a significance to this sale. Nobody spends their money here without a good reason. Hundreds who have visited our store this week can endorse all that they have heard and read about the unmistakeable low prices which prevail. There has been a perfect cyclone of bargains, and the choice of suits is as good as ever. Judge for yourselves:

Men's Serge Suits, in blue and black, heavy twill, farmer satin lined, perfect-fitting goods, worth $10 for $5.

Men's all-wool Canadian and Imported Tweeds, in twills and checks, in various shades, well made and trimmed, worth $8 for $4.

Men's Summer Clothing, in Coats and Vests, and Coat and Pants, or the single unlined Coat, just the thing for a warm day, from $1 to $2.50.

Hundreds of such bargains for the workingmen and their families, for business men and their families, for professional men and their families. Our window is dressed with samples of these fine suits, to be sold at exactly half price, which is a good deal less than wholesale cost.

THE FIRST LOCAL BICYCLE FATALITY.

HENRY FURBER KILLED BY A COLLISION.

He Dropped his Pipe on the Nicholls' Park Bicycle Track, and when Stooping to Pick it up was Run Down by a Wheel.

Mr. Henry Furber died at noon to-day from the effects of injuries received in a collision with a bicycle last evening on the Nicholls Park track.

Mr. Furber was the caretaker of the Park, and was standing on the track at about seven o'clock watching three or four of the racing men who were practising. In his interest he allowed his pipe to drop and stooped to pick it up, and as he did so he was struck by a wheel and knocked down so forcibly as to cause concussion of the brain.

The lamentable occurrence was the result of an accident, and blame can be attached to nobody. It seems that at the time the pipe fell Mr. Furber was watching a wheelman coming down the stretch at a high rate of speed, but miscalculating the distance or the rate of progression he attempted to recover his pipe before the bicyclist could pass. The attempt was attended with the above stated result, as hardly had he stooped before the wheel crashed into him and threw him so violently to the ground as to cause his head to strike the ground with sufficient force as to cause concussion of the brain.

The bicycle was ridden by Mr. Will Cochrane, son of High County Constable Cochrane, and he had just borrowed it in order to see if he could make speed on a high geared racer. He had ridden his own bicycle to the park and just a minute before remarked that he had never ridden a racer. Mr. Harry Lush offered the use of his for a trial and Mr. Cochrane accepted it and was just experimenting to see how much speed speed he could get up when the accident occurred. Naturally his head was down over the handle bars and as there were no wheelmen riding at the time he anticipated no danger and did not raise his eyes, devoting all his attention to the wheel.

When the crash occurred Cochrane was thrown from his wheel and those who were in the Park quickly gathered around Mr. Furber. Mr. Robert Beaubien carried him under a tree and bathed his head with water until he recovered consciousness, when he was driven in a democrat to his home on Concession street. Nothing serious was anticipated but the injured man was suffering so intensely at nine o'clock that Dr. Gray was sent for. As the result of an examination he found his patient to be suffering from a concussion of the brain. Both his eyes were closed and his face was frightfully swollen. He was still unconscious this morning when the doctor called and was unable to speak. At noon a telephone message was received from Mr. Fuber's sister, stating that the injured man had passed away.

The unfortunate accident will doubtless cast a damper on wheeling for a time.

The deceased was about 60 years of age, and was the caretaker of the Nicholls Park.

BATTALION NOTES.

Items of Interest Concerning the Volunteers Picked Up in the Drill Shed.

The Battalion will parade at eight o'clock sharp at the drill shed on Saturday evening, and march from there to the station for embarkation to Montreal.

The officers will hold a meeting to-night at eight o'clock to settle some details.

Each non-commissioned officer will furnish himself with towels, soap, brushes and blacking, and the necessaries for cleaning all brasses, belts, etc., also with hair brush, comb and change of socks.

Every man must appear on parade with all his clothing, buttons, badges, numerals, buckles and belts thoroughly cleaned, also boots properly blackened. No light coloured boots must be worn. The hair must be neatly cut.

Smoking on the street is forbidden.

The front plate of helments, badges or forage caps, and the numerals on shoulder straps are regimental property and must not be given away or exchanged.

Any extra baggage required to be taken by any of the companies, bands, etc., must be brought to the drill shed not later than 7 p.m. Saturday night, when it will be sent to the station in charge of the orderlies.

DIAMOND JUBILEE NOTES.

Little Notes of the Progress Made in Celebration Arrangements.

The various town societies are requested to have representatives present to-morrow evening at the council chamber, in order that the relative position of each society in the procession may be determined.

Societies intending to participate in the Jubilee parade should appoint some one to secure their badges for them. A supply has been received in the town clerk's office.

The portion of the field in which lacrosse is to be played on Jubilee Day at the Driving Park is to be fenced off with rope. The grass is being cut to-day.

Dozens of horses are being fitted for the Jubilee Day races at the driving Park, and in the mornings a great many citizens are down there to watch the trial heats. A large number of strange horses have been shipped in and the entry list will be a large one.

JUBILEE SUNDAY.

Church Parade of the Societies to St. John's.

The following is a list and order of march of the local societies that will assemble in Central Park at 2.45 on Sunday, and proceed to St. John's church:

Union Jack.
Sons of England Band.
True Blues.
Orangemen.
Knights of Maccabees.
A. O. U. W.
Independent Foresters.
Ancient Foresters.
Canadian Foresters.
Independent Order of Oddfellows.
St. Andrew's Society.
Board of Education.
Town Council.
Sons of England.

It is understood that the attendance of the societies will pretty well monopolise the seating accommodation of the church, so that it will be impossible to admit any of the general public till all the members of the society are seated.

BRIGADE CAMP NOTES.

A Few Notes Refering to the Kingston Camp.

A letter received by the EXAMINER from the camp at Kingston says: We are having a fine time of it here—artillery, cavalry and infantry muster nearly 2000 strong and the camp is very quiet and orderly. The cavalry, Third Prince of Wales Dragoons, was inspected this (Thursday) morning by a very smart French officer, Major Lesard, from the Toronto barracks. I believe he was very well satisfied with the dragoons.

Trumpeter Hubbs, of the EXAMINER press rooms had the honour of having his trumpeting very warmly commended by Major Lesard.

The Third Dragoons paraded for pay at 6.30 Thursday morning.

The W. C. T. U. tent in the camp is a convenience very much appreciated and taken advantage of by the volunteers.

The Y.M.C.A. tent meetings have been very successful. They are largely attended and the military men take part heartily.

THE ENNISMORE PICNIC.

It Was Largely Attended Yesterday and Proved a Great Success.

The annual picnic of St. Martin's church, which is always looked forward to with such expectancy, was held yesterday in Tara Grove, Ennismore, with an attendance of between five and six hundred.

A list of games and sports was run off during the afternoon, when valuable prizes were awarded. The ladies of the parish supplied the tables for the sumptuous dinner which was provided and the parishioners turned out in large numbers to enjoy the day after their spring work had been performed. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Towards evening Mr. Thos. Cahill, of town, was called to the chair, when, after making a few preliminary remarks, he called upon Mr. J. R. Stratton for an address, after which brief speeches were made by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, R. R. Hall and Rev. Father McColl. The speech-making was concluded by the singing of the National Antnem.

The receipts, which were large, will be devoted to the purpose of repairing and improving St. Martin's church. Rev. Father McColl is to be congratulated on the success of the picnic and upon the very evident popularity which he enjoys amongst his parishioners, judging from the hearty and cheerful manner in which they are co-operating with him in the advancement of the interests of church.

THE LITHOGRAPHIC QUARRY.

An Expert From Boston Here to Make a Report Upon its Possibilities.

Messrs. R. C. Strickland, W. H. Casement, A. L. Davis and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., with Mr. Armstrong, of Boston, Mass., an expert in lithographic stone, are investigating the possibilities of the lithographic stone quarry that is being operated in Harvey.

Several stones that have been taken out of the quarry are equal to the best German stone that is imported, and if it can be obtained in quantities and the quality remains up to the standard of the sample that has been sent away for inspection, the quarry will prove a most valuable one and superior as an investment to many of the gold mines which are spoken of. A number of Peterborough gentlemen will be interested in hearing the report from the expert who has been brought here to examine the quarry.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

A Large Party is Going Over it To-day in the Government Steamer Empire.

About twenty gentlemen, including a number of members of Parliament, are to-day taking a trip over a portion of the route of the Trent Valley Canal.

The party left the Oriental Hotel this morning in 'buses, at seven o'clock, and drove to Lakefield where they embarked on the Government steamer Empire to go over the route as far a Lindsay returning from there on the evening train to Peterborough.

THE ADVENTURE OF "ALMIGHTY VOICE."

A Peterborough Boy Tells of his Encounter With the Aboriginal Desperado.

A gentlemen in town has received a letter from Mr. "Dick" Cook, a Government official at Prince Albert, referring to his encounter with the noted Indian desperado, whose evil career was recently ended in the Northwest. The recital reads:

PRINCE ALBERT, 13th June, 1897,

"You have doubtless seen by the papers that I have been engaged in another Indian fight. I was one of the two civilians who led the police into the bluff to try and capture Almighty Voice and his two companions. Three of my companions were shot dead close beside me, and as there were only two of us left in the bluff with the Indians we failed to capture them. They had a deep rifle pit in the centre of a very thick clump of timber, and had the drop on us. I came up to within fifteen feet of the pit, and met Almighty Voice face to face. We both fired together. He cut my coat on the top of my left shoulder and I may have missed him, although after we finally captured him, we found that he had been hit twice, so that Grundy—who was killed—or myself, or both of us, must have hit him. Reinforcements arrived the next day and we shelled the bluff for about two hours, and then charged again, about 100 strong, but the Indians were all dead, one was shot in the first charge and the other two by the shelling.

R. S. COOK.

"Dick" has certainly had his share of fighting Indians in the Northwest. In addition to his last encounter he smelled powder and absorbed lead in the outbreak of 1885; at the battle of Batoche he was wounded in the leg, and invalided for a long time. His many friends in Peterborough will be glad to learn that he escaped the close call that Almighty Voice's bullet gave him.

A SEND-OFF FOR THE GEORGE ST. PASTOR.

MANY NICE THINGS SAID ABOUT HIM LAST NIGHT.

Local Methodist and Presbyterian Ministers Speak Well of Their Association With Rev. W. R. Young — Presentation and Address.

The congregation of the George street Methodist church assembled last evening in force at an informal reception which was tendered Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Young prior to their departure from Peterborough.

The chair was taken by Mr. D. W. Dumble, who, in a few opening remarks, stated that the last four years had been one of such happiness in the church that that the present gathering might be termed a jubilee at which all could gather to testify to the fact and give Mr. Young an opportunity of meeting them all once again in a social way. The congregation had kept him longer than they had done any previous minister and his last year had been his best, but perhaps it was as well that he should go now as if he remained much longer the congregation might be inclined to rebel against the church law and fight to hold him longer. He left with the respect and love of his congregation and would be followed by their prayers.

AFTER THE RENDERING

of a portion of the musical programme of the evening, refreshments were served and a social hour spent very pleasantly.

When the chairman resumed his seat he asked Mr. Young come to the platform and upon his so doing Mr. James Bradley stepped forward and on behalf of the Bible Class read the following address:

Rev. W. R. Young:

DEAR SIR,—The time has almost arrived for your departure from Peterborough and the members of your bible class feel that this occasion could not be allowed to pass without expressing to you the sincere regret that is felt by the class in the loss it is about to sustain by your severance from our midst. During your four years' pastorate you have won our love and respect by your earnest, careful teaching of the Scriptures from Sunday to Sunday. In the daily intercourse we have had with you outside the church we have also learned to appreciate your many fine qualities of heart and soul. The time has come when these pleasant associations must be severed and we desire you to accept these gifts, which we hope will serve to bring your old Bible class occasionally to mind. We wish you continued success in your new field.

Mr. W. J. Lendrum presented Mr. Young with the

of antique carved quartered oak, and also with a comfortable dressing gown.

In expressing his thanks for the gifts Mr. Young was visibly affected at intervals. He stated that there were times in one's life when one felt that they would not be anyone else or in any place else than who they were or where they were. At one time he had stopped part of the way up to the of the great statute of Liberty in the New York harbour. He was in doubt as to whether to go to the top or not. A gentleman coming down on being interrogated as to whether it was worth while to go on up, said that he would not go up again for ten dollars, but that he would not have missed going up for ten dollars. Mr. Young felt in just such a position. He would not for a great deal miss the experiences of the present hour and yet if he could he would have postponed it indefinitely. His feeling was one of mixed pleasure and sorrow. In parting from his congregation it was only with genuine heartfelt regret, but he would be less than human if he did not appreciate the position in which he was placed for the evening. He never claimed to be anything beyond the human and to-night he felt disposed to think after what had been said that he was somewhat of a decent fellow. He had come to his congregation as a stranger and they had taken him in. If they always treated strangers as well, they would without doubt have the approval of the Master.

Mr. Young then referred to his pleasant relations with the other clergy of the town. The congregations of Peterborough had the practical benefits of church unity. The first to call upon him after his arrival in town were the other ministers, and the friendships then formed had continued and resulted in many pleasant hours. During the years he had been associated with the local clergy everything in the interdenominational line had been most smoothly adjusted. His relations with every part of the church had been of the most sacred nature. He had striven to give the best talents of his heart and mind. If he had profited one soul he felt more than repaid. Any errors he had made had been of the head and

NOT OF THE HEART.

If he had the same experience four years ago which he had now doubtless many things would have been left unsaid. There was one part of the work which had been especially dear to him. It was his class in the Sunday school, and he would cherish until the end of his life the the thoughts of the many pleasant hours spent in connection with the members. The banner which he had striven to hold up was about to pass into better hands. He had always loved his brethren in the ministry and none of them more than his successor, and he looked forward to a bright future for the George street church. He could not take his seat without acknowledging the help which he had received during his pastorate from her who had with him the best interests of the congregation at heart, and if he had been successful it was through the wise counsel of one who had been his constant adviser for eleven years.

Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was then called upon. He stated that he had known Mr. Young for years and that the last four years of his association with him had been the most pleasant he had ever known. He fully understood how the congregation could appreciate such a pastor, and he was glad he had the privilege of being present. He was glad to look back on his last three years of friendship with him and glad to look forward to the future which he was sure awaited him. It could be easily understood how the lump rose in Mr. Young's throat and the mist to his eyes when speaking of the parting.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, expressed the deep feeling regret with which he parted from his friend, Mr. Young. The itinerant system was not so bad if one could get such a send-off. He had never had such a one

IN HIS LIFE.

It made him begin to think that he was old when he remembered the number of Methodist clergy he had seen come and go since the term of Dr. Willoughby. He could reiterate everything Mr. Young had said concerning the pleasant relationship existing amongst the clergy. He had been friendly with all the previous Methodist clergy and had spent many delightful hours with them. The relationship as existing between Mr. Young and himself had been no exception to the rule, and he wished him God speed.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, spoke of the results which were being attained in Peterborough through the United efforts of all Christians; attained by means of the harmony and good feeling existing amongst the clergy. If the time came for even more united effort in Christian service, it would be accomplished through the efforts of just such men as the pastor. He was thankful to have the opportunity of being present, and assured Mr. Young that his prayers would follow him to his new field of labour. All trusted, he knew, that his work would be prospered, and that the work which he sought to do in Peterborough, would bear good fruit to God's glory.

Rev. W. C. Bear was introduced as being from Ashburnham, but he expressed the hope that he would be regarded as having come from the Mark street Methodist church, Peterborough, and not as an outsider. All were brethren labouring together, and as he was a member of the Peterborough Ministerial Association all were closely allied. Though busy he could not of being with them and taking part in the entertainment. He had found Mr. Young to be a true friend and a wise counsellor during the thirteen years of his friendship with him.

Dr. Fife, on being called upon, bestowed praise on the itinerant system, as although it was taking Mr. Young away from Peterborough, yet through the system he had been brought here, and through it, the congregation hoped to secure a successor who would also do good work. He concurred in everything which had been said of the pastor, and should continue to think kindly of him.

Rev. Mr. Cragg quoted the verse commencing, "Glad to meet and sorry to part," and thought it particularly applicable to the occasion. He thought that during the evening Mr. Young had had his full share of what Sam Slick called "soft soap," but still he was deserving of it all. He was a very canny man and could see a long way ahead of him, and a long way around him as well. Being an admirer of Mrs. Young himself, he could endorse all that the pastor had said of his wife's wise counsel. Mr. Young had been a most diligent pastor. He was always doing something. When he first saw him on his wheel he thought he was going to "backslide," (laughter) but he didn't. He concluded by wishing him every prosperity in the future.

During the evening a most excellent musical programme was furnished by Mrs. Seward, Mrs. R. A. Hamilton, Misses Vina Annie and Clara Belleghem and Messrs. Harvey, John Miller and James Brown.

OBITUARY.

The Late Gertrude Galvin.

To-day, Miss Gertrude Galvin, youngest daughter of Mr. J. G. Galvin, Lakefield, passed away at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Adams, reeve of Ashburnham, after an illness of several months. For several years Miss Galvin resided with Mr. Adams, attending the Collegiate Institute and later teaching for a time in the Ashburnham Public School. She was well known in Ashburnham and also at Lakefield, her home, for her many lovable traits of character and disposition. The funeral takes place from her late residence, Robinson street, Ashburnham, on Sunday next at 2 o'clock p. m. to the Lakefield Cemetery, Smith township.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

THE BASEBALL RECORD

Scranton, Pa., June 16.—Jim Corbett, ex-champion, played first base with Scranton to-day against Providence in a regularly postponed game. The noted pugilist brought out an attendance of over 4000 persons. He sparred three rounds with McVey and played the initial bag with more ginger and perfection than many a crack amateur could do it. Corbett hoodooed the stick work of the miners, who got but two hits off Silver Braun, and were shut out for the first time this season. Out of three times at bat Corbett was thrown out once at first, fanned once and hit a high fly to Cooney. He has been booked by Brady for a number of professional games. Score:

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

BIKES MUST PAY,

The Senators Gave Mr. Casey's Bill the Hoist.

MR. McCALLUM MADE THE MOTION

Mr. Loughead Proposed a Graded Scale of Reduced Prices, But the Wheelmen Wouldn't Accept It Bells Will Ring on Jubilee Day—Other Ottawa News.

Ottawa, June 16.—(Special.)—The Senate Committee gave its quietus to the Casey bicycle bill this morning. At the opening of the proceedings it was announced that an attempt to reach an agreement between the representatives of the railway companies and the C. W. A. had failed. The railway men offered a reduced scale of charges for bicycles as follows: For a passenger fare of 5c, a charge of 5c for a bicycle; for a passenger fare over 5c and up to 75c, a bicycle charge of 10 cents; for a fare over 75c up to $1, a bicycle 15c; for a fare over $1 up to $3, a bicycle 20c; for fares $3 to $5, bicycles 25c; for fares $5 to $7.50, bicycle 35c; for fares $7.50 to $10, bicycle 50c. And so on up to passenger fares of $25 to $30, when a bicycle would pay $1.50. This the wheelmen's representatives would not accept.

Senator McCallum moved that the bill be postponed for six months, in order that the parties be given time to come to a mutual understanding. He held that there would be no public loss if the measure stood still till next session.

Senator Loughead, who promotes the bill, moved important amendments to the measure. The bill as amended would read: "Bicycles are hereby declared to be baggage within the meaning of this section, and a passenger shall not be required to protect in any way any bicycle delivered by him for transport. Provided the same shall be transported at the owner's risk, the company shall not be required to transport, under the provisions of this section, more than one bicycle for any passenger; provided also that railways shall not be required to carry a bicycle as baggage for any person traveling on a commuted passenger ticket."

Sir Mackenzie Bowell objected to the principle of making bicycles baggage by Act of Parliament, when everyone knows that wheels are not baggage in any sense.

Senator Cox observed that the measure interfered with the vested rights of the companies, and although he was in favor of the roads carrying wheels free, yet he objected to forcing this upon them.

Senator Mills based his objections on much the same lines. He had sympathy with the wheelmen, but urged a compromise.

Senator Drummond objected to the amendment, by which parties traveling on commutation tickets would be shut out from the enjoyment of the privilege of free transportation. This, he claimed, would defeat the main purpose of the measure.

The amendment was negatived and then Senator McCallum's motion was carried on a vote of 9 to 7. No division was recorded.

Archbishop Duhamel has issued a pastoral calling upon Roman Catholics of this diocese to loyally observe the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria. He requests a Te Deum to be chanted immediately after pracinal mass in all churches and chapels of this diocese on Sunday, June 20. All bells of churches in the city of Ottawa will be rung at full swing, Tuesday, June 22, at 8 o'clock in the morning, during a half hour. It is on that very day, the pastoral says, that the people will celebrate in London the Jubilee of the Queen whose life God, let us hope, will be pleased to prolong still more.

The statement that the Cabinet has definitely decided to bonus the Columbia and Western Railway to the extent of $8000 is incorrect. Until it is seen whether the bill will pass the House, which is very problematical, the Cabinet cannot consider the matter.

Reports from the Pacific coast are to the effect that the Canadian sealers are making money out of their catches on the Japanese coast. Many of the crews have taken as high as 700, and others almost up to 1000 pelts. The Japanese catch promises to be much more remunerative than that in Behring Sea, according to the experience of late years.

Patron member Rogers, on the second reading of the Government bill regarding the construction of the Crow's Nest Railway, will move, "That a grant of $11,000 per mile is wrong in principle, unjust to the rest of the country, and contrary to the pledges of retrenchment in public expenditure made by the Liberal party; that the gross revenue of the Canadian Pacific last year was upwards of $20,000,000, and the net profit applied to interest on securities of the company was upward of $8,000,0000, and the increase of profits for the past four months over last year was $100,000, and there does not appear to be any just reason why an appropriation of public moneys should now be added to the large grants made to this company in the past; that, if it is necessary for the Canadian Pacific Railway to construct the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, ample security should be obtained from the company for due repayment of principal and interest upon any sum the Government may feel it necessary to grant in aid of the construction, by a first mortgage upon the property of the railway so constructed; that the bill be not now read a second time, but that it be read this day six months."

Sir Oliver Mowat, in answer to a question by Senator Bellerose, as to the Jubilee adjournment, said he was afraid it would be necessary for the Senate to sit on Saturday. As to sitting on Monday he could not yet say. The Senate would, however, not sit on Tuesday.

The Sicily Asphalt Company of Montreal has been awarded the contract for laying new walks around the Parliament buildings.

Mgr. Merry Del Val arrived from Winnipeg yesterday. Owing to the quietness with which his plans were carried out none but a few clergy were present to meet him. The trip to the Prairie Province has done the Ablegate good, for he now looks better than before he left Ottawa, and seems to have grown slightly stouter.

James Perrico, a brakeman on a local freight train on the O., A. & P. S. Railway, was run over and instantly killed at Madawaska last night. The unfortunate man's body was cut in two. Perrico lived in Eganville, and was about 21 years of age.

Sir Richard Cartwright gives notice of motion for the House to sit on Saturday, commencing at 11 o'clock.

IS MR. SANFORD SHORT?

The County Treasurer of Simcoe is Not at Present at Home and There Are Rumors.

Barrie, Ont., June 16.—When Simcoe County Council met yesterday afternoon in Orillia, Mr. S. J. Sanford, County Treasurer, was not present, and later developments showed that he had left his home in Barrie last week and had not returned. This gave some a chance to give expression to a suspicion that the treasurer was short in his accounts. The County Auditors are Mr. McEachren of Elmvale, who, it is said, discovered irregularities some time ago, and Mr. Craig of Craighurst. These gentlemen and Warden Sneath came here to-day and will at once begin an audit of the books, which, it is thought, will reveal considerable shortage. The treasurer gave securities to the amount of some $30,000, beside a lien of $2500 on his dwelling and some $7000 electric light stock. The Council will be compelled to suspend business until the audit is completed, which will not be for a considerable time.

General sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Sanford and the children here.

Too many mothers are helpless invalids. A mother's proudest and happiest privilege is to help an ambitious son in his early struggles to attain eminence in his chosen walk of life. To such a son, a robust mother, a grand mother with a healthy mind in a healthy body, is the best counselor and the best spur. Many mothers are sickly, fretful, helpless creatures tortured beyond endurance by the pains of their own wrecked constitutions. An ambitious youth receives but little encouragement or sound advice who appeals to such a mother. Most ill-health among women is due to weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. If these parts are weak and diseased the entire system suffers.

The most wonderful remedy for all weakness and disease of the distinctly female organism is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It allays inflammation, soothes pain and imparts vigor and health to these delicate organs. It makes healthy mothers and capable wives. It prepares a woman for motherhood. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period and makes parturition easy and almost painless. Over 90,000 women have testified to its virtues, in writing. Druggists sell it.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription to suffering ladies," writes Mrs. J. Ferguson, Box 29, Douglas Station, Selkirk Co., Manitoba. "After suffering untold tortures I thank God I found relief and cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

It don't pay—sickness. Constipation often causes it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, forty of which are contained in a two-inch vial. Druggists sell them and have nothing else "just as good." They regulate the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

RINGS OF SATURN.

ONE OF THE BEST OBJECTS OF TELESCOPIC STUDY.

A Unique Member of the Solar System—An Enquiry Into the Question: "What Are These Rings?"—The Theories Advanced by Various Scientists.

The most beautiful telescopic object for the occasional star gazer, with the single exception of the moon, unquestionably is the planet Saturn. The view of the planet given here is from a sketch made a few evenings since, and will gave those who have not access to a telescope a fairly good idea of how this ringed world looks at the present time. It will be observed that the picture shows the under side of the rings. This means that we now see their northern face, the planet being shown inverted by the telescope.

These wondrous rings, which render Saturn a unique member of the solar system, have from the time of their first discovery by Galileo—or rather by Huygbens, for Galileo merely saw that there was something protruding from each side of the planet, which he likened to the handles of a jug, without recognizing the true cause of the appearance—been the subject of a deal of speculation among astronomers. In fact, there is little else of interest to be seen about the planet. It is too far away—about 800,000,000 miles when at its nearest—for even in the most powerful telescope to make much of its surface markings. It appears simply to be surrounded by a series of faint, dark bands, which perpetually maintain the same general appearance, and are probably due to cloud strata in its atmosphere. But the rings, the characteristic feature, can be seen through even a small telescope, though through such an instrument they appear as a single object. Indeed, the innermost of the three, known as the "crape" ring, is so faint as to have escaped notice down to the year 1850, when it was discovered independently by the Bonds, at Cambridge, and by the Rev. Mr. Dawes, in England. They lie in a plane with the planet's equator, and since this is inclined to the plane of the orbit, just as is the earth's equator, the rings are therefore tilted with respect to us in such a way that their aspect varies with the change of the planet's position in its orbit. Sometimes we see their under, or southern side; sometimes their upper, or northern side, as now, while at intervals of fifteen years—one half of the period of the planet's revolution in its orbit—they are presented to us edgewise, as was the case in 1892, and then they become invisible, save through a large telescope.

What are these rings? They have the appearance of being solid, and they were regarded as solid by Laplace, who accounted for their stability by assuming that they were heavier on one side than on the other, so that they swung practically as a single satellite; but it has now been demonstrated, both mathematically, by Professor Clerk Maxwell, and spectroscopically, by Professor Keeler, of the Allegheny Observatory, that they are made up of countless millions of minute bodies—"meteorities"—each of which circles independently of the rest, as a tiny satellite. They are simply ring-shaped clouds of "cosmic dust." The proof of this fact by the spectroscope is, indeed, one of the neatest performances of this wonderful little instrument. It depends upon the ability of the instrument to detect motion "in line of sight," that is, toward us or from us. As the triple ring circles round the planet one edge approaches us, while the other edge is receding. Were the ring solid the outer margin should move faster than the inner margin, just as a point on the rim of a wheel moves faster than a point near the hub. But the spectroscope, in the hands of Professor Keeler, and more recently of Professor Keeler, of Pulkown, has shown that it is the inner margin which moves the faster, and this is precisely what ought to happen on the meteoritic theory, since a satellite moves faster the nearer it is to the body around which it circles. The difference in the rates of movement is about three miles a second, the inner margin circling at the rate of about thirteen miles a second, while the outer moves, at the slower rate of ten miles.

Saturn now crosses the meridian at about 11 p. m. It appears as a star of the first magnitude of an orange yellow color. Ten or twelve degrees to the east of it is the ruddy Antares, the "Heart of the Scorpion."

The Curing of Clover Hay.

The crop is in the right stage for cutting when one-half the heads have turned brown. Should the crop be large enough to require more than a week to cut, then begin cutting a little earlier. The cutting and curing is done as follows: Begin in the morning, cutting as much as can be raked up and hauled to the barn the next afternoon. When the crop is large the cutting should be done each morning, rain or shine, for if cut in the rain, and afterwards it clears off, the hay will dry and will be nearly, if not quite, as good as that cut in the sunshine. Should rain come on, wetting the hay already cut and partially dry, then it is of no account—is fit only to fill and stop a wash.

As indicated above, the hay that is cut one morning, even under ordinary sunshine, is ready and fit to be raked and stored in the barn the next afternoon. Clover treated in this way makes the best hay I ever saw. It comes out the next winter as nice, sweet and bright as anyone could wish. I have managed my clover in this way for many years—many times in direct opposition to the advice of others. Indeed, I have been styled a fool for ruining good clover by putting it up too green. I have never failed to have the satisfaction of being able to say, "I told you so" when my hay showed up in the winter so much better than that of those who left theirs out too long in the sun. This plan gives half each morning for work in the corn, which in this section is a time that work is needed. I sprinkle salt on my hay as it is tossed in the barn, not as a curative, but to make it more palatable to the stock.—Jacob Swigert, N.Y., in American Agriculturist.

Uses for Poor Soil in Gardening.

Certain vegetables, such as cabbage, tomatoes, corn and potatoes may be made to ripen earlier on poor land than on rich land by the way manures are used. If placed in the hill or drill in just sufficient quantity to bring the plant fairly into bearing, the cutting off of the supply, by exhaustion of nutriment, will hasten the ripening a week or ten days. Such produce will not be the best, but often the prices of extra early will justify the course. A knowledge of the fertility already in the soil, and good judgment of how much to add, will often produce good results. Where land is leachy and will not hold manures, this course is absolutely necessary. Sandy or gravelly land without clay subsoil can never be kept rich, yet some very fine vegetables can be grown on it. Light land is usually recommended for trucking or gardening. But heavy land, if well prepared, will produce the finest in quality and size. The lateness is easily overcome by the use of the greenhouse, the increased labor will be well remunerated by the extra fancy quality, while on poorer land the extra early will have the market far in advance of the hotbed plants. From previous articles some may be led to think that all my land is a compost pile. Not so. I have some soil that will not grow white beans without manure, and I keep it so, as far as I am able, growing a second crop on it on purpose to impoverish it. But this land produces the earliest crops, well-rotted compost being put in the hill or drill, instead of broadcast.—Henry Snyder, in Practical Farmer.

Skim Milk for Poultry.

Skim milk fed to poultry will give as satisfactory results as when fed to hogs. When milk is skimmed only the cream is removed. Cream is the carbonaceous portion of milk, and is of little value so far as being an assistant to egg production is concerned, because the elements remaining in the buttermilk consist of very nearly the same as those existing in the egg. The milk is as valuable as it was before it was skimmed because cream does not carry off any of the nitrogen or phosphates in the milk. Placing skim milk or buttermilk in pans for the chickens to drink is not the best plan; it is far better to mix it with ground grain, and occasionally, if skim milk is used, it should be heated to the boiling point and thickened with ground oats and corn meal, for a change. Give the milk to the chickens when it may be put in clean vessels only, for disease may be the result if they are allowed to drink it when filthy or unfit for use.—Farm and Home.

BERRY WORK FOR JUNE.

M. A. Thayer of Sparta, Wis., Gives Some Good and Timely Advice.

All berry bushes should be protected from summer heat and drouth. This may be done in two ways: First, by frequent cultivation and hoeing, thus forming an earth mulch, which prevents the rapid escape of moisture from the soil; second, by covering the ground around the hill with coarse manure, straw and other material, which prevents evaporation and retains the moisture about the roots.

One of the best and cheapest mulches for the farmer is green clover, cut in blossom and applied same as manure. It is easily applied, retains moisture, enriches the soil, keeps the berries clean, and contains no germ of noxious weed. A good mulch well applied is one of the great necessities in successful fruit growing.

When new canes of the blackberry and black raspberry are eighteen inches high nip the top off about two inches; this will cause several new laterals to grow, which should be trimmed severely in the spring. The pinching back of the bearing surface keeps the bush low, strong, well formed and less liable to injury from severe storms.

Frequent cultivation makes plant food more available, and is especially necessary after hard rains. The ground must be kept mellow throughout the growing season.

Allow no fruit to grow on strawberry plants the first season; pick off all buds and blossoms.

The matted row with clean paths between is best for most varieties and most growers. Avoid having plants too thick in the row and you will have larger and better berries. With strong-growing varieties remove runners. The ideal method would be to allow first runners to make plants until matted row is formed, giving each plant five or six inches square space in which to grow, and removing all runners thereafter. This is seldom accomplished in practical berry growing.

Clean cultivation is the greatest safeguard against fungous diseases and insect pests. These enemies are cowardly; they always attack the weak and unprotected plants first. Look for them closely and apply remedies for them at once.

For the currant worm, no remedy is safer or more easily applied than white hellebore. Dissolve an ounce of the powder in two gallons of water and apply with fine sprinkler or brush-broom. The worm first appears on the lower branches about the time fruit is formed. Thorough work in June insures safety during the trying months of July and August.

THE UNITED STATES TARIFF ON LUMBER.

The following letter appears in the Montreal Star of June 16th :

SIR,—Both Houses of the United States Congress have passed the lumber item of the tariff, imposing a duty of $2 per thousand feet board measure on sawn lumber, and, although this rate is no higher than prevailed for many years, in fact until 8 or 9 years ago when the figure was reduced by $1, it will be found that the increase will be far more detrimental to this country than the decrease was advantageous. It cannot be gainsaid that the Canadian exporters never received the full advantage of the diminished duty; prices remained about the same, but the wholesale dealers on the other side were able to make larger profits, which had the effect of improving the volume of trade with us. The imposition of the higher duty at the present time will undoubtedly be made an excuse for lowering prices to our manufacturers, who, under the changed conditions which have arisen in the last ten years, cannot afford to sell for less than they have been getting for some time past. The result is that our lumber trade with the United States is practically at an end and our government, with whom I do not generally agree, are to be commended for placing themselves in a position to meet the hostile tariff under discussion. It is all very well to deprecate "retaliation," and I would not advocate the imposition of export duties on saw logs and pulp wood merely to get "even with" our unfriendly neighbours, but it is a recognised principle in commercial matters that nothing is given without an equivalent. So long as the low duty on sawn lumber enables us to do a large trade with the United States at a fair profit there was some ground for letting our saw logs go free, but now the whole situation is changed, and we are forced to enquire what is the best course to pursue so as to reap the greatest advantage from our remaining forest products, which are decreasing only too rapidly.

The pulp wood question has been treated so ably by Mr. Loughrin that no one can fail to be convinced of the manifest duty devolving upon the Government of the present time to do all that is necessary to make Canada the great pulp and paper producing country of this continent. This should be accomplished not only by the imposition of an export duty but also by the granting of bounties. The necessity for fostering our other timber resources is equally cogent. In the first place let the export duty on saw logs be sufficiently high to ensure the manufacture of all lumber within our borders. But it may be reasonably asked, what use manufacturing lumber if there be no market for it? That is the particular point to which I wish to refer. Although by far the greater part of our saw lumber has hitherto gone to the United States in the first instance, it is well known that a very large proportion of it has been shipped from there to the West Indies and the South American Republics. This has been accomplished through the medium of very wealthy export lumber companies, mostly, I think, by one company. Why should not we derive all the benefit of this enormous business by trading directly with these Southern communities? May I suggest to the Merchant Princes of Montreal, whose enterprise and patriotism are household words from one end of Canada to the other, the formation of a company of sufficient dimensions to take in hand this very important branch of our industries, to set in effect as the means for disposing of the great bulk of our lumber in foreign markets? It only requires the incorporation of such a company to give a new stimulus to the manufacture of lumber and to create such a revival of trade in it as we have not witnessed for many years. It may be that commercial treaties between the United States and the South American Republics give the former an advantage over us at the present time, but the lack of supply from that quarter will soon enable us to overcome that difficulty.

Your obedient servant,
"CANADA FIRST,"

REPUBLICAN TOLERANCE.

How Our "Yankee" Cousins Show Their Love for the Queen.

Free speech, free thought, free exercise of conscientious convictions, and free action within the limits of moderation are signs of the highest freedom and most advanced civilization. Our neighbours to the south of us are everlastingly vaunting their freedom, but their actions belie their boasts.

It was announced one day last week that a band concert would be given in Central Park, New York, when a few British airs would be played by way of honouring Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. The result was that idiotic Anglophobists promptly placarded the city with posters, bearing the following inscription :

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

IDYL WILD.

Auspicious Opening of the Season at This Ideal Summer Resort.

This beautifully situated spot on Rice Lake has been almost taken by storm with excursions, pic-nics and visitors during the past three weeks. The different lake boats have all had charters for this island already, and the success which has attended them has been a source of pleasure to all concerned. More excursions are coming from Belleville, Hastings, Norwood, Sterling, Havelock and other points. The beautifully wooded park and green slopes have always given this breezy island a preference by many in the district. The situation of the hotel is high and salubrious, and the grounds have plenty of inviting shade and restful nooks.

Several American families have already been here enjoying a season of fishing and quiet rest, and many more are coming. They invariably return home pleased and leaving expressions of the gratification which the sportsman, tourist and pleasure-seeker can derive from a visit to this spot, and taking along with them to Uncle Sam's territory carefully boxed specimens of Rice Lake fish.

Rooms are being engaged about as fast as they can be obtained, and Mine Host Spellman, under whose management Idyl Wild still prospers, expects to have his house taxed to its utmost capacity during the season.

Maskinonge and bass are unusually abundant in the vicinity of Idyl Wild this summer. Indians come with boat loads of fish to the docks every day, offering them for sale to the excursionists who frequent the island. The guests at the hotel have all the fishing sport they can take in within a few rods of the shores.

The grounds are looking inviting, clean and green, and numerous improvements have recently been effected, which add to the pleasure and comfort of visitors. The steamer North Star calls at Idyl Wild regularly every Saturday and on other days when she is flagged or has passengers for the island.

HASTINGS.

Splendid Fishing in the River Trent —Sportsmen Flocking in.

There has been the most extraordinary fishing exploits performed here during the week. The record of some of the visiting sportsmen have put all former records in the shade—as far back as the oldest resident can remember. The Trent River has been the scene of many a sensational day's fishing, in which it has not been necessary to invoke the aid of romancing tales or Ananiasims, but in which facts as strong as proof of Holy Writ have been adduced. Not for many a year, however, has anything like the same success attended the followers of the good apostle as that which has been in evidence here this week. One instance may be given, which can be vouched for by a score of the residents of our village. A party of four gentlemen from Toronto arrived at the Clarendon House on Wednesday for a few days fishing, and by Thursday afternoon had bagged nearly four hundred pounds of splendid bass. The fish were mostly black bass of more than the regulation dimensions—a large portion weighing four and five pounds each. They were all caught in the Trent, about three miles from the village, and the cargo was brought in wheelbarrows to the Clarendon House, where they were sorted, bagged and taken to Toronto Friday morning. The rod and line, with minnows for bait, was what was used in the slaughter. Messrs. J. G. Gibson, H. Wright, D. Blea and T. Anderson, all of Toronto, are the names of the successful fishermen as registered in the hotel register; and the way they made things "hum" round the Clarendon, after they came ashore and were interviewed, will not soon be forgotten by the crowd of admirers who swarmed to offer their congratulations. "For they are jolly good fellows" was the unanimous verdict of all. Toronto gets the credit of having things pretty much its own way in provincial "cinches" and "scoops," and unless Mr. T. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough fame, and a few more of our local experts with the rod and line don't take a hand in pretty soon Toronto will have the "pull" on our fish preserves as well.

Most of the members of this party have been coming regularly to Hastings every summer on a fishing expedition the past number of years, and they claim that nowhere else can the same sport be had at so trifling an expense as on the River Trent. Mr. Spellman, of the Clarendon House, has his rooms nearly all engaged for similar parties, and as fast as one party leaves another arrives.

Hastings has not arranged for any special events for the Diamond Jubilee. It is expected that a large number of the citizens are to take in the Peterborough celebration.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Attend the Monster $40,000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them

THE SEAT OF HONOR

At the Imperial Institute Banquet in London

WAS GIVEN TO CANADA'S PREMIER

The Prince of Wales Presided, With Mr. Laurier on His Right and Whitelaw Reid on His Left—Happy Speech by the Prince—It Was a Brilliant Affair.

London, June 18.—The Prince of Wales, as President of the Imperial Institute, presided over a banquet given by the Institute this evening.

A large crowd watched the arrival of the guests, who were received by Lord Herschell, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Institute. Everybody wore a decoration of some sort. Stars, ribbons and various orders, together with the splendor of oriental costumes worn by the eastern potentates, made a brilliant scene.

The guests numbered hundreds and represented every branch of national and colonial life. Among those present were the Marquis of Salisbury, the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies; the Earl of Kimberley, the Marquis of Dufferin, Lord Ripon, Lord Lansdowne, the Marquis of Lorne, Lord Rosebery, Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Premier; Mr. Whiteway, the Premier of Newfoundland; Baron Rothschild, Lord Lyon Playfair, Sir Donald Smith, the Canadian High Commissioner; the Archbishop of Canterbury and a splendid array of men of high rank in the army, navy, church and civil service, with a sprinkling of literary, scientific and artistic notables. It was 9 o'clock before the assembly was complete. The Prince of Wales led the procession into the dining pavilion, amid the strains of the National Anthem.

Mr. Wilfrid Laurier sat on the right hand of the Prince of Wales, and Mr. Whitelaw Reid, the special envoy of the United States, to the Jubilee festivities, on the left of the Prince. The latter showed his keeen interest by waiting to the very end of the speechmaking, which was close upon midnight. This was almost unprecedented, as the Prince of Wales lets it become known that he objects to late hours at such affairs, and either uses his influence to shorten proceedings or leaves the chair to a substitute.

The Prince was in excellent humor, chatted gaily with Mr. Reid and Mr. Laurier and laughed heartily at the jokes of the speakers.

After dinner the Prince of Wales proposed "The Health of the Queen." In a felicitous speech, he referred to the approaching Jubilee celebrations, adding that he had no doubt they would receive the familiar toast with more acclamation even than was usually the case. This was followed by prolonged cheering, waving of handkerchiefs and cries of "God bless her!" the entire company standing. "I beg you," he said, "to drink with me her health, congratulating her not only upon her Diamond Jubilee, but upon her record reign."

This was followed by a renewed outburst of cheers, the band repeating the music of the National Anthem. Amid the enthusiasm the Prince called for "one more cheer." This was given, only to be followed by another, and then by a third.

Sir Hugh Nelson, Premier of Queensland, in proposing the health of the Prince and Princess of Wales, expressed the hope that the Australian colonies might some day have the privilege of receiving a member of the royal family and the opportunity of displaying an unqualified loyalty and devotion.

The Prince of Wales, replying, expressed his great pleasure and gratification at presiding on so interesting an occasion. He said he took the deepest interest in the welfare of the colonies, and added:

"I regret that I have not had the advantage like my brother, the Duke of Coburg, and my sons, of visiting the greater part of them, not only of the North American colonies, but of the colonies in Australasia and Africa. I have not, however, forgotten my visit to Canada. Though I was a young man at the time, I have still the most vivid recollection of the experience, and shall always carry my mind back with the greatest pleasure to the cordial reception extended me there."

The Marquis of Lansdowne, replying for the army, urged the necessity of considering, beforehand, a scheme of defence in the event of the possibility of circumstances arising that would require the colonies and Mother Country to stand side by side for the common defence. He thought it would be prudent for the colonies, now spending largely and generously on defensive armament, to consult the wide experience of the home authorities on the subject, and he hoped the present occasion would be seized upon for that purpose, as they might all feel assured that every year would tighten the bonds uniting the forces of the colonies and England.

The Prince of Wales, in proposing the health of the guests of the evening, gave a cordial welcome to the distinguished gentlemen who had come to celebrate the Jubilee. He said he rejoiced to see the Indian Princes making common cause with them in honor of their colonial guests. He was convinced that the colonies would always come to the assistance of the Mother Country in time of need or danger. Referring to the enormous growth and increase of the colonies during the record reign, he expressed the hope that the peaceful circumstances under which they were met together, might long continue. "God grant it," he said. "But if the National flag is threatened, I am convinced that all the colonies will unite to maintain what exists and to preserve the integrity of the Empire."

The Prince welcomed the premiers and hoped earnestly that their stay would not be irksome. No one, he said, could be more gratified than the Queen that they had come to do honor to a great epoch of history. [Cheers.]

Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, replying to the toast to the Colonial Premiers: "This toast is always important, but it is especially so now, when the subject of the colonies is engrossing and absorbing the minds of all thinking men. As for myself and my colleagues, during our short sojourn in England, I can say that we have hourly evidence of the large part the colonies occupy in the affection of the English people. It has been said that the colonies are born to become nations and that perhaps Canada may some day become a nation. My answer to that is simply this: Canada is a nation; Canada is free, and freedom is its nationality. Though Canada acknowledges the suzerainty of the sovereign, I am here to say that independence would give the Canadians no more rights than they already have. If England should ever be in danger, her colonies would do their utmost to help her. [Great cheering.]

"I have often been asked whether the French-Canadians are absolutely loyal, and I have been reminded that old feuds die hard; but to that I may reply that it is the proud privilege of the present generation to recall the events of the banners of France and England victoriously entwined in the Crimea. True, during the last century there was a long duel between England and France for the possession of North America. But, on the heights of Quebec is a monument to two generals who fought in that war, and it bears the inscription 'Equal in fame, equal in courage, equal in glory.' That equality exists at the present day between the two races. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has just reminded us of his early visit to Canada and has observed that many changes have taken place since then, but I can assure His Royal Highness that there has been no change in the loyalty of the French-Canadians, or of the people of Canada to Great Britain and to the British Crown." [Loud cheering.]

Lord Rosebery, proposing the "Houses of Legislature, Home and Colonial," said he hoped this unparalleled gathering would not separate without an effort to draw closer the bonds of the Empire.

The Marquis of Salisbury, responding for the House of Lords, confessed that the misgivings he had when the Colonial Legislatures were first created, were entirely unfounded. He said: "If those Legislatures are able to exercise self-control and to fulfil their high ideal, they will produce an Empire such as the world has not yet seen. There is talk of fiscal union and of military union. Both may, to a certain extent, be good things; but they will not be the basis upon which our Empire will rest. It will rest upon the growth of sympathy and of common thought and feeling between the Mother Country and the Colonies."

The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, responded for the House of Commons. He made no allusion to the Colonial office.

The whole proceedings were most enthusiastic. The Prince of Wales has rarely, if ever, spoken so impressively and feelingly as in his speech toasting the guests.

All the morning papers contain editorials upon the banquet, which they agree in thinking a worthy and appropriate formal opening of the Jubilee festivities. All highly praise Mr. Laurier's eloquent speech, especially his declaration that the Colonies would assist England in time of trouble.

Mr. Reid Fixing Wich.

London, June 18.—Whitelaw Reid, General Nelson Miles and Mr. Ogden Mills were the guests of Col. Henry Harlan Parr, special equerry to Mr. Reid, during his stay here as special Ambassador, at luncheon to-day at the Naval and Military Club. Among the company were Major-General Methuen and General Sir Redvers Buller.

The Marquis of Salisbury received Mr. Reid as the United States special envoy at the Foreign Office this afternoon, and conversed with him for some time with great cordiality. A copy of the letter of President McKinley to the Queen was formally filed in the Foreign Office archieves in accordance with custom, and Mr. Reid will present the original to the Queen on Monday next.

To-morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Reid will go to Cliveden, as the guests of William Waldorf Astor. On their return to London, Mr. Reid will be met by Colonel Parr and one of the royal carriages and will pay a round of formal calls. Two royal carriages have been placed at the disposal of the special embassy during Jubilee week.

A Summer Shoulder Special.

The special feature of the summer shoulder cape is the short full effect which gives it the appearance of an extended neck ruff. Transparent materials, such as grenadine, mousseline de soie, batiste, and net, accordion-plaited very full, flourish in these garments, and jet and butter-colored lace figures largely in the trimming. The souave jacket style of garment, with the full cape sleeves, ranks with the cape as good style, but it is not so useful owing to the inconvenience of putting it on and taking it off.

At an English Wedding.

A novel idea, carried out at an English wedding, is a procession of eight little bridesmaids, following the bride, each one wearing a Victorian bonnet made of rose twigs lined with silk of the prevailing color in dress, and carrying crooks, entwined with ribbon and flowers.

A FINAL SETTLEMENT

Believed to Have Been Reached on the School Question.

THE ABLEGATE WOULD NOT TALK

But the Idea is General That the Question Will Not Come Up Again—A Government Loan to be Negotiated—General News From the Capital.

Ottawa, June 18.—(Special.)—It looks as if a final settlement of the Manitoba school question is in sight. The statement that Mgr. Merry del Val has advised the Catholics of Manitoba to accept the Laurier-Greenway compromise, while entirely unauthorized and second-hand, has a strong appearance of probability about it. Indeed, it seems matters have gone so far that Archbishop Langevin is prepared to bow to the Ablegate's view if Greenway concedes one point to the Catholics, and to endeavor to induce his quondam colleagues to grant it. The Archbishop's contention is the cause of Mr. Sifton's hurried departure for Winnipeg to-day.

Your correspondent made an effort to see the Ablegate to-day, but was courteously informed by his private secretary that His Excellency would not be interviewed.

Senator Bernier was seen to-night. He said he was in total ignorance of any suggested compromise. The matter of religious teaching rested with His Grace Archbishop Langevin solely to decide. The question of observing the constitution was one solely for Parliament and he would never be satisfied until the Catholics of Manitoba had had the rights guaranteed to them under the constitution restored to them. He had not, he stand, the faintest conception what concession, if any, had been asked of the Manitoba Government. He did not want any concession; only his rights.

Mr. Bernier saw Mgr. Merry Del Val yesterday, but the visit was merely one of courtesy. The school question was not touched upon.

The Finance Minister gives notice that on Monday he will move a resolution to enable the Government to borrow $15,000,000. The resolution reads:

That it is expedient to authorize the Governor-in-Council to raise, by way of loan, in addition to the sums now remaining unborrowed and negotiable of the loans authorized by Act of Parliament, by an Act heretofore passed, such sum or sums of money, not to exceed in the whole the sum of $15,000,000, as may be required, for the purpose of paying the floating indebtedness of the Dominion of Canada, and for the carrying on of the public works authorized by the Parliament of Canada; that the sums of money hereby authorized to be raised by way of loan shall form part of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada; provided always that the rate of interest to be paid on any loan to be raised hereunder shall not exceed 4 per cent. per annum.

A militia general order was issued to-day, but there are no changes in the Toronto corps. Following are some of the Ontario changes:

1st Brigade, Field Battery—To be lieutenant, Second Lieut. John W. Gilchrist, vice Knowles, retired.

8th Gananoque Field Battery—Veterinary Lieut. James E. Bradley, having left the limits, his name is removed from the list of officers. To be veterinary lieutenant, James Albert Beas, vice Bradley, retired.

14th Battalion—To be second lieutenant, provisionally, John Plant Orans, vice Sutherland, promoted.

29th Waterloo Battalion—No. 9 Company—To be second lieutenant, provisionally, George Charles Howard, vice Messett, transferred.

41st Brockville Rifles—Paymaster William J. Wright is granted the honorary rank of major. No. 6 Company—To be second lieutenant, provisionally, Wilfrid C. Greig, vice Rae, deceased.

42nd Brockville Battalion—To be paymaster, Captain James Craig, from No. 5 Company. No. 5 Company—Provisional Second Lieutenant A. B. Taylor retires. To be captain, Lieut. Allan Cameron MacKay, vice Craig, transferred; to be second lieutenant, provisionally, Sergeant Henry James Airth.

44th Welland Battalion—Surgeon-Major James W. Oliver resigns his commission and to retain the honorary rank of surgeon-major. No. 6 Company—Captain George A. McMiking resigns his commission and to retain rank of captain.

Lieut. Street of the Royal Grenadiers passed a creditable examination as the outcome of a special court of instruction of officers at the Royal Military College. Out of four subjects on which candidates had to write, he received special mention in two.

Mr. John Craig, Horticulturist of the Experimental Farms, left for Hamilton to-night to meet the fruit growers and discuss the best means of fighting the dreaded orchard pest, the San Jose scale.

Two of the parliamentary Liberal heavy-weights, Duncan Fraser, M.P. for Guysboro (320 pounds), and Dr. Landerkin, M.P. for South Grey (305), have taken to wheeling.

The Senate Railway Committee, by a vote of 19 to 3, threw out the St. Lawrence Pilots' Incorporation Bill, which had been greatly emasculated in the Commons. Shipping interests were present in force to oppose the measure.

Sir Charles Tupper leaves for Quebec to-morrow afternoon en route for England. He boards the Parisian Sunday morning.

Prof. Prince, Dominion Fisheries Commissioner, leaves for British Columbia in the course of a few days to study the fisheries of the Pacific Province this summer. He will spend some time on the coast, and on his return trip may also devote some attention to the fisheries of Manitoba, and of the Northwest Territories as far as his time will permit.

Senator Wark, the senior Senator, 94 years of age, was to-day receiving the congratulations of his brother Senators on his receiving the degree of LL.D. from the University of New Brunswick.

Many members left for their homes to-night and will not return again this session.

The monsoon has come in Bombay, India, and it is raining continuously.

The Vossiche Zeitung of Berlin, referring to the annexation of Hawaii, says the United States, in entering upon a colonial policy, has taken a dangerous road. It suspects that Samoa will be the next object of annexation.

Samuel Barnett, a convict in the Erie County Penitentiary, N.Y., declares he believes he is a brother of the late Barney Barnato, and tells a pretty good story to back up his claim.

AS TO MINING INVESTMENTS.

Mr. B. E. Walker, manager of the Bank of Commerce, in his annual statement has the following wise reference to mining speculations: "That there is gold in many parts of Canada, including several districts in Ontario, is established beyond all doubt. That much of it may be mined at a profit we believe to be quite true. Let us, however, not place our expectations unreasonably high. It is well to remember that if mining pays fair wages to those engaged in it, and a fair dividend on the capital employed, that is all we have the right to expect. The world is full of men looking for only fair wages, and of capital seeking only a fair dividend. It is also well to remember that mining is a business requiring large capital, and apt to absorb the first earnings as a further investment of capital before settling down to the payment of steady dividends. It also requires, like any other manufacturing venture, absolute knowledge of the business in all its details if success is to be confidently relied on. But like other manufacturing ventures, if skill and capital are properly applied, the result will, in the majority of cases, justify the venture. We hope, however, it will not be taken amiss if we compare this kind of mining with much that is going on in Canada at present. Many of the ventures offered to the public do not seem to be backed by skill in the particular business of mining and adequate capital, and in such ventures hundreds of people are risking sums not large in themselves, perhaps, but of great consequence to the owners, who in the majority of cases, we fear, must lose." No one really interested in the great future which mining doubtless has in Canada will, we think, dispute the wisdom of such a note of warning at the present time.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

While the world is preparing to jubilate on June 22nd, are the Conservatives preparing any grand demonstration in commemoration of June 23rd, 1896?

Self and self-seeking are at the bottom of a large share of the wickedness and crime that blight the world. In the prevention of forest fires the Globe points out that the Eastern States have encountered a new difficulty. The pay fixed for all who help in extinguishing fires has induced some to set fire to the bush that they may earn the reward for extinguishing it. The practice has been noted in a circular issued by a game warden, and will no doubt be effectually dealt with in future.

Canada is cutting a wide swath in England. This country and her representative are the central figure of attention to colonial visitors. Attention is particularly drawn to Canada and her enterprises. We have adopted a fast line of steamers, and now the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company (familiarly known as the P. & O.) are taking a leaf out of Canada's book and arranging for a faster line to the east. This is a fitting time for such a movement. The P. & O thus celebrate their diamond jubilee—they carried their their first mail to India in 1837, the first year of the Queen's reign.

The act giving to the controllers the status of Cabinet ministers, but fixing their salaries at $5,000 until such time as there can be a reduction in the number of portfolios, has been read a second time in the House of Commons. The controllers are placed, temporarily at least, in a most anamalous position, but as the arrangement is one that, according to Sir Richard Cartwright, has their concurrence, the Brantford Expositor thinks other folks have no particular right to complain. It is no doubt the intention in the near future to have an amalgamation of portfolios, which will reduce the total number to thirteen, and place all the members of the government, who are in charge of departments, upon an equal basis.

NO CHEESE INSPECTORS.

The Dairymen Object to the McMullen Bill.

The McMullen cheese bill, to provide for the appointment of inspectors of cheese, was thrown out on its second reading, owing to its unpopularity with dairymen of the Dominion. This bill, which was introduced by Mr. McMullen, of North Wellington, was designed to prevent dealers who bought cheese at a high price, throwing them up when the market dropped on the plea that the were inferior in quality. It provided for the appointment by the Government of an inspector to inspect the cheese in case of such disputes, whose decision would be final. Letters were submitted by Mr. McLaren, M.P., for North Perth, showing that there was no complaint on this score. Cheese was never rejected by respectable dealers for any other cause than bad quality. Mr. McLaren also submitted evidence that all the cheese boards in Western Ontario, with the exception of Listowel, were unanimous in opposition to the measure, and it was very properly rejected by the House. We have heard of no serious disputes of the nature referred to in this district, and should such arise, the rules of the board provide for settlement by arbitration. The feeding of turnips and other fodder known to be injurious to the flavour of milk, has been frowned down upon by the buyers for years past, and if dairymen would accept their advice in this respect, rejected sales would cease.

ANOTHER QUEBEC SCANDAL.

The Montreal Herald has exposed an other provincial financial scandal. It seems that in May, 1896, Mayor Wilson Smith purchased at 105, £560,000 worth of four per cent. forty year bonds of the Province. The price was heralded by the Government as remarkably high. Mr. Smith got the money from the Bank of Commerce by putting up the whole issue of bonds as collateral, and may be said to have bought the bonds on margin. Some months later Provincial Treasurer Atwater put into legislative form the conversion scheme which had long been talked of by the Government. The law was passed, but instead of converting the bonds, which would convert most advantageously, they dealt first with those whose conversion would be of least advantage to the provincial treasury. An agreement was made with the Bank of Montreal to convert the bonds held by Mr. Smith and the result was that these £560,000 of bonds which had been sold eleven months before by the Government for 105, and which had been lying waiting for some such stroke of good luck, were on the first of April, 1897, repurchased by the Government at 110.66. Mayor Smith's profit on the deal was over $154,000. The fact that the government was on the eve of an election campaign and that Mr. Smith's relations to the Government were of a most confidential kind is sufficient, says the Herald, to excite some suspicion in the minds of the least suspicious taxpayers.

SHE COULD NOT EAT.

THE STATEMENT OF A LADY WHO WAS A DYSPEPTIC.

Afflicted with Pains in the Stomach, Nausea and Vomiting—Constipation, Headaches and other Distressing Symptoms Followed.

From La Sorelois, Sorel, Que.

Dyspepsia and kindred disorders of the digestive organs are becoming alarmingly prevalent among the people of all classes, and it is safe to say that there are few ills afflicting mankind productive of more real misery than indigestion. It is said that happiness and good digestion go hand in hand, and the statement contains more truth than has been generally admitted. It may be safely said, therefore, that the medicine that will cure dyspepsia is a blessing to mankind, a promoter of human happiness, whose good word cannot be too widely known. Such is the opinion of Mrs. P. Lussier of Sorel, Que., and it is because of this that she gave the following statement to a representative of Le Sorelois. "For some time past," she said, "I had been suffering from a malady that at first I could not define, but which proved to be a severe attack of dyspepsia. After each meal I felt a sensation of over fullness—even when I had eaten most sparingly. This feeling was accompanied by severe pains in the region of the stomach, and frequently by nausea and sometimes vomiting. Constipation followed, which added to my misery. In the interval I suffered from fever and slight headache, and became generally indisposed. At times the pain in my stomach was less severe. My appetite was leaving me, I had no taste for anything and at this stage my son, Alfred, assistant manager of "Le Sorelois," urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, at the same time urging me to read an article in that paper which related to the cure of a person similarly afflicted, I was skeptical and did not believe the pills would help me, but a few days later I re-read the article and decided that I would try this medicine and I have much reason to be glad that I did so. I took a couple of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after each meal and little by little perceived that my digestion was becoming more easy. I continued the use of the pills for a little more than a month, and have pleasure in stating that my cure is complete. At my age (66 years) one greatly appreciates being able to enjoy one's meals, and I bless the day I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I heartily recommend them to other sufferers.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, nervous headache and prostration, diseases of the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, and restores pale and sallow complexions to the glow of health. They are a specific for all the troubles peculiar to the female sex, and in men cure all cases arising from worry, overwork, or excesses. Sold by all chemists and by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. There are imitation pills coloured pink against which the public are warned. The genuine pills are put up in boxes, the wrappers around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Take nothing else.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Further Discussion of the Crow's Nest Resolutions.

CONSIDERABLE OPPOSITION SHOWN

The Railway Agreements Were Also Further Discussed Royal Military College Staff to be Cut Down—Mr. Mulock's Postoffice Bill Advanced a Stage—House Sat Late.

Ottawa, June 18.—(Special.)—Recent changes in the course of studies in the Royal Military College formed the theme of a discussion in the House of Commons to-day

Previous to going into supply Sir Richard Cartwright's motion for a Saturday sitting was adopted.

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Penny that the Harbor Commissioners of Quebec were indebted to the Federal Government for arrears of interest, on cash advanced, amounting to $1,241,327.

Mr. Blair introduced a bill embodying the agreements with the Grand Trunk and Drummond Counties Railways.

The House then went into committee of supply on the estimate for the Royal Military College.

Sir Richard Cartwright explained that the changes made in the college course included a reduction of the period of education from four to three years, and a reduction in the annual cost of each cadet of $450 to $250 a year. The number of classes had been reduced and the services of four professors were dispensed with, by which a saving of $5000 a year was effected.

At the afternoon session the bill to amend the Postoffice Act was considered in committee. Stating objection was taken by Sir Charles Tupper to this clause (55): "When, in the opinion of the Postmaster-General, the lowest tender received after public advertisement for the performance of a mail contract is excessive, he shall not be compelled to accept the said tender, but may, in his discretion, either re-advertise the said contract for further competition, or offer to any person willing to undertake the contract such lesser sum as he deems a reasonable and sufficient price for the said contract, and may enter into a contract with such person as will accept such offer."

The bill was advanced a stage.

On the section authorizing the appointment by Order-in-Council of a controller of the railway mail service, and "such superintendents, railway mail clerks, transfer agents and other employes as are deemed necessary," it was contended by the Opposition that this would certainly increase the number of officers.

Mr. Mulock said that on the contrary it would reduce the staff and expenditure, as he could show if he had time.

Mr. Foster replied that that was just the trouble. At this late hour of the session and without necessary information, it was impossible to legislate wisely, so the Postmaster-General said, better let his bill go over till next session.

After some further remarks Mr. Mulock withdrew it.

The House then went into committee on the Crow's Nest Pass resolutions.

Mr. Blair declared it was not because he considered the matter unimportant that he would not present the Government's views upon it at great length. Some argued that the project ought not to be proceeded with until the development of the country had been further carried on. But when the facts of the resources of the district were established it became necessary to hasten its development by a railway service.

There was the official report of Prof. Carlyle, public mineralogist of British Columbia, showing that in 1880 the mineral production of British Columbia, gold, copper, silver and lead, amounted to $2,800,000 and in 1896 to $7,140,000. This development was general throughout the Province, and the evidence showed the whole south of British Columbia to be rich in minerals. As compared with Australia and South Africa he finds British Columbia greater in rich ore bodies and possessing immensely better facilities for development, by reason of its abundance of wood and water. This answered any question as to the wisdom of the Government's course in taking the earliest opportunity of opening up the country and seizing upon its advantages. That was plainly the Government's duty. The experience of Australia and South Africa proved it. The resolution, he continued, asked a subsidy of $11,000 a mile for 330 miles, and it was thought better to make this grant than undertake the task as a Government work. That better terms should be sought before concluding this agreement was the opinion of some, but he could assure the committee that this was the best bargain that could be made to get the road through by 1898.

Then, he dealt with restrictions of rates secured from the C. P. R. as regards the Northwest and Manitoba, and control of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council over rates on goods to and from this district, the same as other railways. This, he considered an important concession. As to the land subsidy which the C. P. R. would fall heir to under the Provincial charter of the British Columbia Southern, which it had acquired, namely, 20,000 acres per mile for the length of the line, this included a large area of valuable coal land in the vicinity of the pass. It was estimated that this coal area was about 250,000 acres, and of this the C. P. R. would get a proportion.

Mr. Foster: How much?

Mr. Blair did not know, but the C. P. R. people had assured him they had sufficient to give the Government the 50,000 acres promised before they could get any subsidy, even if they had to revise their arrangement with the British Columbia Southern to do it.

Mr. Foster asked if it was to be understood that this previous division between the C. P. R. and British Columbia Southern was such that the C. P. R. would have to revise it so as to be able to give the Government its share; that the British Columbia Southern people were keeping about 200,000 acres, which they would get for nothing.

Mr. Blair would leave the hon. gentleman to judge from his own information if the British Columbia Southern Company got it for nothing. It was said they had spent $100,000 in cash upon it already.

Sir Charles Tupper began by saying that with much the Minister of Railways said he heartily agreed. He agreed with the Minister in the importance of the early opening up of those magnificent mineral belts, as to the grandeur of those resources, and as to the power which mineral development exercised in attracting population. It was because the late Government recognized this that it did not hesitate to ask Parliament to vote $20,000 per mile at 3 1-2 per cent. as a loan to the C. P. R., to enable the company to promptly build the road, and, in addition, a subsidy of $5000 per mile for the line to the Columbia. The Opposition had not changed their views with their change of place on the floor of the House, and would help their successors to carry out any policy they themselves had advocated when in power.

Resuming his speech at the evening sitting, Sir Charles showed that under the proposed contract the railway would cost the country $6000 per mile more than the late Government proposed to give, for the loan, he held, at 3 per cent. would not have cost the country anything. He did not value as high as the Ministers seemed to do the concessions the country was supposed to have obtained from the Canadian Pacific. He would, however, be willing to assume that the Government had made what the Ministers thought the best bargain possible. He agreed that the road ought to be constructed and that the Canadian Pacific Company were the proper persons to construct it. And yet he would not say that the Government had made the best bargain possible.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in reply, said that, in his opinion, the contract was a better one than that proposed by the late Government. He would rather give the company $11,000 per mile outright than give them $5000 per mile and a loan of $20,000. He set a higher value than Sir Charles Tupper upon the concessions obtained from the C. P. R., and said it was well worth all the cost to get access to this country, whose interests are at present so largely under American control.

Mr. Ross Robertson vigorously attacked the proposal. He declared the C. P. R. was getting far more from the country than the country would ever get from the C. P. R. That company seemed to have many friends, but it would be more to its credit to have more friends among the people who were at its mercy. He protested against handing over the control of such a vast area of coal lands, as well as other monopolies, to the gang of commercial brigands and charter jobbers who are now in control of the resources of British Columbia. The Government had not been strong enough to go against the interest of subscribers to its campaign funds, and was creating a new instrument of oppression in that new country.

Dr. Sproule vigorously protested against the Government bringing down this measure, involving the expenditure of three and a half millions of the people's money, at the very last hour of the session, after two-thirds of the members had left for home. He did not agree as to the advantages of the concessions granted by the C. P. R., a concern which had already had enormous benefits from the people. Moreover, the taxpayers of Canada would think the company had had quite enough and that, in making these large additional expenditures, the Government was going back on Liberal professions in the country.

Mr. Bostock warmly supported the scheme and looked for great results to flow from it in the immediate future. He believed the time would come when Government control of all railways would be demanded by the people of Canada.

Mr. Oliver, representing Alberta, one of the constituencies through which the railway would pass, read an elaborate essay in support of the Crow's Nest Railway as a Government road. He feared the Government was setting a bad precedent in buying concessions in the way of freight rate reductions from the C. P. R. for every time a reduction was required the C. P. R. would demand its price. The Government could have built the road for $7,000,000, and at the lowest paying rate for hauling the people would only be paying 3 1-2 per cent. on that sum; but the C. P. R. was being given three and a half millions and would bond the road for ten millions more, so that one way or another the people by the present proposal would be paying a higher rate of interest on $13,500,000. If the Government was going to buy rate concessions at the proposed heavy price, it would be cheaper for the Government to parallel the C. P. R. from Fort William to Vancouver. However, Southern Alberta could stand this bargain if the rest of the country could.

Mr. Rutherford (Liberal, Manitoba), opposed the motion of Government control. He did not pretend that the C. P. R. had a soul, in fact he had heard that not so long ago it was so much without a soul (sole) that it was almost on its uppers. He approved of the scheme before the House.

Mr. McInnes favored Government construction and control.

Mr. Rogers also opposed the proposal, but he failed to move his amendment declaring that it did not meet with the approval of the farmers, was extravagant and contrary to Liberal professions of economy.

Mr. Foster criticised the terms of the bargain. He believed fully in the splendid resources of the country to be opened up, and believed in the policy of opening it up as speedily as possible. But the bargain itself was extravagant, entailing an expenditure of two millions more than the plan of the late Government. However, the Government had its majority ready to vote it through, and with this protest against the extravagance of the bargain and the late hour of the session at which it was brought down, he would not further oppose the resolution.

Mr. Henderson having spoken against the arrangement, the committee proceeded to deal with the resolution in detail.

Mr. McInnes moved an amendment to have the proposed reduction of freight rates to benefit British Columbia shippers eastward. This was held over to see whether the C.P.R. would agree to it.

Another amendment by Mr. McInnes to prohibit the employment of Chinese or Japanese on the new line was thrown out and the resolution adopted.

The House at 1.30 proceeded to put the finishing touches to the tariff.

House adjourned at 2 a.m.

Paine's Celery Compound Has an Exalted Position.

Its Cures Have Made It Popular in Every Home.

The tone, character and quality of the testimony published in favour of Paine's Celery Compound has firmly established its position in the homes of all intelligent and thoughtful Canadian people.

Paine's Celery Compound has always appealed to the people with honest statement and solid facts. Some doubters—with honest purpose—have taken the trouble to write to, and in many cases have interviewed, the writers of published testimonials, and in every instance have been convinced that Paine's Celery Compound effected cures that were wonderful and marvellous.

Paine's Celery Compound claims a field not filled by any other medicine known to medical science. It is the medicine on which the poor disappointed sufferer may rely after all other medicines have failed to cure; it is the only saver even after the dread word "incurable" has been uttered by the physician.

To the weak, debilitated, nervous, broken-down and despondent, Paine's Celery Compound gives a fresh and joyous existence. It quickly imparts nerve power, strength and buoyancy of spirits, and gives a fresh lease of life. Try it, sick one; one bottle will convince you that you have laid hold of a true life-giver.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

EAGER MULTITUDES
Attend the Monster $40 000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at
Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. HE IS STILL ALIVE.

Mr. Henry Furber Hovering Between Life and Death and Still Unconscious.

The report concerning the death of Mr. Henry Furber, yesterday, from the effects of a collision with a bicycle in the Nicholls Park track, was incorrect, as although the old man has never recovered full consciousness since the time of the accident, Dr. Gray has not given up all hope yet of saving his life.

So long as his patient does not lapse into complete insensibility, the doctor has hope of his recovery, but upon visiting him on Thursday evening he warned the relatives to be prepared for the worst if he appeared to sink into a comatose condition, as his pulse then was very weak and thready. Yesterday at noon the patient seemed to sink, and it was thought that he would never rally, hence the report that he had already passed away, as was telephoned to his friends in town.

Since the time of the accident he has never recognized anyone and still thinks that he is on the track and continually asks to be taken home.

His pulse to-day is stronger and if he continues in the same condition for four or five days his life may be saved. His face is fearfully swollen and blackened beyond recognition. Ice is being kept on it all the time to prevent the inflammation going into his brain.

Mr. Furber's daughter was telegraphed to return from Toronto and arrived last evening.

The town bicyclists are greatly interested in the case and sympathize most heartily with injured man, as well as with young Cochrane, who accidentally ran him down. The family of Mr. Furber attach no blame whatever to the latter.

PERSONAL.

Mr. James Lynch, druggist, returned from a holiday trip to New York last evening.

Mr. R. J. Stewart, district organizer of the Canadian Order of Foresters, was in town this morning.

Miss May Overend, daughter of Mr. Thos. Overend, has just graduated with honours from Loretto Abbey, Toronto.

The name of Mr. R. A. Strickland, Lakefield, is amongst those registered at the office of the Canadian High Commissioner, London, England.

Mr. Wm. Matchett's many friends will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from his recent severe illness, although he is still very weak.

Among those who went up the lakes on the Golden City on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. McBain, Miss McBain and Miss Laroque, of Peterborough.

Mr. T. Arnold Haultain, well known in Peterborough, contributes a timely article on the "Victorian Era,"—a brief synopsis of its more distinctive features to Saturday's Mail and Empire.

His Worship Mayor Yelland is in his office to-day for the first time this week, having been laid up with a severe attack of sciatica. His Worship caught a cold whilst visiting friends at the Conference in Bowmanville.

Mrs. Carl and Mrs. Shaw, of Toronto, says the Lindsay Post, were guests of their sister, Mrs. S. B. Laidlaw, for a few days this week. The former was accompanied by her three charming daughters, Misses Eva, Mabel and Edna. They left yesterday to visit Peterborough friends.

Mr. P. H. Green, of town, has purchased Law's photographic studio in Coburg, and is moving there with his family. Mr. Green takes with him the heartiest good wishes of the citizens of Peterborough as the town in him is losing one of its sterling business men. Coburg is to be congratulated on securing an artist of such undoubted ability and a citizen of a character so upright and blameless.

The Millbrook Reporter says: Walter Collins and three of his friends in Peterborough, Messrs. Lount and Austin, of the Bank of Toronto, and Mr. Roper, of Roper & Mulholland, private bankers, drove out to take in the garden party on Monday evening, and the quartette being musically inclined, furnished good entertainment for the visitors at the party. They spent an hour or two at Mr. T. B. Collins' after the party, and drove home after midnight, regaling the sleepers along the road with much melody.

Off to Montreal.

The volunteers assemble in the drill shed at eight o'clock this evening, and will march from there to the C. P. R. station for embarkation to Montreal.

Bad Debts.

To-morrow will be the last meeting for young men in the old Y. M. C. A. rooms. "Bad Debts" will be the subject of a brief address. To-night at eight o'clock a conference of workers will be held. All active members of the Y. M. C. A. should attend.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as anything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with 28 years experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

A Masonic Emblem Lost.

Dr. Rose lost a valuable keystone watch charm in the shape of a Masonic emblem, last evening, while riding his bicycle around the postoffice block on his way to the Forester's Hall on Simcoe street, by way of Brock and Aylmer streets. Whilst looking for the charm this morning the doctor found a cuff link, which he afterwards ascertained had been lost by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick yesterday. Dr. Rose is very anxious to regain his keystone, and will give a reward to anyone returning it.

Fresh Fish! Fresh Fish!

The season for fresh Fish is now fully open. We have arranged for a continuous supply, fresh every day, of Bass, Maskinonge, White Fish and Salmon Trout. Customers will please place their orders early in the morning and give us a chance to deliver in good time. Sea Salmon for Jubilee week. Fresh fruits and vegetables every morning.—J. B. OKE & Co., 418 George street.

A Thrilling Experience.

On Wednesday last, says the Lakefield News, Mr. George Postlewaite, engineer at Strickland & Co.'s canoe factory, met with an experience which he is not likely to forget for some time. It appears that he had a quantity of powder in his vest, and not knowing it was there he put some matches in his vest pocket, and in rubbing against some boards he ignited one of the matches, the result being the powder exploded, but beyond burning him slightly and giving him a good scare he was left uninjured.

Are you Decorating?

If you are decorating for the Queen's Jubilee, come to the Peterborough Bookstore for your Flags and Chinese Lanterns. Ring up our telephone (285) if you can't call and secure what you want before Jubilee Day. We will assort sizes for you. Jubilee Flags from 1c each up; Jubilee Lanterns from 2c up; Jubilee Pictures of the Queen from 99c to $1.49. Nothing is easier than leaving your order too late. The signs are that the demand will be greater than expected.—A. H. STRATTON & Co., the Peterborough Bookstore, 417 George street.

GRAY VS. WEIR.

The Motion to set Aside the Recent Judgment Dismissed.

The Globe makes the following reference to a motion in the Divisional Court, Osgoode Hall, yesterday, which is of local interest:

Gray vs. Weir.—D. O'Connell (Peterborough), for plaintiffs. Thomas and Hessie Gray (husband and wife) moved to set aside verdict and judgment for defendant in an action of slander tried before Meredith, C. J., and a jury at Peterborough, and for a new trial upon the grounds that the verdict was contrary to evidence, that evidence was improperly rejected and admitted, and of misdirection. The alleged slander was to the effect that the plaintiffs had caused the death of an old man named Scollie and burned down their house to conceal the crime and then absconded. E. F. B. Johnston, Q. C., for defendant, showed cause. Motion dismissed with costs.

AN IMPUDENT TRAMP.

He Seizes His Dinner and a Citizen Has to go Without.

Yesterday afternoon a hard looking tramp called at a house in the north end, and asked for something to eat.

The lady of the house was the only one at home and she went to cut him off a portion of a roast of beef, but the impudent beggar told her not to go to the trouble of cutting it, and picking the whole roast off the table rolled it up in a newspaper, together with a loaf of bread and decamped.

The man is selling paste at fifteen cents a box and the citizens are warned to beware of him. He was seen on the streets last night.

FISHING AT THE BACK LAKES.

Mr. Harry LeBrun's Party Returns—Good Luck at Burleigh Falls.

On Wednesday last Mr. H. LeBrun took a party of friends back to Bellechase, his pretty summer cottage at Stony Lake, for a few days' fishing.

The party was composed of the genial Harry, and Messrs. R. B. McKee, Ed. Brown, D. J. Lundy and Dr. Hatton. They returned to town last night, and although there were not a great many fish captured a capital outing was enjoyed.

The only man in the party who had any luck was Mr. Ed. Brown. He had not been on the Island a minute before he made a bet of a hat with Mr. McKee that he would catch more fish before supper than he (McKee) would. Needless to say the bet was taken instanter and both gentlemen scrambled for the water's edge to begin operations.

Mr. Brown quickly landed two fine bass, and a few minutes later there was a strike that almost wrenched the pole out of his hands. Ed braced himself in an endeavor to throw the fish over his head, but the fish "wouldn't have it."

The rest of the party heard Mr. McKee excitedly shouting "Keep cool! Keep cool, Ed! It's a 'lunge. Play him." Ed "played him" for all he was worth, but not a glimpse could he get of the fish. Getting tired of this he put the pole over his shoulder and walked away up the bank pulling the supposed fish after him. When he turned to see what was on the other end of the line the blood froze in his veins and dropping the pole he and Mr. McKee ran for the house shouting "snakes." This brought the rest of the party to the shore and there they found a huge eel, four feet long, wriggling around in the grass. This ended the fishing for the evening as the party camped around the eel discussing the question of how to get it off the hook and how to despatch it.

Mr. LeBrun finally accomplished it and afterwards cooked the eel in a manner of his own, which made it so palatable as to be greatly enjoyed.

BOY'S BRIGADE.

The St. Andrew's Branch Was Organized Last Evening.

At a largely attended meeting of the boys of St. Andrew's church last evening it was unanimously decided to form a Boys' Brigade in connection with the church.

Mr. Wm. Langford was chosen captain and the sergeants will be Messrs. John O'dham, John Lang, John Graham and Wm. Richardson. For the present the lieutenants will not be chosen.

Twenty-two members were enrolled as privates, all of whom took the pledge against intemperance, smoking and swearing.

The uniforms have been procured and each member looked very proud last evening as Mr. Potter pinned the badge upon his coat. The colours will be blue and white.

Hot Day Wants for Men and Boys.

Never in the history of our business have we offered such values in boots and shoes, hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishings. In our popular boot and shoe section we put on sale for Saturday and Monday the greater portion of our new stock of tan lace boots and tan Oxford shoes. These are in all sizes, for men and boys, and will be sold at a reduction low enough to satisfy shoppers of our ability to cut under any and every shoe store in town. Every need can be filled with satisfaction in our two big stores. Nothing is more urgently needed just now than a new light summer hat. If everyone knew how close we sell our straw hats and fedoras this summer the store wouldn't be big enough to hold the crowds. Men's straw hats, with palm braid, 2½ in. brim, 3 in. crown, silk band, solid leather sweats, worth 75c. and $1.00; for same hat for boys, 25c. Fine soft fedoras in drabs and all the favourite shades and bands, newest shapes, best silk bands and bindings, usual price $2.50; during these two days $1.25 and $1.50. Your choice of light tweed unlined summer coats and vests in neat patterns for $1.95. Your choice of boys light summer coats for 80c and $1. Your choice of men's plain and striped lustre coats and vests for $2.75. Right in the middle of the season, we reduce our summer underwear, summer ties, hosiery and shirts to all who buy before Jubilee Day. The reason is business sense and to help remove the cry about "no money" and "hard times." There's a special blessing hanging over this store which keeps off hard times. We are making the June festivities famous by unusually low prices—specially accentuated where manufacturers, anxious to unload, have given their goods to us at ridiculous prices in return for our ready cash, and crowds of buyers are daily taking advantage of it.—GOUGH BROS.

JUBILEE DAY NOTES.

A Few Items of Interest Concerning the Peterborough Demonstration.

The Victoria Bicycle Club held a meeting last night to discuss the matter of decorating their wheels for the Jubilee Day parade. It was decided that the club would furnish the decorations and that the wheels would be trimmed on Monday evening in the club rooms. Each member will also carry a Japanese umbrella, and doubtless the turnout will look quite imposing. About fifty wheels from the Victoria club will take part.

The members of the two ladies' clubs have not yet decided whether to participate or not.

In accordance with a suggestion offered by the EXAMINER a large number of the merchants had their stores decorated today in order to advertise the Jubilee celebration.

On the 24th of May in Millbrook, Mr. Fred Jones' running mare Nettie Woods was defeated by the Nattrass horse, and as the two will meet again here on Jubilee Day at the Driving Park the result will be watched with interest.

There are enough horses already at the Driving Park to fill every event, and more are expected on Monday.

A mixed train to Belleville and intervening points will leave here on Tuesday evening at six o'clock for the convenience of those wishing to take in the Jubilee sports in Peterborough.

OBITUARY.

Sudden Demise of Mrs. Charles Cromie.

The death of Jane Cromie, relict of the late Charles Cromie, took place at eight o'clock last evening at her late residence, No. 121 Brock street.

The demise occurred very suddenly, as the deased was walking around earlier in the day. The cause of death is ascribed to acute indigestion.

The deceased leave four daughters to mourn her loss, three of whom reside at home, and the fourth, Mrs. Andrew, lives in Port Hope. The family has resided in town for the past eleven years, Mr. Cromie having died two years previous to their removal here.

The funeral takes place from No. 121 Brock street, on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the Little Lake Cemetery.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Jubilee service in St. John's on Sunday is that prescribed for special use in the Church of England throughout the world on June 20th. The sermons will be in accord with the spirit of the day and the special music will be of a Jubilee character.

The Sunday school of the South Ward Mission building will march to St. John's and unite with St. John's and proceed in a body to Victoria Park, where a united Sunday school service will be conducted.

In St. John's Mission on Sunday evening Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach the special sermon at the special thanksgiving service and at St. John's in the morning.

Mr. Laurier on Whiskey.

It has just leaked out that the bar in the House of Commons was closed not for political thunder, or to pull the wool over the eyes of the temperance people. Mr. Laurier found that to hold the fort he must have a sound, healthy, clear headed party, and therefore decided that intoxicants must go and that the members must stop drinking whiskey, tea and coffee, and take nothing but madden cereal.

Improvements Being Made.

The Caledonian mill, says the Cambellfield Herald, which recently came into possession of Mr. Stephens, is undergoing internal improvement, and will be put in thorough running order. Mr. Stephens has employed Mr. Harry Hawson, of Peterborough, to superintend the mill. He is a first-class miller and a man of excellent character and reputation. He was seven years in the Sills' flour mill at Myerburg, and for several years occupied a responsible position in Peterborough.

Jubilee Offering in Fine Suits for Men and Boys.

Hundreds of suits at half price have already passed into customers' hands and hundreds more will be sold at Gough Bros.' mammoth sale before Jubilee Day. All who take advantage of the snap offered at the sale will be decently, respectably and stylishly dressed for the Jubilee festivities. Two suits for the price of one—that's the story of our gigantic purchase in Montreal—and it has had its effects. It has given opportunities for many with limited purses to buy new suits, which they could not have afforded in the regular way. Our clothing is not only superior in many respects, but the variety is better, the styles newer, and the prices unmatchable. We are right in line for supplying all the holliday needs of men, young men and boys, and a visit to our two stores will be time well spent. GOUGH BROS,

PRIMARY SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS' UNION.

Its Weekly Meeting Held Last Evening in the Murray Street Baptist Church.

The weekly meeting of the Union was held on Friday evening, 18th inst., in the Murray street Baptist Church. Mrs. Van-Every, the President, was in the chair and conducted the exercises.

An excellent address, given by Mr. S. R. Armstrong contained matter for much thought. It was given in a most forceful manner, being logically and concisely expressed. The subject was "Child Mind Limitations." Mr. Armstrong, in the first place, presented the facts that children's minds are limited, because they are children, that long training is necessary to appreciate literature, much more easily understood than theology. As theology is largely taught by symbols in the Bible, these are apt to be confusing to the little folk, for instance, the expressions "miry clay," "shield of faith," "streets of gold," "gates of pearl." Children cannot follow symbols readily, the imagination is lively, but works in straight line.

In using objects to teach Bible truths to primary classes carefulness should be observed to be sure the object gives the primary, and not the secondary meaning, otherwise, here, too, there may be resulting confusion in the children's minds.

These limitations make teaching in Sunday school very difficult. The teacher must understand the little ones, so that not only her words, but also her meaning, may be apprehended. It is hard for children to grasp the unseen, and something must be given them that they can grasp readily and gladly.

Teaching the life of Jesus was empasized as being the surest, firmest ground-work for all teaching. "Teach His kindness, His love for children, His death. Teach them to love Jesus, to love kindness, to fear meanness, and you have entered the children's realm."

An open meeting of the Union will be held in the lecture room of the Murray street Baptist church, on Friday, July 2nd, at 7 45 p.m. All S. S. teachers and mothers are cordially invited to be present to spend a social hour with the Primary Union.

THE LITHOGRAPHIC QUARRY.

The Expert From Boston Visited it Yesterday Accompanied by a Number of Promoters.

Mr. Armstrong, of the firm of Armstrong & Co., Boston, an expert authority on the quality of lithographic stone, arrived in Peterborough Thursday evening to make an inspection of the lithographic quarry which is being developed in Harvey. On his arrival in Peterborough Messrs. A.L. Davis, W. H. Meldrum and H. T. Strickland drove him about Peterborough, showing him the beauties of the town, and on Friday morning, accompanied by Messrs. A. L. Davis, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., W. H. Casement, R. C. Strickland and H. T. Strickland, he drove to Burleigh Falls and paddled about two miles to the landing adjacent to the quarry, which is conveniently situated near the water and about 200 feet above its level.

After inspecting the stone and ascertaining the thickness of the layer and giving instructions as to the sizes needed, the party returned home in the evening.

Mr. Armstrong left for Boston this afternoon, and will submit his report to those who are promoting the development of the quarry after his arrival in Boston.

ASHBURNHAM GARDEN PARTY

It Was Held on Rev. W. O. Beer's Lawn Last Evening.

A most successful lawn social was held last evening on the grounds of Rev. W. C. Beer, pastor of the Mark Street Methodist Church. The Sons of England Band was in attendance, and during the evening rendered a number of pleasing selections, which were greatly appreciated.

The following programme was also rendered:

GRAND JUBILEE OF THE JUNIORS.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL CONCERT LAST NIGHT.

The Diamond Jubilee Celebrated by by Chorus, Song and Recitation—Splendid Programme Presented—A Crowded House Thoroughly Pleased.

The concert in the Opera House last night struck the key note of the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee in Peterborough, and if the subsequent contributions of loyal demonstration in honour of the occasion are up to "concert"-pitch this town will have no occasion to be ashamed of her share in the world-wide rejoicing and jubilation that mark the grandest epoch of an Empire, studded, as it is, with the most brilliant epochs.

The Opera House was crowded with an enthusiastic audience which was delighted with the splendid and unique programme presented under the painstaking and skilful management of Rev. W. L. Armitage.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting and banners, a conspicuous feature of the decoration being a portrait of Her Majesty that formed, so to speak, the key-stone of the proscenium arch. But the prettiest and most picturesque feature of the decoration of the place, though not intended for that purpose, was the array of children with their bright, piquant faces all aglow. They were placed on a sloping range of seats that extended upward to the flies. They were dressed in red, white and blue, and so disposed that the different colours represented the Union Jack and the effect was decidedly unique and fetching.

Rev. Mr. Armitage, who wielded the conductor's baton, explained the object of the concert, which was undertaken as a form of celebration of the Jubilee occasion at the time when it was thought that there was to be no civic demonstration on Jubilee day, and it was felt that the first and finest town of the Dominion should not be without some attempt at celebrating that day. When it was found that there was, after all, to be a civic celebration the preparations for the concert were so far advanced that it was thought unwise to abandon it. The incidental feature of the concert was the making of an addition to the funds for the extension of St. John's Mission building.

The first number on the programme was a chorus by the children "Queen Victoria's Jubilee" by Johnstone. And the vim, vigour and excellence with which this stirring selection was rendered was worthy of the highest praise. Every child sang as if inspired; the whole of their souls seemed to be in the work; their eyes sparkled, their faces were aglow and they seemed on fire by the patriotic and loyal sentiments they sang. The audience was simply delighted and insisted on a repetition and the youngsters promptly responded with a grand singing of the Red, White and Blue.

They next sang with equal spirit and excellence, Nelson's charming "Raise the Flag," and in response to another enthusiastic recall, sang with great vim and volume "The Maple Leaf."

The next chorus was "My own Canadian Home," and this was followed by Godfrey's "The Land of the Maple."

The children are to be given the highest praise for their splendid production of the patriotic selections they gave, and Rev. Mr. Armitage is also entitled to similar praise for the industry expended and the success achieved in training his singers. The children are to be commended especially upon their excellent and orderly behaviour Remaining seated two hours at a stretch and keeping quiet, is a triumph for three hundred children, and their respect for law and order indicates that they will grow up good citizens.

Miss Lottie Bell, of Keene, contributed a very pleasing violin solo—"Absence," Jules Hone—and performed her work in an artistic and effective manner. She was warmly applauded, but do not respond to a recall. Her second number was a beautiful arrangement of Annie Laurie, beautifully played. Her spirited and artistic performance provoked most hearty applause, of which this talented young violiniste is richly deserving. Miss Bell also assisted Mr. Percy Owens, pianist, and Mr. Butcher, flautist, in the chorus accompaniments. The delightful feature of the evening was the singing of Mr. A. D. Sturrock, of Ottawa, baritone, whose rendering of patriotic songs was magnificent. His first number was "There's a Land," by Allisten. This selection, though patriotic in sentiment as to the words, had little musical value, and consequently was not a fair test for the singer. But the singing of his other numbers, as well as the encore song, "The Flag for me," raised the enthusiasm of the audience to the highest pitch, and confirmed Mr. Sturrock's reputation as the best singer of patriotic and songs of stirring character in Canada. His other selections were "Her Majesty," by Adams, and "God Bless Victoria," by St. Quentin, and the latter, especially, gave full opportunity for the display of Mr. Sturrock's magnificent voice and artistic methods which were equally displayed in the encore numbers he sang to both selections. One of the secrets of Mr. Sturrock's success is the fire and feeling he throws into his numbers. His songs seem to come from the bottom of the heart.

Miss Alma McCollum achieved a triumph last night for both her literary and elocutionary ability. The two readings she gave were her own composition and she deserves praise for the graceful and artistic interpretation she gave them. Her first selection was "Through the Rye," a graceful love idyl, and the second was a thrilling incident of the Matabele war, full of fire and spirit, and beautifully recited. A touching feature of it was that it concluded with the idea of the dying soldiers, in the face of the savage horde that overpowered them, singing God Save the Queen, and the Jubilee chorus rose at the proper moment and concluded the selection and the concert by singing "God Save the Queen." The chorus first sang the following special stanza:—

Thou who for three score years,
In sunshine, cloud and tears,
Hast kept our Queen;
Still be her guide and stay,
Through life's uncertain way,
Till dawns the perfect day,
God bless the Queen—

the audience joining in the second stanza with great enthusiasm.

Particular mention should be made of the interlude presented by the drill squad of the 57th, who gave a magnificent specimen of the bayonet exercise, in which Canada leads the world. The drill of the "skward squad," by Sergt.-Major Peters, was excruciatingly funny. It was an immense treat to the children of the chorus, who were wild with excited interest, and certainly deserved the treat which this feature afforded them.

Mr. Thos. Dunn kindly loaned the fine Whaley-Royce pianoforte that was used on the occasion.

Rev. Mr. Armitage wishes to publicly thank the children of the chorus and all others who contributed to the success of the Jubilee concert.

DECORATE, ILLUMINATE.

Never before, since the first sod of the town of Peterborough was turned, about four score of years ago, has there arisen such a motif for the expression of rejoicing. The occasion marks the completion of the longest and best reign in history, and should not only be marked by tributes to the Crown, but to the person of Her Majesty, who both on the throne and in private life, has exhibited qualities and lived virtues that make her conspicuously entitled to honour. When all the world is aglow with jubilee enthusiasm, it is fitting that Peterborough should keep step with the procession of jubilation that will pass around the earth with the sun on June 22nd. As an outward and visible sign of rejoicing, let us "hang out our flags upon the outer walls." Let every citizen, however humble, add his or her quota to the decorations and illumination that will mark the occasion. All will remember the splendid decorations and illuminations of the Golden Jubilee, June 22, ten years ago, and this time we should better what we did so well then. Monday should be spent for the purpose of decorating. Flags are so cheap that all can afford to throw out some sign, however slight, of their contribution to the general effect. Let the work be promptly begun, so that the first town of the first province of the first dependency of the first empire of the world, will be in a festival garb, worthy of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Majesty.

CAUGHT SOME FINE FISH

Without Going out of Town to do it—Scores Trying Their Luck To-day.

Mr. Edg. Hartley has been having some of his phenomenal luck fishing already this year. On Thursday he went to the locks and caught a nice bass and pulled in eight more between there and the Dickson dam.

At noon yesterday he caught four more nice ones in an hour, as well as a seven and a half pound lunge.

He only used a small spoon and a five cent line.

Last evening fishing poles were thicker than the telegraph and telephone poles on George street at the dam and at the locks.

WHERE'S THE WATERING CART?

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The street watering in the central part of the town is very improperly done. The clouds of dust which rise after every vehicle, bicycles included, penetrate into stores, offices and people's lungs. This should not be allowed, as we pay enough to have the watering done properly. Will the proper authority see this and oblige many?

Yours, etc.,
A CITIZEN.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 80; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 50; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy in for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.60. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

TAILORS TRIUMPH.

The Contractors of New York are Coming to Terms and the Great Strike is Ended at Last.

New York, June 17.—A committee of the Contractors' Association, appointed last night to inform the Brotherhood of Tailors to-day that the association would sign the agreement of the brotherhood in a body, met Leader Schoenfeld and the Executive Board of the tailors this morning and laid the proposition before them.

Schoenfeld and the board declined to accept the proposition, although the committee offered real estate as security for $1000 in cash. After a short interval the committee of the Contractors' Association decided that it was best for the members to sign the brotherhood agreement as individuals, and, accordingly, 140 contractors, employing 2500 men, will sign the brotherhood agreement between now and Monday, and give the required security. This action ends the great strike, which has resulted in a complete victory for the Brotherhood of Tailors.

DEATH TO MAN AND BEAST.

Man Killed by a Lightning Bolt Striking a Quoit He Was Pitching.

Chicago, June 17.—Death to man and beast, danger in manifold forms and destruction to property rode with the terrific electrical storm which visited Chicago late yesterday afternoon and evening. Forked tongues of electric fire reached down to earth and tore through dwellings, power houses and factories, spreading injury and destruction. Electric cars were transferred into chariots of fire in the most literal sense. Trolley poles were suddenly changed to sentry boxes of death-dealing electricity, and fierce streams of electricity followed the street cars.

The tracks became surcharged with the fluid, and prostrated horses, whose iron-shod feet came in contact with them. The bridges across the river were notable danger points.

One man was killed, over a dozen were injured and about $50,000 worth of property was destroyed by lightning.

The dead man is Fred Muschek, who was killed while pitching quoits, a bolt striking his uplifted horseshoe.

BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH.

For 25 Years, Says Mrs. J. D. Stoddard, of Asbury Park, N. J., and Two Bottles of Dr. Agnew's for the Heart Restored the Lost Treasure.

For twenty-five years I have been a great sufferer from heart disease, palpitation, dizziness and severe headaches. I saw Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart advertised, and determined to try it. Two bottles have done wonders for me. The dizziness and palpitation are gone, the headaches have disappeared. I never cease telling my friends the wonderful benefit this great cure has been to me, and I cheerfully recommend it any and everywhere. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

JIMMY MICHAEL'S GREAT RACE.

McDuffee Beaten at 15 Miles by 100 Yards Paced by Triplets, Quads, Quints and Sextets.

Cambridge, Mass., June 17.—Jimmy Michael, the Welsh wonder, beat Eddie McDuffee on the Charles River Park track to-day in the hottest 15-mile bicycle race ever run in America, and at the same time established a new 15-mile paced competition record of 29 minutes 12 seconds.

McDuffee led all through the race up to the last of the thirteenth mile, when his pacers became worn out, and the little Welshman behind a fast triplet forged ahead and won by 100 yards. The weather conditions were well nigh perfect, there being only a slight breeze, and 15,000 persons enjoyed the sport immensely. The conditions of the race were exceedingly novel. Each man was allowed as many pacers as he pleased, and the pacers were allowed to ride all sorts of machines. The result of this was that there were three sextets, two quints, three or four quads, and a number of triplets, all on the track at nearly the same time, while as fast as the men on one machine became tired another lot took up the unwearied racer and carried him along. McDuffee's pacers were nearly all on sextets and quints, while a couple of triplets did great work for Michael.

The race started after a good afternoon's sport, in which an American record for a new race, the two-mile tandem competition, standing start, was made in 4.05 1-5 by Butler brothers.

Michael and McDuffee, in their race, waited until their pacers had developed speed, and as the sextet and triplet rushed past the starting point the two flyers jumped in after them. McDuffee, behind the big sextet, almost immediately forged ahead and was 50 yards in the lead when the first mile was finished. For two miles there was no change, but in the third mile a hot triplet picked up Michael and noticeably cut down McDuffee's lead.

McDuffee soon made up his loss, and at the beginning of the fifth mile was about 200 yards ahead. The constant change of pacemakers kept the crowd at fever heat. Three big sextets did great work for McDuffee, especially that manned by the Butler brothers and four other fast men. At the eighth mile McDuffee was over one-sixth of a mile in the lead, and his pacemakers were making it warm for him. In the ninth Michael began to gain, the hard work telling on the sextets, and soon there were but 100 yards between the flyers. Not once did either man drop behind the pacemakers.

In the tenth Michael caught the Melrose man, and for half a lap they raced side by side. McDuffee, however, pulled out and soon had 50 yards lead in the eleventh. In the twelfth, one of McDuffee's sextets picked him up very badly, with the result that Michael caught up, and after a mile more the two were again on even terms. This time there was a continual roar of applause as the men came flying around after the pacers, and this was redoubled when Michael rushed ahead at the beginning of the last mile.

In spite of the fact that two sextets and a quad successively picked up McDuffee and apparently set the hottest kind of pace, nothing could catch the little Welshman, and he rushed across the finish 100 yards ahead in the fastest 15-mile race ever run in this country, if not in the world. Summary:

MR. HARDY DOWN EAST.

The Provincial Premier and Messrs. Marcourt and Dryden Addressed Electors at Pembroke.

Pembroke, June 17.—The Liberals of North Renfrew held a convention this morning in the Town Hall for the purpose of organization. The following officers were elected:

President, R. S. Miller; 1st Vice-President, Stephen Ryan, 2nd Vice-President, George Carr; 3rd Vice-President, Archibald Cameron; Secretary-Treasurer, John S. Sparling.

It was decided to call a convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate during the coming autumn.

In the afternoon a monster meeting, attended by about 2000 people, was held in the skating rink. Addresses were delivered by Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. John Dryden and Hon. Richard Harcourt.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt dealt with the administration of the Education Department and the finances of the province. He answered the charge that there were too many examinations in the schools, showing that the number of examinations had been greatly reduced during the last twenty years, while the efficiency of the teaching fraternity, of whom he spoke in the highest terms, had been greatly improved. He contended that education in Ontario was in advance of any country in the world. He then gave a short resume of the financial affairs of the province, dealing with what he called the wonderful exaggerations of Lieut.-Col. Matheson, in his speeches in the western part of the province.

Mr. Dryden dealt with the work of the Agricultural Department, showing the benefits which had been derived from expenditure on this department.

A very flattering address was presented to the Premier, who replied in very appropriate terms and gave a general resume of provincial politics, which was punctuated throughout with applause.

An informal reception was held in the Cogeland House this evening.

After serious illness Hood's Sarsaparilla has a wonderful building up power. It purifies the blood and restores perfect health.

A GRUESOME STORY.

Inquest in the Case of Priscilla Hall and Her Brother in Law, Who Shot Her and Himself

Portage la Prairie, June 17.—At the inquest in the court house this afternoon the jury viewed the remains of Priscilla Hall and Brigham. Amelia Hall, the girl's mother, deposed that the occurrence took place about 4.45 p.m. Brigham came to the house carrying a revolver in his hand, and said: "Look here, it is loaded." He pointed it towards the daughter in the front room and, reaching toward her, fired. At the first shot the girl fell on the floor. He then fired a second shot in her neck. Witness heard no sound of blows. Brigham fell immediately he shot himself. Hardly a minute elapsed from his arrival till the first shot was fired. The first bullet was found by Constable Giarronch in the lounge this morning. Priscilla made no noise, but rushed away at the first shot. Brigham said nothing and witness could form no idea why he shot her daughter.

Dr. Lundy stated that he went to the house, and found Priscilla lying on her left side with a bullet wound below the left ear; noticed no mark of violence; the girl was dead; Brigham lay at right angles and was also dead.

William Roxburgh, clerk at Ashdown's, gave evidence of the sale of the revolver, but said he heard no threats towards anyone.

The jury retired at 5.10 and at 5.30 gave a verdict that Priscilla Hall met her death by a wound in the neck caused by Brigham, who afterwards committed suicide.

The Latest.

Winnipeg, June 17.—(Special.)—The latest developments in the murder of Miss Hall of Portage la Prairie by her brother-in-law, and his suicide, show that he had been intimate with the girl and their fears were verified by a visit made by her to the doctor the morning of the crime. He told his wife that he would have to shoot somebody or leave town.

India's Latest Calamity.

Calcutta, June 17.—Reports from Assam at Shillong say that everything has been levelled to the ground. The official records have been buried at Gauhati. The railroad has vanished in that vicinity, and at Goalpara a tidal wave has destroyed many buildings, and the neighboring country is covered with fissures which are spurting mud and sand. Numbers of buildings have been destroyed at Dhubr. There has been heavy loss of life at Goalpara and Dhubri.

President Faure Will Arbitrate.

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. Premiums may be paid for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 years or for life, and if so desired the Company will commute the Instalment into a single cash payment. Same terms and conditions as in all other policies. A pickpocket is despised, dreaded and avoided. He is a sneaking, despicable foe who robs a man unawares. Men hate him worse than the more bold highwayman whose attack is made in the open. There are some diseases that are like pickpockets. They are sneaks. If men only knew it, these sneaking diseases are more to be dreaded than small-pox or yellow fever. The sneaking disease begins with some slight disorder of the digestion and sluggish actior of the bowels. The blood becomes disordered and the body receives insufficient or improper nutriment. Emaciation follows and the sufferer is troubled with nervous prostration, brain fag, and debility, and very likely falls a victim to that dread destroyer, consumption. All this happens before the sufferer fairly realizes that he is in danger.

These sneaking diseases that undermine a man's constitution, and rob him of his health are conquered by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts strength into every fiber of the body and replaces the lethargy of sickness with the buoyancy of health. It is the best blood-maker and flesh-builder known to science.

Mr. A. W. Caynes, of Elkhart, Elkhart Co., Indiana, writes: "I send you a testimonial in regard to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and what it did for me in acute inflammation of the liver, about six years ago, when I had an attack in Los Angeles, Cal., and also one since I came here. I consider Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery one of the best medicines offered to a suffering people to-day. It has only to be given a fair trial to prove itself such."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser has had a larger sale than any other book of this class ever offered the public. This book of 1,008 pages with 300 illustrations is full, from cover to cover, of practical advice on health matters. This great book, in heavy manilla covers, is now offered FREE to whoever will send 21 one-cent stamps to pay for customs and mailing only. If an elegant cloth binding is desired, send 50 stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BASEBALL RECORD

Syracuse, June 17.—The Torontos defeated the leaders here to-day, winning out in the tenth in good style. Irwin's men made five runs in the first innings, when they made two singles and two doubles after Lush was hit by the first ball pitched. They did not score again until the tenth, when three hits were made off Lampe and Ryan made a costly error. Shaw batted for Willis in the ninth, and in the tenth Lampe took Willis' place. Score:

ELEVEN INNINGS AT GUELPH.

Guelph, June 17.—The Baseball game today was closely contested, requiring 11 innings to finish, and was a pitchers' battle, Crowe being very effective, only four hits being made off him. Johnson also did good work, but the Leafs hit him in great luck. In the first, Sippi was struck on the head by a pitched ball, but he pluckily continued the game until the ninth, when Greer took his place. Score:

SMALL CROWD SAW IT.

Hamilton, June 17.—In the baseball match at Dundurn Park this afternoon between the Hamiltons and Torontos there was little to interest the 400 spectators. The Hamiltons won, although the Toronto's did the best batting. Hickey made a home run and Lauer a three-bagger. The score

TRIMMED SKIRTS IN VOGUE.

Fancies of Fashion That Will Please Maid and Matron.

Skirts are to be cut on the lines popular from 1820 to 1830. Paris has caught the Victorian craze and modistes are delving into past history for suggestions for modern styles. Few gowns have plain skirts. A new skirt has a black satin foundation, veiled with black figured net, with five rows of plaited lace ruching about an inch wide carried around the skirt at intervals to the hips. Each row points upward at the back. A chic model of white is built on the same lines. A gown of blue and white foukard is arranged in soleil plaiting with a frill of lace at the hem. The bodice has a full front of white lace. Skirts require careful handling. The fulness is more generally disposed in the front than it used to be. Muslins are made up over colored silk slips. An attractive gown for a garden party is of pink organdie over a white slip, with five plaitings of lace placed at intervals on the skirt. The body is ornamented with narrow lace finely goffered. A fichu trimmed with rows of the lace crosses in the front and ties in the back, the long ends falling to the hem of the skirt. Sleeves are varied in style. They are usually long, falling well down over the hands, and they are finished either with a point, frills of lace, lisse or trumpet shaped. The sleeve is very small and usually wrinkled, and finished with an epaulette of lace, a puff or small ruffles. Among the latest mantles is one of white china silk, with bright flowers scattered on it. Over it is a cape of black chiffon with four rows of lack velvet ribbon. About the neck is a full ruche of black chiffon. A number of the short wraps are trimmed with flowers. One in black net, studded with jet sequins, is lined with violet silk. It is edged with a frill of net. About the throat is a garland of Parma violets and a ruche of white lace, which falls in a cascade down the front. Tucks adorn everything. Quarter-inch tucks are not only set in groups all over the bodice and upon the sleeves, but they are frequently supplemented by a tucked bolero and by groups of tucks on the skirt. Even low-cut evening bodices are arranged with tucked draperies of lisse. Tucks run both up and down and around the figure.

Silk and chiffon blouse will be much worn this season. An effective model in white chiffon is trimmed with numerous rows of narrow black velvet ribbon and butter-colored lace insertion. Colored chiffon bodices will in all tones be seen, as well as dainty figured muslins, elaborately ornamented with lace. Bodices are almost invariably worn under the skirt. Belts are a conspicuous feature of the season's fashions. Many of the jeweled belts are very beautiful. They are formed of ribbon and metal, with jeweled links let in at the back and sides, and completed with buckles set with gems. The plain tartan belt, with a simple clasp, is also fashionable. The white leather belts are effective in conjunction with white facings. This is a year of delicate, thin materials over silk, and grenadine, chiffon, fancy canvas, muslin and guipure will be used for smart gowns, with lace ribbons and fancy trimmings. But above all, lace reigns supreme, adding a finish to everything from the delicate bows on hats and toques to the flounces on silk petticoats. Lace aprons are to be revived, and many of them are very expensive. They will form tabliers and entire fronts for rich satin and silk frocks. A skirt which shows the newest bent of summer models is of gray canvas, with an open-work hem. The body is trimmed down the front with ruchings of soft yellow. The top of the skirt is arranged in box plaits stitched down. Some of the latest parasols are charming. The sticks have Dresden knobs. Birds' heads also decorate parasol handles, and the feathers of the bird are used on the edge of the cover. Parasols are made of the same fabrics as the gowns.

A sunshade recently made for a June bride is of pink cotton. The gown which it matches is quite elaborate. The skirt is decorated with six narrow flounces, about two and a half inches deep, placed on the skirt in a deep curve, the upper one being about eighteen inches from the waist in front, and nearly touching the belt at the back. The others follow the same curve, one under the other, to the bottom, where the space left vacant at the back is filled with deep flounces. The waist is composed entirely of fine plaits, the sleeves are entirely of small tucks, one overlapping the other. A large pink taffeta bow finishes the collar, and a sash of the trifeta forms the belt. As the season progresses hats become more eccentric. There is a wide, course straw which comes in all colors, that is much in vogue. It is bent into all sorts of curious twists and plaits and trimmed in the most marvellous manner. Straws of the most brilliant hues are very popular, purple, green, blue, pink, and yellow, and often a combination of two or more colors are used on one hat. A toque of vivid green straw is ornamented with bows composed of butter-colored straw, and a bunch of white roses. One of violet straw is trimmed with a wreath of violets and a chou of cream lace. Picture hats are as popular as ever, and shirred black lace and tulle hats are among the latest importations. Entire hats are made of black and white lace an inch wide. Hoisery is elaborate and brilliant. Tartan plaids and stripes predominate. Stockings have the upper part of the leg of black or some bright, plain color, the lower part and foot being embroidered on a ground of a different shade. Insertions of lace are introduced alternately with stripes of exquisite embroidery.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

CRUSHED UNDER THE WHEELS.

A Dairyman Was Driving Home From London When a Train Caused His Death.

London, Ont., June 17.—A fatal accident occurred today at the Pottersburg G. T. R. station. Robert Heaman, dairyman, was driving home with his wagon on the side road, just west of the station, as the St. Mary's train, leaving London at 11.20 a.m., was pulling in. The engine struck the wagon, throwing it in a heap on the station platform. Mr. Heaman fell under the wheels, and after the entire train had passed over his left leg, he managed to drag himself away from the track a few feet, and then fell unconscious. The injured man was removed to the city hospital, where he underwent a surgical operation. Death relieved his terrible agony at a late hour this afternoon. Mr. Heaman was a brother of ex-Ald. William Heaman, ex-Ald. John Heaman and Mr. George Heaman of this city. He leaves a wife and one child.

HEALTH'S PARADISE

Regained After Twenty Years Torture From That Dread Disease, Catarrh—Hon. Geo. Taylor of Scranton, Pa., Tells the World What Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Has Done For Him.

I was a martyr to catarrh for twenty years—tried every known remedy, but got little or no relief. Was troubled with constant droppings in the throat, terrible pains in my head, and my breath was very offensive. I was induced to give Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder a trial, and the result was magical. The first application cleared my head instantly. I persisted in its use, and to-day I am a cured man, and it affords me pleasure to lend my testimony. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Montreal Abattoir on Fire.

Montreal, June 15.—The sheep and hog slaughter house of the East End Abattoir, a large frame building, was completely destroyed by fire to-night. The building was stored with valuable machinery for killing purposes and the loss is estimated at about $30,000. The main abattoir building was saved with considerable difficulty.

Mr. Poulliot is Dying

Ottawa, June 16.—Special.)—Mr. Poulliot, M.P. for Temiscouata, is dying at his home at Fraserville. It is said that he will at once resign his seat, for which his brother, Capt. Poulliot of the Post-office Department, will be the candidate in the Liberal interests.

HER MAJESTY'S REIGN.

A New Hymn for the Diamond Jubilee Service.

Messrs. Eyre & Spottiswoode write to say that there has been added to the appointed form of service for June 20th, the following hymn written by the Bishop of Wakefield at the request of the Prince of Wales, and set to music by Sir Arthur Sullivan, by desire of the Queen. Her Majesty hopes that this hymn will be sung at the commemoration services.

OH, KING OF KINGS.

Oh, King of Kings, whose reign of old
Hath been from everlasting,
Before whose throne their crowns of gold
The white-robed saints are casting;
While all the shining courts on high
With angel songs are ringing,
Oh, let Thy children venture nigh
Their lowly homage bringing.

For every heart made glad by Thee,
With thankful praise is swelling,
And every tongue with joy set free,
Is happy theme is telling.
Thou has been mindful of Thine own,
And, lo! we come confessing—
'Tis Thou hast dower'd our queenly throne
With sixty years of blessing.

Oh, royal heart, with wide embrace
For all her children yearning!
Oh, happy realm, such mother grace
With loyal love returning!
Where England's flag flies wide unfurl'd,
All tyrant wrongs repelling,
God make the world a better world
For man's brief earthly dwelling.

Lead on, O Lord, Thy people still,
New grace and wisdom giving,
To larger love and purer will,
And nobler heights of living.
And while of all Thy love below
They chant the gracious story
Oh teach them first Thy Christ to know
And magnify His glory.

The hymn to be used immediately before Morning and Evening Prayer, or after the third Collect, or immediately before the office for the Holy Communion.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—"Hang out your flags upon the outer walls."

—It is a duty as it should be a delight for every citizen to contribute something, small or great—preferably great—to the decoration of the town for Jubilee Day.

—Though not a particularly hot day, this has, however, been the warmest day of 1897 so far. For the first time the thermometer rose above 80 degrees.

—Jubilee Day reverses the ordinary order of things. Instead of inciting the citizens to unflagging industry the EXAMINER urges the flagging industry. Keep up the decoration movement.

—A lot of little urchins are making a practice of bathing near the boat-house at the juncture of Crescent and Lake streets. The attention of the police is directed to the violation of the by-law.

Green wire cloth made of steel, with double selvage. Will not bag nor rust. Lawn mowers that will cut grass and that a child may use. We are selling both these lines at the price of common goods. GEORGE STETHEM & SON. 2aw-w —Six months have elapsed since the shortest days, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week will be the longest of the year. The sun will then commence on its never varying and unwearied course southward, and shorter days will be the result.

—Mr. Louis Croly, the new florist, whose down town agency is at Mr. John Armstrong's grocery store, has a fine collection of flowers for decorating purposes, and is prepared to set out bedding plants and supply cut flowers for Jubilee Day on shortest notice. SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

Marmora evidently has a good team this year, as a team from that place won from Campellford on the latter's grounds during the week.

The local team will be in fine shape for its game with Ontarios of Port Hope on Jubilee Day at the Driving Park.

Arrangements will be made with the C. L. A. Executive to have the home and home games in the series take place between Madoc and Peterborough as soon as possible. Peterborough is the champion of the Eastern District and Madocs occupies the same position in the Bay of Quinte group. There is no reason why the games should not be held early in July instead of in August.

The Juniors will not go to Tweed on the first of July, as Madoc and Marmora are playing there that day.

The Seniors would like a game with the Orillias here on Dominion Day.

The Secretary is now in correspondence with the Shamrocks of Montreal, with the object of trying to induce them to give the Peterboroughs a game here on their way through to Torontos or on their return trip from that city. An endeavor will also be made to have the Torontos drop off for a match, so that there is a likelihood of some exciting games on the P. A. A. A. ground in the near future. The Tecumsehs will be here for another game in July or early in August.

Mr. Lionel King is home from college and will doubtless be soon out for practice. He will probably play on the defense this year and will strengthen the team considerably.

The Peterboroughs will play the following team against Port Hope on Jubilee Day at the Driving Park: Dobbin, goal; Brown, point; Borland, cover point; Mein, Glover, McCabe, defence field; Thompson, centre; Rubidge, Lipsett, Dobbin, home; Phelan, outside; McCabe, inside. Wasson, field captain; H. Phelan, referee.

Mr. Lionel King and Jack McDonough are not in shape yet, and Will Galley has not recovered from the effects of the last game.

THE WHEEL.

Wheelmen intending to attend the C.W.A. meet at Chatham on July 1st, are requested to leave their names with Mr. T. E. Boddy at the C.P. R. ticket. If twenty names are registered a special car can be arranged for.

ANGLING.

The Game Warden's attention has been directed to the discovery at Wiarton of two varieties of fish, carp and grayling, which are new to Ontario. Last week a party of fishermen visited Lake Gillies and captured some specimens of the fish which are said to be something between the lake trout and the speckled or brook trout. The opinion at first was that they are a species of salmon trout that had become land locked, and consequently assumed their present size, shape and appearance. Others again contended that they are the mountain trout, but a gentleman who happened to be in Wiarton said that they were the grayling, a fish that is caught in the lower peninsula of Michigan, and in the lakes all through Northern Canada. They have not yet been found in Ontario, and if the fish in Gillies Lake prove to be grayling they will be the first found in the Province of Ontario. Another kind of fish has made its appearence on the Oliphant shore. A few days ago some boys were on that shore, and noticed a number of large fish in shallow water, that were unknown to them. The fish were tame, so much so that the boys waded in and took out a number with their hands. As they did not know the fish, some specimens were brought to the town, and taken for sheep heads. A specimen was also taken to Hepworth, where it was identified by a party who is supposed to know, as a carp. This is very probable, as the carp has been introduced into the streams of Michigan, and possibly some have taken a trip to Canadian waters.

THE HUFFMAN HOUSE HOTEL.

A Tribute From the Arnprior Semi-Weekly News.

The Arnprior Semi-Weekly News has the following to say in reference to Mr. J. F. White, who has entered into possession of the Huffman House which he will hereafter conduct:

Mr. J. F. White and wife and Miss White left Arnprior on Saturday for their future home in the rising city of Peterborough and Mr. and Mrs. James White left by C. P. R. yesterday morning with the other members of the family, and two servants, in all making an exodus of twelve persons from our midst. Mr. James White and son, for some years past lessees of the McPhee House in this town, had last week leased the Huffman House, the principal hotel in Peterborough, for a term of years and had purchased the furniture and outfit as it stood, which is said to be first class as befitted a modern up-to date hotel having no less than fifty guest rooms, and were to take possession yesterday morning which necessitated Mr. J. F. White leaving here on Saturday. We have no doubt that the Messrs. White will succeed in their new premises, for they are noted for being attentive and affable, and everything about the premises will be kept in best of order. Mr. James White and young family first settled in Arnprior nearly thirty years ago and carried on a leading grocery business in the building on the site where Mr. Farmer's shoe store now stands, and afterwards in the premises next door. About ten or a dozen years ago, Mr. White gave up the grocery business and leased a hotel in the town of Renfrew, which he continued until about four or five years ago when he leased the McPhee house here and returned to Arnprior. Mr. White and family are therefore old residents and very much esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances who regret their departure, and wish them well in their new home.

NEW CHEESE FACTORY.

The Lindsay Warder makes the following reference to a well known Peterborough cheesemaker:—The loyal yeomen of Eldon and part of Fenelon have been successful in establishing in this the year of our Queen's Diamond Jubilee, an enterprise which they hope will stand as a memento of the true, kind loyalty to the event of Her Most Gracious Majesty's birthday. The said enterprise being a new cheese and butter factory erected in Palestine and opened on the 24th ult., under the management of Mr. Wm. Warren as cheesemaker. Mr. Warren comes to Palestine with the highest recommendations from the inspector of Peterborough Board, Mr. W. H. Wrighton, and also from all the other buyers on the Peterborough board who bought his goods last year, he having operated successfully the factory known as "Cherry Grove," Smith, last season. This company is formed mostly of the farmers of the location which support the factory Seven wagons were unloaded one day last week at the weigh room, all of them taking large routes. One of the features of the new company is the adoption of the most modern and truly business methods of doing business, one of which is the plan of paying for milk by quality, or the "Babcock Test." "Palestine" intends to lead, not follow in the matter of turning out first-class goods, and requests the buyers on Lindsay cheese board to remember this on sale day.

A NOBLE FAMILY.

Popular and Well Known in Canada.

For many, many years, a very noble family, popular and well known, have conferred great blessings on Canadian homes.

This family to which we refer has served the homes of Canadians faithfully and well, they have brightened the pathway of many a sad woman when the clouds were dark; they have cheered hearts when times were dull and money scarce; they have been a blessing to thousands of husbands and children, helping them to dress better, so that mothers, fathers and children were enabled to face the world as handsomely dressed as their wealthier friends and neighbors.

These popular, tried and helpful friends are the Diamond Dyes, the same in power, work and usefulness to-day as they were twenty years ago.

There are many imitations of these celebrated Diamond Dyes worthless and dangerous to use. Beware of these deceptive dyes, as they can never do good work.

When you purchase dyes see that the name "Diamond" is on every envelope. With the Diamond Dyes success is always sure and certain.

An Antidote for Asthma.

Mr. Albert Reid, Angus, Ont., was for over two years a sufferer from asthma. A half bottle of Yellow Oil cured him completely, and although that was some time ago, he has never since been troubled with the same complaint.

SKIN HUMOR ON BABY

Head and Entire Body Covered. Itching Intense, Would Scratch Till Blood Came.

Had to Put Mittens on His Hands To Keep Him from Tearing His Skin.

One Application of CUTICURA Soothes Him to Sleep. Complete Cure.

When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin, yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton, and his little hands were thin like claws.

He was bad about eight months when we tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the day time for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time. I washed him with CUTICURA SOAP, and put on one application of CUTICURA, and he was so soothed that I put him in his cradle. You don't know how glad I felt he felt better. It took one box of CUTICURA, pretty near one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and about half a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT to cure him. I think our little boy would have died only for CUTICURA REMEDIES, and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. Mrs. M. C. MAITLAND, Jasper, Ont.

Cuticura Remedies have effected the most wonderful cures of torturing, disfiguring, humiliating skin and scalp humors of infants and children, as well as of adults of every age. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. They are the most speedy, economical, and infallible skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER D. & C. CORP., Props., Boston. "How to Cure Baby Humors," free.

WITHOUT A MISHAP

The Great Jubilee Day Passed In London.

MILLIONS CHEERED THE QUEEN

And Her Majesty Acknowledged the Salutations Throughout the Route of the Procession—The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier Was Warmly Received.

London, June 22.—Every Londoner rose this morning (that is if he went to bed at all), with the firm conviction that the most splendid day in English history had dawned. It is the day when the greatest of English sovereigns comes, in her own words, to "see her people and receive their congratulations." Eight o'clock is generally early enough for the Londoner, but to-day the hour of 5 saw streams set in from suburbs 10 and even 20 miles around London.

By 9 o'clock the stream had become a flood, and the route of procession was well filled, though by no means dangerously packed, as the police had feared. Red, white and blue are everywhere, the flags just fluttering in the gentle breeze, and the bunting and the garlands of imitation flowers hung from Venetian masts at every vantage point. White carnations, red roses and blue corn flowers make up pretty posies and buttonholes, corn flowers especially, as the only flower of true royal blue, being almost worth their weight in gold. Amidst the flowers are many mottoes. "Well Played, Sixty, Not Out," is the greeting of the ardent cricketer, and Tennyson's "She Wrought Her People Lasting Good," is a general favorite.

Every window, every roof, every church steeple had its occupants and did one ever see so good humored a crowd!

The police and the thin red line of soldiers along the route have little or nothing to do. The weather is all that should be.

Some Jeremiahs predicted snow and sleet, and last week's cold winds made it just possible. Instead, it is Queen's weather, cool, yet bright, as some statistician has shown that it has been for 20 years past on June 22.

The Jubilee honors list published this morning pleases everybody. Deficiencies in the procession are in part remedied by the recognition of Sullivan, Gilbert, Lecky, Tosti, Wolfe, Barry and other leaders in the science and art of the reign.

The colonial procession, which opened the day's triumphal event, made an imposing show. Field Marshal Lord Roberts is the popular "Bob" of the crowd, and he received the crowd's ovation as he marshalled the colonial troops to St. Paul's Cathedral to await the Queen's arrival.

For the service here was the true pageant of the Empire. Men were there of every size and color, from the slim, slight, yellow-skinned Singapore and Hong Kong artillery to the bronzed, large-limbed Canadians, Australians and the Poet Laureate's watchdogs of Rhodesia, and again the tall, coffee-colored Sikhs and stalwart negroes of the West Indies, the Gold Coast and the Niger. Every color, too, seemed represented in uniforms.

The crowd, of course, shouted themselves hoarse with cheering, especially when the colonial premiers, Sir Wilfrid Laurier at their head, drove by in state dress landaus, all of them in the gold lace and cocked hats of Queen's Privy Councillors, an honor only conferred upon them this morning.

Troops, people and premiers were mightily pleased with one another. An hour's interval and then came the Queen's procession, and with it, sure enough, there came the first real sunshine of the day, with an hour's blaze of colors, nodding plumes, prancing horses and cheering crowds that made up the Queen's escort. Amid it all there was one figure and one figure only in plain black and white, Mr. Whitelaw Reid's democratic garb was in sharp contrast to the gorgeous uniforms of the Spanish and French Ambassadors, who were in the same state carriage. Among the foreign envoys should have been Munir Pasha. If he was there his name was discreetly omitted from the official list. His attache was there and the crowd let the fez pass unchecked and otherwise unnoticed. The Sultan's envoy may have been there, too, hidden away among the foreign notables, but no one knew it and no one hissed.

At last came the Queen herself seated in the same carriage as the Princess of Wales and the Princess Christian. I have heard many royal acclaims, but I never heard such heartfelt cheering as that when the central figure of the day drove slowly by. She looked remarkably well and happy, smiling and bowing to the right and left, a living refutation of the silly talk cabled to New York last week.

A remarkable, probably an unprecedented feature of the service at St. Paul's was the leading place given to the presidents of the dissenting bodies in a state service, conducted by a state churchman. This was a fitting sequel to the incidents of Sunday, when non-conformist ministers assisted in Anglican Cathedral services in different parts of the country.

At St. Paul's a royal message was despatched to the Queen's subjects throughout her dominions, and thereby hangs a curious tale of the Empire which has perturbed the official mind not a little during the past few days. England's lines of cables to her scattered empire at the mercy of foreigners, whose territories are touched by the wires. Thus the Queen's message to-day to her own people in India, Australia, South Africa and the West Indies was only able to reach its destination by favor of Spain, Portugal, France and the United States. Now, for the first time the official mind seems to have grasped the fact of England's real telegraphic isolation, which, in time of war, must place her empire in a perilous condition indeed.

Canada and Newfoundland are the only colonies to which the Queen can speak direct without the medium of a foreign state.

IN EARLY MORNING.

Gorgeously Dressed Envoys as They Arrived at Buckingham Palace

Inside Buckingham Palace, London, June 22.—The Queen breakfasted at 9 o'clock and informed her physician that she was not fatigued by yesterday's ceremonies. Already at this hour, in the great quadrangle of the Palace, there were many signs of the coming ceremonial.

Gorgeously attired servants gathered near the scarlet carpeted staircase, which was lined by rare flowers, while the strains of the National Anthem, as a band passed the palace, announced that the colonial procession had started.

At the same time, the special envoys, who were to take part in the procession began arriving in the great quadrangle. United States special envoy the Hon. Whitelaw Reid was the first to appear. He drove up to the great door of the palace, where he was saluted in passing by a dozen men in gold and was escorted to the waiting room by the master of ceremonies, Colonel the Hon. Sir William James Colville.

A minute or so later, General Nelson A. Miles, representing the United States army, rode up on a splendid horse and wearing a fine uniform. He lingered for a moment and then rode out.

The minor royalties next dropped in, followed by richly-caparisoned steeds, intended for the use of the Princes. The arrival of the Princes who were to take part in the escort formed a splendid picture, full of color.

The Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, a man of the heavy Romanoff type, was not artistically uniformed and was completely eclipsed in appearance by the gorgeous Austrians in Hungarian scarlet and gold, with their white Hussar jackets lined with pale blue and fastened to their left shoulders, their striking attire being completed by high fur caps and stiff plumes.

The brother of the Khedive of Egypt, Prince Mohammed Ali Khan, was mounted on a pure white Arabian charger, which was greatly admired.

The Duke of Cambridge, carrying his field marshal's baton, and wearing the ribbon of the Garter across his portly person, next arrived, and after him came the Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Lathom, and a score of White Wand Chamberlains, attired in the darkest of blue, smothered with gold. They mingled with the crowd and later passed up the staircase. Eleven royal landaus then arrived and were mustered in the centre of the quadrangle.

A preliminary gleam of the sun pierced through the clouds at this hour, touching everything with bright light, making the scene as grand a one as was ever witnessed. By 10.20 a.m., the envoys' carriages were loaded and they took up their position in the centre of the quadrangle. Shortly afterwards, the Queen's superb coach arrived, and it had hardly come to a standstill when the landaus with the ladies and lords in waiting and the Princesses were in their allotted positions. All the ladies wore light toilettes of blue, green, lilac and pink, the latest Parisian dainties.

Then the envoys' landaus started.

The Princes next mounted their horses and arranged themselves in groups of threes.

The carriage of ex-Empress Frederick of Germany, who was dressed in lilac and who carried a white sunshade, waited until after the others had gone, while the Duke of Cambridge chatted with Her Highness.

In the meanwhile, a platoon of the royal servants lined up on each side of the great door and an inclined platform from the foot of the stairs to the place to be occupied by the Queen's coach was placed in position and carefully tested by a Scotch gillie.

A momentary wait, a hoarse roar of cheers, quickly started by the Royal Anthem, played by the band outside, announced the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales. The Prince wore the uniform of a field marshal and the Princess was dressed in pale lilac and wore a lilac bonnet with white feathers. The Prince of Wales mounted by the scarlet-covered steps to the entrance of the palace and then the Hanoverian steeds slowly drew the Queen's carriage into position.

At 11.10 a.m., a bustle on the main staircase announced the coming of Her Majesty. Queen Victoria, slowly descended the stairs, assisted by a scarlet-clad white turbaned Indian attendant. She was dressed in black, wore a black bonnet, trimmed with white, and carried a white sunshade. At the foot of the stairway Her Majesty paused for a minute and touched an electric button connected with all the telegraphic systems throughout the British Empire, and it flashed around the world the message, already cabled to the Associated Press, sent by the Queen to her subjects. It read:

From my heart I thank my beloved people. May God bless them!

Her Majesty then slowly seated herself in her carriage, the royal trumpeters sounded a fanfare, the Princess of Wales joined the Queen and then the Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein joined the party. Both the Princesses seated themselves opposite Her Majesty, and at 11.12 the Queen's coach started.

Two gillies in Highland costume, wearing the tartan of Macdonald of the Isles, the so-called Crown Prince of Scotland, occupied the rumble. As Her Majesty emerged from the portico, the sun broke brightly through the clouds and the Queen raised her sunshade. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge and the Duke of Connaught took up their places about Her Majesty's carriage and the latter took its place in the procession.

ON THE WAY.

Big Guns in Hyde Park Announced That the Queen Had Started.

Buckingham Palace, June 22.—The last of the procession is out of sight, the roar of cheers that mark its course up Constitution Hill tells the beginning of the story of the Queen among her people, while the artillery in Hyde Park by a royal salute of 60 guns are thundering the fact to waiting thousands elsewhere. The Queen had actually started, and the hearts of thousands of insurance people and members of Lloyds beat more placidly as they remembered the premiums on $5,000,000 that had been wagered with them whether or not Her Majesty would start. The Queen had started and the hearts of 2,000,000 of her people beat higher as they awaited her coming.

THE COLONIAL PROCESSION

Was One of the Chief Features of the Great Historical Parade.

The procession was practically in three sections as far as St. Paul's, though the two last en route to the Cathedral were consolidated as they moved into Piccadilly. The first to take up position was the Colonial procession, formed on the embankment, and moved via the Mall, thence past the Palace, where Her Majesty viewed it from a window, over the route to St. Paul's. The march began at 8.45, and the great cortege proved a welcome relief to the awaiting multitude. From the colonies were living pictures, presenting in tangible shape the growth of the Empire, the far-reaching extent of the Queen's sway. The procession, after some police, was headed by an advance party of the Royal Horse Guards. Then followed the band of the same corps playing the inspiring "Washington Post March." Next came Lord Frederick Roberts, commanding the colonial troops, with Col. Ivor Herbert of the Grenadiers Guards, the second in command; then the Canadian Hussars, and the Dragoons of the Northwest police.

In advance of the New South Wales Mounted Rifles were the New South Wales Lancers.

Close upon the band came a portion of the picturesque Northwest Mounted Police, as escort to the First Colonial Premier, to win a great round of cheers from men and many a welcome waved by women, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The Northwest Police, men to whom evidently a saddle has never been a novelty, made a striking appearance; quite as brave and serviceable-looking as the New South Wales Mounted Rifles with their grey semi-sombreros and black cocks' plumes, who succeeded them, escorting the Premier of New South Wales, the Hon. S. H. Reid.

The Victorian mounted troops followed, smart weather-beaten fellows, in unattractive brownish uniforms, succeeded by the New Zealand mounted contingent, a fine looking sunburned lot, drawn from almost every town of any importance in the Colony, displaying uniforms intended for the conflict rather than the parade ground.

Then came New Zealand's Premier, the Hon. Richard J. Seddon. The Queensland Mounted Infantry came next in their kharkee tunics and scarlet facings, and then the Premier of Queensland, Sir H. M. Nelson, K.C.M.G.

For the moment Australia gave way, Africa was allowed a chance, and the Cape of Good Hope Mounted Rifles, well set up men wearing the scarlet, with white helmets, rode by to herald the coming of the Cape Premier, the Hon. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, K.C.M.G. Hardly had he been noticed and to the majority unknown, when attention was claimed for the yellowish brown kharkee lit with bright scarlet from the blazing puggaree on the spiked helmets to the double stripes down the seams of tightly-fitting corduroy trousers, with large chamois leather patches, where the knee gripped the saddle, which proclaimed the South Australian mounted troops. Lean, long specimens of wiry manhood, they won applause like the rest, and passed on to give place to the Premier of Newfoundland, Hon. Sir William Whiteway.

Next came the Premier of Tasmania, Sir Eric Braddon, K.C.M.G.,

From Newfoundland, one was transported to Natal by the Natal mounted troops, a contingent similar in model and equipment to their Cape brothers-in-arms. Hon. Sir H. M. Nelson, K.C.M.G., rode after them, the official personification of Western Australia.

The premiers being disposed of, then succeeded a really most attractive display, mounted troops of the crown colonies, the Rhodesian horse, the colonial infantry, broken by three bands, typical of the United Kingdom; those of St. George's, the London Scottish and the London Irish Rifle volunteer corps. The colonial contingent were a varied lot from a lot of varied places, local militia of Hong Kong, Singapore, Ceylon, Mauritius, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Bermuda and the Royal Malta artillery corps; Honk Kong, Singapore, Ceylon, Mauritius, Jamaica and Royal Malta submarine mining companies of the Royal Engineers; the West Indian Fortress Company of Royal Engineers, the West Indian Infantry Regiment, the Hong Kong Regiment and the Royal Malta Regiment of militia.

Then there passed the splendid contingent from the Canadian infantry, 175 strong, uniformed somewhat like the regular service infantry, with Hon. Colonel Aylmer leading. Much applause was bestowed on the fine marching of these men, who in every way kept the Dominion to the front.

Following came the real oddities in the eyes of Londoners, of which the Zaptiehs from Cyprus divided the honors with the Dyaks of Borneo. Both are military police; the Zaptiehs were mounted on inland ponies and naturally wore the Turkish fez, with a jacket somewhat suggestive of Constantinople and the minarets of Stamboul. The Borneo Dyaks, yellow-colored, smallish chaps, were eagerly expected by the crowd, owing to their head-hunting proclivities, of which, however, no trace could be noticed in their dress. These and others coming after emphasized and repeated the fact how widely scattered are the races the Queen rides.

The Trinidad Field Artillery, the Sierra Leone militia with their strange small blue turbans and depending tassels and knickerbockers, the British Guiana police, with their white-curtained caps, the Haussas in the familiar Zouave costumes of long ago, and the Royal Niger Haussas—men who fought at Ilorin and Bida—in uniforms of Kharkill cloth, trousers, exposing the leg and shaved heads, were all black. The Haussas, the blackest of the blacks, wearing the furnished livery of the sun, were enthusiastically greeted. The procession ended as it began appropriately, by defenders from the Dominion—the balance of the Northwest Mounted Police, a body of men London has taken entire to her heart. As they slowly disappeared under the summer trees the applause died away, and the people enthusiastically congratulated each other on what "our colonies can do."

THE MILITARY PROCESSION

Came Just Fifty Minutes After the Colonials—Britain's War Strength.

The second procession passed the palace 50 minutes after the colonials had climbed Constitution Hill. Formed in Eaton-Square and Sloan-street, it more than eloquently filled up the picture of Britain's war strength: more than magnificently completed the carnival of gorgeous costume and color. Scarlet and blue and gold; white and yellow; shining cuirasses and polished helmets; plumes and tassels, furs, and gold and silver spangled cloths; bullion embroideries and accoutrements; splendid trappings and more splendid trappings for men, sashes and stars, crosses and medals—medals for the Crimea, Indian, Seringapatam, the Nile, Ashanti, Afghanistan, Chitral, South Africa, China and dozens of others, and here and there the finest of them all, the finest and most highly prized the world can show, the Victoria Cross; death dealing weapons, swords and revolvers; carbines and cuirasses, batteries of artillery; men of splendid physique and horses with rare action fully entered in the spirit and meaning of it all, the proudly carried colors for which these men would die, and over all the rich strains of that music they best loved to hear—the sight was one to stir the blood as only soldiers have stirred it since the dawn of time.

These were in the procession:

Capt. O. Ames, 2nd Life Guards; 4 troopers, 2nd Life Guards; naval gun detachment; a staff officer; advanced guard 2nd Life Guards; Mounted Band, Royal Artillery; D Battery, Royal Horse Artillery; bands: 1st Life Guards, 1st Dragoon Guards, 2nd Dragoon Guards.

Squadrons 1st Life Guards, 1st Dragoon Guards, 2nd Dragoon Guards, E Battery Royal Horse Artillery.

Bands 3rd Dragoon Guards, 6th Dragoon Guards, 7th Dragoon Guards.

Squadrons 3rd Dragoon Guards, 6th Dragoon Guards, 7th Dragoon Guards, G Battery Royal Horse Artillery.

Bands 1st Dragoons, 2nd Dragoons, 6th Dragoons.

Squadrons 1st Dragoons, 2nd Dragoons, 6th Dragoons.

I Battery Royal Horse Artillery: bands 3rd Hussars, 8th Hussars.

Squadrons 3rd Hussars, 8th Hussars: O Battery, Royal Horse Artillery.

Bands 10th Hussars, 15th Hussars.

Squadrons 10th Hussars, 15th Hussars.

P Battery, Royal Horse Artillery.

Bands 12th Lancers, 17th Lancers; I Battery, Royal Horse Artillery.

As the soldiers wound out of sight to wait for the Queen's procession on Constitution Hill it seemed like nothing so much as one stream of burnished gold flowing between dark banks of human beings gathered to witness its passage to a land of light.

THE ROYAL PROCESSION.

After the Empire Had Passed in Review Then Came Its Ruler.

The Empire had passed in review, the army and navy had been shown in its panoplied strength, the head of it all was now to come—Her Majesty. The royal procession proper was formed, as regards its military portion, in front of the Knightsbridge barracks, Hyde Park and marched round by Belgrave square to the palace, where it took up position at ten minutes to eleven and was interwoven with the crowd of waiting dignitaries of all sorts. When ready it moved to join the rear of the military procession.

First came the aides-de-camp to the Queen, these being, apart from the Prince of Wales and the Dukes of Cambridge and Connaught, the Earl of Weymss, London Scottish; the Earl of Derby, 3rd Royal Lancaster; the Earl of Home, Lanark Yeomanry; the Earl of Mount Edgcumbe, 2nd Volunteer Battalion, Devonshire; the Earl of Cork, North Somerset Yeomanry; Earl Percy, 3rd Northumberland Fusiliers; the Earl of Haddington, Lothians and Berwick Yeomanry; the Earl of March, 3rd Royal Sussex; Lord C. J. Hamilton, Fifth Royal Inniskillen Fusiliers; Lord Suffield, Norfolk Artillery; Lord Belper, Notts Yeomanry; Lord Blythswood, 3rd Battalion, Highland L.I.; Sir R. Ogilvy Fortar and Kincardine Artillery, Sir Casimir S. Gzowski, Canadian forces; W. Bell, Royal Guernsey Militia; Sir J. Godfrey, Royal Jersey Militia; H. H. Parr, M. S. Bell, V.C., R. MacG. Stewart, W. J. Thomas, 3rd South Wales Borderers; J. P. Bralsazon, J. R. Lade, R.A., A. S. Hammond, V.C., R. Gough, J. H. Barnard, J. H. Rivett-Carnac, J. C. Cavendish, 2nd Volunteer Battalion, Derbyshire; E. J. H. Hutton, A. Gaselle, W. Campbell, Royal Marine Artillery; M. Protheroe, B. S. D. Cooke, 2nd Volunteer Battalion, Royal Welsh Fusiliers; S. L. C. Money, Cameron Highlanders; F. Howard, Rifle Brigade; A. B. Crombie, Royal Marines; J. S. Kelly, J. Davis, 3rd Royal West Surrey; J. Stevenson, 9th Lanark Rifles; F. J. Kempster, Royal Munster Fusiliers; C. C. Egerton and R. A. P. Clements, South Wales Borderers.

Then followed alone the Lord Lieutenant of London, His Grace the Duke of Westminster, K.G., in a Lord Lieutenant's dress. The Duke was followed by a glittering cavalcade of officers, the headquarters' staff: Sir Redvers Buller, Volunteer Battalion; General Sir Evelyn Wood, Volunteer Battalion; Lieut.-General R. R. Grant, Lieut.-General Markham, Major-General Coleridge Grove, Major-General Sir J. C. Ardagh, Major-General Clery, Major-General Sir F. Grenfell, Major-General Lloyd, Major-General Salmond, Major-General Luck, Major-General Sir C. Wilson, Major-General Gore, and Surgeon-Major-General Jameson. To them succeeded Field Marshals Sir J. Lintorn Simmons, Sir Frederick Paul Haines, Sir D

M. Faure and the right hon. Sir Frederick Stanley.

Next came three officers of the auxiliary forces in attendance on H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, 100 equerries, the naval and military attaches in alphabetical order, beginning with Austria and ending with the United States, followed by Gen. Nelson A. Miles, representing the United States Army and Gen. Lagron, representing President Faure.

Then came the special envoys in landaus. In the first carriage were the representatives of Costa Rica, Chili and Greece: in the second, Paraguay, Peru, Servia and Central America; in the third, Mexico, Uruguay, Guatemala and Brazil; in the fourth, China, Belgium, Holland and the Papal envoy; in the fifth, the envoys of the United States, France and Spain.

The crowd now began to show more eager interest in the approaching vehicles, they were nearer and nearer to the Queen. Five road landaus, painted like those which had just vanished, only horsed by four horses, four with bays and the fifth with the Dutch blacks of the Royal Mews, appeared first. The occupants of these landaus were:

First carriage—Lady in Waiting to Princess of Wales, Chamberlain to Empress Frederick, Lord in Waiting to the Queen, Chamberlain to Princess of Wales.

Second carriage—The Lady of the Bedchamber, the Mistress of the Robes to Empress Frederick, Lord Steward and Lord Chamberlain.

Third carriage—Princess Alice of Albany, Princess Alice of Battenberg, Princess Ena of Battenberg, and the Mistress of the Robes.

Fourth carriage—Princess Victoria Patricia Connaught, Prince Arthur Connaught, Princess Victoria Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Feo of Saxe-Meiningen, and Prince Alexander Battenberg.

Fifth carriage—Princess Beatrice of Coburg, Princess Margaret of Connaught, Princess Louis of Battenberg, Princess Aribert, and Duke of Albany.

Sixth carriage—The Princess of Saxe-Meiningen, Princess Frederic Charles of Hesse, Princess Adolph of Schaumberg-Lippe, and Hereditary Princess of Hohenlohe-Langenburg.

Seventh carriage—Princess Charles of Denmark, Princess Frederick of Hanover, the Duchess of Teck and Princess of Bulgaria.

Eighth carriage—Princess Victoria of Wales, the Duchess of York, Princess Henry of Prussia, and Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz.

Ninth carriage—The Duchess of Fife, Grand Duchess Serge, Grand Duchess of Hesse, Grand Duchess Mecklenburg-Strelitz.

Tenth carriage—Princess Henry of Battenberg, the Duchess of Coburg, Duchess of Connaught, Duchess of Albany.

Eleventh carriage—Princess Frederick, Crown Prince of Naples, Princess Louise, Duke of Coburg.

The colonial escort came next, drawn from all the colonies; the Canadian contingent representing almost all of the Provinces.

Then the first part of the Sovereign's escort rode into view, the Second Life Guards. As their well-known brilliant uniform appeared the whisper ran electrically: "She's coming."

The Guards were soon succeeded by the escort of British and foreign princes, including Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Charles of Denmark, Prince Frederic Charles of Hesse, Prince Schaumberg-Lippe, Prince Aribert of Anhalt, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Prince Victor of Schleswig-Holstein, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the Duke of York, the Duke of Fife, the Duke of Teck, Prince Waldemar of Denmark, Prince Louis of Battenberg, the Prince of Leiningen, Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, Prince Adolphus of Teck, Arch-Duke Francis Ferdinand, Prince Rupert of Bavaria, Prince Charles De Ligne of Belgium, the Prince of Bulgaria, Prince Mohammed Ali Khan of Egypt, Prince Albert of Prussia, Grand Duke of Hesse, Prince of Hohenlohe-Langenburg; Prince of Naples, Prince Arcugawn of Japan, Grand Duke of Luxemburg, Prince Danille of Montenegro, Prince Amir Khan, the Duke of Oporto, the Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, Grand Duke Cyril of Russia, Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg, Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar, Prince Frederick of Saxony, Prince Mabit of Siam, Prince Eugene of Sweden-Norway, and Duke Albert of Wurtemburg. Many faces were known, recognised and cheered. This brilliant escort was composed of the flower of Europe's thrones.

Following the Princes came the Guard of Honor, 22 officers of native Indian cavalry corps—men of fine physique, picturesque uniforms and strange faiths. But for these the crowd had few eyes; for the commander-in-chief, who followed behind them none. They could see the Queen's horses—

It was the Queen at last!

A cheer broke forth that seemed to shake the ground, renewed again and again as Her Majesty's carriage approached. The famous eight Hanoverian creams, cream in color with long tails, white, cold, almost fish-like eyes and pink noses, their manes richly woven with ribbons of royal blue, were now passing. Gorgeous they looked in their new state harness, saddle cloths of royal blue velvet, with rich fringes of bullion, the leather work red morocco above and blue morocco beneath, glittering everywhere with the Royal arms, the lion, the unicorn, the crown, in gold, literally, the harness of pomp and color and brightness, just such an effect as the heroic knights of Elizabeth's time made in their panoply. The liveries of the postillions were in keeping with the harness and had cost $900 a piece, the scarlet and gold coats, white trousers and riding boots. For once since the Prince Consort's death, the Queen permitted the mourning band to be removed from the men's arms, there was no need for sorrow.

The carriage in which Her Majesty rode now came abreast. It proved to be what is known at the Royal Mews as "No. 1 plain posting landau," a carriage with a light running body built about a quarter of a century ago, and of which Her Majesty is known to be very fond. The body was dark claret, lined with vermillion, the mouldings outlined with beads of brass. Brass beads decorated the rumble, the body loops and lamp irons were gilt. The wheels and underworks were vermillion, with heavy lines of gold. Beside Her Majesty sat the Princess of Wales, while the Princess Christian sat opposite Her Majesty.

On the left of Her Majesty rode H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge; on the right H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, who was followed by the Duke of Connaught, the general officer commanding.

The procession closed thus: Captain of Escort, Standard Field Officer of Escort, Chief of the Staff, Master of the Buckhounds, Gold Stick of Scotland, Gold Stick in Waiting, Master of the Horse, Crown Equerry and two Equerries, Field Officer in Brigade, Waiting Equerry to H.R.H. the Duke of Cambridge, Equerry to the Prince of Wales, Silver Stick in Waiting, six Royal Grooms, rear part of the sovereign's escort, Second Life Guards, Royal Irish Constabulary, Squadron Royal Horse Guards.

REMARKABLE CASE WHICH HAS LATELY COME TO LIGHT.

Our reporter visited Mr. Alfred Crowhurst, and from him received the following statement. Said Mr. Crowhurst, "I have suffered greatly for sometime with pains across my body and in my side. The pain was often so great that I could not sleep. I took many kinds of medicine but they did me no good.

Finally I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at T. Geo. Watson's Drug Store, and have now used two boxes with the result that I am perfectly cured. My wife has also taken them with beneficial results, and as a kidney medicine I heartily recommend them, for I know of no other remedy which could exercise so beneficial an influence in so short a time.

I esteem these pills a blessing to humanity, and trust that all who suffer as I did will give them a faithful trial."

The specific and direct action of Doan's Kidney Pills on the kidneys always restores them to healthy natural action, thus curing all diseases arising from disorder of the kidneys, bladder or urinary organs.

Backache, weak back, diabetes, Bright's disease, gravel, etc, all yield readily to Doan's Pills. Full directions with each box. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. 64

A Suggestion

A man entered an "ice cream parlor" and slowly and thoughtfully ate his portion of vanilla. While he was paying the cashier, he said quietly:

"I notice you advertise that you make your own ice cream?"

"Yes."

"Let me give you a pointer which will help your trade amazingly."

"Well," asked the man, curiously.

The reply was bland and apparently courteous: "Get some other fellow to make it."—Harper's Magazine.

Heart Disease Kills.

Relief in 30 Minutes.

The most pronounced symptoms of heart disease are palpitation, or fluttering of the heart, shortness of breath, weak or irregular pulse, smothering spells, swelling of feet or ankles, nightmare, spells of hunger or exhaustion. The brain may be congested, causing headaches, dizziness or vertigo. In short, whenever the heart flutters, or tires out easily, aches or palpitates, it is diseased and treatment is imperative. Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure has saved thousands of lives. It absolutely never fails to give perfect relief in 30 minutes, and to cure radically. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

the portico of St Paul's presented to the Queen a picture similar to that of a crowded stage wonderful in its brilliant costuming. Immediately in front of the royal carriage were the church dignitaries, the archbishops robed in purple and gold, and holding their gilded croziers, and the lesser ecclesiastics in white with violet barettas. Then there were the cathedral dignitaries in white and gold capes and scarlet skull caps, doctors of divinity in crimson cassocks, and back of them two massed military bands. Beyond the bands were the bareheaded ranks of the surpliced choir, stretching to the cathedral door—a mold of dazzling white. On the right of the archbishops were two rows of seated judges robed in black, scarlet and purple, and wearing their strange white wigs.

In the section to the right of the choir was the diplomatic corps with their ladies. The Ambassadors occupied the two front rows, and back of them were the ministers and others, in the order of their rank. Many of the ladies wore summer toilettes of white, but they were overshadowed, in spite of their attractiveness by the sheen of the silver helmets, the gold-laced coats of red, blue, green and all shades, the jeweled orders glittering on so many breasts and the gaudy silk of the Chinese contingent.

In the section on the left of the choir was an equally distinguished group of people. In the front row and nearest to the Queen were the Marquis of Salisbury, the Premier, and Minister of Foreign Affairs, wearing the ribbon of the Order of the Garter; the First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. A. J. Balfour; the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, and their colleagues. Behind them was a mixed group of foreign potentates and a notable delegation of Indian princes in shining cloth of gold encrusted with jewels. In front of the platform were a cordon of Gentlemen of the Guard—twenty of the tallest noblemen of the royal household, uniformed in scarlet and blue, and flanked by the picturesque Beefeaters, or old-fashioned guardians of the Tower, dressed in the costumes of the time of Henry VIII.

The archbishops swept down the steps upon the appearance of the royal procession, and remained standing throughout the ceremony. Whenever the band played the National Anthem all those present at or about the cathedral uncovered their heads.

After remaining for a time in prayer the Queen surveyed the platform through a lorgnette. During the ceremony she held her sunshade over her head.

The "Amens" in the service were accompanied by the blast of horns and the roll of drums, and when they were ended the Archbishop of Canterbury called for "Three cheers for Queen Victoria," and all present rose and gave nine cheers for Her Majesty, wildly waving their hats and handkerchiefs, to which the Queen bowed repeatedly. As the procession was being re-formed the Queen called the Archbishops of Canterbury and York and the Bishop of London to her carriage and thanked them. Her Majesty also talked animatedly with the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught.

NOTES OF THE PARADE.

The Lady Mayoress Shook the Queen's Hand, But it Was All Right.

London, June 22.—It was 9.50 when the head of the procession passed Buckingham Palace. It was led by Capt. Ames, of the Second Life Guards, one of the tallest men in the British Army, who, by the special wish of the Prince of Wales, rode in front of the procession. He was followed by four of the tallest troopers in that regiment of very tall men. The Naval brigade following, in straw hats, and carrying drawn cutlasses, also met with a rousing reception.

An interesting feature of the procession was furnished by the little Princes and Princesses, who filled the first carriage. The girls, dressed in white, bowed right and left with the solemb of their riders, and the boys, in Highland costume, scouted in the most approved style.

As the Queen drove under the archway, punctual to a second, the first cannon shot of the royal salute was fired and announced to the waiting millions that Her Majesty was on her way through London. The Queen met with a most enthusiastic reception, and so soon as she emerged from the Palace gates she began bowing right and left to the cheering of her people.

When Her Majesty reached the Mansion House, on her way to St. Paul's Cathedral, her reception was a magnificent one. The Lady Mayoress was attended by her daughters, Mrs. Henriques, formerly Miss Nellie Phillips and Miss Stella Phillips; Mrs. Sheriff Rogers, Miss Ritchie, the daughter of Sheriff Ritchie, and Lady Pirvright. They occupied a crimson platform, with the aldermen to the right and left of them. The Lady Mayoress presented to Her Majesty a gorgeous bouquet of orchids, in a silver filagree basket, the handles being surmounted by a lovers' knot, on which was engraved:

"To Her Majesty Queen Victoria; presented by Helen Faudel-Phillips, Lady Mayoress."

In presenting the flowers, the Lady Mayoress, who was in mourning, and attired in black with powdered hair, said:

"Might I be permitted to present this basket of flowers to Your Majesty?"

The Queen twice replied: "I am deeply grateful."

Her Majesty smiled, and was evidently greatly pleased and looked fresh and bright. She took the flowers, passed them to the Princess of Wales and put out her hand to the Lady Mayoress to kiss. The latter, undoubtedly agitated by the splendor of the occasion, shook Her Majesty's hand instead of kissing it.

In the meanwhile, a distant band struck up the National Anthem, and the crowd joined in singing "God Save the Queen," which was sung by tens of thousands of voices surrounding Her Majesty until she was out of sight. Before leaving, the Prince of Wales turned his horse and waved his hand to the Lord Mayor's party.

SIR WILFRID WAS TICKLED

With the Ovation He Received From the Immense Crowds.

London, June 22.—By 8 o'clock this morning all of the stands surrounding Buckingham Palace were filled, and when the colonial procession came in sight, with Lord Roberts of Kandahar, the commander of the forces in Ireland, at their head, riding a superb Arabian horse, they met with a tremendous reception. The Canadian Premier, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in a cocked hat and uniform, and having his wife beside him, was very well received. They both bowed constantly to the cheers with which they were greeted wherever recognized.

The Canadian Premier, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, met with an especially warm reception at the colonial stands opposite the Horse Guards. He afterwards said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I was greatly impressed by the splendor of the day's ceremony and by the enthusiastic ovations received from the immense crowds."

No Fat-Ilities.

London, June 22.—Careful enquiries made at all the London hospitals shortly after midnight elicited the information that there were no fatalities during the day, and far fewer accidents of any kind than on any previous occasion of this character in London.

Earl Howe, the Gold Stick, while riding behind the Queen in the procession, was thrown from his horse and received a nasty cut in the head. He was taken home in an ambulance, and late to-night was reported as progressing favorably. Lord Howe is in his 76th year.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Ten thousand persons saw Toronto and Rochester draw a game each on the Island diamond yesterday afternoon. Owing to Kid Gannon's wonderful pitching the Torontos were kept down to three runs, none of them earned, in the first game, while Shannon's men rang in one earned run off Williams and 6 others.

McFarland was a target in the second game, partly owing to the ground rules, and Toronto batted runs around in cricket style, scoring 29, the record for the year, while Rochester got the comparative small number of a dozen off Staley.

EAGER MULTITUDES

Attend the Monster $40 000 Stock of Fine Clothing, at

Gough Bros.

We were tremendously busy on Saturday. It was Inauguration Day of our Monster Stock of Fine Clothing purchased at the Unreserved Underwriter's Auction Sale in Montreal. Streams of delighted buyers thronged our stores all day and up to 11 o'clock at night. We could hardly get the crowd out to close the store. Early Buyers took away self-satisfying parcels and late buyers were loath to leave. It was the beginning of the greatest boon to Clothing Buyers that ever struck town, and the enthusiasm and selling was all that we could have desired.

We have to congratulate the people of Peterborough for their prompt response to this opportune sale, and to thank them for their large amount of patronage and Cash.

JUBILEE DAYS FOR CLOTHING BUYERS.

We invite the people to participate in our practical contribution to the Jubilee rejoicings of the season. We specially invite Sceptics and Stylish Dressers, who have not proven it already, to come and be convinced that our advertising statements are perfectly true and honest. We could sell these goods at a big advance without any trouble, but we prefer—for the great advertisement it will be to our store—to let them go absolutely at a price that will save every purchaser A CLEAN 100 PER CENT.

THOUSANDS OF FINE SUITS

For Men, Young Men, Youths and Boys, costing buyers about ONE-THIRD their actual value, or less than than the suits can be made for without counting the cost of material. We mean every word of it. Draw your money out of the bank and invest in this unprecedented Clothing Sale. It will pay you 100 per cent. If you don't want it for two years it will pay you to buy now.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH, ONE PRICE AND MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.—No other terms can buy these goods at the emaciated prices we are slaughtering them.

Don't let go that Mighty Dollar until you have seen what we are doing for you.

DIAMOND JUBILEE IN PETERBOROUGH.

A Highly Successful Celebration of the Occasion.

A MAGNIFICIENTLY DECORATED TOWN.

The Splendid processional Pagaent in the Morning.

Opening of the Victoria Museum—The Afternoon Programme at the Driving Park—Great and Enthusiastic Crowds—The Celebration Worthy of the Town.

VERMEAD yesterday hung the brightest blue unclouded sky of June, in which the sun, tempered by a delightful breeze, shone down warmly upon the greater half of this continent arrayed in festal attire and attitude for the celebration of Her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee. It was veritably "Queen's weather," and if it had been made to order could not have been improved. Jubilee day was ushered in by the joyus ringing of the town tocsin, and at an early hour the town was astir, and from all the avenues from the outside, by highway and railway, the crowds came pouring in and at an early hour, the streets were alive with spectators in festival array. Decorations and the meteor flags blazed in every quarter of the town, from spire and turret and humble home. Hardly a house, no matter how lowly, but hung out its flash of colour in recognition of the day, and a grand feature of the occasion was the spontaneous unanimity with which citizens of every degree anticipated the set and formal celebration. It seemed to be universally felt that the occasion, as well as the royal object, was grandly worthy of the homage of every Canadian heart.

The Decorations.

While the decorations were profuse in all the residental portions of the town, the business portion was conspicuously brilliant. Standing on the corner of George and Hunter streets, the view from every quarter revealed a brilliant blaze of patriotic colour flashing from the walls and stretching across the streets, and from Brock street down George the view was bewilderingly beautiful, a waving forest of flags and bunting. The demands of space requires that individual displays secure only a mere mention; and this mention covers only the business portion, but this mere mention shows how extensive are the commercial interests of the town.

THE GRAND PROCESSION.

At nine o'clock it had been arranged that the parade should be made at the Central Park, but owing to delays that are always inseparable from such occasions, it was long after that time before the procession was organised and started on its route. In the meantime all the avenues to the park and the streets in its vicinity were lined with thousands of spectators. While the wait was taking place, the "alleged" balloon ascension took place. Owing to some accident, "Professor" Robinson's balloon did not fill successfully. He ascended only a hundred or two feet in the air, performing some movements on his trapeze, and, being shortly drifted out of sight eastward, and coming in contact with a chimney he came to the ground. The balloon ascension was the only failure of the day.

Very shortly after this aeronautic fiasco the monster procession began to pour from the park Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Chief Marshal, mounted.

Foremost in the procession was the Sons of England band, which had the chief musical part of the day's programme.

To these succeeded a splendid turnout of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and the Canton, conspicuous in their gorgeous uniforms and skilful evolutions en route.

These were followed by representatives of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows.

Then came the members of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Society to the number of about seventy, a fine turn-out.

Then came the several Forester bodies, the most numerous in the procession.

The particular order that drew first place in the ranks was the Canadian Order, and a fine display they made. The chief officers wore the conspicuous and of the Order, and a feature of the procession was the deer, that is one of the chief symbols of the Order, and a beaver. The Courts represented among the Canadian Foresters was Peterborough, Langton, Little John and Forest Queen. The number of Canadian Foresters in march was about 200.

Next came the splendid representation of an allied body in beneficiary objects, the Catholic Order of Foresters, to the number of about 100, and a splendid showing they made.

The Ancient Foresters were also splendidly represented.

Then came the fine turn out of the Sons of England, Mr. Fred Mitchell, mounted, being the marshal. There were over a hundred of the sons of Albion in the march, and they were, in the matter of appearance and bearing, worthy representatives of the "Tight Little Isle."

Preceded by the Lakefield Band, came the representatives of that splendidly patriotic organization, the Boys' Brigades, St. Luke's, St. John's George street Methodist, St. Paul's and St. Paul's and St. Andrew's churches being well represented.

The next in rank, preceded by the Smith band, was the Orange Order, marshaled by Mr. Jos. Jones, mounted. First came the youthful members of the Order, followed by the True Blues, and next the adult stalwarts of the Order. The members of this order did not turn out as individual lodges, but appeared as general members of the society. There were numerous lodges represented, not only the town, but many lodges in distant parts of the county and some even from the adjacent county of Durham were present. The Royal Black Knights of Ireland were also represented.

Then came perhaps the most interesting contingent of the procession, the Veterans of 1866, whose appearance was the signal for hearty applause. Indeed applause was not lacking along the route, the spectators heartily expressing their sympathy with an admiration of the special body that met their favour.

The august members of the town council came next in order. They were not how ever headed by the mayor. His heart was all right, for he is an Englishman who remembers when the Queen was crowned, but a touch of sciatica necessitated his joining in the procession, seated in a carriage.

Suggestive of the possibility of the warmth of popular enthusiasm developing a conflagration, a conspicuous and one of the most brilliant and picturesque features of the procession, was the

TURN OUT OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

First came the hose wagon, then the steamer and last the hook and ladder wagon.

[Here the EXAMINER takes the liberty of stopping the procession to call attention to the splendid decorations that distinguished these several vehicles. They were most elaborately, tastefully, appropriately and patriotically decorated; national flags and national emblems were very profusely and tastefully dispersed. Flags flying, bunting interwoven and flowers and evergreens arranged in artistic forms made these vehicles resplendent. The hook and ladder wagon, from its length lent itself especially to decorative display. A screen in the middle contained a fine portrait of Her Majesty with elaborately beautiful environments and the whole turn out of the fire department was splendidly effective. The steamer "doesn't cut very much ice" of late at fires, the latter being fortunately infrequent, but in a Jubilee procession it knows its place, and fills it with credit. During the evening hundreds visited the fire hall to view and admire at leisure the beautifully decorated wagons.]

The next feature in the procession was something undreamed of, at beginning or for the matter of that, in the middle of Her Majesty's reign, the procession of the bicyclists. First came the ladies' clubs—the Queens and the Indepe dents—or for the matter of that all the clubs, ladies and gentlemen, might be called independent, as they were free lances on the occasion

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Light Reading

For Hammock Days costs next to nothing at the Peterborough Bookstore. Authors and Printers were paid well for their work but somebody lost money on some of the books, and we're willing to let our customers have the benefit.

In other words, you pay us less than actual value—a possibility which seems reasonable enough under the circumstances.

Sporting Goods

Are among the special attractions for June. You may be at home, or under canvas, or summering at the lake—in any case the Peterborough Bookstore can supply what you want in out-door and in-door Games, Hammocks, Fans, &c., &c.

WEDDED AMID FLOWERS.

Nuptials of Miss Alice Battisby and Mr. Robert A. Gledhill, of Toronto Yesterday.

One of the prettiest weddings of the year took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Wm. Battisby, No. 324 Water street, when his fourth daughter, Miss Alice Maude, was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. A. Gledhill, of Toronto.

The double parlours were beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens for the occasion, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance under a canopy of daisies and evergreens suspended from the ceiling.

The bride looked most charming in cream duchesse silk, with garniture of pearls and chiffon. She carried a very handsome bouquet of white Bride roses and wore the conventional veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Battisby, who was most attractively gowned in a becoming costume of pale blue, trimmed with chiffon and pearls. She also carried roses.

The dainty little maid of honour was the niece of the bride, Miss Edna Carl, of Toronto, who looked sweetly pretty in a gown of buttercup silk. She wore a large picture hat of white leghorn trimmed with buttercups and chiffon, and carried a big bunch of buttercups in her hand.

The groom was assisted by Dr. Edwards, of Toronto.

The bride was given away by her father Mr. Wm. Battisby and at the conclusion of the ceremony Miss Laura Gledhill, of Toronto, played Mendelssohn's wedding march on the piano.

Amongst the gifts presented was a gold watch and grandmother's chain from the groom to the bride; opal ring from the groom to the bridesmaid; pearl pin to the maid of honour from the groom; ruby ring from the groom to the groomsman. To the bride: from the bridesmaid, Dalton ware jardinere and silk table cover; from the groomsman, dozen gold coffee spoons; from the groom's parents, walnut sideboard and onyx top table; from the bride's parents, complete set of linen.

A large number of beautiful gifts were received from friends at a distance in Rochester, Toronto, Lindsay, etc. Amongst those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Leiter, of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. C. S. Calander, of Rockport, N. Y.; Misses McJimsie, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. B. Laidlaw, of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Shaw, Toronto; Mrs. M. A. Carl and family, Miss Emma Hutchings, Toronto; Miss Carrie Gledhill, Miss Laura Gledhill, Miss Eliza Mason, Miss E. Shuttleworth, Miss Olive Webb, of Toronto; Miss Bessie Goodwin, Lindsay.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding dejeuner was partaken of, after which Mr. and Mrs. Gledhill left for a bridal tour in the west.

PERSONAL.

Miss L. Quirk is spending Jubilee week with friends in Galt.

Mr. David Hummel, lager brewer for H. Calcutt, is on a business trip west.

Rev. W. R. Young leaves town by the noon train on Friday—not Thursday.

Miss L. Bailey of Kingston is the guest of Miss Edith Mason, town.

Mr. A. J. Gough, of the firm of Gough Bros., went to Toronto this morning on a business trip.

Miss Dot Hacket has returned to town for the summer holidays from Ville Marie convent, Montreal.

Mr. F. W. Gladman, of Kerr, Gladman & Kerr, and Mr. R. R. Hall, of Stratton & Hall, are attending Division Court in Norwood.

Miss Kate Carveth of Millbrook is spending a few days in town as the guest of Miss Macfarlane, Homewood avenue.

Mr. Victor McWilliams, son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, is home from Toronto University for his holidays.

Mrs. Charles Robinson laves to-day for a two months' visit to Ireland. She spends a few days in Toronto and sails on the Nebraska from New York on July 1st.

Mr. P. J. Kelly, son of Mr. Thos. Kelly, has returned home from St. Michael's College, Toronto, where in the fifth year examinations he captured the Bishop O'Connor gold medal, a great achievement for a seventeen year old lad. From the same college have returned Mr. Thomas Mahoney, jr., who gained the grading of "excellent" in English Literature, and Mr. T. J. Crowley. Perry street, who gained the prize for elocution. Dr. Torpey of Douro, is also home from St. Michael's.

Wherever the sun shines Dr. Chase's remedies are known, and no music so sweet to many a poor soul as the song of rejoicing over restoration to health in the use of them. Ask your dealer about them.

Thousands are suffering excruciating misery from that plague of the night, Itching Piles, and say nothing about it through sense of delicacy. All such will find an instant relief in the use of Chase's Ointment. It never fails.

THE ACCIDENT AT THE DRIVING PARK.

A PORTION OF THE GRAND STAND GOES DOWN.

No Fatalities but a Number of Spectators are Seriously Injured—A List of Those who were hurt.

Yesterday's festivities were marred by the occurrence of an accident at the Driving Park, which, whilst no one was killed or fatally injured through it, was yet of so serious a nature as to cast a gloom over all those who witnessed it, and to cause great anxiety amongst the citizens who were in attendance at the games, but had friends present.

The grand stand gave way in the centre and several hundred spectators came down with the crash just as the horse races were about to begin.

When the ominous crackling rumble which preluded the crash was heard strong men turned pale and women shrieked and then the whole central portion of the stand just east of the covered part slowly gave way, precipitating those seated upon it to the ground, one on top of the other. The scene which followed will never be forgotten, as the hundreds of spectators seated on the other portions of the stand made an effort to save themselves from being thrown amongst those who were struggling amongst the broken timbers beneath. Women, by the score, threw themselves from the front of the stand to the race track, but only the first portion of the stand which went down was affected.

The open front of the stand near the ground was torn down in places and willing hands went to the rescue. The surprise was great, when with about a dozen exceptions, those who went down with the stand escaped comparatively unhurt.

Councillor J. H. Cobb was the first picked up. He complained of being badly bruised about the shoulders and had a number of contused wounds on the head and face from which the blood ran freely. He was placed in a hack and sent up town with Miss Ettie Montgomery of London street, who was unfortunate enough to break her ankle. Mr. A. C. Kirkpatrick, of the C.P.R. freight office, had his shoulder dislocated and and received a bad laceration on the face, from which he lost a quantity of blood.

Mr. Joseph Tully, son of Mr. Wm. Tully, of Fowler's Corners, suffered a fracture of the left arm just near the wrist, and was also injured in the left side, having his face also cut and bruised.

Mr. Frank Bradburn, son of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, had his arm broken near the wrist and a number of minor injuries.

Mr. W. Brien—side severely injured. No bones broken.

Mr. John Billington's nose was broken.

Miss Rutherford, daughter of Mr. Geo. Rutherford, of Emily, had her right side badly bruised, but no bones were broken.

Miss Adamadel Watson, daughter of Mr. H. W. Watson, severely injured her knee receiving a bad bruise and narrowly escape having it broken. Her cheek was also bruised.

Amongst others who received cuts, bruises and other numerous injuries were Mr. Richard Croft, Mr. R. H. Fortye, Mr. R. B. McKee, Mr. Harry Phelan and Mr. Fred Ferguson. A large number of these feel very sore to-day.

The fall of the stand was occasioned through the fact that the old timbers beneath had became rotten. Warning was given of its dangerous condition but was unheard or unheeded.

ST. LUKE'S ASHBURNHAM.

Jubilee Sunday was fittingly observed by the congregation of St. Luke's. At a quarter to eleven in the morning a large congregation gathered round the new flagstaff, when the Rector commenced the ceremony of hoisting the flag with appropreate prayers, followed by a brief address in which he pointed out the large place which Emblems and Symbols occupied in our lives. The choir then led in the singing of the National Anthem, and the Sexton Mr. Ball, raised the flag which streamed out joyfully in the brisk breeze. The congregation then entered the church, and the Jubilee Service appointed for the day was said. The special hymns were printed, and the singing throughout the day was very hearty. The anthem was, "Rejoice in the Lord," and the special Jubilee Hymns:

"From every clime, from every shore
Where England's sons are found,
Glad praises unto God outpour,
And loud thanksgivings sound.

The Rector preached on the Church of England during the last sixty years, describing the Evangelical, High Church, and Broad Church movements, each of which had contributed something to the progress of the Church. Party spirit had raged fiercely part of these sixty years, but we are now beginning to see diversity can exist without division. At the end of the reign the outlook was bright.

In the afternoon the children of the Sunday School were marshalled by the Superintendent, Lt. Col. Rogers, and marched to Victoria Park, to take part in the children's service there held.

The evening service was even more hearty than the morning. Mr. Davies' Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis was well rendered, and the anthem of the morning was repeated.

The Rector was assisted by Mr. Brown of Toronto, who read the lessons and prayers. Mr. Brown also sang in good voice: "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," The Jubilee Hymns were:

"Let all the land with one accord,
In humble adoration,
Unite to bless and praise the Lord,
For mercies to this nation."

and

"O King of Kings, who givest power to all,
Eternal, while their Empires rise and fall;
O God, most merciful to Thee we raise,
As from one voice, a nation's hymn of praise."

In his sermon the Rector refered to the great power of ideas to sway the lives of men. Our age had been one of great philanthropic zeal. Never had there been such a large outpouring of sympathy for suffering in every form. But these visible manifestations of charity — hospitals, asylums, orphanages, had their hidden roots in the ideas which first entered the minds of men and then stimulated their wills to action. He proceeded to speak of three great workers of our age, Carlyle, the prophet of Duty, and Tennyson and Browning, the poets of faith and of Divine Love. These men were the preachers of a living faith in God, and of love to all mankind, their faith was simple but profound, and the influence it had exerted in the lives of men was very great.

The service concluded with the National Anthem.

Runaway.

On Wednesday evening last the horse belonging to Mr. R. B. Rogers of the T. V. C. ran away at Lakefield. It appears he had left it standing on the wharf, when the little steam yacht, Lenora, came along puffing and scared the horse when it started off. The top of the buggy caught on the end of a storehouse, tearing it completely off. The horse was stopped without any further damage being done.—News

Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. A post card will bring you full particulars. — G. WALTER GREEN, P. O. box 361; Telephone, 92.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

THE BASEBALL RECORD

Syracuse, June 20.—The Torontos made it four straights to-day by a splendid batting rally in the ninth, when Baker came in to bat for Dineen. HAVE YOU CATARRH?

But One Sure Remedy—Obtain It for 25 Cents, Blower Included, and be Cured.

Catarrh is a disagreeable and offensive disease. It usually results from a cold and often ends in consumption and death. The one effective remedy so far discovered for it is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Physicians failed to cure Geo. Belfrey, toll-gate keeper, Holland Landing road. Chase's Catarrh Cure did it.

One box cured William Kneeshaw and two boxes James T. Stoddard, both of West Gwillimbury.

Division Court Clerk Joel Rogers, Robert J. Hoover and Geo. Taylor, all of Beeton, voluntarily certify to the efficacy of Chase's Catarrh Cure.

J. W. Jennison, of Gilford, spent nearly $300 on doctors, but found no permanent relief until he tried a 25-cent box of Chase's.

Miss Dwyer, of Alliston, got rid of a cold in the head in 12 hours.

Henry R. Nicholls, 176 Rectory street, London, tried a box with excellent effect.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is for sale by any dealer, or by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Price 25 cents including blower.

Coughs, colds and bronchial troubles speedily cured by the latest discovery, Chase's Linseed and Turpentine. Pleasant and easy to take. 25 cents.

SATURDAY IN THE HOUSE.

I. C. R. Extension Bill and the Bill for an Export Duty Read the Third Time and Passed on to the Senate.

Ottawa, June 20.—(Special.)—The whole of the morning session yesterday was taken up with discussion of the extension of the I. C. R. to Montreal. The question was thoroughly discussed and after the motion for six months hoist from Mr. Foster had been defeated, the bill was read the third time and sent up to the Senate.

Sir R. Cartwright moved the third reading of the bill.

Mr. Haggart then rose and criticized the arrangement with the Drummond Counties Railway and the G. T. R. at considerable length.

Mr. McMullen defended the arrangement made by the Government. He thought Mr. Haggart's proposition to secure the mortgage and foreclose it was unworthy of the dignity of Parliament.

Mr. Lavergne strongly supported the bill.

Dr. Sproule in half an hour's criticism of the measure showed an intimate knowledge of the details. He justified the right of the Opposition to criticize this bill even at this late period of the session.

Mr. Gibson and Mr. Powell spoke, and after a passage between Mr. Blair and Mr. Foster the bill was read a third time and sent to the Senate.

On resuming after lunch the tariff bill was put through its final stages.

The Excise Duties bill was considered in committee.

Sir Henri Joly said the practice of permitting the brewing of home-made ale was to be continued, but he moved the insertion of a clause providing for better supervision by the excise.

The bill was passed.

Mr. Fielding then moved the House in committee to consider the resolutions empowering the Government by Order-in-Council to impose export duties on saw logs, pulp wood and metal ores.

After some discussion the resolutions passed without amendment and were reported.

Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the Petroleum Inspection Act was considered in committee.

Mr. Lister moved an amendment that oil tank vessels entering ports should be subject to the regulations imposed by the harbor commissioners.

Mr. Foster said if Mr. Lister would go further and propose to keep the oil tank vessels out altogether he would support him.

Mr. Lister replied that he doubted the expediency of allowing the oil tank vessels to come in, but as this was the Government's policy it was well to take all the necessary precautions to protect the different ports.

The amendment was rejected and the bill passed.

Several Government bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. Mulock moved to the committee stage the bill to amend the N. A. Act.

Mr. Foster urged that a contentious measure of this kind should go over until next session.

Mr. Mulock declined to withdraw the bill.

Sir A. P. Caron strongly opposed the clause to empower the Postmaster-General to award mail contracts on his own responsibility if he adjudged that tenders sent in were too high.

Dr. Sproule, Mr. Clancy, Mr. Quinn, Mr. Mills and Col. Tisdale spoke to the like effect, strongly opposing the measure. The committee rose without passing the bill.

The House adjourned at 3 p.m.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature, they give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Cassidy's Cabot Group.

John Cassidy's beautiful group in marble of John Cabot and his son, now causing much favorable criticism in the London New Gallery, is exhibited in most timely fashion, because of the quadricentennial celebrations in honor of Cabot in preparation at Bristol, in Newfoundland and in Canada. Mr. Cassidy's group is noble, animated, full of courage and purpose and compares well with the best of English sculpture. Mr. Cassidy is Irish. He was born within sight of the famous Tara's Hall, and his family had been farmers for many generations. When Mr. Cassidy was 17 he went to Manchester and entered the art school there. He studied from the antique and progressed most rapidly. He won four national medals, an Owen Jones medal, the Plasterers' Company's prize twice in succession, and several Queen's and other prizes. His figure, "The Digger," was purchased by the corporation of Manchester for its collection. His bust of the late Sir Charles Halle, now in the Academy, is the best sculptured portrait of the veteran musician. Mr. Cassidy is now at work upon a full-length statue of the Queen. The figure alone is to be eight feet high, and Mr. Cassidy is chiselling it out of Portland stone. The monument is to be erected in and by the city of Belfast. Mr. Cassidy is only 30 years old.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

OFFICE—375 Water Street, Peterborough.

Men and women dig and delve their lives away in order to pile up gold with never a thought of the most precious endowment a human being may have, good health. What does it profit a man to heap up riches if in doing so he ruins his health and his capacity for the enjoyment of wealth. There is no such thing as happiness without health. All the gold in the world will not make a man happy, who feels in his veins and sees in the reflection of his own face, the slow but sure advance of man's deadliest enemy, consumption.

If a man will but take the right care of himself and the right remedy he may protect himself against this relentless enemy. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is not only a sure preventive, but an absolute cure for consumption. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases. It acts, through the blood, directly on the lungs. It drives out all disease germs and impurities. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. All wasting diseases yield promptly to its action. Thousands have testified to its merits. Druggists sell it.

"I want to express my heartfelt thanks for Dr. Pierce's valuable medicine," writes Mrs. Rufus Bell, of Wise, Monongalia Co., W. Va. "My eldest daughter, a girl of 15, caught cold and we had the best doctors but could get no lasting relief. Oh, how she suffered! Often I have heard her pray for death to end her sufferings. I bought one bottle of each of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery,' Favorite Prescription,' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before our daughter used half the medicine her cough was all gone, and she was on the high road to health—which means to happiness."

Rosy cheeks. The rich, pure, red blood of health makes them. Keep the blood pure and you will have them. Constipation causes impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it promptly and permanently and never gripe. They are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. No other pill acts so naturally and perfectly. Druggists sell them.

A GAME OF TAG.

I was looking from the window,
At the garden yesterday,
Where, beneath the bare old oak tree,
A heap of brown leaves lay,
When, suddenly, the north wind
Came frolicking that way
And up the brown leaves started
And "Tag" began to play.

Like airy sprites, all over
The garden they did flit,
And never seemed to falter
In their mad race a whit,
And, though I saw that many
Were by the others hit,
So fast they went that no time
Could I tell which was "it."

Uncle Peter's Recipes.

1—To keep your feet dry on rainy days. Stand on your head.

2—The best way to mind a baby. Do everything he tells you to.

3—The safest way to gather chestnuts. Take a pair of scissors and cut them out of the comic papers.

4—How to get soda water or candy for nothing. Persuade somebody else to buy it for you.

5—How to make a dollar go a long ways. Put it in an envelope addressed to somebody in the Sandwich Islands, and mail it.

6—How to go West at no expense whatever. Turn yor back on the East and walk straight ahead.

7—To avoid stammering, whispering, and impudence. Don't talk.

8—To avoid swallowing watermellon seeds and cherry stones. Eat no fruit but bananas or apples.

9—To learn to dance in one lesson. Walk on the hot sand at the seashore at midday in midsummer barefooted.

10—The surest method of remembering dates. Fix them firmly in your mind and don't forget them.

All children following these rules, which are the result of many years of experience on Uncle Peter's part, will find that they can accomplish the special objects for which the rules are made without any added effort.—Harper's Bazar.

One and Two Nothings.

Some years ago, at a certain railway station in Fife could have been heard regularly every Saturday morning, "The Fife Free Press!" uttered in the broad, Fife shire dialect by a wag paper vender called Davie.

Two golfers, waiting their connection for a branch line, taking Davie for a soft mark, resolved to have some fun at his expense, and went up to him with the remark:

"What's the news this morning?"

"Oh, result of schoolboard election, and explosion in a coal mine; 100 miners entombed!"

"Are you sure there are a hundred?" replied one of the golfers.

"Quite sure," replied Davie in his best English.

"I'll bet you five shillings," said the other golfer, "that you could not write down 100."

"It's done," said Davie, shaking him by the hand, and answering a minute later, "Awm the oue, and ye're the two nothings.

Needless to say, the golfers paid up, and, leaving Davie the richer man, reached their train as the starting whistle blew.—Answers.

Wise Men Know

It is folly to build upon a poor foundation, either in architecture or in health. A foundation of sand is insecure, and to deaden symptoms by narcotics or nerve compounds is equally dangerous and deceptive. The true way to build up health is to make your blood pure, rich and nourishing by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

"How to Cure all Skin Diseases."

Simply apply "Swayne's Ointment." No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for Swayne's Ointment. Lyman Sons & Co., Montreal wholesale agents.

GREAT STEEL TOWER.

CAPITALISTS PROPOSE TO ERECT ONE ON MOUNT ROYAL.

It Is to Surpass Anything of the Kind in the World in Many Respects—Dimensions of This Canadian View-Point of a Continent.

Canadian and American capitalists are joining hands and funds in an endeavor to erect on Mount Royal, Montreal, a steel tower, which will in many respects surpass anything of the kind on the continent, or even in the world. An application has already been made to the Montreal City Council by Mr. Francois Lapointe, architect of Chicago, as follows:

"Canadian and American capitalists are willing to aid in organizing a company with a capital of $400,000, the amount necessary to construct in Mount Royal Park a steel tower six hundred feet in height and two hundred and fifty-eight feet at its base. For this enterprise ground 350 feet by 350 feet is necessary. The tower will be built according to my plans, which accompany this request, and which it is hoped will meet the approval of the City Inspector. I pray the council to grant me the necessary location, embodying the following attractions: For electric displays, an observatory, mercantile booths, fire-works, operating air-ships, restaurants, theatres, and all things pertaining to and connected with the operation of such a tower; all according to the restrictions and general rules of the city of Montreal. To do this the said ground must be granted for a period of 30 years from the completion of the tower, without any indemnity from the company to the city of Montreal. The city will receive large returns from the noted attraction. After the expiration of 30 years the tower will be the property of the city of Montreal. Work on the tower will begin within six months following the granting of the franchise."

The tower, with the height of the mountain added, 1000 feet above the river almost at its base, will bring the total height above the city up to about 1600 feet. If carried into effect, therefore, the Canadian flag will float higher above Montreal than any flag floats above any other city on the globe. At the top of the tower there will be an observatory 25 feet in diameter, and on the first floor, to be reached by 20 elevators, will be the theatres, with a seating capacity of six thousand. On the second floor there will be booths and a museum. There will be a total accommodation on the several floors and landings for twenty thousand persons.

The total cost of the proposed structure is placed by the promoters at $400,000. Mr. Lapointe, the architect of the design, is a native Montrealer, who has lived for some years in Chicago.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

About Losing Time.

Scribbler—When is that review of my novel coming out, Scather?"

Scather—Well, to tell the truth, I have not read it yet.

Scribbler—Yet, when I brought the book to you, you assured me that you would lose no time in reading it.

Scather—Well, I have lost no time in reading it.—Tit-Bits.

Mr. Asbury Peppers.

"Do you play chess, Mr. Peppers?" asked the spectacled boarder.

"Sometimes," replied Asbury Peppers, "but never on Friday."

"Religious scruples?"

"No, not exactly, but I have always heard that it was unlucky to move on that day."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

A DIFFERENCE.

I guess my pa was awful bad afore he grew so tall,
A regler holy terror with lots an' lots er gall,
For he tells me the funniest stories of how he an' Uncle Ben Stole apples an' went in swimmin' an' played hookey, too. But when
He caught me stealin' apples an' playin' hookey, too,
He didn't seem to see things as he used to do.

There are some things about father that I cannot understand.
You should hear him telling of the time he thought he owned the land
And went a-courtin' mother. But the other evening when Poor Tom forgot 'twas time to go and stayed till half-past ten,
Pa cannot have remembered when he was twenty-two,
For he didn't seem to see things as he used to do.

I'll bet the governor must have been a pretty sly old bird,
Or he tells the biggest whoppers that I have ever heard,
Of what the fellows used to do when he was young and gay—
He says it was before the time he settled down to stay—
But when I told him how we boys had worked a thing or two,
He didn't seem to see things as he used to do.

Building an Arch in Turkey.

As Bassora, where they have no timber but the wood of the date tree, which is like a cabbage stalk, they make arches without any frame. The mason with a nail and a bit of string, describes a semicircle on the ground, lays his bricks fastened together with a gypsum cement on the lines thus traced, and, having thus formed his arch except the crown brick, it is carefully raised and in two parts placed upon the walls. They proceed thus till the whole arch is finished. This part is only half a brick thick, but it serves them to turn a stronger arch over it.

His Storm Door.

Hewitt—I don't see why you call this front door a "storm door"; it isn't a storm door.

PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

DIAMOND JUBILEE IN PETERBOROUGH.

and rode rings round the procession. The pace was too slow for the cyclists to move with the procession, and they therefore wheeled at will about it, surrounding it several times before the limit of the march was reached. The male wheelmen were represented by the Victoria club, organized in the jubilee year and named in honour of Her Majesty. Their wheels were beautifully decorated with the club colors—royal purple, white and gold—and the members were made conspicuous by carrying as they wheeled, huge Japanese umbrellas. The wheels of the ladies were especially handsome with their chromatic as well as floral decorations, and the beauty and grace of the fair riders was an additional adornment that should be specially mentioned. The Peterborough Bicycle Club was represented individually in the procession in a creditable manner and the cyclists, both male and female formed, in the turn out, what was altogether a very imposing display.

A unique feature of the bicycle parade was the presence of an antique wheel, representing the 1837 end of the reign. It was gayly decorated with patriotic colors, and the rider Mr. W. Davis, of the Canadian General Electric Works, seated aloft like the cherub of the ballad, was a conspicuous figure. The tiniest wheel in the procession was that ridden by little Allen Campbell, son of Mr. Peter Campbell, who was gorgeously attired. The plucky little fellow stuck to the procession throughout the route and returned to the Central park where the cyclists brought up and concluded the parade by singing God save the Queen.

The route of the procession was, down George street to Hunter, to Aylmer, to Charlotte, to George, to Hunter, to Water and terminated at Nicholls' park (at Inverlea house.)

The length of the procession, as it was very compact, was as nearly as might be, exactly one mile. When the head of the procession after passing over the route indicated as far as the intersection of George and Hunter streets, had reached that point the rear guard of the line of march had not yet cleared the park.

But as imposing and elaborate as was the procession it was not by any means the whole of the popular demonstration of an interested concern in the celebration of the occasion.

THE WHOLE TWO MILES

or thereabouts of route was lined with spectators on both sides of the streets, and throughout the whole line of march there were demonstrative evidences of the hearty manner in which the citizens caused their homes to contribute their strain, greater or lesser, to the general note of Jubilee rejoicing.

When the procession arrived at the Nicholls Park, the Sons of England band and the Veterans drew up in front of the building to be dedicated to the purposes of the Victoria Museum. Behind them were ranged the Canton Militant of the Oddfellow Order, the other bodies grouping themselves around, and upon the verandah which served the purposes of a platform, were the officials and citizens to participate in the ceremony. Col. H. C. Rogers, president, occupied the chair, and there were present besides, Mr. Hay, secretary, Mrs. Catharine Parr Traill, honorary president, and Mrs. A. Dunlop, Messrs. Wm. Clurton, Richard Hall, C. McGill, Wm. Anderson, Warden, Mayor Yelland, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., John Burnham, Q.C., Peter Hamilton, secretary of the Board of Education, T. Cahill, J. H. Burnham, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. H. Symonds and others.

The opening proceedings were very simple. God Save the Queen was heartily sung, followed by three lusty cheers for her Majesty.

Col. H. C. Rogers, the president of the Historical Society, then spoke as follows:

I suppose that since those citizens of the County and Town of Peterborough, who have formed themselves into an Historical Society, and have undertaken the establishment of a museum (an institution so important in the life and history of a community like this) and have in a measure begun this movement, it is incumbent on them to have an opening ceremony to which the various representatives of the county and town here assembled are invited. The plan which we have suggested and which has been adopted, is that the Nicholls park trustees will hand over on this occasion to the Historical Society, the right of occupancy of this building (Inverlea House), which will be managed by a committee of three members of the County Council, the mayor of the Town Council, three members from the Historical Society and the Nicholls Park trustees. This will secure a permanent foundation for the future. In pursuance of this plan of procedure, I therefore call upon the Nicholls Park trustees to open the ceremony of the dedication of the building as the "Victoria Museum" in commemoration of our beloved Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

Mr. Richard Hall, one of the Nicholls' Park trustees, then said:

As one of the Nicholls Park trustees, I can say that it affords me much pleasure to assist in setting apart this building for the establishment of a Museum, to be known, in commemoration of Her Majesty and in recognition of her Diamond Jubilee, as the "Victoria Museum." Mr. McGill and myself lease it at a nominal rental to the Historical Society of the town and county of Peterborough, which will appoint a board of directors from the town and county councils and the society to take over the building and conduct it as a museum. It has always seemed to me to be a desirable place for the historical and scientific relics and specimens pertaining to this county, and I am glad that the Society has taken the matter in hand. The lease calls for throwing open the Museum for five hours a day during six months in the year to the general public and I hope that it will be found worthy of patronage by all those who are in any way interested in the collection.

Mr. C. McGill, the other trustee, added that he endorsed all that Mr. Hall had said. He had always felt that this building should be devoted to some such purpose as that for which it had now been handed over. It would be valuable as a repository of geological and mineral specimens, which would exemplify the mineral wealth of this county and district, as well as a place for placing curiosities and objects of interests in relation to the history of the town and county. He had much pleasure in joining Mr. Hall in formally devoting the building to such purposes.

Mayor Yelland was glad that such an important ceremony as devoting this building to the purposes of a museum should be performed in honour of Her Majesty's Jubilee. He was sure the museum would meet with popular favour. After referring to the benefits to be derived from the establishment of such an institution, the Mayor concluded his remarks by saying so far as he represented the people, it gave him great pleasure to accept the generous gift made by the trustees of the Nicholls Park.

Mr. John Burnham, as a member of the county council and of the board of management of the Museum, expressed the pleasure it gave him to acknowledge the gift of the building and referred to the useful character of the museum in relation to the preservation of local historical data and he was sure the public would liberally and willingly contribute specimens to the museum and increase the interest of the collection.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P. joined in the congratulations the important occasion called for, and the thanks that were due to the Nicholl's Park trustees. He referred to the help the museum would afford of judging of the advancement and conditions of the past. There could be no more fitting occasion for the opening of such a museum than the Jubilee of Her Majesty's and no more fitting contribution to celebrate it could be suggested. Under the Queen's reign the Empire had flourished but no part of it more than Canada. After generally indicating the great advances the Empire had made in all departments during the past sixty years, Mr. Stratton closed by again offering the congratulations that the occasion called forth.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey, in a few graceful words said that among the buildings and institutions established on this Jubilee day none were more important in relation to the great achievement of our forefathers in the past than this museum, whose opening was a fitting feature of an auspicuous day.

Rev. H. Symonds said the citizens of the town and county were to be congratulated upon the splendid exhibition of loyalty shown by the demonstration of the day. He repeated the thanks that had been tendered to the Nicholl's Park trustees. Their gift was a form of celebration worthy of the occasion. He referred to the presence of the Boys' Brigades—as the future patriotic citizens of the country. He gracefully referred to who had contributed more than any other person to the preservation of the history of this county and country.

Mrs. Traill in a few words which unfortunately could not be heard to any great distance, gave her hearty thanks to the cordiality of her reception. She was glad to be present at so great a celebration. Referring to the many young present she hoped they all would grow up loyal and take a creditable place in the history of the country.

At the conclusion of her remarks three hearty cheers were given Mrs. Traill.

This concluded the ceremony of the formal opening of the Victoria museum.

Mr. T. Cahill and Mr. Clurton were asked to make a few remarks, but owing to the pressure of time they did not respond. Mr. Cahill's unspoken speech was worthy special attention for he suggested to a gentleman at the park that on such a special occasion it would be a graceful, lasting and tangible memorial of the Diamond Jubilee and the opening of the museum if each of the several societies represented in the great procession presented the distinctive badge worn on the occasion to be deposited in the museum.

At this point Mr. Stratton read the following telegram of greeting from the Queen to her Canadian subjects who were celebrating her Diamond Jubilee:

The Queen's Message to Her People.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
Ottawa, June 21, 1897.

To His Honour the Lieut.-Governor, Toronto:

Rideau Hall, Ottawa, 6.30 a. m.—Best greetings. I have just received the following:—

"Buckingham Palace, London, 22nd.

"The Governor-General of Canada, Ottawa:

"11.07 a.m.—From my heart I thank my beloved people. May God bless them.

[Signed.] VICTORIA.
R. and I.

The following is a copy of the reply now sent to the Queen:

To the Queen, London:

OTTAWA, Tuesday, 6.12 a.m.,
(11.22 a.m. Greenwich time.)

The Queen's most gracious and touching message this moment received. Shall be immediately made known to your Majesty's people throughout the Dominion, and their afresh hearts already full on this memorable day. We offer the glad tribute of loyal devotion and affectionate homage. God Save and bless the Queen.

ABERDEEN,
Governor-General.

The reading of this telegram was the signal for enthusiastic applause and the great company present, headed by the band of the Sons of England, heartily sang "God Save the Queen."

The procession then reformed, marched northward and passed through the grounds of the Nicholls' hospital and then came down town where the several societies returned to their rooms. The Nicholls' hospital authorities wish to gratefully thank the committee that arranged the procession so that the patients could take their share in the Jubilee. The Sons of England band and the Canton escorted the Catholic societies to their quarters, the Canton forming the sword arcade for the others to march under. The societies after reaching their rooms gave three hearty cheers for the Queen and disbanded for the day.

All the societies as they assembled at their rooms before separating gave three rousing cheers for the Queen.

AT THE DRIVING PARK

Between three and four thousand spectators assembled in the Driving Park in the afternoon to witness the sports.

The Lacrosse Match.

Probably the most interesting feature of the afternoon's programme was the lacrosse game between the Peterboroughs and their ancient rivals, the Ontarios of Port Hope.

When the game started at half past three, the crowd flocked from the grand stand to the side of the lacrosse ground. That the Peterboroughs possess the strongest team they have had for years was shown by the manner in which they outplayed the Ontarios. It is, however, only fair to the latter to point out they have lost the service of some of their heavy defence men, noticeably the White brothers (Indians), but still they played better than they did last year. Peterborough surpassed them in the combination work of the home players, which was very yesterday, the accuracy of the passing and catching being at times extremely brilliant. Peterborough's defence field was also very strong. As will be noticed Borland is playing in much closer than formerly, taking Brown's place at cover, the latter being moved to point. The change was made on account of Lynch having gone to play with Berlin this year, and the experiment was found to be a complete success yesterday, Borland and Brown both playing their positions splendidly when they were called upon. Not a shot of the Ontarios came close enough to the goal for Dobbin to have to make a stop although he got in some of his fine work behind the flags. "Shocky" Mein and Glover very effectually spoiled the combination work of the visitors by their close checking, the latter being especially quick at stopping a passed ball and appropriating it himself. Lionel King has not had enough practice this year yet to be in shape, having just returned from college, but he filled his position so well yesterday as to lead to the belief that he will before the season is much further advanced. Andy Thomson, one of the fast young juniors, played centre in a manner which gave great satisfaction. His work was neat and clean and he used his head to good advantage in placing the ball on the pass. His running abilities are such as to make it almost useless for a man to go after him if he has any kind of a start.

Jimmy McCabe played a hard, close game, and did some neat work in the combination. Rubidge is doing even better work than last year, which is saying a great deal, and Geordie Lipsett is as quick and trickey as ever. Jack McCabe is fast developing into the surest shot on the team and the small space in which he can handle his stick when trying to shoot is a wonder. Phelan did some beautiful work yesterday and seems to handle a stick even prettier than before. His play is always worth watching.

For the Ontario's it may be said that whilst they have a number of individual players who are very fast, yet they are deficient in team play and will have to do more combination work if they ever expect to retrieve the laurels which the Peterboroughs by administering a defeat by six straight goals yesterday.

Hayden and Tuer both do fine work on the defence, but Peterborough's combination was too much for them yesterday.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Ontarios.		Peterboroughs.
J Crowhurst	goal	F Dobbin
Raymond	point	D Brown
Hayden	cover point	W Borland
T Tuer	1st defence	J Mein
Henderson	2nd "	R M Glover
Marvin	3rd "	L King
Stott	centre	A Thompson
Burt	1st home	Jas McCabe
Friar	2nd "	P Rubidge
Tutton	3rd "	G Lipsett
L Crowhurst	outside home	W Phelan
Outram	inside home	Jack McCabe
F Pakenham	field captain	J McDonough

Referee—H LeBrun.

Play began at half-past three and the ball was carried in on the Port Hope flags at once, Thompson making a close shot.

Peterborough showed some grand combination work but appeared defective in shooting. The Ontario flags had several close calls before they were relieved and the visitors made an effort to score having a good opening, which however they were unable to take advantage of. It was the only good chance they were given during the game. The ball was taken at centre by Thompson who took it down the field and who passed to Jim. McCabe, who passed back to Lipsett again, who then tipped it over to Phelan and the trick was done by the latter, scoring first blood for Peterborough. Time 15 minutes.

In just six minutes more Jim. McCabe scored the next for Peterborough by one of his red hot shots.

In another six minutes Lipsett came through the Ontario defence like a little cyclone and passed to Jack McCabe, who easily turned the rubber through off his stick.

It just took one minute for Thompson to come through with the ball from the face off and tip it to Phelan who scored again.

Four straights.

In the next minute Jack McCabe tallied again, the ball being brought in to him by Rubidge.

Five straights.

Play was resumed without changing ends and Jim McCabe scored from a scrimmage in front of the goal.

Six straights.

Time was called before any further scoring was done.

Peterborough is billed to play the return match in Port Hope on July 12th.

What the lacrosse team need is a good man for the position of field captain, who knows the game thoroughly and will act in every game. The position of field captain is now acknowledged to be one of the most important on the field. He is the man that should have all the "say" and a great deal depends on his coolness of head.

Six straights. Will our friends the Ontarios ever recover? "And the blow almost killed father."

The Bicycle Races.

The bicycle races were a popular number on the programme. The boys' race was the first called, receiving as entries Hubert McBain, F. Davidson and Lou Best, of town, and M. Strickland, of Lakefield.

McBain and Davidson had a close finish, but the latter chose his time to sprint well and could not be caught. The result was as follows: 1 F. Davidson, 2 H. McBain, 3 L. Best. Time, 3.03 1-5.

The novice race brought out C. Bickell, of Lakefield, Geo. Riley, F. McPherson, Rupert Bradburn and Will Borland. The race was between Borland and McPherson and the sprint up the stretch was so close as to bring the grand stand spectators to their feet. McPherson won by about 2 inches. The result was as follows: 1 F. McPherson, 2 W. Borland, 3 R. Bradburn. Time 2.58.

There were five entries in the mile open. H. E. Huntchins, of Havelock, G. Parnham, R. Bradburn, M. Walker and A. F. Little. Walker won quite handily, with Little a length behind. Result: 1 M. Walker, 2 A. F. Little, 3 H. C. Hutchins. Time, 2.45 4-5.

The Horse Races.

The horse races were run off in a most satisfactory manner, the following officers being credited with the utmost impartiality: Starter, A. C. Garden, Barrie. Judges, Messrs. R. A. Morrow, Peterborough; E. B. Andros and Major Howden, Port Hope. Timer, Mr. Alex. Gibson, Peterborough. The 2.50 trot was the first number on the programme. Four heats were necessary to decide it, resulting as follows:—1st "Nettie S," C. Hill, Port Hope; 2nd "Sandy B" Ed Brown, Peterborough; 3rd "Frank Hamilton" Orillia; 4th "Manager" W. H. Simpson, Lindsay. The heats resulted as follows:

Manager—W. H. Simpson	2	5	3	3
Wm. Henry—W. Rudkins	5	6	7	dr
Lady Rysdyk—L. Bennett	5	4	5	5
Mattie H—W. Sherin	6	7	6	dr
Frank Hamilton—J. Johnston	4	2	2	3
Nettie S—C. Hill	7	1	1	1
Sandy B—Ed. Brown	1	3	4	4

Time: 2.31¼, 2.31¼, 2.31¼, 2.31¼.

The running race brought out the following horses:—

Meadowbrook, John Yeoman, Colborne; Pyramis, R. J. Hewitt, Brighton; Phlox, F. F. Meehan, Cobourg; Batsman, W. A. Weese, Lindsay; Nettie Wood, F.E. Jones, Peterborough; Jessie B., R. Croft, Cobourg.

The result was as follows:—

Pyramis	1	1
Jessie B	4	2
Meadowbrook	2	4
Nettie Wood	3	3
Batsman	5	5
Phlox	6	6

The 2.29 trot was most exciting, six heats being required to decide the winner. The following horses were entered: Wheel of Fortune, W. J. Bradd, Colborne; Demand, W. L Lawson, Brighton; Lady Alexandrina, D. Kerr, Campbellford; Fleet Wings, Dr. Johnston, Peterborough; Spunk, J. Johnston, Orillia; Red Hot, Chas. Beatty, Port Hope.

The heats were trotted out as follows:

1 Fleet Wings	1	1	6	5	5	1
2 Wheel of Fortune	5	5	2	1	1	2
3 Red Hot	3	2	1	2	2	3
4 Spunk	2	3	3	4	3	4
5 Lady Alexandria	4	4	4	3	4	dr
6 Demand	6	6	dr	dr	dr	dr

Time—2.27½, 2.30½, 2.30½, 2.30½, 2.26½, 2.30½.

Wheel of Fortune was protested on the ground of having a lower record than .29.

The last heat was trotted of this morning at 10 o'clock.

THE TOWN AT NIGHT.

The condition of the town and in fact the whole town was like a scene from fairy land. The beautiful illuminations made the streets as bright as day, and the gay, merry and well behave throngs in holiday attire, made a beautiful picture of moving life. Carriages and cycles thronged the highway and the sidewalks were moving masses of people. A delightful feature of the crowds was the excellent behaviour. There was little abject drunkenness, but many were merry within bounds. A record of the illuminations in the business section of the town may properly begin with the splendid illumination of the Sons of England Hall, Hunter street. The whole facade was a mass of brilliancy, festoons of coloured incandescents extended across the upper part of the front. The festoons looped with electric light roses, and the transparencies that filled the windows backed by electric light, showing with beautiful distinctness their splendid symbolism. The decorations as well as illuminations were exceedingly effective and a great credit to the committee and the society.

Starting from this point the line of illumination included the Bank of Commerce building and the Ontario and Montreal Banks. The town buildings on both streets were very finely illuminated.

The illumination of the Hall & Sons' premises was extremely beautiful and elaborate, the whole front was gay with lines of fancy lanterns, following the line of the string courses separating the stories, and within and without light was blazing with great brilliancy. The splendid illuminations showed the equally splendid decorations

WITH FINE EFFECT.

China Hall had a very brilliant interior illumination, and Ormond & Walsh's drug store was ablaze. Going south on George street the illuminations included Matthews & Co., LeBrun & Felcher, with splendid transparency, H. P. Kennedy, H. Best and the C. P. R. up-town offices. The Custom House and Carlon & Co. contributed illuminations, and northward one saw the City Hotel, the Grand Central, Mercer's, J. T. Stenson, John Watt, W. A. Sanderson, R. H. Kells. (transparency). Gough Bros.' immense store front was brilliant with vari-coloured lights, and lights even climbed the flag staff that flings their trade banner to the breeze. Conspicuous were the transparencies of the Queen and Prince and Princess of Wales. The great front of H. LeBrun & Co. and of Robert Fair were a blaze of light. Joseph Mills displayed transparencies showing portraits of the Queen, Prince and Princess of Wales. The other illuminations were R. Hall & Son, the Bank of Toronto, Sam Ray, Jos. Mitchell, Review Office, Misses Cahill, Bruce Rickey, H. Long, Oke & Co., A. P. Melrose, O. B. Shortly, Commercial Hotel, J. D. Craig, D. Kerneghan, besides nearly all the shops were lighted to the full within.

The illumination of Court House Park was particularly effective. Coloured ark lights blazed like meteors among the trees and the illumination in the front gable of the Court House was indescribably beautiful. Cordons of coloured incandescents outlined the gables and pediment, and threw a beautiful arch of light around the wide head of the central circular window. The effect was very fine and it is a pity that Councillor Cobb, who had charge of the municipal illuminations, was incapacitated by accident from viewing the results of his labours.

The streets were gay with crowds till long after midnight. The order throughout the day was excellent and the Diamond Jubilee Celebration was an unqualified and magnificent success.

The Prize Winners.

The committee appointed to award prizes for the best decorated and illuminated places of business and private residences, have given the 1st prize for private residences to Mr. W. H. Law, corner Aylmer and Dalhousie street, and the 2nd prize to Mr. F. J. Rogers, George street. The illumination of Mr. A. L. Davis' house and grounds was excellent, but was unaccompanied by decoration. The following residences also deserve special mention: Mayor Yelland, Rev. V. Clementi, Messrs. LeBrun, R. Hall, J. B. McWilliams, T. G. Hazlitt, T. Pratt, T. Hay, F. Mitchell, J. I. Davidson, R. Nell, J. D. Collins, J. Lang, Water street, Councillor Meldrum, Wm. Davidson.

For places of business the 1st prize was awarded to Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, and the second to Messrs Gough Bros. Messrs. LeBrun, the S.O.E. Hall and the Palace Restaurant were worthy of special mention, and of public buildings the Court House presented a very fine appearance, and the market building made a good display of Chinese lanterns.

Notes.

The big bonfire on Armour's hill, Ashburnham, attracted a good deal of attention. Unfortunately it was kindled a little too early. It was the contribution of the village council towards the illumination. The village hall and a large number of the residences were most beautifully decorated.

At high noon a salute of 21 guns were fired from the Court House hill.

The prettiest souvenirs obtainable in town were those presented to their friends by Messrs. LeBrun & Felcher of the Palace Restaurant.

The Nicholl's Hospital was illuminated on a grand scale. The entire front was a blaze of coloured lights and one of the trees was completely covered with lighted Chinese lanterns.

Leave your decorations up for the First of July. Several thousand Toronto citizens will be in town on that day.

Mr. James English was up on the fire tower and descried two distant beacon fires—one in the south-west and one in the north-west last night.

Nearly all the members of Court Forest Queen, Canadian Order of Foresters, were in the procession, mounted on decorated wheels.

Mr. J. M. Donovan, grocer, corner of Park and Charlotte streets, though out of the business centre, had one of the neatest and most effective window displays of the day,

Rev. E. Cragg, town, walked in the procession at the coronation of Her Majesty, sixty years ago. He was eight years old, and is probably the only person in Peterborough who had the honour of helping at the Queen's coronation.

Pure Juice of Fruit

Most of the summer beverages are mere stuff and are neither thirst-quenching nor refreshing—while many of them are quite injurious. On the island of Monserrat the Lime is cultivated and the pure fruit juice pressed out, bottled and sold all over the world under the trade mark name

Monsterrat

It is pure, wholesome and refreshing. Beware of imitations. "Montserrat" is sold by all druggists and grocers, and is always to be had where summer drinks are sold.

If a Lime Juice Cordial is required "Limetta" will be found the finest article of its kind on the market.

THE STATE OFFICIALS RECEIVED

Scene at St. Paul's Cathedral on Tuesday Vividly Described by a Clever Writer—Comments of the London Newspapers—Neat Tribute Cabled to The New York Sun.

London, June 23.—Mr. G. W. Stevens, who was present at the services at St. Paul's Cathedral, writes in The Daily Mail of that most interesting ceremony. Describing the Queen's approach, he says:

"Riding three-and-three, came a kaleidoscope of dazzling horsemen, equerries, aides-de-camp, attaches, ambassadors and princes, all the pomp of all the nations of the earth—scarlet and gold, azure and gold, purple and gold, emerald and gold, white and gold—always a changing tumult of colors that seemed to live and gleam with a light of their own. It was enough. No eye could bear more gorgeousness. No more gorgeousness could there be, unless princes are to clothe themselves in rainbows and the very sun.

"The prelude was played, and now the great moment was at hand. Already carriages were rolling up, full of the Queen's kindred, full of her children and children's children, but we hardly looked at them. Down there, through an avenue of eager faces, through a storm of white, waving handkerchiefs, through roaring volleys of cheers, there was approaching a carriage drawn by eight cream colored horses. The roar surged up the street, keeping pace with the eight horses. The carriage passed the barrier; it entered the churchyard; it wheeled left and then right; it drove up to the very steps of the cathedral.

"We all leaped up. Cheers broke into screams, and the enthusiasm swelled to delirium. The sun, watery until now, shone out suddenly, clear and dry, and there was a little plain, flushed old lady, all in black, with a silver streak under her black bonnet, and with a simple white sunshade, sitting quite still, with the corners of her mouth drawn tight, as if she was trying not to cry. But that old lady was the Queen, and you knew it. You did not want to look at the glittering uniforms now, nor yet at the bright gowns and young faces in the carriages, nor yet at the stately princes, though by now all these were ranged in a half-circle round her.

"You could not look at anybody but the Queen, so very quiet, so very grave, so very punctual, and so unmistakably every inch a lady and a Queen.

"It was almost pathetic, if you will, that small, black figure, in the middle of these shining cavaliers, this great army, this roaring multitude, but it was also very glorious.

"When other kings of the world drive abroad an escort rides close at the wheels of their carriages. The Queen drove through her people, quite plain and open, with just one soldier at the curbstone between her and them. Why not? They are quite free. They have no cause to fear her. They have much cause to love her. Was it not all for her—gala trappings of the streets, men, horses, guns and the living walls of British men and women? For the Queen summed up all that had gone before—all the soldiers and sailors, the big-limbed colonists, and the strange men from unheard-of islands over the sea.

"We know now what that which had come before all stood for. We knew as we had never known before what the Queen stands for. The Empire had come together to revere and bless the mother of the Empire; the mother of the Empire had come to do homage to the one Being more majestic than she.

"There were the archbishops, bishops and deans, in gold and crimson cape, and white, orange and gold-embroidered vestments, waiting on the steps. There through gaps in the pillars and scaffoldings, you could see all her Ministers and great men, a strange glimpse of miniature faces, as in some carefully labored picture, where each face stands for an honored name.

"All stood and the choir sang the Te Deum. Next rose up a melodious voice, intoning prayers. The Queen bowed her head and then the whole choir and the company outside the cathedral and the whole company in the stands, at the windows, on the housetops, and away down the street, all standing, all uncovered, began to sing the One Hundredth Psalm: 'Come ye before Him and rejoice.' The Queen's lips were tight, and her eyes, perhaps it was fancy, looked dim; but then 'Three cheers for the Queen!' and the dean, pious man, was wildly waving that wonderful crimson cap, and the pillars and roofs were ringing as if they must come down. Then 'God Save the Queen,' a lusty peal, till you felt drowned in sound.

"The Queen looked up and smiled, and the Queen's smile was the end of it all, a smile that broke down the sad mouth, a smile that seemed half reluctant, so wistful, yet so kind, so sincere, so motherly."

RECEPTION OF OFFICIALS.

The Most Fatiguing Day of the Week for Her Majesty.

London, 3 p.m., Wednesday, June 23.—This day was one of the most fatiguing of the week for the Queen, the official program demanding the reception of several distinguished bodies of official personages. The chief event of the day and one of the most interesting of the entire week was the presentation to the Queen of congratulatory addresses by both Houses of Parliament, which occurred at Buckingham Palace this morning.

Nearly half a century has passed since the House of Commons visited the sovereign in a body, the last occasion being the presentation of an address acknowledging the reception of the Queen's message announcing the declaration of war against Russia, and not since the early forties, when addresses were made congratulating the Queen on the failure of attempts at assassination, has she received the two Houses together.

There were brief formalities at Westminster to-day, the two Houses meeting and a formal announcement being made by Lord Halsbury of the House of Lords and Mr. Balfour in the House of Commons, that the Queen would be pleased to receive the two Houses. They proceeded in stately procession to the palace. There they assembled in the hall room, and after a brief delay the doors were thrown open and the announcement made that Her Majesty was prepared to give them audience. Thereupon the Lord Chancellor and the Speaker of the House of Commons advanced side by side to the throne, each followed by the members of his own House. Lord Chancellor Halsbury knelt at the foot of the throne, read the address there on his knees, and handed it to the Queen.

After the preliminary ceremony the Queen received, in the same manner, the Mayors and provosts of provinces and chairmen of county councils, who afterwards were entertained at a luncheon in the palace. They were attired in levee dress, consisting of black knickerbockers and stockings, black velvet coat with steel buttons, black plumed hats and swords.

The Queen left the Palace soon after 4.30 p.m. to-day, returning to Paddington railroad station by the same route as followed on her arrival and in semi state. Her Majesty was greeted with the same enthusiasm. There was a pretty sight on Constitution Hill, near the palace, where, on the grand stands used to view the procession yesterday, there were 10,000 children from the Board schools, British Church of England schools, Wesleyan schools, Catholic schools and Jewish schools. These were inspected by Her Majesty.

Each child wore a special medal and a red badge, and the teachers wore blue badges and white dresses.

All the children were dressed in their "Sunday best," and presented a very pretty picture. On the arrival of the Queen the children all joined in singing the National Anthem, led by a band, with a heartiness and freshness never surpassed up to the present.

The Marquis of Londonderry, as chairman, presented to Her Majesty an address in behalf of the School Board, and the Bishop of London and others did the same in behalf of the other school bodies.

Among the members of the committee present were Cardinal Vaughan and Baron Rothschild.

There was a tremendous outburst of cheering as the Queen left.

Perfect, so-called Queen's, weather prevailed.

On the route the royal party made stops at Slough, Eton College and Windsor, where they were received by the local authorities with impressive formalities, and most enthusiastically welcomed by the populace. The progress was a repetition of the one from Buckingham Palace to Windsor in 1887, but vastly more imposing. Triumphal arches were erected at the stopping places.

In Slough addresses were tendered to Her Majesty by several local official bodies, at Eton by the organizations of the college and the Thames Conservancy, the bodies which control the river, offered their loyal congratulations at Windsor Bridge.

The final episode of the progress was at the castle gates, where the addresses from the Windsor bodies were received. As the Queen's carriage appeared at the entrance to her home the National Anthem was chanted in welcome by 300 voices. The day's festivities were brought to an end by an illumination of the palace.

The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, the Princesses Christian of Schleswig-Holstein and Henry of Battenberg were among the members of the Royal Family present at the Queen's reception of the lords, commoners, mayors and provosts.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

London Never Saw Such a Sight—It Was an Empire Parade.

London, June 23.—The press gives voice to the unanimous chorus of pleasure over the success of yesterday's great pageant. The Daily News says that London never saw such a sight in its whole history. The Queen must have felt that such an experience was worth some fatigue. There is probably not another sovereign in Europe who could count on such a reception.

The Standard says: "All the glories, all the interests of the realm, seemed to have reached their culmination. Perhaps the triumph around the walls of Rome when a consul drove back to the capital after a victorious campaign would be the nearest approach to it."

The Chronicle says: "It was an Empire parade, and one of which all the uncounted millions whose peace and freedom are guarded by the English flag may well be proud. We have a hundred flanks. As makers of an empire we are insolent, masterful and aloof, but we at least have done what the world never has seen before."

The Morning Post writes editorially in a similar strain. It bewails the fact that the average Briton has the most inadequate conception of what a great thing it is to be able to use that name.

The Daily Telegraph says that Imperial unity was incarnate, and adds that the events of which the rejoicings were the glorious crown have hastened the hour for the adoption of a practical scheme of Imperial federation.

The Times says that if the procession reminded those who may have forgotten the fact of the unexhausted and virtually inexhaustible resources of the Empire, it has none the less clearly proved that the monarchy now rests on broader and firmer foundations than at any former period in the history of England.

NEW YORK SUN'S TRIBUTE.

The Once Leading Tall Twister Paper Sees Something in the Imperial Idea.

New York, June 23.—The Sun to-day devotes considerably over a page to a cabled description of the Jubilee celebration in London. The story is introduced by a two-column leader, which is in part as follows:

When a crowd of Jubilee sightseers flung a well-dressed stranger into a fountain in Trafalgar-square the other day because he ventured a remark that was slightly disparaging to Queen Victoria they symbolized the spirit which has made to-day's celebration an event transcendent in all human annals. The intense personal loyalty of the British people to their sovereign is the one fact above all others which this marvelous spectacle in the streets of London has impressed upon all beholders. It is easy to describe all else, the procession, decorations and illuminations, but this stupendous thing, this majestic homage of many millions, spoken in one mighty inarticulate voice, cannot be put into words. I know nothing with which to compare it. It was not hero worship. It was not mere devotion to a favorite ruler. It was not even patriotism. It was more personal, more human than that. It was the deepest and warmest heart tribute to the womanliness of the Queen and the queenliness of the woman.

Most significant of all, this spirit found its most fervent expression in what Lincoln loved to call the common people. All the pettiness and official muddling which made the preparations for the Jubilee a scandal banished into nothingness when the masses, which still are the bone and sinew of England, got a chance to make their voice heard—their voice, be it understood, and not the well-bred applause and cheers of the occupants of ten-guinea seats, which furnished the keynote of to-day's festival. The mighty roar from millions of throats never ceased from the moment the Queen left the palace until she was helped from her carriage at the end of the trying ordeal, three hours later.

But the Jubilee was not simply and solely the Queen's, as it should have been. While the celebration, first of all, was a personal tribute to the sovereign, there was no lack of emphasis of the significance of the second great feature. This was the new Imperial spirit which has only recently had its birth. It took the form of a magnificent popular ovation to the representatives of the colonies, which was astonishing in its fervor and intensity. It was all the more ostentatious perhaps because there was a public impression that the official treatment of the visiting colonial troops was not as cordial as it should have been.

There was, therefore, a genuine popular rebuke in the tremendous welcome which London gave to the colonial visitors along the whole six miles of the route. There was an opportunity to make this particularly striking in the first two miles from the Palace to St. Paul's Cathedral, when the colonial contingent of Princes and troops marched as a separate procession more than an hour in advance of the royal parade. The Queen herself received scarcely a more enthusiastic greeting. When her carriage arrived the vast crowds were already so hoarse from cheering that they could only give vent to a rough roar, which must have sounded strangely to her ears.

But it is as the greatest gathering of human beings the world has ever seen that Queen Victoria's Jubilee will live in the memory of all those who have participated in it, and the history of the race.

It was after the procession was finished that the people gave themselves up to light-hearted enjoyment. Then it was that the most wonderful sight of all was witnessed. The human throngs that had been still, but not silent, for many hours, began to move. They no longer seemed to be composed of individuals. They were not reckoned in numbers. They were vast areas of humanity, which became eddying tides, flowing resistlessly here and there. London was like Venice; her streets were canals, with nowhere a glimpse of the pavement, as these sluggish human streams ebbed and flowed, each drop or atom helpless to move save with the general current, and rising up from it all came a ceaseless, voiceless murmur, not soothing like rippling water over rocks, nor majestic like the roar of an angry sea, but the restless, awesome intoning of a strange new energy, which beat upon one's eardrums until now, after many hours, it has become intolerable.

Not for one moment during nearly a hundred hours has London been silent, day or night. Jubilee throngs have filled the streets since Friday last. Many thousands of persons have not known a bed in all that time. They may have snatched naps occasionally in the parks or elsewhere, but they have celebrated the Jubilee to the point of utter exhaustion. To-night, however, the crowds are greater than ever. I have no word of disparagement for this wonderful day in the wonderful history of this wonderful Empire. Answers which came within scarcely more than an hour from 40 seats of government, over which the British flag floats, in every corner of the earth, to the Queen's message of thanks to her subjects, are alone sufficient to make this day memorable in human records. I, in common with thousands of other aliens, have watched men of every color and every creed marching loyally under the same flag, and I confess, without reserve and without envy, that it was the most marvelous sight the sun has ever looked down upon.

THE IRISH CELEBRATED.

In Many Places the Doings Did Not Show Love But Hatred.

London, June 23.—The Jubilee was celebrated in almost all parts of Ireland with enthusiasm by public official fetes, decorations, illuminations and bonfires.

The Parnellites, however, were very busy with counter-demonstrations. In Dublin a procession went through the streets carrying a black flag and a coffin labelled "The British Empire," and smashing the windows of illuminated houses. The city has not been so thoroughly excited since the death of Parnell.

Anæmia means "want of blood," a deficiency in the red corpuscles of the blood. Its cause is found in want of sufficient food, dyspepsia, lack of exercise or breathing impure air. With it is a natural repugnance to all fat foods. Scott's Emulsion is an easy food to get fat from and the easiest way of taking fat. It makes the blood rich in just those elements necessary to robust health, by supplying it with red corpuscles.

BENSFORT.

A June Wedding—A Diamond Jubilee Presentation.

With pleasure we announce another of those happy events now common to South Monaghan, which took place on Wednesday, the 23rd, at the residence of the bride's parents.

The contracting parties this time in the celebration of their nuptials are Mr. E. D. Graham, M D., of Queensville, Ont., and Miss L. McClelland, late of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Since graduating Dr. Graham has been supplementing his college course by all the experience he could gain, preparatory to more permanent location. For some time he filled the position of assistant superintendent of the Sudbury hospital, and took Dr. McClelland's practice at Roseneath during the latter's absence to attend the hospitals of the old country last year. In January last he located for the practice of his profession in Queensville, where his success is gaining for him the confidence of the people. His partner in life has become widely known from her success in the profession she chose to become proficient in. She began life from home as a teacher, being best known in that capacity in the Hastings school. After the required Normal School training at Toronto, she chose to take the course provided for nurses in the Toronto General Hospital, graduating from that institution with exceptional credit. Occupying a short time in private nursing she accepted a situation at the Elizabeth General Hospital, New Jersey, and was lately appointed as superintendent of nurses of the Kings County Hospital of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Thompson of Hastings, who expressed great pleasure in renewing acquaintance of both under such happy circumstances. During the ceremony the groom was assisted by Dr. McClelland, and the groom by Miss Lizzie Thorne of Otonabee.

The presents to the bride were handsome and costly, especially those from her many friends in New York and Brooklyn. The happy couple left by the evening train from Peterborough for their new home at Queensville, and their many friends wish them a long union of happiness and prosperity.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

On the evening completing the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee the choir and a few others of the Bensfort church met Mrs. T. B. Westington, of Welcome, (nee Miss Annie McClelland) at her former home. South Monaghan, on the occasion of her recent visit there, when they succeed in taking her completely by surprise, as they proceeded at once in the pleasant ceremony of presenting her with an exquisitely finished and commodious silver tea pot. The event was surprising, because unexpected, and the more so, because the custom is not common with our church, though one of its strongholds is its excellent financial standing. The following is a copy of the address given by Mr. John Emberson accompanying the handsome present:

The members of the Methodist church, Bensfert, have for some time decided to give an expression of their high appreciation of your faithful, efficient and self-denying services as organist of this church during the past six or seven years. And while we miss you greatly and regret your absence, both in choir and league, we earnestly hope and pray that you may find still some sphere of usefulness in the Master's work. We beg you to accept this small token of esteem from their hands as a simple reminder of bygone friendly relations.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,

THOS. DAWSON,
EDWARD STIRTON.
ALFRED WOOD.
JOSEPH WOOD.

Mrs. Westington feelingly expressed her surprise in replying, hoping her usefulness in the church would continue to be a pleasure as it had been at Bensfort, after which memories were revived around the old organ before the party dispersed.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

On Sunday afternoon the Sons of England held their Jubilee service, and with the other local societies they attended Divine service in the English church. The order of procession was as follows:

Band.
Sons of England.
Canadian Foresters.
Sons of Scotland.
Beresford L.O.L.
True Blues.
Young Canadians.

Mr. J. C. Kelly fulfilled the duties of marshal. On arriving at the church the societies filled the centre seats. The service was that arranged by the Church of England for the 20th of June, with appropriate hymns for the occasion, which were heartily joined in by those present. At the proper time, as arranged by the Sons of England, the congregation arose and sang God Save the Queen. Rev. G. Warren, chaplain of the society, preached the sermon, taking for his text, I Samuel, 12, 13:

Now, therefore, behold the king whom ye have chosen, and whom ye have desired, and behold the Lord hath set a king over you.

In speaking of Queen Victoria he alluded to her pure life, her devotedness to her country, her unremitting discharge of duty even in times of her heaviest sorrow, and after passing allusions as to what had been accomplished during her reign, he emphasized the fact that as we took Queen Victoria for our earthly sovereign, we should all accept Jesus Christ as our spiritual head.

On returning to the lodge room a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Mr. Warren for his able and instructive sermon, also to the organist and choir, to the different visiting societies, to the band and to the marshal, Mr. J. E. Kelly. The meeting then concluded with the National Anthem.

BRITISH OFFICERS SHOT.

An Ambushed Native in India Killed Lieut. Ayerst and Wounded Commissioner Rand.

Bombay, June 23.—As Plague Commissioner Rand and Lieut. Ayerst were leaving the Governor's reception at Ganeshkind yesterday evening, held in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, a native who was hidden behind some trees shot both the officers mentioned. Lieut. Ayerst died of the wounds, and the condition of Commissioner Rand is most serious.

There is no doubt that the shooting of Messrs. Ayerst and Rand was connected with the recent attempted agitation among the natives. Numbers of seditious placards have been posted about the cities, and many leaflets have been distributed denouncing the Jubilee and saying that none but demons would celebrate the Queen's Jubilee when famine, earthquakes and plague prevailed, and while temples were being polluted by the plague officials.

Plague Commissioner Rand died tonight. At Peshawur Mr. Ross, a civil official, was shot by a native while returning from the Jubilee fetes. It is feared his wound will also prove fatal.

THE MARKETS.

Toronto, June 24.

Flour—The flour trade remains inactive, with prices unchanged. Straight rollers are quoted at $3.20 to $3.35 west.

Bran—Trade quiet, with bran quoted at $7.50 to $7.75 west, and at $8.50 here. Shorts, $9 to $9.50 here.

Wheat—The market is quiet, with little change in prices. Red winter sold at 67c outside, and white is quoted at 68c. No. 1 Manitoba hard is quoted at 71½c to 72c, Port William, and at 76c Midland. No. 2 hard at 74c Midland.

Buckwheat—The demand is limited, and prices nominal.

Barley—The market is quiet, with limited demand. No. 1 is quoted at 30c, No. 2 at 25c and No. 3 extra at 23c to 24c. Feed barley dull at 21 to 22c.

Oats—The market is quiet, with a firmer feeling. White is held at 22c west, and mixed at 21c west.

Peas—The market is firm, with sales north and east at 40c.

Oatmeal—The market is quiet and prices steady at $2.85 to $2.90 for car lots.

Corn—The trade is quiet and prices higher, there being sales at 25c west

Rye—Trade quiet and prices easy. Cars are quoted at 29c west and at 30c to 31c east.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There were 43 cars of live stock on the market on Tuesday, made up as follows: 800 cattle, 300 hogs, 175 lambs, 150 sheep, 125 calves and 15 milk cows. The strength of the Montreal market had a similar effect on this market, and everything that offered was sold, a thing that has not taken place for a long time. As high at $4.90 was paid for some choice export cattle; but, we would not say that this price would hold good if there should be a large number offered. One reason for that figure being paid was that some of the dealers had space engaged on the boats that had to be filled or go vacant, therefore they paid more for the cattle than they otherwise would. Our last quotations would be about right, only a little stronger.

Butchers' cattle in good demand. A car, principally cows, averaging 1070, were sold for $3.40 yesterday. Market strong. Stockers were not so good, owing to the Buffalo markets having dropped about half a cent, but real good stockers would still bring 3c.

There is a good demand for calves, and they are worth from $5 to $6.50, and for a picked lot of choice as high at $8 was paid.

Sheep and lambs are also in good demand; good sheep will bring $3.62½ cwt., and good lambs are worth $3.50 to $4.50.

Ex-Ald. Verral was shipping per G.T.R. two double-deckers of sheep to Liverpool market, and expects more to follow in a few days.

The hog market was not quite as brisk as it has been, and 5½c for the best grade was the top price on Tuesday.

The trade will no doubt feel the effect of the return from the Northwest of Messrs. Wilson and Mullins, who are, and have been, extensive dealers.

Tuesday's shipments per C.P.R. were as follows: Crawford & Co., three cars; W. Levack, three cars; R. Ironside, four cars; S. Halligan, two cars, all for export, and M. Vincent, two cars; M. Montreuil, two cars; Maybee & Taylor, one car, all butchers' cattle, for Montreal. The G.T.R. also shipped 21 carloads on Tuesday. There were only three loads of stock in yesterday—two export cattle, which will remain on the market till Friday, and one of butchers' cattle, which belonged to G. Wood, and were sold for $3.40.

CATARRH CONQUERED.

IT IS A BLOOD DISEASE.
PROOF POSITIVE THAT RYCKMAN'S KOOTENAY CURE THOROUGHLY ERADICATES THIS WIDE-SPREAD DISEASE.

Of all the diseases that have been exploited by charlatans and quacks Catarrh is one that has received more than its share of attention.

Snuffs, sprays, douches, inhalations, etc., have all had their day, and after their use the Catarrh has remained as bad as before, so that now many sufferers have become convinced that they are possessed of an incurable affection that must remain with them to their dying day, sapping their strength and rendering them miserable and disgusting to their friends.

Let's tell you that Ryckman's Kootenay Cure gets at Catarrh through the blood. It destroys the germ that is the immediate cause of the trouble and sends rich pure blood to the part, so that all offensive discharges cease and a rapid cure is effected.

Here's a case in point, Mr. W. G. Cox, who conducts a flour and feed store at 374 King Street West, Hamilton, was troubled with Catarrh for ten years, tried nearly all the catarrh remedies advertised without success till he began taking Ryckman's Kootenay Cure. He says the results have exceeded his most sanguine expectations.

Mrs. Margaret Sovereign, living at 376 King Street, in the same city, under oath makes a declaration to the effect that her daughter Lulu, aged 14, was troubled with Catarrh for two years and had poor health. The doctor said she had inflammation of the lungs and Catarrh. She became so run down that until she commenced taking Kootenay her mother was alarmed about her. After she had taken a bottle and a half of this wonderful remedy and the "new ingredient" had a chance to get in its work, the Catarrh disappeared, her cheeks became rosy and she gained eleven pounds. These cases ought to be enough to convince the most sceptical, but if you are desirous of more proof, send to the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont., and sworn statements of cures will be sent you free.

One bottle lasts over a month.

DOINGS AT OTTAWA

The Senate Throws Out the I. C. R. Extension Contract.

PARTY FEELING IN THE ASCENDANT

Attacks by Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Others Sir Oliver, Mr. Cox and Others Spoke in Defence, But the Conservatives Voted for the Three Months' Hoist.

Ottawa, June 23. (Special.)—In the Senate to-day the proposed extension of the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal was taken up. Sir Oliver Mowat defended the agreement with the Grand Trunk and Drummond County Railway Companies as a business deal, and pointed out the necessity for the I. C. R having direct connection with the business metropolis.

Sir Oliver Mowat, in moving the second reading of the bill, laid stress upon the fact that the Government considered this agreement a purely business arrangement. He thought that there would be little difference of opinion on the question of the advisability of the Intercolonial Railway being extended into Montreal. If the necessity was conceded, the Government, he thought, was amply justified in entering into an agreement to secure that object. The question at issue was whether the bargain made was the best that could be obtained under the circumstances. There was no doubt a difference of opinion on that subject, but he did not think that that difference of opinion was sufficient, considering the question from a business standpoint, to warrant the Senate in refusing to allow the bill embodying the bargain to become law. He appealed to the Senate to consider this question simply as a business proposition. The majority of the Senators were politically opposed to the policy of the Government, and if party considerations were to enter into the consideration of this question he could only say that he would despair of the constitution of the country.

A careful study of the contract had convinced him that the bargain entered into by the Minister of Railways was a good one, and that the Government in arranging the bargain had acted wisely and well. He pointed out the disadvantages the Intercolonial was now working under, and referred to the immense improvement in its position that would result from its securing an entrance into Montreal. The road had cost the country an enormous sum, and had always been run at a loss. It was with a view to changing this annual loss into a surplus that the Government felt it its duty to favorably consider what it considered the best method of improving the earning capacities of the road. If the Senate considered that the Government had come to a wise conclusion in deciding that the extension of the road to Montreal would improve its earning powers a mere difference of opinion as to whether the bargain made was the best that could be made should not be a sufficient reason for them to negative the motion for the second reading of the bill.

He then discussed at length the terms of the agreement to show that the arrangement arrived at by the Government was cheaper and better than any arrangement which could have been made with any other company over any different route, and ever so much cheaper than the Government could construct a road from Levis to Montreal. Under the present agreement the country was called upon to pay $210,000 a year for what it would cost the Government $25,000,000 to construct. Sir Oliver pointed out that the best evidence as to whether this bargain was a good one or not would be the result of the new arrangement in increasing the earning powers of the Intercolonial Railway. An estimate of what might be expected in this direction had been prepared by Mr. Pottinger, the general manager of the Intercolonial, which, if realized, would be an ample vindication of the wisdom of the Government in entering into the present contract.

Senator Wood asked if that estimate prepared by Mr. Pottinger could be brought down. This was a very important point, and he had not before heard of any such estimate having been made.

Sir Oliver said that he had the estimate and would give it to the House at a later stage. Continuing, Sir Oliver dwelt upon the importance of the local traffic which would come to the Intercolonial under this arrangement which would not have come if the Government had decided to build a road from Levis to Montreal. The Drummond Counties road had last year made $35,000 over expenses, mostly out of local traffic. The South Shore route, which some said was preferable to the one chosen, was not only longer, but meant the construction of another bridge over the St. Lawrence at Montreal. The other possible route over the Grand Trunk tracks by way of Richmond was longer, had steeper grades and could not be obtained under $2,000,000. This, he thought, was ample evidence to convince the Senate that the Government had done its best to secure the best and cheapest bargains that could be obtained.

The transaction was on the whole a good business one, and would, he felt assured, place the Intercolonial on a paying basis and end the long period of deficits in connection with the operation of that important road. He sincerely hoped the Senate would not offer any obstructions to the measure becoming law. He concluded by moving the second reading of the bill.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell opposed the scheme in a somewhat lengthy speech, and moved the three months' hoist.

Hon. Mr. Scott defended the bill, and trusted the calm judgment of the members would prevail, and allow the bill to pass.

Senator Wood of Westmoreland, N. B., said he would favor the contract if it could be shown that it would have the effect of diverting to the I. C. R. and the Maritime Provinces any considerable part of the traffic that now goes to New England ports, but he believed the opposite would be the case.

Senator G. A. Cox (Toronto) said if the late Government had done its duty it would have carried the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal years ago. The question now was as to the best manner in which an unprofitable enterprise, which had cost the country $50,000,000, could be converted into a profitable undertaking. The agreement should be considered from a business standpoint, and, instead of rejecting the bill altogether, far better to amend it. Bills sent up from the other House were often amended by the Senate and vice versa. He gathered that there was little difference of opinion as to the wisdom of extending the I. C. R. to Montreal. Even Sir Mackenzie, he believed, favored that policy. Personally he (Mr. Cox) thought something should be done to improve the earning power of the I. C. R. The Government had grappled manfully with this question and the proposition should be fairly considered. He admired the aggressive policy of the late Government in forcing through the C. P. R. from ocean to ocean. Now, when this Government adopted a like stand with regard to the I. C. R. they ought to be commended for it. With regard to the Drummond Counties Railway he thought $15,000 was not an unfair price considering reports which engineers gave of the condition of the road. He admitted that the 5 per cent. payment by the Government on money expended by the Grand Trunk on improvements between Montreal and Ste. Rosalie was excessive, and suggested that it should be amended.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell pointed out that this could not be done, as Parliament was simply being asked to ratify an agreement.

Mr. Cox replied that if the Senate suggested a change of that kind it would have done its duty to the country. It would not be doing its duty by simply throwing out this bill.

Hon. G. W. Allan, Senators McCallum, Dever, Power and Miller took part in the debate pro and con.

The division was then taken, Sir Mackenzie Bowell's amendment for the three months' hoist being carried.

Yeas—Messrs. Miller, Macdonald (C. B.), Boldue, McMillan, McKindsey, McCallum, Macdonald (P. E. I.), O'Brien, Deblois, Owens, Bellerose, Armand, Clemow, Dobson, Primrose, Sir John Carling, Wood, Ferguson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Macdonald (Victoria), Aikins, Poirier, Landry, Villeneuve, Arsenault, Drummond, McKay, Merner, Prowse, Price, Montplaisir, De Boucherville, Kirchhoffer, Perley, Forget, Bernier and Baird—37.

Nays—Mr. Speaker, Messrs. Cox, Scott, O'Donoghue, Power, Snowball, McInnes (Westminster), Temple, Dever and Thibadeau—10.

The Senate at 12.30 a.m. adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The House of Commons sat until two hours past midnight, and all the supplementary estimates were passed except the item of $8000 for Sir Wilfrid Laurier's expenses to the Jubilee in London, which was held over to give Mr. Foster an opportunity to make some complimentary remarks.

Mr. Fielding, before adjournment, gave notice of still further supplementary estimates for 1897-98, headed "Intercolonial Railway extension to Montreal; to pay rental to the Grand Trunk Railway and Drummond County Railway Companies, for the railway from the Chaudiere Junction to Montreal, to be operated as part of the Intercolonial Railway for nine months, $157,500."

This will be added to the supply bill, so the Senate cannot reject it without throwing out the bill as a whole.

The House adjourned at 2.10 a.m.

"I was troubled with pimples on my face and head which caused me much annoyance. After trying many remedies without benefit I was advised to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hold Her Majesty's Shovel.

A good story is told of a sometime swell young officer who had been compelled by adverse circumstances to throw up the commission he held in a crack regiment and eventually to enlist as a private soldier. He found it difficult, however, to forget his former rank, and one day on being ordered to perform some necessary duty with a spade, to which he strongly objected, he remonstrated.

"But, sergeant," he drawled, "er—you—er—forget I've held Her Majesty's commission, and——"

The sergeant cut him short.

"And now, young man, I reckon you've got to hold Her Majesty's blooming shovel."

Her Error.

"Miss Rotoswomoskowitz," he said tenderly, "how would you like to change your name?"

"It is so sudden," said the fair young thing falling into his lap.

"Nay," he said, pushing her to her feet, "it is not so sudden. On the contrary, you will find that there is considerable red tape to be gone through. In the first place, you must consider what name you will select in place of your own. In the second, you must file and application, giving your reasons, with the United States commissioner at——"

The arrangements for the dedication services of the new building are being completed, and an interesting and memorable programme will be furnished this evening in Association Hall. There will be no lengthy addresses. Rev. W. W. Weeks will be the principal speaker. All are invited to the service.

Apology.

We wish to apologize to our numerous friends and customers for the circumstance that we were unable to fill all our orders for decorating, etc., for June 22nd, Jubilee day, on account of decorating so many other cities, towns and villages. However, we hope in the future to please all parties who may favour us with their esteemed orders. Trusting this explanation will be satisfactory, we remain, respectfully yours, J. J. TURNER & SONS.

The Examiner Reaches Far.

It is a pleasure to the EXAMINER to record good accomplished through its agency. The beginning of this month Rev. H. Symonds, published in the EXAMINER an appeal for assistance to a family in Harvey that had met with a serious loss. In response from far New Brunswick comes a donation of $5 by a subscriber of the EXAMINER, Mrs. Rowe, 199 King street, East, St. John's, N.B. Rev. Mr. Symonds wishes publicly and thankfully to acknowledge this timely gift.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

An Ogdensburg Wedding.

The Ogdensburg Journal contains an elaborate report of the wedding of a neice of Rev. Father Kielty, of St. Joseph's, Douro.

The wedding was celebrated in St. Mark's church, Prescott, and the ceremony that united for life in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. J. L. O'Connor, of Ogdensburg, and Miss Cecilia Kielty, of Prescott, was performed by Rev. Dean Masterson. Miss Welch, of Kingston, was maid of honour and Mr. Geo. O'Connor, brother of the groom, was best man.

These are Busy Days at Gough's.

This great underwriters sale of $40,000 worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Clothing, has assumed proportions which even we ourselves had scarcely looked for. The goods are being sold at the rate of about 47 1-2 cents on the dollar of the wholesale price, or in other words a little less than one-half the manufacturers cost. We assert that equal quantities, of equal qualities, equal shapes, equal cheapness, are not at your disposal elsewhere. In other words we lead the trade in clothing by a long stretch. Some very decided bargains are to be had just now in cool coats and vests for office and street wear. Black lustre coats from $1.25 up; slate, lemon and drab lustre, $1 up; fancy checked and striped lustre, $1 up; linen and crash coats, 90c up; unlined blue serge from $1 up; unlined grey serge from $2 up; unlined thin tweed coats, from $2.25; unlined Jersey cloth from $3; silk coats and vests from $5.25; black and grey lustre vests from 80c; striped and checked lustre vests from 75c; linen vests from 75c, white and coloured duck vests, 60c; checked and striped Cashmere from $1.50; silk and wool Cashmere from $2.25.

A JUBILEE DAY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss H. McAuliffe, of Emily, and Mr. Neil Murray, of Downeyville.

On Jubilee day Rev. Father McColl performed the marriage ceremony at Enniskmore church between Miss Hannah McAuliffe, daughter of Mr. Peter McAuliffe, of Emily, and Mr. Neil Murray, of Downeyville.

The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Ida McAuliffe, add the groomsman was Mr. John Murray, brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray drove into town after the ceremony, and left during the evening for a trip to Rochester and other American cities. Both are well known in town, and will receive many congratulations from their Peterborough friends.

DEMISE OF MICHAEL FLANAGAN

He Was The Father of Mrs. Dr. O'Sullivan of Town.

The death of Michael Flanagan, of Kingston, father of Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan, of Peterborough, took place on Monday last.

Of him the Kingston Whig says:

"Mr. Flanagan was born on September 23rd, 1823, at Elphin, county Roscommon, Ireland, the son of Laughlin Flanagan and Margaret Murray. His father died while he was young. He was well educated.

In 1841 he emigrated to Canada, and arrived in Kingston about a week after Lord Sydenham. A few weeks later he entered the office of Charles Stuart, barrister-at-law and registrar of the county. At that time the city and county were combined for registration purposes.

Mr. Flanagan's industry and taste as a penman attracted Francis Manning Hill, another lawyer, and one of the foremost public men of his day. He induced Mr. Stuart to transfer Mr. Flanagan's articles to him, and on the 1st June, 1843, a few days before the corner stone of the public buildings were laid, he entered upon the discharge of his newer duties.

After Mr. Hill resigned the city clerkship Mr. Flanagan succeeded. This was in 1845.

The incorporation of Kingston as a city occurred in 1846, and Mr. Flanagan, previously (on the 14th of April, 1845) made clerk, was confirmed in that position in accordance with the provisions of Baldwin's new municipal act.

He served under all mayors which Kingston ever had, save one, the late Mr. Cassidy. In 1871 his portrait, painted by that excellent artist, Mr. Sawyer, at the call and expense of the citizens generally, was presented to him.

He gratefully accepted it, and handed it over to the chairman of city property committee, and by the latter it was hung over the entrance in the city hall.

In 1895 his worth and his services were appreciated at their true value by his fellow citizens, and attested by their presentation to him of a purse containing $500.

The city clerk was married in 1846 to Mary Sarah, second daughter of Dr. Boyd, of the Royal navy. Of his eleven children nine are living.

In religion Mr. Flanagan was a devoted Catholic; in politics a retired Conservative; in general, a public man of fine address. No man had such knowledge of municipal matters, and withal he was attentive and courteous, and the beau-ideal of a public official. As a citizen he was a model."

Mrs. O'Sullivan has been in Kingston at her father's bedside for the last week.

PERSONAL.

Miss Maude Perry has returned from Port Hope.

Mr. J. W. T. Fairweather, Toronto, is in town to-day.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton is attending the Lindsay cheese board to-day.

Misses Daisy and Sadie Dolan are home on their vacation from St. Joseph's Seminary, Kankakee, Ill.

Mrs. and the Misses Owens, of Campbellford, have been visiting at the residence of Mr. R. B. McKee for the last few days.

Mr. Edward A. Wicher, M.A., of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, has been appointed tutor in Greek in Knox College, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amys, of Port Hope, have been spending the fast few in town as guests at the residence of Mr. W. H. Moore.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor is in Downeyville—Rev. Father Bretherton's parish—to-day, administering the holy rite of Confirmation.

Mrs. W. H. Bradburn is in Belleville, attending the wedding of Miss Jessie Brignall, who has been a frequent visitor in Peterborough.

Mr. J. H. Hudson, of Perth, formerly of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, was in town for Jubilee day, as a guest at the residence of Dr. Boucher, Water street.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey is in Kingston attending the funeral of the late Mr. Flanagan, the veteran city clerk of Kingston—for 54 years—and father of Mrs. Dr. O'Sullivan, town.

Mr. Wallace, formerly of the Grand Trunk office staff, town, who is now at the head office, Montreal, spent the last couple of days in town as a guest at the residence of Mr. R. M. Roy, Stewart street.

The Rev. T. G. Glover conducted the anniversary services in the Stewart Settlement union Sunday school hall Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance, and the service was enjoyed by all.

Rev. W. R. Young, the new Methodist minister here, says the Port Hope Guide, ran in from Peterborough yesterday to view the lay of the land. He will be in on Friday permanently.

The Port Hope Guide says: General Allan of Peterborough was in town to-day, the guest of Mayor Quinlan. The general was on the platform at the park viewing the bicycle races when it broke. He escaped with a number of bruises.

Dr. Belle Peery, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. MacFarlane, left for her home in California this morning to resume her practice. She will visit the medical colleges and hospitals in the principal cities, including Chicago, Kansas City and Albuquerque, on the way.

Mr. Charles Gladman, who has been home from Rat Portage recuperating for a fortnight, left town yesterday for Toronto, where he joins Dr. Pike, Professor of Chemistry in Toronto University, and his brother from England, for a prolonged fishing tour in Newfoundland. They will remain fishing for salmon, etc., till the meeting of the British Association in Toronto in August.

Rev. Father Kielty, who has been in Eastern Ontario for some time in search of health, returned to Douro the latter part of last week. His hosts of friends will be delighted to learn that he comes back in greatly improved health. It is to be hoped that his health will continue to improve, and that he will soon be able to enter upon his accerdotal duties.

Mr. J. Sheehan, of Bay City, is the guest of his uncle, Mr. T. Cahill. He has just arrived from Montreal College, where he carried off at the second year's examination, the Lord Aberdeen Silver Medal, the first time that it has been won by a student of this college. The young gentleman is to be heartily congratulated upon his conspicuous success.

THE 57TH RANGERS VISIT MONTREAL.

THEY PARTICIPATE IN THE GRAND MILITARY REVIEW.

Lieut.-Col. Bell is Given Command of a Brigade for the Day—The Officers Attend Several Banquets—The Trip of the Series.

The Battalion returned from its Jubilee trip to Montreal yesterday, and the men express themselves as being delighted with the trip. Fraternising with the crack regiments of the country has done our volunteers a world of good and the good time which they enjoyed has inspired them with fresh zeal in the interests of the Battalion.

The Rangers left Peterborough between nine and ten o'clock last Saturday evening and arrived in Montreal at six the next morning, where they were marched from the station to the Exhibition grounds, being quartered in the buildings there. The wants of the inner man were looked after by a French cateress, but the boys did not care for the cookery, although it improved after their wants were understood.

On Sunday there was a joint church parade of the military.

THE PARADE STATE

shows that exactly 2,765 men of all ranks and services turned out in uniform. The following corps and men were in line:

"A" squadron 6th Hussars	50
3rd Field Battery	58
2nd Regiment G. A.	284
Governor-General's Foot Guards	175
Prince of Wales Rifles	313
Victoria Rifles of Canada	305
5th Royal Scots	311
Highland Cadets	58
65th Fusiliers	240
53rd Battalion	236
57th Battalion	281
65th Battalion Mount Royal Rifles	245
Veteran Volunteers	209
Total in line	2765

57th Battalion Peterborough Rangers, Lieut. Col. Bell in command, 19 officers, 262 Non-commissioned officers and men; total, 281.

THE MAIN BODY

of the troops attended Christ Church Cathedral, which, when they had all entered, was very nearly filled. As the vested choir and clergy marched up the nave, 'Onward, Christian soldiers,' was sung as a processional hymn, Mr J. B Norton having previously played an opening voluntary appropriate to the occasion. All then joined heartily in singing 'God Save the Queen.' Handel's 'Hallelujah Chorus' was given as the anthem, and the hymn 'O God our help in ages past.'

The sermon was preached by the Rev. W. Highmoor, chaplain of H.M.S. 'Talbot,' who dwelt on the necessity of duty and obedience. Contrasting the characteristics of Napoleon with those of Wellington, he pointed out that the former always spoke of glory and never of duty, while the latter thought always of duty, never of glory. Speaking of Queen Victoria's sixty years' reign, he said that the throne of England was never more firmly established than it was to-day. Her Majesty's predecessors had dragged it down to the dust; she had raised it to the highest pinnacle of respect. The throne of England had many ardent supporters, but amongst them the loyal sons of Canada were second to none. Let them that day join Her Majesty the Queen in an act of thanksgiving to God, and let them pray that the blessings of the past might be continued upon her and her empire.

The benediction was pronounced by Bishop Bond, after which Stainer's 'Sevenfold Amen' was sung, followed by the concluding voluntary, MacMaster's 'Grand Chœur.'

Besides the Bishop and the Rev. Mr. W. Highmoor, the Rev. Prof. Steen and Canon Norton assisted in the service, and Canon Ellegood and the Rev. E. I. Rexford also occupied seats in the chancel.

THE MEMBERS of the 57th stated that the church was decorated with flags so profusely as to completely hide the ceiling and walls from view.

The Montreal Herald says: The 57th of Peterborough and the Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa, both arrived at the Mile End Station at an early hour on Sundy morning. It was for this reason probably that no one was there to receive them, but up to the hour that they started out for church parade, the reception committee had not appeared. The 57th did not come into Windsor station, but branched off at Montreal Junction. They are 280 strong, in command of Lieut.-Col. Bell, and travelled in a special train of ten coaches. The men's quarters are in the Horticultural Hall at the Exhibition grounds, and the officers occupy the business offices of the Exhibition Company.

Both the Guards and the Peterborough men get their meals at the exhibition restaurant, Madame Duperrozel being caterer.

THE PROGRAMME

for Jubilee Day was as follows:

7 to 8 a. m.—Arrival of R M C Cadets from Kingston.
10.30 a. m.—Troops for Review will proceed independently to Logan's Park.
11 a. m.—Military Review on Logan's Park.
Noon.—Royal Salute fired at St. George's Club House, Westmount.
Noon.—Military parade from Logan's Park to Drill Hall.
Noon.—Royal Salute fired by Montreal Field Battery at Logan's Park.
2 p. m. to 4.30 p. m.—H M S Talbot open for visitors.
8.30 p. m.—Illuminations on Bleury street.
8 to 11 p. m.—Bonfires and pyrotechnic display at Westmount.
8.30.—Illuminations in city.
8.30 p. m.—Display of fireworks and bonfire from summit of Mount Royal, at the head of Peel street.

The order of march in the military review was as follows:

FIRST BRIGADE.

Commander—Lt.-Col. Cole.
Duke of Connaught's Own Canadian Hussars.
Third Field Battery, Canadian Artillery.
Naval Brigade of Her Majesty's ship Talbot.
Royal Marines from H.M.S. Talbot.
Gentlemen Cadets of the Royal Military College, Kingston.
Second Regiment Canadian Artillery.

SECOND BRIGADE.

Commander—Lieut.-Col. Bell, Peterborough.
Governor-General's Foot Guards, of Ottawa.
Fifth Royal Scots.
Fifty-third Battalion of Sherbrooke.
B (Barlow Greys) Company First Regiment Vermont National Guards.
Sixth Fusiliers.
Fifty-seventh Battalion of Peterborough.

THIRD BRIGADE.

Commander—Lt.-Col. Starke.
First Prince of Wales Rifles
Fourteenth Princess of Wales Own Rifles, Kingston.
Sixty-fifth Mount Royal Rifles.
Third Victoria Rifles.
Veterans of the Canadian Militia.
Veterans of the Imperial service of Her Majesty's Army and Navy.
Highland Cadets.
Mount St. Louis Cadets.
Boys' Brigade.

The Montreal Star says: The 57th of Peterborough closed the second brigade. They marched well and deserved every compliment they got.

As will be noticed, Lt.-Col. Bell was in charge of the second brigade, which fact as well as being an honour conferred upon him, is also one which is equally an honour to the Battalion.

The officers attended two banquets in the Windsor hotel whilst in Montreal, and report having experienced an extremely pleasant time in the participation thereof.

The men are unanimous in the verdict that this last is the premier trip of the long series which have been arranged for them year after year.

Grafton & Co's Boys' Suits are all fitted out with Diamond Jubilee Medals

OFF FOR CAMP.

The 46th Regiment Goes to Kingston to Drill.

No. 5 Company of the 46th Regiment came up from Springville yesterday, and left by the Grand Trunk to go into camp at Kingston.

There are forty men in the company, with the following officers: Captain, Thos. Johnston, Otonabee; Lieutenant, John Clark, Springville; Sergeants, T. E. Johnston, Fairmount, George Hendren, and Zacharias McIlmoyle, Lakefield.

The regiment, which is commanded by Lt.-Col. John Hughes of Newtonville, has companies located in the following places: Two in Port Hope, and one each in Millbrook, Springville, Bethany and Janetville.

JUBILEE DAY AT THE HOME.

A Flag Raising and a Picnic on the Lawn.

On Jubilee Day the inmates of the Peterborough Protestant Home raised a flag which had been presented by the lady directors. A number of hymns and the national anthem were sung. The inmates also had the pleasure of having their tea out on the lawn.

ECHOES OF THE DAY.

The skillfully performed evolutions of the members of the Canton under the command of Mr. D. H. Moore, was the subject of most favourable comment.

Mention was omitted yesterday of the decorations of Mr. H. P. Kennedy's meat market. The flags which were used extensively were very prettily arranged.

Mr. Geo. Lipsett's Ashburnham hotel deserves especial mention for the profuseness of its decorations.

Mr. Harry LeBrun's residence was very prettily decorated. A picture of the Queen was surrounded with illuminations.

Boys' Thin Clothing.

The hot weather days cause mothers some anxiety how to make their boys neat, comfortable and contented in their clothing. Cool suits for the boys and little tots are being better made and better sold, because of the very competition which some people deprecate. It won't do nowadays to charge too much for any article of necesity; yet it is possible just to charge enough to warrant one in giving absolute good quality. Forced sensations are not in our line, but it would be hard to find more intense activity then there is in our Boys' Clothing department just now. In Boys' Summer Suits we show linen and fancy washing Sailor Suits, alpaca, blue unlined serge, thin tweeds, white and navy stripes and jersey cloths. The prices start at 50c. the suit. Light Reading

For Hammock Days costs next to nothing at the Peterborough Bookstore. Authors and Printers were paid well for their work but somebody lost money on some of the books, and we're willing to let our customers have the benefit.

In other words, you pay us less than actual value—a possibility which seems reasonable enough under the circumstances.

Sporting Goods

Are among the special attractions for June. You may be at home, or under canvas, or summering at the lake—in any case the Peterborough Bookstore can supply what you want in out-door and in-door Games, Hammocks, Fans, &c., &c.

A Special Departure In Summer Millinery.

After a most successful stretch of business, we feel like doing something exceptional in the interests of Ladies before the 1st of July.

Perhaps we ought to say we want to sell more Hats and mean to go about it in the quickest and best way to sell them. Please yourself how you consider the matter, but the facts are that the entire stock of Straw Hats in Fancy Shapes, Sailors and Leghorns have been marked down for the balance of this month. We also offer the additional inducement of reduced prices for trimming these Hats—provided, of course, the materials are purchased here.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. Wm. Tully.

This morning, June 23rd, Mrs. Tully, of North Monaghan, passed away at the age of 85 years. The deceased was a native of Aberdeen, Scotland. At an early age she went to reside with an uncle in Pennsylvania. Here she met her late husband and after their marriage removed to Canada where she has since resided, highly respected. A few months ago she came to town to reside where her death took place. She leaves only two sons Rev. Andrew Tully, of Iowa, and Mr. Joseph Tully, of Campbellford. She was a Presbyterian in religion, a member of St. Paul's congregation. The funeral took place on Thursday from her late residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

SUNDAY STREET WATERING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In common with our citizens generally I was gratified at the success of our Jubilee Sunday celebration, but like them I regret that it should have been marred by that which was in the power of the authorities to prevent. I refer to the dusty streets. The sanctity of the day did not prevent the anathemas that were elicited by the nuisance. A liberal use of the watering cart would add much to the religious observance of the day. It seems to be the invariable rule that on Sundays and other holidays the streets are not watered., or if at all, in the most perfunctory manner. If we are such S bbataria ns that we cannot use the cart on Sundays, I would suggest that the streets be thoroughly watered up to midnight on Saturday and then again at daylight on Monday morning. There is no tax that we more cheerfully pay than the water rate and surely we ought to get something for our money on the very days that we use the streets the most and that too when we are in our best bib and tucker. Visitors have frequently remarked upon our dusty streets, for it is usually on holidays that they visit our otherwise beautiful town.

PRESENTATION TO REV. J. J. RAE.

A Handsome Quartered Oak Secretary is Given Him by the Congregation.

It is not often that a congregation makes a presentation to its pastor, but the members of the Charlotte street church felt they could not allow Rev. J. J. Rae to leave town without a substantial recognition of his work in the interests of the church during the term of his residence here.

At the close of the service last evening, Mr. L. Sherlock, on behalf of the congregation, read the following address:—

To the Rev. J. J. Rae:

REVEREND SIR AND BROTHER,—On the eve of your departure from Peterborough and the severance of your connection with Charlotte street Methodist church as its pastor, we cannot let such an event take place without placing on record not only our regret at the breaking of the links that have bound us locally, as brethren in Christ, for the past three years, but also our appreciation of your faithful discharge of the duties of your office, and our sincere belief that throughout your ministerial term your heartfelt desire and fervent prayer to God has been for the salvation of the souls committed to your charge. Christ's messenger to the seekers after righteousness, if he speaks out of the living experience and apprehension of the truth, his words will be endued with power. They will be confined by no limitations of talent or culture, though of both of these you are the possessor in no small degree. The fire of reality, which is nowhere more essential than in the pulpit, breaks through all disguises, shines out of idiosyncrasies, transfigures awkwardness and kindles conviction. And we, your people, who have sat under your teaching for the last three years, are firm in our convictions that you have been the happy possessor of this reality, which we feel has enabled you with all sincerity to apply the gospel message to its fullest extent, to that conduct of life out of which the Christian character emerges, and have emphasized at all times the welcome announcement that all men may be built up into Christ and have their characters transformed into His. That the seed of Divine human life sprouted in Bethlehem and matured throughout Galilee and Judea, has not withered and died, but is perennial and is the life of Christ in its personal vivifying power.

As part of your ministerial function you have ever displayed the characteristics of manliness. In our social intercourse, in our daily walk in life, we know that you have shown that tender sympathy with the distressed and sorrowing, and that kindly fraternal interest in the glad-some features of our lives, which speaks the charity that never faileth.

Our regrets at this inevitable disturbance of relations as pastor and people are somewhat tempered with the pleasing thought that while we lose, and naturally grieve at this parting, yet in the new sphere to which you are removing you are only required to be known, to be honoured, respected, loved as you are with us.

May your future career be a happy one. If there is any virtue, any power in sterling qualities of mind and heart such as you possess, we can have no doubt, no fear but that your future will be as happy and prosperous as we sincerely pray it may be.

We beg your acceptance of this Secretary.

In legal documents a seal (almost worthless in itself) is attached as a testimony of validity, and so in this our presentation we beg you to consider it as a seal to the confirmation of the sincerity of our expressions.

Signed on behalf of the congregation.

A. M. MORRISON,
Secretary Official Board.

The present consisted of a very handsome quartered oak secretary.

The pastor was greatly surprised by the gift, and it was not without great emotion that he expressed his thanks and at the same time said farewell to his congregation.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

A Presentation and Address Last Evening at the George Street Church.

Mrs. W. R. Young received a very pleasant surprise at the George street Methodist church, where she went to teach her Wednesday evening class of young ladies as usual.

During the evening Miss May Johnston rose and read the following address:

Dear Mrs. Young.

We the members of your Wednesday evening class do not wish you to leave without some tangible though slight token of our respect and affection for you. We lament the necessity for our parting, but realize that we must submit to the powers that be.

There are many things about your life and personality that make us feel the force of the old adage, "Example is better than precept." Your unfailing cheerfulness has enabled us at many times to have a brighter outlook upon life.

We feel that we have been drawn very closely together in our meetings and that we have received help from them that has created in us a greater desire to better live the better life.

We ask you to accept this gift as a small remembrance of the many evenings we have spent together and that God's blessing will in the future as in the past attend you and yours.

The presentation was made by Miss Mabel Metheral, and consisted of a very handsome jardinere filled with ferns.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE.

Two Boat Houses and Four Canoes were Consumed.

Shortly after one o'clock this morning the fire alarm summoned the brigade to the rear of the Central Bridge Works, where a couple of boat house were found to be on fire.

One, belonging to Mr. Alex. Noble, was completely consumed, together with all its contents, but the canoes were rescued from the other, which belonged to Mr. Thos. Sabine, jr., although the building was wiped out by the flames.

But for the prompt attendance of the Fire Brigade the Bridge Works would certainly have been endangered.

There were four canoes, three tents and a complete camping outfit consumed in Mr. Noble's boathouse. Two of the canoes belonged to Mr. Alex. Noble, one to Mr. James Noble and the other to a friend. The boat house and contents were insured through Lindsay & Might for $100.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the interests of the Peterborough Town and County Historical Society Museum in Inverlea House, Nicholls Park, and in the interest of the grand spirit that characterized the Jubilee celebration, I wish to state that I consider Mr. T. Cahill's suggestion an excellent one. The depositing of samples of the badges worn by the several societies in the procession, placed in a case and appropriately labelled, would be a compact, lasting and beautiful memorial of an occasion unique in the history of the Empire as an event and an occasion when all classes, creeds and interests united loyally and enthusiastically in a tribute of homage to our noble Queen. I hope the mere suggestion will not be the end of it, but that the authorities of the respective societies and those interested will practically endorse the suggestion, and that the museum authorities will make proper provision for the safe keeping and display of the badges.

Yours truly,
CANADIAN.

June 23rd, 1897.

[Mayor Yelland has impounded the telegram of greeting sent by the Queen on Jubilee day for presentation to the Museum, and a prominent member of the Canadian Order of Foresters has mentioned that so far as his Court is concerned Mr. Cahill's proposition is cordially endorsed. It is to be hoped that prompt and practical steps will be taken for carrying out Mr. Cahill's happy suggestion, which is another evidence of his active helpfulness in promoting a most creditable celebration of the Diamond Jubilee.—ED. Is Your Pump in Working Order?

When a pump does not work steadily, smoothly, and without undue effort on the part of the operator. It is either poorly constructed or in urgent need of repair. We make a specialty of repairing and can usually tell you what the cost will be before the job is started, so you can decide whether it is more profitable to get the work done or invest in a new one. A unique feature of the kind we build is that the stroke can be adjusted so as to make the labour commensurate with the strength of the person using it. Pumps however, are not the only things we make; for instance, another of our lines is washing machines. Our latest, the "Challenge," is by all odds, the best on the market. They are cheap, too. WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 60; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

JOHN E. REDMOND.

The Irish Parliamentarian Who Has Been Suspended the House.

John E. Redmond, the Irish leader, has won the applause of the nationalists in Canada and the United States by getting himself suspended from Parliament. His fierce protest against the overtaxation of Ireland which caused his suspension by an overwhelming vote is the sole topic in Irish circles. Mr. Redmond is the successor of Mr. Parnell in the British Parliament. He is only 36 years old, but he has sat in the House of Commons fifteen years—or since attaining his majority. He was born in Wexford, and from his childhood was accustomed to hear familiar talk of Parliament, for his father, Captain James Redmond, had long been a member of the Commons. Young John was educated in the Jesuit College near Dublin, and distinguished himself by winning many prizes in scholarship. After the Parnellite split in the Irish party, Mr. Redmond met defeat in his contests for the house, but after he changed the base of his political operations to Waterford he was successful, and has ever since that time been a member of Parliament. Mr. Redmond recently paid a visit to the United States and lectured in many of the large cities on excessive taxation of Ireland for English institutions. It was this very matter and his persistence in disobeying the rules in urging it that caused his suspension from the House of Commons.

JOHN E. REDMOND.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature, they give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Telepathy With a Dog.

W. E. Davis of Boston possesses a dog that does things which his master thinks are the result of telepathy. He gave an exhibition of the dog recently before the Boston Scientific Society that aroused an immense amount of interest.

Among the score or so of performances by the animal was one that necessitated the exercise of something that approached very closely to human intelligence. Mr. Davis first spread out red, blue, salmon and yellow handkerchiefs in the order prescribed by the spectators. The dog picked them out as suggested by those who witnessed the test at the mental commands of Mr. Davis. The dog apparently paid no attention to the commands of the spectators and Mr. Davis never repeated the order, but simply said: "You heard what the gentleman said. Bring it." The dog brought it in each case.

Similar experiments were made with four numbers on blocks, five silver pieces, and number on a slate. Several times the number was not spoken, but simply written on the slate or indicated with the fingers. Mr. Davis was blindfolded several times during the test, but it did not seem to make any difference, as Dodgefield, the dog, had some way of understanding his master's wishes.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

ST. LOUIS DE FRANCE.

A DEPARTURE FROM PREVIOUS RELIGIOUS CONSTRUCTION.

One of the Largest and Finest Church Edifices in the Province of Quebec—A Beautiful Model—The Plans and Measurements.

The Province of Quebec is dotted with fine churches, but the new St. Louis de France, in that part of Montreal above Sherbrooke street and east of St. Lawrence street, is one of the finest and largest parochial churches to be found within its confines. In its architecture it differs materially from previous religious construction. The facade of cut stone consists of three arches, which form a peristyle. The central arch is crowned by a bronze statue of the church's patron saint, Louis of France. On the right hand corner, at Avenue de l'Hotel de Ville and Roy street, rises a tower 70 feet in height, in which are inclosed the baptismal founts. On the other side the main tower, 30 x 30 feet, rises gracefully and majestically to a height of 208 feet. The corner pillars are of cut stone of different shades.

The niche for the bells, in the upper part of the tower, is also of cut stone, of octagonal form, 24 x 24 feet. The cross which crowns the tower is of gilt iron, of wonderful workmanship.

The greatest width of the front is 104 feet and its greatest height is 116 feet. The body of the church is 82 feet in width and 240 feet in length over all.

In the interior decoration of the church the Roman style of architecture has been strictly followed, even in matters of detail. The finishing of the walls and ceiling is in wood of various colors, with carved panels, and graceful ornaments in gold. The arches o fthe nave are very elegant. The central panel of the ceiling in wood of various colors, with carved panels, and graceful ornaments in gold. The arches of the nave are very elegant. The central panel of the ceiling is adorned with excellent copies in oil of the works of various masters, the subjects reproduced being the Rosary of Sassa-Ferrato, surrounded with a chain of Angels imitated from Raphael; the Immaculate Conception of Murillo; the Annunciation, by Guido Reni; the Assumption of Titian; the Crowning of the Holy Virgin of Raphael, while in the sanctuary is a reproduction of St. Louis praying by Le Brun.

The railing of the sanctuary is of carved white oak, with marble top, and the stalls of the sanctuary are of the same wood. The altars, the principal of which is of imposing proportion, are also of wood with marble panels and columns, of the finest colors.

The church is well lighted by twenty-five large windows, of colored glass, the gift of the various socialities of the parish and of some of the members of the congregation. The designs on these windows include makes of various saints, copied from the works of Le Sueur, Le Baron and Cubonel; while the surrounding panels are imitated from the celebrated windows of the Cathedral of Rheims. This part of the work has been done in Rheims, under the direction of Messrs. Fritel and Vermonet, two noted French artists.

The images of the Way of the Cross are in copper, and imitated from Fuhrich. It is the only work of the kind on the continent.

The recent inauguration ceremonies were of the most imposing character. Mgr. Paul Larocque, of Sherbrooke, blessed the new temple and afterwards celebrated pontifical high mass. The sermon was delivered by Mgr. E. Gravel of Nicolet. The choir, which has a great reputation, and which was supported by a full orchestra, rendered Beethoven's Mass en ut, which was heard in Canada for the first time.

We know the great cures of Hood's Sarsaparilla are genuine because the people themselves write about them.

Slighted.

WHITELAW REID.

Sketch of the Special U.S. Ambassador to the Queen's Jubilee.

Whitelaw Reid's commission as special ambassador from the President of the United States to the Queen's jubilee has been signed by President McKinley. The appointment is regarded at Washington as being a wise one. Mr. Reid is a man of affairs, with a wide experience of the world, well traveled, accustomed to deal with eminent people and familiar with the ways and the words of diplomats. The mission which he has accepted is a most honorable one, and one, too, requiring much grace, tact and experience of men. In 1889 Mr. Reid accepted the mission to France and filled its functions with much credit to himself and the country. He might have been minister to Germany, but he saw fit to decline that post on two occasions. His newspaper, The New York Tribune, claims most of his attention, and he preferred the activity that he found in the very current of events as the head of a metropolitan newspaper to the work of a diplomat even of so high and dignified station as that of minister to Germany. The honor of special ambassador from the President of the United States to the Queen of England on the occasion of her jubilee is quite another matter, however, and Mr. Reid felt in all respects gratified with the work and the honor. It is now thirty years since Mr. Reid became connected with The New York Tribune and has been in the public eye almost all of that time. He is 59 years old and thoroughly United Statesan in feeling.

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

Even baby understands that it is not right that mother should be always sickly, nervous, fretful and cross. Baby wonders what is the matter. Baby would willingly help if he could. It lies with the woman herself to help herself. No one else can do it. She can help herself if she will. If a woman will take proper care of her womanly self; if she will use the right remedy for weakness and disease of the organs that bear the burdens of maternity, she will soon be healthy, vigorous and amiable. She will be able to help baby, instead of leaving baby to try and help her.

A wonderful remedy for weakness and disease of the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on these organs. It makes them strong and healthy. It has transformed thousands of suffering, pain-racked women into healthy, happy wives and mothers. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and steadies and invigorates the nerves. It prepares for wifehood and motherhood. It insures inherently healthy children. All good druggists sell it. There is nothing "just the same" or "just as good." The druggist who tells you there is, is either mistaken or dishonest.

Mrs. Joseph Simmons, of Hazelgreen, Grant County, Wis., writes: "Inclosed find postage stamps, for which please send me the 'People's Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I have used your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' and have received a great deal of benefit from them."

When a story writer puts in a doctor he is always said to "Look wise." Over one million people have looked wise and acted wisely. They have bought Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Of these wise folks, 680,000 of them paid $1.50 a copy, for the book. It was cheap at that. It is a book of 1008 pages, with 300 illustrations. Think of that. A medical book too. Everybody knows how expensive a medical education is. Now there is a great edition of this book, that is being given away. You pay the cost of customs and mailing, that's all. You send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in strong manilla covers. If you desire a fine embossed cloth cover, send 50 one-cent stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

WINSTON'S BEQUEST.

By HELEN BEEKMAN.

"Oh, yes, sentiment's well enough in its way, but, after all, one needs substantial food upon which to live. It's an old adage about love flying out of the window when poverty enters the door, but its very age enforces our reverence. If it had not been true it would not have been handed down for so many generations," and the speaker, Star Ralston, leaned back with a saucy smile on the lovely face, the eyes, which had given her her name of Star, searching those of the young man, whose own face had paled under the words.

"Then wealth is an absolute necessity to your happiness, Miss Ralston?" he half questioned, half asserted. "Are you sure, quite sure, nothing could fill the gap its loss would make?"

But some one entering checked the answer on the girl's lips. What needed Dale Ferrars more? Had he not already heard that which doomed him?

"Hello, Dale! What is it now? You are pale as any ghost," exclaimed a voice from the depths of an easy chair, a voice smothered in clouds of smoke, as Dale Ferrars, an hour later, entered his room, to find Elliot Winston already in possession. The two had been friends for years, sharing the same suite of apartments, and brothers in all but the tie of blood; yet many wondered at the close intimacy between them. One nature was frank, open, trustful; the other cold, cynical and suspicious.

"It's no use, Elliott, old fellow," Dale answered, throwing himself in a chair opposite, "I can never win her!"

"And may I inquire whom the pronoun designates?" But around the questioner's mouth crept a wary smile, while his eyes grew steel-like in their hardness.

"Whom! Oh, Elliot, don't torment me further! You know there is for me but one woman in the world, and that one Star Ralston."

"You mean you have proposed to Miss Ralston and been rejected?" a flash of triumph passing swiftly across his face.

"No, not that. I had made up my mind to say the words to-night, but—oh, Winston, it's the old story—money, money."

"A fortune-hunter like the rest, is she, my boy! Don't be discouraged. To bed and dream of the good the Fates hold in store for you. Follow my example—let nothing interfere with your rest," and, rising with a yawn, he disappeared through the communicating door into his own bedroom, but with it once closed between them the mask fell from his features, an angry frown gathered on his brow.

"He loves her, and is so blind that he does not see how entirely she returns it, and I—I love her, too; yet with all my gold I cannot buy one smile such as she wastes on him. But by fair means or foul I will win her yet."

"You've lost this money, Elliot—$20,000 in bonds—here from our rooms!" exclaimed Dale Ferrars a week later, confronting his friend, who had just overwhelmed him with the terrible news.

"It's bad enough!" the other answered, but his eyes wandered restlessly about the room, never meeting the frank, open gaze of his friend, while the deadly pallor on his cheek bespoke a sleepless night and a mind ill at ease.

"But are not the bonds marked in some way that you can identify them? Have you no clew to the thief?"

"Yes," he answered, "I have their numbers, and this is the worst part of it, Dale, old fellow; you know, of course, I don't believe it, but the detectives who have the case in charge insist upon searching your things—"

"My heaven, Elliot! And you would permit it?"

"Not if I had my own way for a moment, but it has gone beyond my jurisdiction, they say, and, in fact, they are waiting in the next room now. It's all a matter of form, Dale, after all. Let them go through it, and they will be content—"

"Bid them enter," commanded the young man, proudly, standing with knit brows and folded arms, but the murmur: "Et tu, Brute," escaped through his clenched teeth.

Once as they opened his trunk he started forward. Star's picture was hidden there. How terrible that their eyes should detect it. But in another moment they interpreted the start according to their own satisfaction, as from a compartment from the very bottom of the trunk they drew forth in triumph the missing property, not a bond wanting.

"You'll trust us another time, Mr. Winston," he heard them say.

"I can't believe it yet; but go on further. The property is found. Do not expose him—"

"Too late for that now," they replied, as they stooped to slip the handcuffs upon him.

"Not that!" he exclaimed, breaking from them, a red flush for the first time signalling his shame upon his cheek. "I am a gentleman, and will go with you as a gentleman," and, without one backward glance at the man who stood white and trembling by his recovered bonds, he turned and let the detectives lead him whither they would.

The city rang with the strange story and the noble efforts of Elliot Winston to save the friend who had betrayed him from exposure. Such unselfishness! Such rare nobility! But there was one who listened to the news without one moment's wavering in her pure belief.

"He is innocent," she said, when they had finished. "As innocent as I am. Dale Ferrars never was a thief." But when in her own room she recalled the past her words, "as innocent as I am," rose once more before her.

"Am I innocent?" she questioned. Did I not always say money was my great ambition? If he did it, did he not do it for my sake? I, who would have gone to the ends of the world with him, waited on him, served him and asked no greater happiness—but he never did it. My Dale could do nothing mean!"

"Oh, Mr. Winston!" exclaimed Star, a few mornings later, entering her drawing-room, where her visitor stood awaiting her. "How glad I am to see you—to see some one who shares my belief in Dale Ferrars' innocence—"

"Would that I could share it, Miss Ralston."

"But you do not! Are you not working for his release?"

"I can never forget that he was my friend. The world construes my efforts for him into belief in his innocence, and my loyalty keeps me silent; but, alas! I fear they are powerless. His guilt is too evident."

"He was never guilty!" rang out the clear, young voice, while the small head raised itself proudly and the violet eyes flashed. "I would stake my life upon it."

"Stake nothing so precious, Miss Ralston. Dale Ferrars could not appreciate the priceless boon he might have had. He has proven himself unworthy. But there is one who loves you with a love which will go with him to his grave; who has loved you silently all these years. It is my own cause, I plead, Star. Oh, though I prove so poor an advocate, be merciful, and let me win my cause by deed rather than word!"

He had spoken too rapidly for the girl to check his words. The torrent would not be stemmed.

"I cannot," she at last made answer.

"And why?"

"Because," she answered, proudly, "I love the man you call a thief—love him so dearly that I would rather have a prison cell with him than tread a castle with any other."

"What if I tell you on your decision rests Dale Ferrars' hope of acquittal? Do you love him well enough for such a sacrifice?"

"He would not wish it."

"What! he would rather pine long years in prison, disgraced and degraded? Listen, Star! Be my wife, and I will take such measures as will not only acquit him of punishment, but the deed. With money I can buy a man who will swear he was the thief, and placed the bonds in Dale's trunk."

"And are you sure he would not swear truthfully?" was the quick retort.

"But too sure to the contrary. Come, Star, decide. Be my wife, darling, and I will surround you with every luxury and trust to time to win your love?"

"Go find your witness," she answered. "Bring him to me. If there is no other way I will accept this."

"In two days I will return with him."

His victory was in his hand. For this he had worked, for this planned. This he had achieved, and a smile of exquisite triumph lighted Elliot Winston's face, as a few hours later, leaving Star, he leaned back in the comfortable railway carriage which was to bear him on his journey, and gave himself up to the delights of anticipation. Retrospect was less agreeable. But suddenly a sharp whistle rings out on the night air, a note of warning which strikes terror to every heart, which is followed by a crash, a glare, then blinding darkness. Out from the mass of broken timbers they drag a man's form and tenderly bear him, with many other suffering victims, to a hospitable farm house near by. Death is inevitable. In a few hours it must ensue. Once more Star's face and form are with him—the one thing that, in all these years, has grown into that sealed heart. His happiness is over now. Hers must be secured even at cost of truth and his fair name. What matters it what they say of the dead?

"Some one must write for me," he feebly says, and there are many to obey the call. "Darling," he dictates, "I have a sad story to tell you, but you will, I know, forgive the dead. Dale is innocent, dear, as you said. I stole my own bonds and placed them in his trunk. I was the thief and traitor as well. But I would have sold myself a hundred times to win one kiss from your lips. Use my confession to free him, but remember, I need not have made it. It is a bequest worthy of my love—darling—good-by— Elliot Winston."

With trembling hand he subscribed his own name, then sank back—dead.

Once more the city rang with the strange story, but this time Dale shared in its rejoicing. He was the hero of the hour, but it was in Star's eyes he found his triumph.—N.Y. Ledger.

ETHEREAL TELEGRAPHY.

The Marconi System to Be Tried Against That of Preece.

Perhaps the era of wireless telegraphy is not far distant and "luminiferous ether" will become the electrical conductor of thought. The process of Signor Guglielmus Marconi, who has devised a telegraph in which he utilizes the electrostatic waves and by which he has transmitted messages about two miles on Salisbury Plain, is to be tried against the system of A. N. Preece, C.A., F.R.S., engineer-in-chief of the home post office, who has been experimenting on the same lines since 1884 and who in 1893 sent wireless messages across the British Channel (3 miles). He has since transmitted messages five miles from the Isle of Arran to the mainland.

Last year the cable between the Island of Mull and Oban having been broken down for four days, 150 messages (one press message of 120 words) were transmitted by aerial telegraphy. An insulated wire about a mile long was laid along the ground on the mainland, one end being put to "earth" in the sea and the other to a highland burn. The other wire skirted the opposite coast of the Island of Mull, each of these parallel conductors becoming "primary" or "secondary," as used to send or receive messages. An alternating current was employed and the telegraphing signals of the Morse code could be read by ear in a telephone connected with the secondary circuit. Whatever may be the nature of these conducting waves (which Faraday characterized as a medium too subtle to be detected by our senses or even by our most delicate apparatus, and which Clark Maxwell says is nothing else than the luminiferous ether which is the vehicle of light), earnest scientists are experimenting all along the line of development, extension, mastery. It is possible that but a short time may elapse before all our present complicated and costly telegraphy and telephone apparatus may be relegated to "inocuous desuetude," by the installation of ethereal telegraphy.

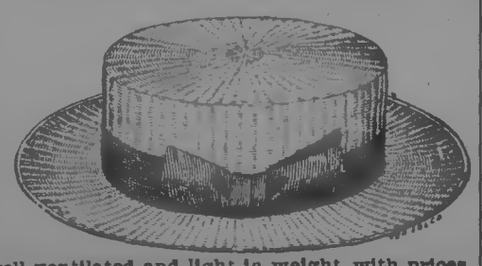
AND LIGHT TOURIST HATS.

The correct thing for the summer season, is a new Hat in these goods.

Last years' Straw or Light Felt looks faded and behind the times.

With one of ours we will guarantee the style and proper appearance.



Newest Blocks, well ventilated and light in weight, with prices the lowest.

Pure Juice of Fruit

Most of the summer beverages are mere stuff and are neither thirst-quenching nor refreshing—while many of them are quite injurious. On the island of Monserrat the Lime is cultivated and the pure fruit juice pressed out, bottled and sold all over the world under the trade mark name

Monsterrat

It is pure, wholesome and refreshing. Beware of imitations. "Montserrat" is sold by all druggists and grocers, and is always to be had where summer drinks are sold.

If a Lime Juice Cordial is required "Limetta" will be found the finest article of its kind on the market.

THROW AWAY

That foul old Pipe and treat yourself to a new B. B. B. or a MORREL McKENZIE Anti-Nicotine, for cool summer smoking.

DON'T SMOKE low grade Cigars when you can buy 10c smokes for 5c. You can enjoy every puff of our "Montreal Bouquets," "Layfayettes," and "Melrose" 5c Cigars.

HAVANA CIGARS—A new consignment of Imported Cigars, which we got in before the raise on duty. Our customers can benefit till the stock is exhausted.

All Tobacco in tins we are selling at the same old price. Prices tip the beam in your favour, while you listen to the last popular song of the wonderful Graphophone.

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. Premiums may be paid for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 years or for life, and if so desired the Company will commute the Instalment into a single cash payment. Same terms and conditions as in all other policies. PETERBOROUGH TORONTO

MODERN SCIENTISTS.

TWO WHO ARE TAKING MUCH INTEREST IN THE 1897 MEETING.

The British Association For the Advancement of Science Has a Canadian Friend in Prof. Galbraith and an American One in Dr Gibbs.

Professor John Galbraith of Toronto, active in the British Association for the Advancement of Science, holds an enviable position among the educators of Ontario. He is also a moving spirit in the American Association, in which he is a vice-president, and chairman of Section D, Mechanical Science and Engineering. Montreal is his native city (1846). He pursued studies in Toronto, concluding a brilliant university course by carrying off the Prince of Wales' prize and the gold medal in mathematics. In 1870 he was a member of the Intercolonial Railway staff and later a prominent officer in the construction department of the Midland Railway. Subsequently he spent a number of years acquiring practical knowledge of the mechanical branches of engineering at the Baldwin Locomotive works and other similar establishments in the United States.

In 1877, when the Ontario School of Practical Science was founded, Professor Galbraith was placed in charge. Later the school was reorganized and affiliated with Toronto University, Professor Galbraith principal.

In 1880 he organized the famous exploratory trip from Georgian Bay to Fort Churchill on James Bay, and thence easterly to Lake Mistassini. His journey to Mystic Lake was made by canoe with Indians his only companions. The most dangerous passage is the rapids from Hight of Land southward; one of these, eleven miles long, has since been named Galbraith Falls in honor of the explorer and his perilous trip. Among other adventures, in making the descent, the professor's canoe was upset in the surging waters and he was rescued with great difficulty.

While Professor Galbraith is scholarly in his bearing, he is genial and companionable.

DR. WALCOTT GIBBS.

President of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Wolcott Gibbs, president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and who is to be present at the meeting of the British Association in Toronto this summer, was richly endowed in his ancestry, his father being a noted mineralogist and a man of affairs, and his mother, Laura Wolcott, the daughter of Oliver Wolcott, secretary of the United States Treasury during the administrations of George Washington and John Adams.

The Gibbs family have honored their honored parentage, taking prominent place in scientific, literary and civil affairs. George Gibbs, the eldest, was an antiquarian and patriot, marching overland with the Mounted Rifles from St. Louis to Columbia, on the Pacific Coast. Studying Indian dialects and familiarizing himself with the problems of the day, he was a valuable member of the United States Boundary Commission for Oregon, of the northwest boundary survey, and later of the survey of the Northern Pacific Railway.

Another brother, Alfred, served under Sheridan in the late war, was brevetted major for gallantry, receiving successively brevets up to and including major-general in the United States army.

Dr. Wolcott Gibbs, the subject of this sketch, has devoted his life to scholarly pursuits. Graduating at Columbia College, he studied in Berlin and the College of France, pursuing laboratory work under Liebig at Giessen.

In 1849-63 he held the chair of physics and chemistry in the College of New York City, and was then elected to the Rumford professorship at Harvard University, which position he has held uninterruptedly till the present either as active professor or professor emeritus. Dr. Gibbs' contributions to science have been voluminous and widely read. For over twenty years he prepared abstracts of the important physical and chemical papers contained in foreign scientific journals, while his numerous original investigations have been reported in scientific journals, notably "Contributions from the Lawrence Scientific School and the American Journal of Science."

In 1873 Dr. Gibbs was United States commissioner to the Vienna exposition and contributed valuable reports to the Government which form an important part of its scientific literature. Dr. Gibbs has received numerous honors from foreign societies, having the distinction of being the only honorary member of the German Chemical Society, and one of the two American honorary members of the London Chemical Society. In 1873 he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Columbia College. He was elected vice-president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1886, president of the National Academy of Sciences in 1895, and president of the American Science Association at the Buffalo meeting in 1896.

A FEARFUL ACCIDENT.

Three Men Covered by a Shower of Red Hot Coals and One Will Die—Others are Disfigured.

Buffalo, June 23.—A terrible accident, which will result in the death of one man and the disfiguration of two others, occurred in the engine room of the Brooxel House, at Wells and Seneca-streets, this morning about 9 o'clock. An immense water tube in one of the boilers burst, and hurled the red hot coals in the bed of the furnace over the bodies of three men. The injured men are Engineer Thomas Smith, Albert Trader, an assistant fireman, and James Martin, a fireman. The latter was fatally burned. The men were firing the furnace when the explosion occurred. Martin was bent low, peering into the bed of coals, which he was leveling in the furnace. Trader was standing beside him, shoveling. Without an instant's warning the tube, under a pressure of several hundred pounds, burst, and the explosion threw the burning coals into the faces of the three men with terrible force. The noise of the explosion could be heard through the whole building.

A Rival Telephone Company.

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—The Executive Committee applointed at the preliminary meeting of the Independent Telephone Companies in Chicago, reported a constitution last evening. The name of the new organization will be the Independent Telephone Association of the United States of America. The Detroit company absolutely refuse to enter into any association which contemplated litigation.

IS THE SEA LARK LOST?

Anxiety in England Over the Non-Arrival of a British Training Ship for the Jubilee.

Portsmouth, Eng., June 23.—Considerable anxiety is felt here at the non-arrival at this port to take part in the great naval review of the British training brig Sea Lark.

She was due here last Thursday, but has not been seen since she left Devonport. It is believed the brig experienced the full force of the recent gales, and, being under sail and manned by 41 officers and men and 80 boys, some mishap is feared. Two special service vessels which were despatched to search for the missing brig between Portsmouth and Devonport, have returned without finding any trace of the Sea Lark. The Admiralty officials say it is not unusual for such vessels to be delayed by head winds and they claim to feel no anxiety for her safety.

The Sea Lark left Queen's Ferry on the 12th for Portsmouth. On the 18th she reported herself off Grimsby as somewhat disabled and as having been delayed by head winds.

Lieut. Lizard, her commander, is among the recipients of Jubilee promotion, having been raised to the rank of commander. The boys of her crew were recruited from the training ship Caledonia, to which the Sea Lark served as a tender.

THE BASEBALL RECORD

At Syracuse: Syracuse out-batted Buffalo, but lost because Bannon made two consecutive errors in the first innings, which netted two runs, and two passed balls by Crough, a local amateur catcher, who was pressed into service because Shaw is still sick and Ryan is still with his sick wife. But four hits were made off Willis' pitching. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Syracuse	0 0 0 0 2 0 0 1 0	3	10	3
Buffalo	2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 2	5	4	2

Batteries—Willis and Crough; Souders and Zahner.

At Scranton: The Miners batted Egan freely, but were able to bunch their hits in only the third and ninth innings. The game was not decided until a hit by pitcher, Cooney's error, doubles by Massey and Maguire and O'Brien's single were made in the last innings. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Scranton	0 0 2 0 1 0 1 0 4	8	17	2
Providence	2 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1	4	7	3

Batteries—Harper and Gunson; Egan and Duncan.

At Wilkes-Barre: Springfield took the third successive game from Wilkes Barre. Failure to hit the ball at the proper time and poor fielding and base-running were responsible for the defeat of the Barons. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Wilkes-Barre	0 1 2 3 0 0 0 0 0	6	12	4
Springfield	2 0 1 0 1 0 3 0 *	7	11	2

Batteries—Manville and Diggins; Woods and Duncan.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Washington Heavy hitting again won the day for Washington, but while the Senators batted well, several errors were made in the field. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Washington	0 4 2 0 0 2 2 2 *	12	15	6
Philadelphia	1 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0	2	7	3

Batteries—Mercer and Maguire; Taylor and Clements.

At Baltimore—The champions lost the last of the present series to the Giants in a loosely-played game. Pond took the box in the sixth and proved more effective than his predecessor. Manager Hanlon signed George Blackburn of Dallas, Texas, as an addition to the pitching department. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	0 0 0 0 0 1 2 1 0	4	9	3
New York	0 0 1 0 4 1 0 0 *	6	9	4

Batteries—Hoffer, Pond and Bowerman; Sullivan and Warner.

At Cincinnati—The Reds made it three straights by defeating the Browns in a fast game. Both teams played snappy ball, and the playing of Corcoran and Harley was the feature. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	0 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 *	5	8	0
St. Louis	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0	1	7	1

Batteries—Dwyer and Peltz; Cursey and Douglass.

At Cleveland Powell pitched his first game for the Clevelands and held the Louisvilles down to three hits, two of them of the scratch order. The Colonels' only run was forced in on a questionable decision that Clark had been hit on the fingers by a pitched ball, at which he struck. The Indians found McGee an easy proposition and pounded him hard. Chapman ran into a house going after a foul, and was painfully injured. The game was called to allow the Clevelands to catch a train. Attendance 600. Score:

Cleveland	5 0 3 0 1 5 0 4	18	19	0

Batteries—Powell and Cringer; McGee and Butler.

At Pittsburg—The game was a good one and interesting because of the even run throughout. Both pitchers were hit hard, giving the fielders opportunity for brilliant plays. The game was won in the eleventh inning when two were out, by Brodie making a scratch hit, scoring Smith. Attendance 1800. Score:

		R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	3 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 1	6	16	3
Chicago	0 0 0 3 1 0 0 1 0 0 0	5	10	1

Batteries—Killen and Sugden; Griffith and Kittridge.

At Brooklyn—Young Lewis allowed the Brooklyns but three hits, while the Bostons knocked Daub all over the lot. This best tells the tale of the home team's downfall, and at the same time explains why the Beaneaters once more lead for the pennant. Lowe broke the small finger on his left hand in the first inning, and will undoubtedly be laid up for some time. Score:

Boston	1 3 0 3 0 0 2 1 3	13	19	1

Batteries—Daub and H. Smith; Lewis and Yeager.

AN AGED MAN DROWNED.

Peter Wilkinson of Cedar Creek Supposed to Have Committed Suicide.

Kingsville, Ont., June 23.—This afternoon Peter Wilkinson walked to Cedar Creek, laid his hat on the bank, waded out and was drowned in about three feet of water. He is supposed to have been a deliberate suicide. The body was found at 5 p.m. Deceased was 80 years of age, and one of the first settlers in South Essex, was very highly respected and a prominent Mason. He has had poor health of late and was quite despondent. He leaves three daughters and one brother, namely: Mrs. Decker, Detroit; Mrs. James Stewart and Mrs. J. Breen of Windsor; and Joseph of Kingsville.

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to see such signs of Peterborough's prosperity. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

THE PRINCESS' DAY.

The Jubilee Dinner to the Poor in London.

SOME VERY TOUCHING INCIDENTS.

Two Little Cripples Presented Bouquets to Her Royal Highness—Many Thousands of Poor People Dined and Made Merry—Brilliant Affair at Buckingham Palace.

London, June 24.—The Princess of Wales' Jubilee dinners to the poor today were very successful. About 300,000 denizens of the slums were sumptuously entertained at the various centres. The Princess, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince and Princess Charles of Denmark, visited the principal halls where the feasts were given. The Princess of Wales requested the Lord Mayor to deliver this message to all the diners, as follows:

"Although I am unfortunately unable to be present at all the dinners for my poor, I shall be with them in spirit, hoping that they will enjoy themselves and give three cheers for their Queen."

The children at the People's Palace were all cripples. Some were wheeled in bath chairs, others limped in on crutches into the banquet hall, and many had to be carried in.

As soon as the royal party reached the platform two little cripples presented bouquets of flowers to the Princess of Wales and to the Lady Mayoress. The scene was most affecting, and nearly all eyes were moist. The Prince of Wales, in behalf of the Princess, expressed the pleasure which it afforded them in being able to bring some degree of happiness to the children. He then called for cheers for the Queen, which were heartily given. The members of the royal party then made a tour o fthe hall, and before leaving the Princess of Wales took up a glass of ginger ale, which had been served to one of the little cripples, and emptied it to the health of the children.

At the Central Hall, Holborn, 17,000 people, young and old, partook of the banquet served. When the royal party entered the hall the food was apparently forgotten, all present stood up, and cheer after cheer shook the building.

On making a tour of the room the Princess of Wales turned to an old Irish woman and expressed the hope that she had partaken of a good dinner. To this the old woman replied: "God bless you, dear," and patted the Princess on the shoulder. The members of the royal party frequently shook hands with and spoke encouraging words to ragged waifs.

The same scenes were witnessed at Clerkenwell.

This has, emphatically, been the Princess of Wales' day, and her idea of giving a treat to the poor has been crowned with the greatest success. She was everywhere received with much enthusiasm. The day was very hot, and the Princess wore the simplest kind of a muslin dress with figured mauve pansies.

At the People's Palace the Princess herself made the first block of ice cream, with a patent freezer, to the delight of the children. At the various adult feasts it was at first decided not to allow beer to be served, but the Lady Mayoress interceded, and all present had a "reasonable allowance."

FOR THE NAVAL REVIEW.

A Big Assemblage of Yachts in the Solent Already for the Event.

Portsmouth, Eng., June 24.—Already there is a big assemblage of yachts in the Solent, to witness the great naval review of Saturday next. Practically all the warships, British and foreign, are in line, and they present a most imposing sight. The American Line steamships will carry a full complement of passengers to the review. On board the New York, among others, there will be Sir Patrick Blake, Former Congressman W. Bourke Cockran, Sir Charles Forbes, Mr. Knatchbull-Hugessen, Lord Cecil Manners, Admiral Sir George Nares and 450 others, mostly Americans.

The White Star Line steamship Teutonic left Liverpool to-day as an armed cruiser. She has 90 board, in addition to her regular crew, who are all naval reserve men, 20 blue jackets of the Royal navy, 20 boys from the schools ship Conway, and 100 boys from the orphanage ship Indefatigable. The armament of the Teutonic consists of eight quick-fire guns and eight Nordenfeldt guns.

OUR TROOPS DISAPPOINTED.

Will Not Have Time to Visit Glasgow and Other Cities Chamberlain and Laurier.

London, June 24.—(Telegram Cable.)—It was hinted some days ago that the Colonial troops would be given a trip to Scotland, and for a brief stay be the guests of the hospitable city of Glasgow. To the disappointment of many, and notably the Canadians, the idea has been abandoned.

Colonial Secretary Chamberlain said to-day after the meeting at the Colonial Office that it was owing to the brief time between now and the departure of the Colonial troops that the idea of visiting, not only Glasgow, but Birmingham, Manchester and other large cities had to be abandoned.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is delighted at the reception accorded him in London. He said to-day that not only the pageant, but the welcome by London to himself as Premier and to the troops representing Canada exceeded his most sanguine anticipations.

The first of the series of meetings, which Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, intends holding at the Colonial Office during the sojourn of the Premiers of the Colonies in London, was held to-day. Mr. Chamberlain devoted much of the time to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the topic of their conversation being the Canadian tariff resolutions and the preferential feature of them.

The Trades Council of the city of London will invite Sir Wilfrid Laurier at an early date to address a mass meeting of industrial workers.

Col. Prior's condition is not so good to-day. I have just learned that Dr. McCormack, the celebrated surgeon, has been summoned to see the patient at St. Thomas' Hospital and take part in a consultation.

STATE RECEPTION.

A Scene of Dazzling Splendor at Buckingham Palace Last Night.

London, June 24.—On behalf of Her Majesty, the Prince and Princess of Wales gave a state reception this evening at Buckingham Palace. The occasion was one of unprecedented brilliancy, the guests numbering over 1500 and included all the special Jubilee visitors and the admirals captains and officers from Spithead. An enormous crowd watched the arrivals at the Palace, while the streets converging there were filled with carriages.

The ball room scene was one of dazzling splendor. The guests promenaded through the gorgeous saloons of the Palace, while the bands played dance music. Among those present were the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Coburg, the Duke and Duchess of Fife and the Duke and Duchess of Teck.

Windsor Illuminated

Windsor Castle is brilliantly illuminated to-night with the changing colors of Bengal lights. The magnificent spectacle is visible for a distance of ten miles.

The Queen, the Empress Frederick and the Princess Beatrice drove out at Windsor to-night and witnessed a picturesque carnival procession arranged by the townspeople.

Received by Admirals.

Windsor, Eng., June 24.—The Lords of the Admiralty and all the admirals of the foreign ships who are to take part in the naval review off Spithead on Saturday next were received by Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle to-day.

Celebrated in Madrid.

London, June 24.—The Madrid correspondence to The Times says: The British colony gave a subscription banquet this evening (Wednesday) in honor of the Jubilee, the British Ambassador, Sir Henry Drummond-Wolff, presiding. Mr. Hannis Taylor, the American Minister, was the only invited guest. Mr. Taylor in the course of the evening eloquently eulogized the virtues of the Queen, and expressed the respect and love in which she is held by all English-speaking people.

A Jubilee Tornado.

London, June 24.—During a Jubilee celebration to-day at Wembley Park, a favorite London resort, a tornado struck the place and tore down several buildings. There was a panic among the 900 children and others taking part in the festivities. Several were injured during the rush for shelter.

All London Papers Pleased.

London, June 24.—All the London newspapers express the greatest gratification at the kindly comments of the American newspapers on the Queen's Jubilee and at the vivid accounts of the celebration contained in the newspapers of the United States.

Rand is Not Dead.

Bombay, June 24.—It developed to-day that Plague Commissioner Rand, who was shot at and wounded by a native while leaving the Governor's reception at Ganeshkind on Tuesday evening at the same time that Lieut. Ayerst of the commissariat corps was killed, is not dead, as reported last night. The commissioner to-day was improving.

NILE EXPEDITION MASSACRED.

Baron Dhanis and His Whole Force Reported to Have Fallen Into the Hands of the Dervishes.

Brussels, June 24.—The Reforma says it learns from a good source that the entire Dhanis expedition to the head of the waters of the Nile, including Baron Dhanis himself, has been massacred. Baron Dhanis last year enlisted 6000 men in the Congo Free State to take part in a secret expedition. The British Government allowed a number of its Hussar troops to join the expedition, but it was officially denied that an Anglo-Belgian movement had been concerted against the Mahdists.

The general impression, however, was that this force was intended to act in conjunction with the Anglo-Egyptian expedition up the Nile and take the Mahdists between two fires, and eventually complete the reconquest of the Soudan.

Early in December last it was reported that the expedition had met with disaster, and that Baron Dhanis himself had been killed. Later it was authoritatively stated that there was no ground for the report that the Baron had been killed, and that when last heard from, in September, he was at Stanley Falls, 600 miles from the nearest Dervish forces.

Rev. Hugh Johnston Heard From.

Washington, June 23.—An eloquent tribute to the long and illustrious reign of Queen Victoria was a feature of the opening prayer before the Senate to-day by the acting chaplain, Rev. Hugh Johnston, a former member of the Toronto Methodist Conference.

KICKING SENATORS

Afraid the Constitution is Going to be Fractured.

SIR M. BOWELL WANTED TO KNOW

How the Ministers Got Authority to Present the I. C. R. Estimate—Mr. Mills Did Not Think There Was Any Danger of the Constitution Being Smashed.

Ottawa, June 24. The Senate this forenoon discussed the action of the Government in bringing down an estimate $157,500 for the Intercolonial extension. Sir Mackenzie brought the matter up by asking for information from the Government. He did not think that His Excellency the Governor-General knew the circumstances of the case when he had given his assent to the item. The Ministers had got his assent before the action of the Senate had been made known.

Sir Oliver Mowat did not know the result until this morning. In his opinion it was going to be an experiment so as to show the benefits of the extension of the road meantime and then to get the Senate to assent to it.

Senator Miller said that they were face to face with a grave crisis. In his opinion the time has come for the Senate to decide whether it was going to submit or not to the will of any Minister. They should take a stand which would shake the very constitution. If the Senate submitted then it would become the laughing stock of the whole country.

Senator Power did not think that the Senate should be so nasty in discussing this matter. They ought to wait and see what was done.

Senator Macdonald, British Columbia, held that there was a deliberate attempt made to override the constitution.

Senator Mills did not see the grave crisis that was so apparent to some of his fellow-members of the Senate. The Senate had rejected a bill, and one of the items in this bill was included in the supply bill. Both Houses were perfectly within their rights. He cited several cases which had occurred in the British Parliament. In one case the British House of Commons put an item in the estimates in connection with abolishing the paper duties after the House of Lords had thrown out the bill. The supply bill was passed by the Lords. In another case the British House of Commons passed a bill doing away with purchasing commissions in the army. The Lords threw out the bill. The Government then abolished purchase by Order-in-Council. He held that the Commons were within their rights.

Senator Bowell: And if the Senate threw out the supply bill it would be within its rights.

Senator Mills maintained that the outcome would be that the Senate would have to reject the supply bills.

Sir Oliver Mowat held that there was no attempt to override the will of the Senate. The whole thing was an experiment to test the benefits of the extension of the Intercolonial to Montreal. He hoped the Senate would not bring the country face to face with a grave constitutional crisis. The matter then dropped.

On motion for the adoption of the amendments made in committee to the bill to incorporate the Yukon Mining and Transportation Company, Senators McCallum, Macdonald (P. E. I.) and McInnes spoke against the bill and Senators Macdonald (B. C.) and Almon in favor of it, after which the motion to concur in the amendments was carried on a division of 18 to 12. The bill was then read a third time and passed.

The Secretary of State, in moving the second reading of the tariff bill, spoke for the remainder of the morning session, explaining the provisions item by item. He concluded by moving the second reading of the bill.

Senator Almon called upon Sir Oliver Mowat to redeem his promise to explain the action of the Government on an important public question, which had caused so much commotion in the Senate at the early session.

Sir Oliver Mowat said he had made no promise. He had said distinctly that he could not say more than he had said until he had consulted with his colleagues. Since the morning session he had consulted with them, and it was decided that a statement should not be made in the Senate until the matter came up for discussion in the Lower House. He entirely agreed with that decision.

In answer to a request by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the Secretary of State read and explained the combines clause in the tariff.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell severely criticized the action of the Government in proposing to take power to deal with the difficult question of combines formed in restraint of trade. He went into the question at length, to show the difficulty of dealing with and punishing combines. Apart from the difficulties of the question from a legal aspect, he maintained that powers such as were conferred under the clause should never be exercised by a government.

garded the clause as mere humbug and an effort on the part of the Government to convince the great consuming classes of the country that the Government was going to guard their interests as against combinators. He knew the Government would never dare put the law into operation, and for that reason he was not going to move to strike it out of the bill. He thought it better to leave the clause where it was as an evidence of what nonsensical legislation could be crowded into a tariff enactment. Speaking for himself, he did not propose to make any effort to have this clause removed from the tariff, because he knew the Government would never dare to put such a law into force.

Speaking of the preferential phase of the tariff, he complimented the Government on having stolen another plank from the Conservative platform. Had he thought of it when the criminal code was under consideration he would have proposed a clause punishing unscrupulous politicians who stole the political arguments and platforms of their opponents. He would be prepared to congratulate the Government if by its action on the subject of the tariff it was able to induce the British Government to abrogate the favored nation clauses in those treaties to which Canada was a party. He asked if the Government was able to say whether the British Government was prepared to accede to Canada's demand for the abrogation of these treaties.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our

HARVEY.

The Gospel Temperance Society held their regular meeting on June 9th. There was a large attendance and a very good programme was rendered as follows:

Singing and Prayer.
Reading, "Ashamed of Father," by Miss Jeanie Brock
Trio—"When each other's face we see" by the Misses Kreger and Miss Dottie Harris
Recitation—"Little Lizzie".....Miss Ruth Tate
Reading—"Why a moderate drinker should become a total abstainer," Mrs. Wm. Tate, jr.
Song—"Died on the Streets," Miss Dottie Harris
Reading—"The two Glasses," Miss Ada Strachan
Recitation—"Satan's Wants"....Miss Etta Tate
Song—"Fair Ported" by the Misses Kreger and G. H. Brumwell
Reading—"The Irishman's Two Fine Fat Pigs," by Mr. Wm. Tate, sr
Song—"The Coming Victory," by Misses Tate

At the close of the programme, Mr. J. S. Cairnduff, hon. president of the society, gave a short address. He said he was glad to see so many present, as it showed the people had not lost interest in the cause yet. Many prophesied when our society was organized, over seven years ago, that it would not stand long, but he was glad to see that it was still vigorous. He congratulated the society that there was no license in the township. He also advised them to prepare for the next plebiscite, and not wait to pray until they got badly frightened, but to work, and pray also, that the desired end, total prohibition, may be gained. The address was well received, and after singing a verse of "God be With You Till we meet Again," the meeting was brought to a close. A collection will be taken up the next night.

Miss Mary Cairnduff, who has been residing in Hamilton for some time, has returned on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cairnduff. Since Miss Cairnduff went away she has been sadly missed, as she had been an active worker both in church and Sunday school.

Master Freddie Brumwell has recovered from his illness, and will soon be as well as ever again.

Miss Frances Crowe was up from Peterborough last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Crowe.

Mr. John Stewart and Leslie Crowe have returned from the drive, after leaving the logs at McDonald's mill in Peterborough. They are both looking well.

Rev. R. McKnight preached at Nogies' Creek last Sunday night. He explained the cause of his absence the Sunday night previous, as he had to attend the funeral of a child of Mr. Alex. Thompson, and could not possibly get away in time to keep his appointment.

We had an official visit the past week from our genial county councillor, Mr. R. Shaw, in his capacity of Government road commissioner. He was around and examined all the roads where there is money to be expended and apportioned out to the several divisions their allowance, which seems, so far as has been heard, to be satisfactory.

Miss Louisa Angrove is here visiting her aunt, Mrs. Stephen Mollmoye.

KICKING SENATORS.

Sir Oliver Mowat said correspondence was now going on on the subject, and he could not give any definite information. He could say, however, that the British Government had not taken ground against the Canadian contention. Neither had they accepted the ground maintained by Canada. All he could say further than that was that the question was still in abeyance.

To-night Senator Miller gave notice that on Saturday he would move that a special committee be appointed to enquire into the expenditure of the subsidies granted by Parliament to the Drummond Counties Railway, present financial position of said company, its liabilities of every description, whether matured or accruing, condition and classification of said railway, as well as its equipment, and also all other matters and things relating to said railway, with power to send for papers, persons and records, and to report from time to time.

Enquiry to-night resulted in the fact being developed that Mr. Miller is acting solely on his own responsibility. At this late period of the session the committee will not likely be granted.

At the evening session the discussion on the tariff bill was continued. The debate was closed by Sir Oliver Mowat, who defended the retention of the combines clause in the tariff bill. All other enactments had failed to prevent combines, and this method should be tried. It was astonishing that all England should regard the new tariff as a long step in the direction of preferential trade, while Senators here showed that under the tariff England would not be benefited at all.

The bill was passed.

MORE R. E. SUBSIDIES.

And of Course the Drummond County Road Gets a Share.

Ottawa, June 24.—(Special.)—Further railway estimates were brought down to-night. They include a subsidy of 25 miles to the Great Northern Railway from St. Jerome, Que., to Hawkesbury, Ont.

To the Drummond Counties Railway for 42 1-2 miles, provided, however, that this sum shall be refunded if the Government purchases the company's line of railway.

To the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway for 5 miles of road.

To the Great Northern Railway for construction of a bridge across the Ottawa at Hawkesbury, 15 per cent., but not to exceed $52,500.

For an interprovincial bridge between Ottawa and Hull, 15 per cent. on an expenditure of $750,000, not to exceed $112,500.

There is a bare possibility of prorogation this week. Sir Richard Cartwright gives notice of motion for the House to sit on Saturday, and prorogation may take place that evening.

W. E. Brown, boot and shoe merchant of this city, was arrested at Smith's Falls last evening on a charge of procuring Charles E. Baker to transfer his goods to W. J. Saunders of Smith's Falls, with intent to defraud the creditors of Charles E. Baker. The warrant was issued by Mr. B. E. Sparhan of Smith's Falls, acting for Mr. W. J. Saunders. This morning Mr. Brown was brought before Magistrate S. M. Barnes and remanded until Monday. He was allowed out on bail.

CABOT TABLET UNVEILED.

Lord Aberdeen Removed the Covering and Neat Speeches Were Made by Foreign Delegates.

Halifax, N. S., June 24.—The Cabot Tablet was unveiled here to-day. After the opening of the proceedings by the Archbishop, the Governor-General delivered a few appropriate remarks, and removed the covering from the tablet.

Speeches followed by Admiral Erskine, Governor Daly, the representatives of Bristol, ex-Mayors Barker and Davies, the Italian Consul-General at Montreal, Signor Solimbergo, and two representatives of the United States, Consul-General Ingraham and Mayor Thacher of Albany. Ex-Mayors Davies and Barker of Bristol spoke of the claims of Cabot to greatness, and what an eventful voyage had meant for England and America.

Mr. Davies read cablegrams from Bristol, describing the laying of the corner-stone to-day of the Cabot Tower by the Marquis of Dufferin, and conveying greetings from Bristol to the Royal Society of Canada.

Signor Solimbergo presented the greetings of Italy and of Venice, and delivered a happy speech, which closed with wishes for the preservation of Queen Victoria.

United States Consul-General Ingraham, in his remarks, alluded to the extent of the trade relations existing between Great Britain and the United States, and made a pleasant reference to the happy conditions now prevailing. Instead of war over a rocky island or a heap of sand in mid-ocean, the nations send arbitrators to a first-class hotel in Paris, there to settle questions in dispute amid surroundings that had no more danger in them than arose from champagne artillery.

Mayor Thacher of Abany dwelt on the goodness of Queen Victoria, as exemplified in all the acts of her long sovereignty, and the peace and goodwill now existing among the English-speaking nations.

An event not on the afternoon's program was the presentation of a fancy basket to the Countess of Aberdeen by a delegation of Micmac squaws and men, who, attired in curious, bright-colored costumes, had a place in the open square during the exercises, and looked as though they thoroughly enjoyed everything that was going on. Her Excellency received the gift very graciously, and after the ceremony she shook hands with the Micmacs.

Admiral Erskine has received a cablegram, stating that the Queen had conferred upon him the honor of K. C. B.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mrs. Wm. Nugent is dangerously ill. We hope she will soon recover.

The Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and Mr. Dubay, of Peterborough, visited the Point on Sunday.

Mr. Earnest Hill, of Ottawa, is visiting at Mr. McFarlane's Hotel.

The guests at the Lakeview House this week are,—Mr. A. E. Benjamin and Mr. M. Benjamin, of Rochester; Mrs. F. McCarthy, of Montreal.

The steamboats commence their regular trips this week and will connect with the different trains coming into Lakefield. It is very convenient for people living up here to go down on the boat and morning train and after doing business in Peterborough they can return on the evening train, leaving Peterborough at 6.15, and meet the boat again in the evening.

Mr. Wm. Freeburn, sr., is dangerously ill.

Mrs. Jas. Stewart, of Peterborough, is renewing acquaintances here.

The fishing around here is excellent this summer and the bass are very "gamey." The lunge are not biting as they did last summer, but the bass are so plentiful they make up the deficiency.

Mr. Jas. Heard has started a butcher shop here and will be able to supply the villagers with fresh meat all summer. The shop is situated near Mr. R. Heard's house and is convenient to all persons living here and also to the boats.

Wherever the sun shines Dr. Chase's remedies are known, and no music so sweet to many a poor soul as the song of rejoicing over restoration to health in the use of them. Ask your dealer about them.

Thousands are suffering excruciating misery from that plague of the night, Itching Piles, and say nothing about it through sense of delicacy. All such will find an instant relief in the use of Chase's Ointment. It never fails.

An Antidote for Asthma.

Mr. Albert Reid, Angus, Ont., was for over two years a sufferer from asthma. A half bottle of Yellow Oil cured him completely, and although that was some time ago, he has never since been troubled with the same complaint.

Signs of worms are variable appetite, itching at the nose, etc. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is the best worm expeller.

Pure Juice of Fruit

Most of the summer beverages are mere stuff and are neither thirst-quenching nor refreshing—while many of them are quite injurious. On the island of Monserrat the Lime is cultivated and the pure fruit juice pressed out, bottled and sold all over the world under the trade mark name

Monsterrat

It is pure, wholesome and refreshing. Beware of imitations. "Montserrat" is sold by all druggists and grocers, and is always to be had where summer drinks are sold.

If a Lime Juice Cordial is required "Limetta" will be found the finest article of its kind on the market.

RICHARD HALL & SON.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Government Program Explained by Sir R. Cartwright.

EXTENSION OF THE INTERCOLONIAL

Will be Adhered to by the Ministry, Mr. Blair Says—Mr. Foster Raises Many Questions and Thirsts for Information—The Business Almost Finished.

Ottawa, June 24.—(Special.)—Nearly the whole of the morning and the greater part of the afternoon session in the House was taken up in discussing customs matters, and especially in regard to the secret service fund of $5000, to be used in detecting smugglers in the Lower St. Lawrence.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that the smugglers had perfected a system of organization, with headquarters at Quebec and representatives in Montreal. Probably the loss of revenue was $800,000 a year, but what was still worse, the smuggling of liquor was demoralizing the people of whole parishes. Unless the Government procured the aid of informers it would be impossible to bring home guilt to the principals, and it would be absolutely necessary to keep names secret. Not only was it desirable to reach the poor laborers engaged in this nefarious work, but also the rich traders who were at the head of the organization. Sir Richard Cartwright offered to submit the names of beneficiaries from the fund to Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and Mr. Wallace, on the understanding that they would give their word of honor not to divulge names.

Mr. Foster approved of the action of the Government after the explanation had been given. He quite concurred in the necessity of taking steps to prevent smuggling. He suggested that the expenditure be submitted to the Auditor-General as well as to the leader of the House and leader of the Opposition.

Sir Richard Cartwright accepted this suggestion.

After further discussion the item passed.

Then on the postoffice vote, a debate arose on the subject of dismissals, which lasted until 6 o'clock.

At the opening of the afternoon sitting Mr. Sutherland quoted from The Citizen report the remarks made in the Senate by Sir Mackenzie Bowell to the effect that the Liberal whip had threatened Senators that if they voted against the Drummond Counties bill the Government would withdraw the Crow's Nest Pass bill. Mr. Sutherland said that, if correctly reported, Sir Mackenzie was misinformed. He was incapable of resorting to any such despicable methods.

Early in the day Sir Richard Cartwright announced that the Government would drop the franchise bill and the civil service superannuation bill, but would proceed with the iron bounties resolution, the Crow's Nest Pass, the $15,000,000 loan, and the railway resolutions.

Pretty nearly all the members in town were present in the chamber after recess to hear the Ministerial announcement. Sir Richard Cartwright said:

The Minister of Trade and Commerce (Sir Richard Cartwright) will, by consent and your good-will, Mr. Chairman, reply to the hon. leader of the Opposition on the point he was enquiring about. As I understand him, he desired to know why we had brought down an estimate for the purpose of paying rent to the Drummond Counties Railway and the G. T. R. during a few months of the coming financial year. I would simply say this: We are of the opinion that, under the circumstances, it is very desirable that the experiment should be tried, at any rate for a few months, with the object of seeing what the result would be of extending the I. C. R. into Montreal. We consider, of course, that the action taken by another body in this respect was ill-advised, but, at the same time, as it has been taken, it is proposed to proceed not on the basis of any agreement, because, as a matter of course, that is at an end now, but we think it desirable that the experiment should be tried. We think it important, whichever way it goes, that the House and the country should have an opportunity of judging whether we are right in our contention, in which case the objections would disappear, or whether we have been mistaken, in which event it would not be necessary for us to proceed further with the experiment.

"For these reasons we desire to ask the House to give us the power of carrying out for a few months the experiment of connecting the I. C. R. with the city of Montreal, as originally intended. As regards the other matters, if we make reasonable progress with the estimates we are now engaged in, I think I shall ask the Minister of Railways at a convenient hour this evening to proceed with a statement as regards the subsidy to which we propose to direct the attention of the House, and we will probably also take a stage in connection with the Crow's Nest Pass. That, I think, will be as much as we can hope to achieve this evening.

Mr. Foster: Will the hon. gentleman oblige the Commons by stating, not in minute detail, the lines of the agreement upon which the Government propose to make this experimental trial.

The Minister of Railways (Mr. Blair): I may say that we are not in a position at this moment to state the terms of any agreement between the Government and the G. T. R. Company, or any other company, whose rights it will be necessary to acquire and use for the purpose of this extension. We have made no agreement as yet, but we contemplate the extreme probability of our being able to make an agreement which will commend itself to the Government, and will enable us to acquire the use of these lines for the term we have mentioned within the sum we asked Parliament to grant for that purpose. Of course, as to the details, I could not now give the House of Commons any information. That would be obviously impossible, as since the action, taken in another place, we have had no means of considering the subject, or of entering into negotiations with a view of making a temporary arrangement.

We are strongly convinced that the policy of extending the I. C. R. to Montreal is a sound one, and we shall adhere to it. We think that it is not in the interests of the country that the I. C. R. should, any longer than is absolutely necessary, be compelled to terminate at the point where it now terminates, and we shall address ourselves to the making of such an arrangement, if Parliament gives us the grant that will enable us to do so, as will give the matter a fair trial.

Continuing, Mr. Blair said: "I may say that there is a limitation to the obligations which the Government would assume in connection with any arrangement we might make, and that is the limit of the sum voted by Parliament, and hon. members will see further that the sum named corresponds with the amount which was agreed upon between the two companies, and the consideration for which we should aquire the necessary facilities for extending the railway to Montreal. And presumably, the arrangement which may be entered into temporarily may be on these lines; certainly it will not be for a sum in excess of the terms which have been agreed upon, and which now, by reason of the action which has taken place, is at an end.

"I may say further that, so far as there having been any arrangement at all between either the G. T. R. Company and the Government or the Drummond Counties Company and the Government, under which they would receive any consideration from the Government, there has been an entire absence of anything of that kind. The only thing that has taken place is that we have given to the G. T. R. Company an assurance that we will ask Parliament to make to that company the usual 15 per cent. grant, as the hon. gentlemen have seen in the proposed resolution. We intend to ask Parliament to give them 15 per cent. of the amount for the reconstruction and enlargement of the Victoria Bridge, the assistance we grant not to exceed $300,000. I may add further that it is our purpose to ask Parliament to give the subsidy in the ordinary way to the Drummond Counties Railway Company, in order that they may go on and complete their road. That subsidy, of course, would apply only to the mileage that remains uncompleted; that is to say, between Moose Park and Chaudiere, the exact distance, I believe, being 42 1-2 miles.

Mr. Foster: What is the rate of the subsidy?

Mr. Blair: It is proposed under the same conditions as those of old railway subsidies which have been brought down. The subsidy proposed is $3200 per mile, but in the terms of the resolution if the Governor-in-Council is satisfied that the expenditure on the road, that is the bona fide, reasonable outlay, exceeds $15,000 per mile, we propose that in this case, as in others, we can pay 50 per cent. on the amount in excess of $15,000 per mile, but not to exceed on the whole $6400 a mile.

Mr. Foster: And it is the intention, I suppose, to include that in the general supply bill?

The Minister of Railways: We do not propose to take any different course in that regard than what is customary.

Mr. Foster: All I can say is that the hon. gentlemen opposite will consult their own interest, and, I am sure, the convenience of the House, if they will bring that measure down as soon as possible, with just as full explanations as they can give to the committee at that time. The Opposition will take it into their consideration with a view to doing what is best for the country, and perhaps I may be permitted to say that we act as a Parliament made up of two Houses, and if this House, which is a component part of Parliament, takes it into its head that a certain thing is good and pushes it, or that a certain thing is bad and vetoes it, it would ill-become the other branch of Parliament to say that we act from partisan motives. I hope that the same charitable and just judgment will be used by us toward what is an essential component part of the Parliament of this country, and that whatever is done will be considered to be done upon business principles, and not from considerations of partisan interest. [Hear, hear.]

The supplementary estimates for the approaching financial year were pretty well put through, after a long discussion on the postoffice estimates.

After midnight the supplementaries for the current year were taken up and a hot discussion ensued on the item of $18,500 to pay the expense of operating the Baie des Chaleurs Railway for five months.

Mr. Foster moved that the item be struck out, but the motion was lost on division, and the item carried.

The House adjourned at 2 a.m.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. A Toronto Lady's remarkable Escape from Heart Trouble, and her Voluntary Testimony About the Safest and Best of Heart Tonics.

Toronto Testimony Comes Home to Toronto People.

Here is what Mrs. Robt. Mitchell 78 Huron St. says, "Three years ago I had rheumatism, since then I have had serious heart troubles, my physician said caused by the former attack of rheumatism.

My heart was so badly affected that I could not go upstairs or walk a short distance without experiencing violent palpitation, sometimes so badly that I could hardly breathe.

Sleep was almost impossible to obtain on account of the smothering nervous feeling which affected me. Frequently I was so bad that I could not lie down, or even sit down on account of my heart and the shortness of breath.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have changed these distressing and alarming symptoms. They have strengthened the muscles of my heart so that it now performs its duties in a natural way. I can now walk about without inconvenience, and sleep naturally and well.

Exertion does not affect me or cause my heart to beat unnaturally as before, and I am a great deal stronger and better than I have been for a long time. They have done me a world of good, and I heartily recommend them." 137

FORMALLY OPENED!

Dedicating Ceremonies Last Night.

ALL CHURCHES CO-OPERATE.

EVERY PASTOR HAS A SHARE IN THE WORK.

Enthusiastic Attendance of the Public —Brilliant Address by Rev. W. W. Weeks—Brief Remarks by Others — Appreciation of Mrs. Nicholls Liberality.

THE formal opening of the beautiful new Young Men's Christian Association building last night was an epoch in the local history of one of the most notable moral movements of the century and, while not directly intended as such, it constitutes a most resting contribution to the more substantial memorials that mark the Diamond Jubilee year of Her Majesty the Queen. It has been remarked that the inclusively popular character of the demonstration on Tuesday was unique in the history of the town, and it may also be remarked that a similar spirit of co-operative interest distinguished this opening occasion. All the Protestant clergmen and ministers of the town were present and contributed their share to the dedicatory ceremonies, and among the very large number present every church congregation was numerously represented.

THE NOBLE DONOR

Here it will be, it seems, in graceful accord with a proper spirit of gratitude to make some reference to the generosity of the late Mrs. Nicholls, whose ample bequest, enabled the splendid pile that graces the corner of George and Murray streets to be erected, complete from foundation stone to crest of tower, without a cent of incumbrance in the way of indebtedness, but on the other hand with a residue of the bequest, sufficient, when funded, to provide for the insurance of the new building.

While in this particular respect emphasising Mrs. Nicholls liberality, it is due to her memory to refer to her many other great benefactions for public purposes. Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls, relict of the late Robert Nicholls, whose immense estate she inherited, died on the 16th of May, 1890, and in due course it became known that her will specified important bequests for the benefit of the people of the town, and while the new Y. M. C. A. building is the last of these bequests to be implemented, the citizens have been enjoying the benefits of her other bequests which on an occasion of this kind may fittingly be briefly specified. Her bequests, which for the purposes mentioned, aggregate $358,500, consist of gifts as follows: St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, $15,000; St. Paul's Presbyterian church, $5,000; the nine Sunday schools of the town, ($500 each)—$4,500; Mechanics' Institute (endowment) $10,000; Nicholls Hospital (building and endowment), $85,000;

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION, $20,000;

Protestant Home, $20,000; aged and infirm ministers fund, Presbyterian church, $20,000; widows and orphans fund, $20,000; Home Missions, $10,000; Foreign Missions, $10,000; Manitoba and Northwest Missions, $10,000; French Evangelisation, $5,000; Queen's College, $20,000; Knox College, $20,000; Collegiate Institute (scholarships), $2,000; Queen's College (scholarships), $2,000, parks, $60,000. While all her gifts touch the public interest directly or indirectly, the splendid series of three parks—Jackson, West Nicholls and East Nicholls—are a direct delight to every class of the community, high and low, young and old. The administration of these several gifts have been in the capable hands of Mr. Richard Hall and Mr. Charles McGill, who still remain as trustees of the Y.M.C.A. bequest, and will continue to give their attention and interest in that capacity till the institution is fairly set upon its feet. The beginning of the benefits to be derived from Mrs. Nicholls' gift of the Y.M.C.A. building, dates from last night's DEDICATORY CEREMONIES.

The new building was formally dedicated last evening when the large hall and adjoining class rooms, which are only separated by glass folding doors and were all thrown into one apartment for the occasion, were packed to the doors by a thoroughly inter denominational gathering of citizens. The exercises were also so arranged as to be of the same character. Ministers from all the Protestant denominations of the town participating in the exercises, except the Rev. H. Symonds and Rev. W. C. Beer, Ashburnham, who sent regrets and sympathetic greetings.

Amongst those present were Rev. W. W. Weeks, of the Walmer Road Baptist church, Toronto; T. S. Cole, Provincial Travelling Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. E. V. Stevenson and Rev. W. L. Armitage, of St. John's Episcopal church; Rev. Dr. Torrance, St. Paul's Presbyterian church; Rev. A. T. Dykeman, Murray street Baptist church; Rev. J. G. Potter, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church; Rev. J. J. Rae, Charlotte street Methodist church; Rev. O. C. Elliott, Park street Baptist church and Mayor Yelland.

THE CHAIR WAS OCCUPIED

by Mr. Alfred Parker, the President of the Association and the dedicatory functions were opened by the singing of the doxology after which the hymn "All Hail" was sung by those present, Mrs. Brodigan presiding at the piano. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street Methodist church, and the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of St. John's, who selected a portion of the 119th psalm.

The chairman read the following letter from Hon. Geo. A. Cox:

Secretary Young Men's Christian Association, Peterborough:

MY DEAR SIR,—I have delayed an earlier reply to your kind invitation to be present at the dedication exercises of your new building, on the evening of Thursday, the 24th inst, until I knew if I would by that time be relieved from my duties here. It is now certain that I shall unavoidably be detained here, and will, therefore, be deprived of the pleasure of being with you on this interesting occasion. Accept my cordial congratulations upon the completion of your handsome and commodious building, and my best wishes for many years of useful and successful work for the Master.

Yours truly,
GEO A. COX.

Ottawa, June 22nd, 1897.

Regrets at unavoidable absence were also read from the following gentlemen: C. S. Gzowski, Ch. Prov. Com; James Gibson, Ottawa; F. M. Pratt, Toronto; Dr. Harley Smith, Toronto: Port Hope Association; J. C. Flavelle, Toronto; F. J. Fedard, Ottawa: J. J. Gartshore, Toronto; R. J. Colville, Toronto; W. F. Chapman, Montreal; Rev. H. Symonds, Ashburnham, and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Peterborough.

MR. G. M. ROGER,

a past President of the local Association, was then called upon for an address. He found it extremely difficult, he stated, to realise that the Association was ensconsed in such a magnificent building after such a long fight against poverty and adverse circumstances, and he congratulated the members upon such ample provision being made for them. He remembered the Association when it first held its meetings in a little room in the building now occupied as a store by Mr. W. H. Wrighton on George street. In 1876 it became extinct. In 1881 it was re-organised with the moving spirit Mr. Wm. Gilbert as president, and from a most humble beginning had grown to what it was to-day.

The new building was a monument to two people. To Mr. Wm. Gilbert, who had organised the present Association, and to the late Mrs. Nicholls, who reorganised Mr. Gilbert's work and made this handsome provision for it. Succeeding Mr. Gilbert as president was Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, who was followed in the appended order by those who succeeded him in this position:

1883 to 1885, Dr. Fife; 1885 to 1886, J. W. Flavelle; 1886 to 1887, W. F. Hilliard; 1887 to 1890, G. M. Roger; 1890 to 1893, G. J. Early; 1893 to 1896, J. W. Bennet; 1896-7, Alfred Parker.

The general secretaries who have been employed are: 1883 to 1887, Geo. E. Williams; 1887 to 1888, W. H. Stevens; 1888 to 1889, W. J. Herbison; 1889 to 1892, R. J. Colville; 1892 to 1894, W. F. Chapman; 1894 to 1895, R. O. Crowe; 1895 to 1897, H. V. Smith; 1897, George H. Williamson, the present incumbent of that office.

The first general secretary had been employed during the time he himself was actingas president. It was Mr. Geo. H. Williams, and he that his heart almost failed him when on coming from the fine building in Montreal he was put in charge of the single room. He was, however, one of those men upon whom adverse circumstances acted as an incentive, and he laboured well for the cause.

There had been a time when the Association was so pressed for the want of money that it was contemplated closing the rooms. Mr. Budge, at that time was travelling secretary, and he was sent for. He told how other branches had suffered even more adversity, and his words gave new life to the association, which had continued and prospered.

The erection of the new building was considered the most important epoch in the life of the Association. The owning of a building and such a home gave the members a claim on the community which could not fail to be recognized. It was an epoch also in the way of the attractions which it held out to young people, offering them, as it did, great advantages, apart from the spiritual element. The Association, however, must be recognised as a spiritual work if it was to succeed. Great dependence was placed on the support of the ministers and also on that of the ladies of the town. These two things given, success was assured. A glance at the audience therefore showed that a brilliant success was in store for the Association.

"Hide Me Oh Thou Great Jehovah" was then rendered as a quartette by Mrs. Dr. Scott, Mr. C. B. Routley and Master Harry McKee, of the Murray street Baptist church. The selection was most harmoniously produced.

THE EXECUTORS

of the Mrs. Nicholls estate were called upon by the chairman, and in response Mr. Richard Hall, ascended the platform and after expressing his regret at the absence of Mr. Charles McGill, the co executor, stated briefly his pleasure at being present and the additional pleasure it was to hand over the trust which had been in his charge for so many years. He then formally presented the deed of the property to the chairman, and wished the Association success and prosperity in its new quarters.

Mr. R. B. Edwards, rising, stated that he had been asked on behalf of the Association to offer its thanks to the executors. No greater pleasure had ever devolved upon any one than the receiving of so magnificent a gift as had been bestowed, or of expressing thanks for the same to the one who gave it, and to the executors who carried out the trust so well. He hoped that the progress which the Association would make would be the best answer as to the wisdom of the action in making such a bequest. Many monuments in the town marked the generosity and the untiring interest which the late Mrs. Nicholls took in Peterborough. The town had been greatly benefitted by having so kind a benefactress as Mrs. Nicholls, and her zealous and painstaking trustees, Mr. Richard Hall and Mr. Chas. McGill.

The declentory prayer was then offered by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Presbyterian church.

MAYOR YELLAND

was pleased that the town possessed so magnificent a building for the advancement of the rising generation. He, with the others present, had just heard of how the Association had laboured under adverse conditions and he thanked God that it had passed the central point and was now on the fair road to success. When Mr. Hall presented the deed of the property it had occurred to him that surely Peterborough was greatly blessed of God. The rising generation was offered through the Association an opportunity which he hoped many would embrace.

THE NEW Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

MR. T. S. COLE,

Provincial Travelling Secretary, in his address referred in his opening remarks to "the men who had helped make the history of the Association"—Mr. G. M. Roger and Mr. J. Williams Bennett, regretting greatly the absence of the latter at such a time. Such men, he thought, belonged to the noble army of martyrs. By the grace of God they had brought victory many times out of apparent failure.

The members owed much to Mrs. Nicholls and her generosity and they also owed their grateful thanks to the men who had stood by the Association when it had no such bright prospects. In 1883 Mr. G. M. Roger had called upon him in Toronto and invited him to spend Sunday in Peterborough, as the Association was in such a condition that it was on the point of discontinuance. Only ten men were to be found in the town who belonged to the Association. They made plans, however, to canvass the citizens and succeeded in raising between six and seven hundred dollars and then Mr. Williams was selected as the first secretary. As Peterborough was one of the first of the small towns to employ a general secretary, it proved an inspiration to others of the same size to work on and not despair. He hoped the bequest of Mrs. Nicholls and the beautiful building which had been erected would prove an inspiration to the wealthy citizens of other towns to do likewise.

Mr. Cole then spoke a word in favour of the gymnasium and the bowling alley. These agencies had proved subservient time and again to the securing of young men who had afterwards been redeemed.

The Almighty had made Mrs. Nicholls His steward by putting it into her heart to make her magnificent gift; through it an opportunity was given the members to do His work amongst the unreclaimed. With so powerful a lever to assist them he hoped that by God's grace a grand work would be done.

Whilst a collection was being taken Mr. Williamson announced the "high tea" which is to take place between the hours of five and seven this evening, served by the ladies. Later on in the evening a reception is to be held when a musical programme will be presented. The 57th Battalion Band will also be in attendance and a game of basket ball is announced to take place in the gymnasium between the Reds and the Blues.

A quartette from the Charlotte street choir composed of Misses Hendren and Stevens and Messrs. Squires and Skitch then sang "Come Where the Lilies Bloom" in a most delightful manner.

REV. W. W. WEEKES

of the Walmer Road Baptist church, Toronto, was introduced to the audience and delivered an address, which was profusely illustrated by anecdotes which were most aptly applied. He expressed his pleasure at meeting the young men of Peterborough in their splendid new home. He was not surprised when he learned that it was the gift of a woman. It would have been far more of a surprise if a man had made the gift. A woman always leads in all great works. He did not desire to take the time to praise the building as it was its own praise.

He took a text for his remarks, choosing Exodus xxxiv chapter, 29th verse:

"And it came to pass, when Moses came down from Mount Sinai with the two tables of testimony in Moses' hand, when he came down from the Mount, that Moses wist not that the skin of His face shone while He talked with him."

The speaker stated that he believed in applying the gospel to everything, as in his opinion the Christian is the gospel written in flesh and blood, and bound in flesh and blood and according to the Holy Ghost, and he deprecated the fact that there was not more of the outward living of the indwelling Spirit amongst all.

MR. RICHARD HALL,
TRUSTEE OF THE NICHOLLS ESTATE.

In referring to his text he made an allegorical reference to some lives which sped like a meteor across the sky shedding a burst of light and then passing away for ever. Other lives again were as the evening star—at first dim but as the night grows darker it becomes brighter and brighter until we see it resplendent in the midnight sky. Such was the life of Moses, and what was possible for Moses was possible for every young man. God did not take Moses and lift him up to glory. It was only by that he succeeded and any young man has the same chance.

Mr. Weekes then turned his attention to the gaining of and the effect of the unconscious influence referred to in the text, as being possessed by Moses. Many, he thought, would ask themselves the question, "How can I reach this state when such an influence may go out from me unconsciously?"

Moses received the light which shone from his face only after personal communion with his God.

Let no man hope to attain to the highest greatness without the work of regeneration in his soul.

If the work of regeneration is not made to stand before every thing else in this Young Men's Christian Association, the doors had better be nailed up at once for all the good that it will do.

If we are ever to have an influence for God we must first put ourselves in communion with Him and have His glory in our hearts.

A spirit is prevalent in the churches today amongst those attending that in so doing they are winning salvation. The Association should stand as a bulwark against the advancement of that thought.

The church must have the regenerating spirit of Christ in its veins or it is a corpse.

Would you [reach the point where the "unconscious influence" is shining from your face? Then come into the saving knowledge of the Lord Jesus by faith.

The real way to greatness is to come into perfect submission to God's will and let it rule in the soul.

Much is always to be gained by waiting. God has given you this magnificent building and splendid equipment through waiting and patiently working. Half the pleasures of this life are lost by plucking the flower too soon.

IT IS SAID

that at one time the birds had no wings and that their Maker gave them burdens to carry for Him. They hopped about cheerfully carrying their burdens which afterwards turned into wings. It is a beautiful thought and the duties borne for God to-day will assuredly be the wings of the soul to-morrow.

God and Moses came together and held sacred communion.

No man or woman will ever become great unless they are in close fellowship with Jehovah.

Prayer may be considered an important part of communion with Jehovah, but there is a wrong conception of the proper application of the word. The bulk of the people play tramp around God's door and never pray unless they ask for something. As it would break the heart of a parent if its child never came to him unless to ask for something, so it will break the heart of our God if we never come to Him except in the attitude of beggars.

God answers all our prayers. Sometimes He says yes; sometimes He says no and sometimes He says to wait, but whether He says yes, no or wait He always hears and always answers the requests of His children; What we want is to live in so close a communion with Him that we can say amen to His "no" as well as to His "yes."

The light shining from Moses' face was also attained through intense personal sacrifice for the good of others.

When you and I make such sacrifices, then your face and mine will be fit parchment for God to write his glory upon.

not after glory. He offered to have his name erased from the book eternally and yet his name is the one which is to be sung eternally. He sits to-night higher than all others because he went lower. It is not in our ability to climb up into God's glory, but it is in our ability to go down in this world and so go up in the next.

Mr. Weeks endorsed what had been said by Mr. Cole concerning the gymnasium, but cautioned the young men against going in for making muscle for the sake of having it, and not to help others. If one hundred young men were to go through the town with saws and cut wood for the widows and orphans it would be a grand muscle maker. One of the crying evils of the day is the waste of physical energy.

In the present day people did not appear to be striving for the best results. They read the Bible and went to church merely because it made them feel good — nothing else.

Amongst the many church committees there should be one for the study of God's truth. "Show me a man," said he, "who is well grounded in God's truth, and the devil can play no tricks with him. Ignorance of the Bible is responsible for all the religious fads that are started in the present day.

The Bible should be studied more and young men should not waste their time on Hebrew and such stuff, but lay hold of something which would be of some practical use to themselves and others.

A SPLENDID FEELING

of glorification had been experienced by all during the last few days, and there were but few whose breasts did not swell with pride when they recalled the fact that they were of the greatest empire on earth. An empire, however, is coming whose splendor and glory will outshine even that of Britain. In remembering the Queen let us not forget to remember the King to whom she also looks. We would bear a great deal for our Queen, but how much more should we be willing to bear for the King? Let us be as loyal to Christ and as zealous for His glory as ever British subject was for his sovereign.

Again taking up the thread of his discourse, the speaker stated that the man who is in personal communion with God is the man who makes personal sacrifices for others, and for God's glory. And what is the effect? "Moses face shone and he wist not."

"And he wist not"

There are some people in this world who in contrast are so good that they are afraid no one will know it. So it is with some people who are wise in the same way as was the frog who wished to go south, and implored two wild geese to take him. They consented if he would think of a plan whereby the trip could be accomplished. The frog proposed that they each take the end of a straw in their mouths, and he could take hold of it in the centre with his mouth.

The Charities Conference.

A splendid opportunity to visit Toronto is afforded by the great International Conference of Charities which opens in Toronto on July 7th. The railways have agreed to give a single fare rate, which means that those buying tickets to Toronto, and securing a certificate to that effect, will be given a return ticket for nothing. It is likely that this will be taken advantage of by hundreds, and the discussions on charitable organizations, etc., will be interesting and helpful for all classes. Over 500 distinguished people are expected from the United States, and the privilege of meeting these people will in itself be worth the visit.

Boys' Thin Clothing.

The hot weather days cause mothers some anxiety how to make their boys neat, comfortable and contented in their clothing. Cool suits for the boys and little tots are being better made and better sold, because of the very competition which some people deprecate. It won't do nowadays to charge too much for any article of necessity; yet it is possible just to charge enough to warrant one in giving absolute good quality. Forced sensations are not in our line, but it would be hard to find more intense activity than there is in our Boys' Clothing department just now. In Boys' Summer Suits we show linen and fancy washing Sailor Suits, alpaca, blue unlined serge, thin tweeds, white and navy stripes and jersey cloths. The prices start at 25c. the suit. THROWN FROM A BUGGY

Miss Maggie McDonald Had Her Arm Fractured Yesterday Afternoon.

A runaway accident occurred at the east end of the Hunter street bridge yesterday afternoon at about four o'clock.

Miss Maggie McDonald, daughter of Mr. Charles McDonald, of Downer's Corners, was being driven home by Mr. Michael Sullivan, of Otonabee, when his horse—which was a young Clydesdale colt that had only been driven once before—suddenly shied just opposite Wm. Faint's woolen mill.

The young lady was thrown out with great force, striking her face on the edge of the sidewalk and the horse stepped on her left arm. She was carried into the woolen mill and laid on a mattrass and afterwards removed to Mr. P. Begley's residence, Lake street.

Dr. Moher was summoned and found that the left arm was only slightly fractured although badly crushed and bruised. There were no internal injuries as was at first feared. A painful wound was received through the teeth cutting into the lower lip and penetrating through it.

Declining to go to the hospital, Miss McDonald was carried on the mattrass to the residence of Mr. P. Begley, from where she was taken home later in the evening.

The front wheel of the buggy which struck the sidewalk was broken but no other damage was sustained.

Ladies' Day at the New Y. M. C. A. Buildings.

The ladies took possession of the new Y. M.C.A. building this morning at an early hour.

This evening from five to seven they will serve a high tea, which will consist of one of the finest bills of fare yet presented on similar occasions.

The admission to the Tea is 25 cents and this will include the entertainment and "at home" which will begin at 7.30. A varied programme will be presented in different parts of the building. Musicale in the parlors and a band concert by the 57th Battalion band in the gymnasium. At 8.30 a game of basket ball will take place between the Reds and Blues. The following compose the sides:

Blues—S. Hall, captain; E. A. Lord, E. Hall, H. Froude, W. Barrie.

Reds—W. Brooks, captain; Geo. Hartman, J. Dudley, A. McCallum, Ed. Hall.

To those who do not attend the tea a charge of 10 cents will be made.

The citizens of Peterborough should assist the ladies by crowding the new building to-night to its utmost capacity.

To-morrow is boys' day and all boys from twelve to sixteen will be accorded a cordial welcome at the new building from 2 to 6 p.m.

Praise service for young men at 8. p. m. Mr. T. S. Cole, of Toronto, and Mr. T. F. Best, of Brantford, will both speak.

The first one is a 20 foot four man canoe, which is an order from a western Ontario club and will be used for the first time in the regatta of the Toronto Canoe Club on July 3rd. The second canoe is one of the famous war canoes, 32 feet long, to carry seventeen men and in this canoe the company have a difficult feat to perform, namely, to make a canoe which will beat one of their own. The one which they made last year for the St. Anne's club, of Montreal, has swept everything before it. The one now under construction is to be pitted against St. Anne's, and must the crews being equal, defeat last year's champions. The latter canoe is for the Ottawa Canoe Club.

ALMOST DROWNED.

Mr. James Blaine's Son Fell Into the Mill Pond Yesterday.

A drowning fatality very nearly occurred in the Dickson Company's mill pond, Ashburnham, yesterday.

The little son of Mr. James Blaine was playing about on a raft which he had constructed and fell into the water which is quite deep. Being alone at the time his condition was unnoticed until a son of Mr. Patrick Heffernan saw him go under the water and just rescued the boy in time to save him from going down the third time.

Quite a number of the rising generation in Ashburnham make it a practice of spending all their spare time on the race or the mill pond, and it is a wonder that the accidents are not more numerous.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Fred Dover was in Belleville yesterday.

Mr. T. J. Crowley is home from St. Michael's college, Toronto.

Mr. T. H. Hamilton was registered at the Hotel Quinte in Belleville yesterday.

Rev. J. J. Rae and family leave for Bowmanville on the noon train to-morrow.

Mr. J. Smith and wife, of town, are registered at the Tremont House, Toronto.

Miss Mollie Burke, of Lindsay, is at present the guest of the Misses Stenton's, 472 Park street.

Miss Ella Gray left for her home in Glenora after visiting with her uncle Mr. H. Gray, of town.

The Belleville Sun says: Mrs. White of Peterborough is the guest of Mrs. (Dr.) Goldsmith.

Councillor Cobb is recovering from the injuries received on Jubilee Day, but is unable to be up yet.

Miss Susie Hughson of Orangeville is in town visiting Miss Ethel Wrighton, corner of McDouel and Harvey streets.

Miss Ettie Montgomery, who was one of the victims of the Jubilee Day accident at the Driving Park, is able to be up, but cannot touch her foot to the floor yet.

Mr. Wm. Brine is becoming anxious about his side, which was injured in the fall of the grand stand at the Driving Park Jubilee Day. He is thinking of going into the hospital.

In the pass list of the primary examinations of the Ontario Medical Council, are to be found the names of Mr. Victor H. McWilliams, son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, and Mr. A. F. Anderson, of town—congratulations.

Dr. Gray states that he has now every hope of saving Mr. Henry Furber's life. It will be remembered that Mr. Furber met with a severe accident on the Nicholls Park track last week. He is now considered out of danger.

Miss Edith M. Johnson, a graduate of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, and eldest daughter of Mayor Johnson of Belleville, has been appointed one of the head nurses in the Hanhemann Hospital, Chicago, where she recently completed a post graduate course.

Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Young left on the noon train to-day for their new home in Port Hope. A large number of the members of the congregation were at the Grand Trunk depot to see them off. Rev. Mr. Shorey, who is Mr. Young's successor in the George street Methodist church, arrived in town yesterday.

Dr. Eastwood, who accompanied Mr. E. B. Stone to Montreal to consult with the best medical advisers, has returned home. Mr. Stone will, it is expected, return home early next week. It is doubtful if an operation will be performed owing to the great difficulty in locating the cause of the trouble. Mr. Stone is in no apparent worse condition than when he left town.

Peterborough has not been forgotten in the distribution of Diamond Jubilee honours, a former citizen, Sir Sanford Fleming, K.C.M.G., brother in-law of Mr. Sheriff Hall, being among those decorated on Tuesday last. Sir Sanford resided in Peterborough five or six years, and at that time lived in the residence on Brock street now occupied by Mr. Peter Connal. It is said that Sir Sanford Fleming made the first survey and map of the town and county of Peterborough.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL IS CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 40; 1889 at 53; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1895 at 29; 1894 at 55 and in 1895 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $6.00. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

MUNYON

TALKS ON

Dyspepsia.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter rising from the stomach, heartburn, wind on the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lost energy.

When these symptoms are associated with biliousness, yellow-coated tongue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and sallow skin take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure, an hour apart. Where there is constinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If there is great nervousness or inability to sleep, alternate Munyon's Nerve Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

A separate specific for each disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

Personal letters to Prof. Munyon, 11 and 13 Albert street, Toronto, answered with free medical adice for any disease.

UNCLE JIM'S DANCING.

Uncle Jim, he'd never been
To any city ball
Until he come a-visitin'
The folks in town last fall.
Could dance until you couldn't rest,
Knowed how to fling his heel,
But all the dance he knowed wuz jest
The old Virginny reel!

So when they took him to the ball
The gals had lots o' fun;
He went a-slipping crost the hall
An' bumpin' every one.
Of course he couldn't waltz, but they
Jest made believe he could.
They kept on whirlin' him away:
'Twas worse than splittin' wood.

Jest serious as could be, he kept
A-goin' 'round an' 'round';
On all the ladies' trains bestepped
When he warn't fallin' down.
He stood it jest as long as he Could stand it; then he throwed
His hat down, till they laughed to see,
Then jerked his coat und blowed.

He gave his galluses a fitch
An' squared himself, an' then
As quick as that they seen him pitch
Right 'mongst the gals and men.
'Twas dancin' now, without a doubt,
Fer then they seen him peel
His weskit off, an' jump about
In a Virginny reel!

—Atlanta Constitution.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature, they give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Send 31 one cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

Live Stock Pointers.

If the sheep on the farm must be sold, sell them fat.

Do not make the slops from the kitchen answer for water.

There is always more or less loss when the inferior sire is used.

It will help maintain health if the hogs have pure, fresh water every day.

The putting in and culture of the crops has much to do with their productiveness.

The farmer ought to be a good judge of live stock and know how to buy and sell to the best advantage.

When the sheep are sheared is one of the best times to determine what sheep should be kept and what sold.

It is the steady, quite horse that can usually be depended upon to do the biggest day's work during hot weather.

The calf that is to make a good beef animal should be made to grow rapidly from the start, and good feeding is of course necessary.—Farmer's Union.

Treatment of Broody Hens.

When it is desired to break up a persistent sitter it is often a hard matter to succeed, but if the hen is given a new location she often concludes not to sit at all. When a hen becomes broody she should be removed after dark to some place away from the layers. If this location is very near like the old one it is possible the hen will become contented and proceed to sit. At first she may be given two or three wooden eggs, and if she shows an inclination to sit after a day or two she may have the eggs for incubation. Glass or procellan eggs are cold and may cause the hen to refuse to sit, rather than be an inducement to her.—Dakota Field and Farm.

BUSINESS METHODS.

Why Farmers Should Look After Their Insurance Policies.

Farmers sometimes forfeit their insurance by neglect. While the mutual companies do not, as we understand it, hold farmers to the strict letter of the law, as do the stock companies, but go more on the equities of the case in their settlements than on strictly legal points, nevertheless it is wise to have everything straight at the start and keep it straight. For example, many farmers, during the year, make additions to their buildings. The company should be informed of this fact and additional insurance, whether against fire or lightning, should be taken out to cover the increased value. Many farmers sell or trade properties during the year and this vitiates their policy unless an assignment is made, returned to the company and a new policy issued. Where farmers do not sell outright they frequently deed portions of their property to their wives or members of their families, thus making a change of title, and in each the policy should state the facts.

Another matter. In making out a policy always see that the property that you wish to protect is specifically mentioned in the policy and that it is so mentioned that there can be no dispute about it. For example, we heard of a case lately that is likely to lead to litigation in a stock company. The farmer so insured carried so much insurance on grains. A fire occurred and in addition to the grains a lot of clover seed was burned. The question came up at once, is clover seed a grain? It will be very difficult to prove that it is. Therefore the policy should read grain and clover seed, or any other kind of seed.

Another matter. Always keep your policy where you will know where to get it should it be needed for any purpose, and, if possible, keep it in a fire proof safe. Bankers usually take care of papers of this kind and it would be a good thing to leave your policies together with your banker, or in some other place where they are as safe as possible from fire.—Wallace's Farmer.

Oiling the Harness.

Harness will last much longer and look much better if kept well oiled, and will not get so stiff after being exposed to a day's rain. During the spring it is difficult to keep harness from getting wet, and it will pay well before the season's work begins to see that it is thoroughly oiled. In doing the work, the harness should be taken apart and washed clean, using warm water and castile soap, and then wiped dry, when the oil should be applied. If so clean that washing is not needed, it will be better to wipe off with a wet rag, as the oiling can be done better. It is best to take harness apart, in order to get at all of the parts and oil thoroughly. Good harness oil can be purchased all ready for use, or neatsfoot oil, with a little lamp black, will be found good. If the harness has not been oiled for some time, and is hard and dry, it will be best to go over them twice, finishing all up, and then commencing with the first piece and going all over again. After every part has been thoroughly oiled, it should all be hung up over a frame of some kind and allowed to dry. It should not be hung in the sun or where the wind strikes, as it will dry too rapidly. The oil should have plenty of time to soak in. Like most other work on the farm, if undertaken, it will pay to do well.—Journal of Agriculture.

Economy and strength are combined in Hood's Sarsoparilla. Every bottle contains 100 doses and will average to last a month.

A Bicycle Dash to the Pole.

Hugh Lee of Meriden, Conn., who accompanied Lieutenant Peary on his famous trip across the bleak ice fields of Greenland, believes the North Role can be best reached by the use of the bicycle.

Mr. Lee is not joking when he makes this statement. Mr. Lee said, in discussing the idea of an Arctic exploring expedition composed of wheelmen:

"The idea is not at all impracticable—not half so impracticable as some of the scientific world is interested in just now. The immense fields of ice in the Arctic region, although broken in many places by leads in summer and by icebergs all the year round, present an excellent opportunity for the practical use of bicycles. The water freezes as smoothly in the Arctic regions as it does here. The salt crystals make the surface like a gravel path, and the wheel would not slip on the ice, as one might think.

"The snow that covers the ice in winter is pounded down by the wind until it is hard enough to bear a man. The surface is like marble, and I think a wheelman would find no trouble riding over it.

"When I was with Lieutenant Peary on that long trip across Greenland there were miles upon miles of ice and snow, level and smooth enough for wheeling. I frequently wished for my wheel. If I ever go north again I shall take one with me.

"If a man could place a station of supplies upon the most northern of the islands north of Greenland, as Mr. Peary now proposes doing, he would be within three hundred and fifty miles of the pole, and if the ice stretched out in one continuous mass from that land to the pole he could ride there and back in a week. He would be able to carry his provisions with him, because he would not have more than twenty pounds in all.

"The only danger would be from accidents, for if his wheel broke down he would not have provisions enough to last him until he could make his return to camp. It would be dangerous to go alone. Half a dozen men ought to be able to make the trip successfully."

Lost Its Force.

"Ultimatum is a Latin word, isn't it?"

"Yes; it used to mean business, but it doesn't now."—Puck.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, then sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

Science and Workmen's Health.

The value of scientific investigation in regard to the health of those engaged in the various industrial occupations is now such as to admit of definite regulations, public and private, and with results of no small importance to the community, as well as to th individual. The fact is proved, beyond any doubt, that sedentary occupations in ill ventilated apartments and those which expose the workmen to the inhalation of dust should be especially avoided. The different sorts of dust vary, too, in their harmful effects; thus the sharp dust produced in the grinding of needles and steel tools and in the mining of metals is particularly irritating, and the mortality from consumption among operatives in such industries is high, but operatives thus engaged may diminish the liability to harm by wearing "respirators" over the mouth and nose, while at work. In a number of factories in Massachusetts and presumably elsewhere, in which consumption had made serious inroads upon the operatives, the adoption of measures for the prevention of a dusty atmosphere has secured a marked diminution of the prevalence of this disease among those employed in them. The fact also appears that owners and superintendents of mills, factories and workshops can accomplish much toward the prevention of tuberculosis among those whom they employ by the introduction of adequate systems of ventilation and heating and by the use of hard and smooth floors without cracks or crevices.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to a well-known citizen on one of the leading streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to them.

Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganized, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work porperly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

A box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at a cost of 25 cents will regulate the system, purify the blood and make a new person of every sickly man, woman or child.

Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. One pill a dose, one cent a dose.

Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine is and colds. Largest bottle on the market; only 25 cents.

Curious, Isn't It,

That when you buy goods on the instalment plan you expect to pay MORE for them than under ordinary circumstances, but when you buy insurance on the same plan you pay LESS.

A straight life policy in the Manufacturers' Life at age of 30 costs $20.40 per annum per $1000.00, while a 20 Instalment Policy for the same amount costs $15.95. Premiums may be paid for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 years or for life, and if so desired the Company will commute the Instalment into a single cash payment. Same terms and conditions as in all other policies. R. W. ERRETT, Local Agent - - PETERBOROUGH

The jungles of Africa are not the only places in the world where a man courts death from an unseen foe. All the savages of all the barbarous nations of history have not slain one tithe of the men that have been killed by that dread assassin—consumption. One-sixth of all the deaths in the world are due to it.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures by going to the very root of the evil—imperfect and improper nutrition. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the appetite keen and assimilation perfect. It drives out the impurities from the blood and fills it with the life-giving elements that build up the body. It is the greatest blood-maker and purifier. When you pump rich, red, healthy blood into an organ it cannot long remain diseased. This is true of the lungs. New healthy tissue is built up in them and the germs of consumption are driven out. Thousands have testified to their cure by this great remedy. Druggists sell it.

Ralph Green, Esq., of Williamsburg, Callaway Co., Mo., writes: "Before I commenced your treatment I could not take a drink of water without great suffering in my stomach. I could not eat. I was fast sinking and did not weigh more than 135 pounds. To-day I weigh 157. I had five different doctors examine me, and each one treated me without doing me any good. At last I took four or five bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and to-day am in better health than I have been for five years. Whenever I see any of my friends suffering I tell them of your medicine and advise them to write to you."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. It is better to do mending while the damage is slight, than wait until the whole structure is ready to fall. Constipation is the one all-embracing disorder that is responsible for many other diseases. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. Druggists sell them. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Nothing else is "just as good." A permanent cure.

URCHINUS CANADENSIS

An urchin full of wiggles, of wrenchings and of wriggles, Small Boybus Canadensis Urchinus is he,
As happy as a lizzard if he can fill his gizzard with red forbidden fruit from off your favorite apple tree;
A boy to raise the dickens with waddling ducks or chickens, with colts provoked to capers and sometimes to antics worse,
But gay as any linnet, and happy in a minute, just after he is spanked, with but a penny in his purse;
Who fills his countless pockets with trash from nails to rockets, with fish-lines and fantastics of a hundred various brands,
With grime upon his features, one of those agile creatures who runs upon his pattering hoofs or walks upon his hands.
Prone oft to fun and frolic, in autumn melon-cellar; gets cakes including stem-cake and every other kind;
Knees with artistic patches, hats that are ragged thatches, and basement patences frescoing him gracefully behind.
A jangler and a jumper, a thinker and a thumper, a mixture of all opposites in one small carcass blent,
With wants all telescopic, industry microscopic, yet with the smallest blessings ever jolly and content.
Face freckled with sun kisses, heart filled with boyish blisses, mercurial in temper and inclined to favor self.
Yet winsome altogether, in spite of wind or weather, a frolicsome, a rollicksome and capering young elf;
Disturber of the masses, a leveller of classes, as honest in his likings as the openess of morn,
As queer a human creature in fancy and in feature as genius e'er invented or as ever yet was born.
Not after all a spurner of that old-time base-burner, the flat but flapping slipper with the warm and ardent sole,
Which though not quite elective was not the less effective in fringing many a frolic with repentant dearth and dole.
And yet this little fellow time yet shall mould and mellow into a glorious manhood which grand birthrights yet shall claim.
Some women shall adore him, obstacles yield before him, and he may see his name inscribed upon the scrolls of fame.
He needs judicious scolding, a little careful moulding, some yankings and some spankings in thus bringing up by hand.
But careful work will win him, and there is packed within him the future hope and glory of our highly-favored land.

WHO BREAKS, PAYS.

The time was evening—the close of a pleasant summer's day.

The place, the tastefully and even luxuriously furnished parlor of a pretty villa in the suburbs of New York.

The people, a magnificently handsome, athletic man of middle age, and a lady some fifteen years his junior—not handsome, but with a face that was full of power and expression, and whose changing interest won the heart of the beholder as mere soulless beauty has no power to do.

She had had her triumphs, in spite of her lack of regular loveliness—this woman with the sparkling face and deep, bewildering gray eyes. Many a man had thrown his love and fortune at her feet. She had accepted no such offering, however, but had gone on her lonely though triumphant way; and there were those who said that she knew not how to love.

They would have acknowledged their mistake could they have seen her on this evening of which I write, as she stood there in the twilight with those soft, gray eyes resting upon the face of her companion with a look of yearning.

For her time, though long delayed, had come at last. With all the force of her strong and fiery nature, she loved this man, who alone, out of all the many she had known well, loved not her.

"It is settled, then," she said, in a low soft tone. "We part. You leave me—and for her?"

"No, my dear Agatha," he began, in a soothing way.

"Hush!" she said, imperatively. "Do not try to deceive me. I know all, Eltham. I know that you are about to marry a pretty little schoolgirl, whose two attractions are her wax-doll beauty and her wealth. Beauty like that I could not have given you, but fame and love such as your schoolgirl never dreamed of, might have been yours with me. But you have chosen. I say no more. Farewell, Eltham!"

Why could he not love this woman? She was young, and famous already as an opera singer. Above all, she loved him better than he had ever been loved before—far better than he would ever be loved again, if he married as he intended to do!

Agatha Beaumont's color rose high beneath the doubting, questioning glance those bright, blue eyes were fixing on her face. With a woman's keen instinct she read her companion's thought, and resented it as only a proud and loving woman could do.

"Never mind discussing the question with yourself at this late day, Mr. Eltham Poynings," she said, sarcastically. "Your fate and mine are fixed now. Once more—good-bye!"

"Why need it be good-bye, Agatha?" said Eltham Poynings, in his lowest, deepest tone. "Now that it had come to the actual farewell, he found that this woman had taken a stronger hold upon his life than he knew. "Why need it be good-bye, dear Agatha? Cannot we be friends still, even though—"

"Even though you give to another woman the love I once hoped to win! Even though you come to me for a few brief moments, when you grow tired of her pretty face and childish ways! Even though you leave me and go back to her, and leave me loving you!"

"But, Agatha—"

"Take care!" she said, with a dark glance. "You have broken my heart! Who breaks, pays! Take care that no evil befalls you through all this, and, that you may be safe from such, leave me in peace—now and forever!"

She pressed his hand convulsively. She glanced, through fast gathering tears, and, for the last time, at that grandly beautiful face that had been so fatal to her. She half lifted his hand, as if she would have raised it to her lips, but the next moment she dashed it aside, and, with a proud lift of the head, turned away and left the room.

Thenceforth, whatsoever she might feel or suffer in secret, the rule of Eltham Poynings over her life and love was, to all outward appearance, at an end.

Mr. Poynings married in due course of time, and, returning to the city with his youthful bride, was just in season to visit the debut of "La Belle Agatha," as the newspapers called her, in a new piece which had been written expressly for her.

Her success was a magnificent one. The whole house rose to greet her as she was led before the curtain after the last act. She was nearly buried beneath bouquets.

All this Mr. Eltham Poynings heard in silence.

She had seen him at the theatre; she glanced at him in the very moment of her triumph, but only as she might have glanced at a stranger. He went home in a fever of remorse and jealousy, and wrote to her that night before he slept. No answer was vouchsafed to his letter, though he felt sure that she had read it. He called at the villa, and Agatha's confidential servant, who had admitted him for six months or more to the boudoir, now looked him coolly in the face, and said that her mistress was engaged."

Six months went by, and he had never seen Agatha except in public. One evening she did not appear at the theatre, as usual. The manager, coming forward, announced that "La Belle Agatha" was "indisposed," but soon hoped to greet her friends again. The same announcement was made for a week, and other pieces were put upon the stage. At the end of the week the whole town was in mourning over the news of Agatha's sudden death!

The physicians averred that she had died of disease of the heart, which had existed, unsuspected, for many years, and developed itself at the last with frightful and fatal rapidity. And one man, hearing this, smote his breast in secret, and called himself a murderer. They buried her at Greenwood, in one of the shadiest and sunniest nooks of that shady and sunny place. The whole fashionable world, literary and artistic, followed the coffin to its resting place, and there were few dry eyes looking on, as the first clods of earth fell, with a heavy, mournful sound, upon the closed lid.

Only one mourner was wanting in that funeral cortege. Eltham Poynings had left town with his young wife the day after Agatha's death, and was now at Long Branch. Many remarked upon his absence. Some approved of it; some—and those of the kinder hearted—openly condemned!

But none knew what I know—that at ten o'clock that night a stately figure knelt beside that new-made grave, and a face, beautiful even in its sorrow and despair, was raised to the calm night sky, wet with tears that flowed, alas! too late.

"Agatha, my love! my darling!" moaned the perfect lips.

But the quiet sleeper beneath the dark brown mold was, for the first time, deaf and silent, and gave no answer to the once beloved voice.

"Who breaks, pays!" And Eltham Poynings, amid all the splendor and luxury of his daily life, is a sad and lonely man. His heart—what there is of it—lies in the grave of the woman whom his coldness grieved and killed—the woman whose death had power to teach him that he loved her!—N. Y. Ledger.

A NOVA SCOTIA CASE.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

THE AURORA BOREALIS.

As Elusive to the Scientific Grasp as to the Casual Observer.

A multitude of observers have studied the aurora, but the scientific grasp has found it as elusive in fact as it seems to casual observation, and its exact nature is as undetermined to day as it was 100 years ago. There has been no dearth of theories concerning it, however. Biot, who studied it in the Shetland Islands, in 1817, thought it due to electrified ferruginous dust, the origin of which he ascribed to Icelandic volcanoes. Much more recently the idea of ferruginous particles has been revived, their presence being ascribed, not to volcanoes, but to the meteorites constantly being dissipated in the upper atmosphere. Ferruginous dust, presumably of such origin, has been found on the polar snows, as well as on the snows of mountain tops, but whether it could produce the phenomena of aurorus is at least and open question. The prevailing theory of to-day is that the aurora is due to a current of electricity generated at the equator and passing through upper regions of space, to enter the earth at the magnetic poles, simply reversing the course which Franklin assumed.

The similarity of the auroral light to that generated in a vacuum bulb by the passage of electricity lends support to the long-standing supposition that the aurora is of electrical origin, but the subject still awaits complete elucidation. For once even that mystery solver, the spectroscope, has been baffled, for the line it sifts from the aurora is not matched by that of any recognized substance. A like line is found in the zodiacal light, though thought by some astronomers to be due to meteor swarms about the sun, is held to be, on the whole, as mysterious as the aurora itself.

Whatever the exact nature of the aurora, it has long been known to be intimately associated with the phenomena of terrestrial magnetism. Whenever a brilliant aurora is visible, the world is sure to be visited with what Humboldt called a magnetic storm—a "storm" which manifests itself to human senses in no way whatsoever except by deflecting the magnetic needle and conjuring with the electric wire. Such magnetic storms are curiously associated with spots on the sun—just how no one has explained, but the fact itself is unquestioned. Sun-spots, too, seem directly linked with auroras, each of these phenomena passing through periods of greatest and least frequency in corresponding circles of about eleven years' duration.—Harper's Magazine for June.

FORMALLY OPENED!

The scheme worked well enough until the trio were espied by two men beneath. Now said they which of the three thought of that scheme. The frog opened its mouth to say "I did" and you know what befel him.

If you want to show your wisdom keep your mouth shut about it. The real genuine piety is like the ripening grain—the riper it gets the more it bends its head. Beware of the man who stands upon the street corner and thrusts his piety upon you.

As the lighthouse keeper does not polish his reflectors so that it can be seen how bright they are, but rather that they can not be seen at all, so true piety hides itself and simply sheds abroad the radiance of Jehovah's love.

Don't, young men, continued the speaker, put too much emphasis on your new building and think the work will go right on by itself now. You must have God's influence with you. Don't let your faith rest in your splendid building. Don't rest here. Take Peterborough for Christ, then go out into the country for Him. Don't say "can't." Be a Moses. You "can" if you "will."

The dedicatory exercises were closed for the evening by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," after which Rev. W. L. Armitage, of St. John's church, pronounced the benediction.

THE NEW BUILDING.

In a previous issue of the EXAMINER the interior of the fine new home of the Young Men's Christian Association was fully described, and its exterior corresponds in excellence with the elaborate excellence of

MR. G. W. WILLIAMSON,
GENERAL SECRETARY Y. M. C. A.

the inside arrangements. Situated on the corner of George and Murray streets, with the latter front facing Central Park, its beautiful facades and conspicuous octagonal tower, give it a distinguishing prominence, as shown by the accompanying illustration. Its area is 65x102 feet, the shorter side or, rather, front, facing on George street, and the main building is three stories in height, with a fine basement. The basement story for five feet above the street level is of heavy rock-faced coursed masonry of Longford stone, with the window sills, jambs and tops tooled. This style of masonry rises to the level of the second floor in the central part of the George street front, and forms the massive setting for the recessed entrance with its circular arch of Credit Valley stone, in which is deeply chiselled in bold gothic letters the legend, "Young Men's Christian Association." This central inset of stone work, and the heavy stone work of the foundation gives the building an appearance of massiveness and solidity, which is carried out in the higher reaches of the outer walls. A broad and solid flight of cut stone steps, circular at one end and all under cover, lead up to the wide, solid oak entrance door. The entrance is flanked on the first floor by broad, half circle windows, with cut stone arches and set with plate glass. These windows are repeated on the Murray street front, and, with the first mentioned, serve to give very effective lighting ing to the parlours and read-re[illegible] respectively. The Murray st[illegible] entrance is of a more simple architectural and structural character and is on a level with the street pavement, interior flights of steps leading up to the first floor and down to the basement, so that neither of the entrance stairways are exposed to the weather. On the George street front there are placed for the second story a triple window group in the the central portion with double windows on each side and on the front a triple window opening, with the central one, circular headed, giving light from the east to the third story. On the Murray street front on the second floor there are similar groups of windows and on the third story a double circular window pierces the parapetted gable. The of the exterior is the lofty and massive tower that rises high at the north-east angle. The first story of this tower is square and continuous with the first story walls of the two fronts. At the junction of the first and second stories the north-west angle recedes by a graded slope in Credit Valley cut stone to form the octagon shape which marks the form of the tower for the other three stories, the fourth rising high above the roof. The tower has circular headed windows and is terminated above by a cornice of moulded brick in arcaded form surmounted by a conical roof with a flag staff as a finial.

The roof plan is bold and harmonises with the general style of architecture, which is composite in nature.

The material of the walls is red brick laid in red mortar, with Credit Valley cut stone facings to all door and window openings. The junctions of the stories are marked with moulded brick string courses.

The George street facade is relieved by a wrought iron balcony over the entrance.

The gymnasium annex is about 40 x 65 feet. It is only two stories in height, but the first or basement story is 16 feet in height, and the second story is 20 feet high.

Mr. W. Blackwell, the architect, has designed a very striking and substantial building exteriorly and well and elaborately complete within for the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association, and one altogether worthy of the liberal bequest and generous intention of the late Mrs. Nicholls.

Counterfeits.

The success of Madden Cereal has brought forth imitations in packages and ground rubbish in bulk. Grocers in many cases telling people it is Madden or "just as good." There is one and only one genuine and original palatable Cereal Coffee. Impossible to mistake. Not a grain of coffee in it. See on the package the registered trade mark and the red diamond with the words "it makes red blood." Grocers sell it at 15c. and 25c.

The Dining Room.

This is the room the average man sees the most of—make it pleasing to the eye and comfortable. It will not cost you much, and we will help to make it cost as little as possible by giving you dining room furniture at the closest prices. Then we have such a range of these goods that we are sure to please you. Call and see our extension tables, sideboards and dining chairs. They are worth seeing now even if you do not buy. Clegg's Furniture Warerooms, 425 and 427 George street.

These are Busy Days at Goughs.'

This great underwriters sale of $40,000 worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Clothing, has assumed proportions which even we ourselves had scarcely looked for. The goods are being sold at the rate of about 47 1-2 cents on the dollar of the wholesale price, or in other words a little less than one-half the manufacturers cost. We assert that equal quantities, of equal qualities, equal shapes, equal cheapness, are not at your disposal elsewhere. In other words we lead the trade in clothing by a long stretch. Some very decided bargains are to be had just now in cool coats and vests for office and street wear. Black lustre coats from $1.25 up; slate, lemon and drab lustre, $1 up; fancy checked and striped lustre, $1 up; linen and crash coats, 90c up; unlined blue serge from $1 up; unlined grey serge from $2 up; unlined thin tweed coats, from $2.50; unlined Jersey cloth from $3; silk coats and vests from $3.25; black and grey lustre vests from 80c; striped and checked lustre vests from 75c; linen vests from 75c, white and coloured duck vests, 90c; checked and striped Cashmere from $1.50; silk and wool Cashmere from $2.25.

SPECIAL REDUCTIONS

in Stamped Linen Goods this week. Stamping a speciality, at MISS MELVILLE'S 424 George Street.

NORWOOD'S JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

An Enthusiastic and Successful Demonstration.

The 22nd being a perfect day for such a celebration as the Queen's Diamond Jubilee calls for, we can say the Norwood celebration was a decided success.

Early in the morning large crowds came in from the country to see the school procession from the Methodist church to the grounds to witness the raising of the fine new flag purchased by the school board to adorn this and future occasions. A large number of the scholars turned out and the effect was grand in the extreme.

After marching to the grounds the flag was raised, after which "God Save the Queen" was sung and speeches delivered by W. E. Roxburgh, chairman of the school board, Dr. Ford, resident ministers and others.

In the afternoon a monster procession of bicyclists, school children, pioneers and riders was formed on the exhibition grounds and marched through the principal streets.

The bicycle procession was most worthy of mention, about 30 beautifully decorated wheels taking part.

The children's procession was also worthy of special mention, reflecting great credit on Mr. Perney, who drilled them, and also on the parade committe for the tasty arrangement.

We regret that owing to shortage of bunting the streets could not be suitably decorated.

The concert in the evening was a decided success, both as to rendering and attendance. About $60 was realized.

Mr. A. R. Anderson as chairman of finance committee, makes a hustler, and the success of the day can be attributed considerably to his energy.

The concert committee, which was headed by A. Freeman, leader of the band, can well be proud of the success of the following concert programme:

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to see such signs of Peterborough's prosperity. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

SANG TO THE QUEEN.

Six Thousand Sweet-Voiced Children

GATHERED AT WINDSOR PARK.

Her Majesty Drove to the Park and Saw the Happy Throng—Firemen From All Parts of the Country—The Queen in Excellent Health and Spirits.

Windsor, Eng., June 25.—The Queen drove to Windsor Park to-day and visited 6000 school children, who were celebrating Her Majesty's Jubilee.

The Queen received delegations from fire brigades belonging to all parts of the Kingdom. The Queen seemed in excellent health and spirits, and smilingly conversed with those around her, evidently much pleased at the children's gathering.

Each child wore a commemorative medal, and finally all joined in singing the National Anthem.

The fireman's parade was one of the largest ever held in England. There were 1200 men in line and 100 engines. The Duke of Marlborough, as President of the National Fire Brigade, presented the officers to the Queen.

While the Queen and the Empress Frederick were dining this evening, a thousand Eton boys, with bands of music, entered the quadrangle of the castle and gave an exhibition of torchlight evolutions and fireworks. The charming spectacle was watched by the Queen and the members of the Royal household from the castle windows.

Premiers at the Theatre.

London, June 25.—The Colonial Premiers and their families were present this evening at the performance of "David Garrick," given at the Criterion Theatre, with Mr. Charles Wyndham and Miss Moore in the cast. After the performance Mr. and Mrs. Wyndham and Miss Moore received them upon the stage.

LAURIER REVIEWED THE TROOPS

And Thanked Them for Their Fine Appearance and Good Behavior.

London, June 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, reviewed the Canadian troops to-day at Chelsea. At the close of the evolutions, the Premier said:

"In behalf of the Government and people of Canada, I congratulate you upon your splendid appearance and upon the good reports I have heard of you from all sides. As Canadians, we all hope that war will never break out; but I express the feelings of all present in saying that if it is the misfortune of the Empire to go to war, the Canadian troops will be quite as ready to go to the battlefield and give a good account of themselves as they have been on parade this morning. In my own behalf, I desire to thank you heartily for your splendid appearance and good conduct, and I shall immediately report to the Government of Canada the excellent accounts I have heard of you."

Colonel Aylmer then called for three cheers for the Premier, which were heartily given.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

All the Foreign Princes and Princesses Entertained in London.

London, June 25.—The Lord Mayor, Sir George Faudel-Phillips, gave a luncheon at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at the Mansion House to all the Princes and Princesses, home and foreign, who were in the Jubilee procession, to meet the special envoys with the rank of ambassador and to part of the diplomatic corps. Among those present were the United States Special Envoy Mr. Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid and the United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, and Mrs. Hay.

The guests were entertained in the Egyptian Hall, whose lofty domed roof, richly ornamented with heavy mouldings, supported on massive fluted golden columns, was of fine finish to the prettily-tinted panels, patterned in Egyptian designs. The Lord Mayor was in the curls robe, as on Jubilee Day. Great crowds of people watched the arrival and departure of the guests, who were warmly cheered.

THE NAVAL REVIEW.

Everything is Ready at Portsmouth for the Event of To-Day.

Portsmouth, England, June 25.—Everything is in readiness for to-morrow's great naval spectacle. Portsmouth, Southsea and their environs are quite repeating London's Jubilee fever. Decorations are universal, profuse and distinctly naval, notably at the gateway of the gun wharf, where brass cannon are mounted in two turrets and in charge of pike men in full armor. Matchlocks protrude from the portholes. On the outside buttresses are the figures of pikemen, while over the gateway is a knight in the full armor of the Queen Anne period.

In addition to these are all sorts of Jubilee devices, formed of Brown Bess pistols, sword blades, matchlocks, cuirasses and dirks. Armed knights in the panoply of the 16th and 17th centuries guard the gateway. The town hall is richly decorated, among the decorations being a group of American flags with the name "Brooklyn" in the centre.

The festivities began this afternoon with a garden party given by Sir Howell Salmon, on the beautiful lawns of the Admiralty House. To-night a banquet was given at the town hall, at which the Right Hon. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, presided.

A number of private entertainments are to be given, to which the officers of the visiting fleet are invited.

On Monday next all the officers will visit the dockyard and be entertained at lunch by the Admiralty, with a garden party to follow on Whale Island.

Tuesday will be devoted to sports, with a dinner at the town hall for these men; on Wednesday evening a ball will be given at the same place for the officers.

The banquet at the town hall to-night was a scene of unprecedented brilliancy; it was preceded by a native guard of honor lining the approaches and presenting arms as the guests arrived. All the latter wore uniforms and decorations. Covers were laid for 250. Prince Henry of Prussia sat next to the Right Hon. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, who presided. The hall was splendidly decorated; the main feature of the decorations being a bust of the Queen, surrounded by a huge wreath made to represent the rose, the thistle and the shamrock, and formed of side-arms. It was surmounted by a Royal crown, studded with incandescent lamps to represent jewels. Around the hall were shields bearing the names of foreign warships that will be present at to-morrow's review.

Mr. Goschen proposed the usual royal toast to the Queen, which was received with great enthusiasm, and then the health of the foreign naval visitors. In the course of a brief speech he gave them a hearty welcome and dwelt upon the comradeship of naval men the world over, arising out of the many things they have in common; common dangers, common hardships, common experiences, common courage and common endurance. They had an advantage over their military brethren in a more frequent intercourse which enabled them to learn the value of each other's qualities and friendship.

Admiral Von Schawn of the Austrian Navy proposed the toast of the British Navy and Mr. Goschen responded.

SPLENDORS IN LONDON.

Lord Lansdowne and the Duke of Westminster Entertain Grandly.

London, June 25.—This evening, the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Secretary of State for War, gave a banquet in the sculpture gallery of Lansdowne House, at which were present the Prince and Princess of Wales, almost all the special envoys and foreign princes now in London, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the Marquis and Marchioness of Londerderry, the Marquis and Marchioness of Salisbury, the Earl of Rosebery, Lord and Lady Wolseley and other persons of high rank.

Later in the evening, most of the guests, including the Prince and Princess of Wales, attended a brilliant ball given in an immense Marquee by the Duke of Westminster. The Marquee was erected in front of Grosvenor House, lined with red and white carpets and hung with gobelin tapestries. The supper was served a la Russe, at small round tables. The floral decorations and illuminations were most beautiful.

Among the guests, in addition to the Prince and Princess of Wales were Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier, Sir William Whiteway, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, the Marquis of Lorne, all the foreign princes and Lord and Lady Lansdowne. It was altogether a most brilliant company.

To Consider Imperial Federation.

London, June 25.—The St. James' Gazette says: "We understand that before the Colonial Premiers depart for their homes they will have conferences with Colonial Secretary Chamberlain in the direction of federation, at which actual proposals to that end will be considered. Canada's chief proposals will likely be the basis of fiscal union, and the offer of Cape Colony to contribute a navy the basis of the defence union."

Countess of Aylesford Dead.

London, June 25.—Edith, Dowager Countess of Aylesford, is dead. She was a daughter of the late Lieut.-Col. Poore Williams, M.P., and married in 1871 the seventh Earl of Aylesford. He died in 1885.

The Detective Was Nearly Killed.

Bombay, June 25.—A detective, who has been investigating the fatal shooting of Lieut. Ayerst, a commissariat officer, and the serious wounding of Plague Commissioner Rand, who were fired upon by a native while they were leaving the Governor's reception at Ganeshkind on Tuesday evening last, has been found insensible at the bottom of a quarry hole near the scene of the outrage. He was suffering from several wounds in the head and is in a critical condition.

CANAL TENDERS.

Some People Would Do Work for $200,000 That Others Ask Nearly Two Millions For.

Ottawa, Ont., June 25.—(Special)—The annual report of the Queen's Printer was presented to Parliament to-day. Dr. Dawson calls attention to delay in sending in copy for the departmental reports. He points out that it would be of great advantage if the books and pamphlets not needed for Parliament were held over to be printed during recess. The work could be much better and more quickly done, and it would not block the bureau at a time when the requirements of Parliament are pressing. No doubt there are occasionally urgent cases which must be met, but three-fourths of the printing is marked "rush," "immediate," "urgent," and it frequently happens that work so marked has stood in type for months without the proofs being returned. Thus it happens that even for six months of the year the bureau is not large enough to contain the number of men required, there are other times when a number of men have to be laid off for want of work. It is evident that all work should be done as quickly as possible, but habitual use of words denoting urgency, detracts from their legitimate force, and often delays other matters of real importance. Nothing is done at the bureau for the outside world. All the work is Government work and the public service gains nothing by such exaggerations. They often, on the other hand, injure the public service by delaying work which is essentially necessary.

Charles E. Pouliot, Liberal member for Temiscouata, who died early this morning, was born in 1863, and was first elected to Parliament last year, although he sat in the Quebec Legislature for a term. He is the fourth member of the Commons who has died since the general elections, the three others being Messrs. Clark, Bergin and Fauvel.

A return laid on the table to-day shows the tenders for work on several of the public works of Canada. On the north channel of the St. Lawrence River the tenders were: M. A. Cleveland, $393,080; Weddell, McAuliffe & Co., $433,038; M. J. Haney, $406,050; Gilbert Blasting and Dredging Company, $755,380; Allan & Fleming, $650,-307, and R. Bickerdike & Co., $1,897,-940.

On the Iroquois section of the Galops Canal they were: Larkin & Sangster, $791,940; W. Davis & Son, $839,437; James Bourque, $861,470; Canadian Construction Company, $954,025; McKinnon & Garland, $1,011,755; McNamee & Bickerdike, $1,022,565; Dawson & Symmes, $1,025,813; Brown, Love & Aylmer, $1,160,930; Andrew Onderdonk, $1,229,640; William Buckner, $1,287,707; R. Weddell & Co., $1,-381,420; M. J. Haney, $1,886,425; M. A. Cleveland, $2,455,770.

On the Cardinal section of the Galops Canal: W. Davis & Son, $1,128,010; McKinnon & Garland, $1,237,107; O'Neil & Ferguson, $1,364,975; Bickerdike, McNamee & Co., $1,442,701; Andrew Onderdonk, $1,472,652; Canadian Construction Company, $1,495,540; Hugh Ryan & Co., $1,567,807; Weddell, McAuliffe & Co., $1,725,426, and M. A. Cleveland, $1,767,019.

AN AWFUL HAILSTORM.

The City of Topeka Riddled Hailstones Killed Dogs and Knocked Down Horses Windows All Broken.

Topeka, Kansas, June 25.—The worst hailstorm known in the history of Kansas struck this city last night. Hailstones weighing 12 to 16 ounces stripped the trees of their foliage, smashed window panes, including the finest plate glass store fronts, cut down telegraph and telephone wires, riddled awnings and inflicted unprecedented damage throughout the city. Dogs were struck in the streets and instantly killed and horses were knocked to their knees.

When the fury of the storm had passed dead birds were found everywhere. Frequent and terrific lightning accompanied the storm.

Topeka looks like a city that has withstood an artillery siege. There are not a dozen buildings in the town that are not almost windowless and many roofs were caven in. The roofs of street cars were also pierced. The damage wrought can better be imagined when it is known that the hailstones ranged in size from that of a hen's egg to that of an ostrich egg, and that 30 minutes after the storm, one hailstone was picked up which measured 14 inches in circumference. Surgeons are busy dressing the wounds of persons injured in the storm, and reports of injuries continue to be received. Many were hurt in runaways.

The following are among the most seriously hurt: Frank Brainard, hackman, skull fractured; J. D. Henderson, liveryman, skull fractured; Roy White, leg broken in a runaway; Mrs. Mary Hughes, arm broken in a runaway; D. K. Lee, bad scalp wound; Miss Anna Fenton, head cut; Fred Hollock, head cut.

Window glass is at a premium here.

THREE LITTLE BOYS DROWNED.

They Were Playing on a Boom in the Gatineau, One Slipped Off and the Others Tried to Save Him.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special.)—Stewart Gilmour, son of Mr. John Gilmour of Ottawa, and two companions named Higgins and Reid, of Chelsea, were drowned in the Gatineau near Chelsea this afternoon. They were playing on a boom in the river, when it is surmised one of the little fellows fell in, and in attempting to help him out the two others were drawn into the water and drowned. All the villagers are at the river side, searching for the bodies.

Stewart Gilmour was only 8 years old, and the little Reid boy but 10 or 12 years of age. Reid is a son of Mr. William Reid, a well-known citizen of Chelsea. The Gatineau River at Chelsea is swift, with rapids in several spots. It is thought likely that the bodies were carried down by the swift current, and will be found in some other water below.

JUMPED OVER THE FALLS

A Stranger Ended His Life Yesterday by Leaping From Prospect Point—He Left a Note.

Niagara Falls, June 25.—A strange man, probably a tramp, about 45 years old, jumped over the Falls from Prospect Point at 12.40 o'clock to-day. The body was not seen afterwards.

The man was of medium build, sandy and had a slight mustache. He was dressed in a shabby brown suit and wore a soft hat. He was a stranger and probably drifted into this city for the purpose of ending his life. He left a note, which reads as follows:

"God bless all on earth and have mercy on my soul."

Many people were at the point at the time, but were unable to rescue him. His body will probably never be found on account of the large rocks at the foot of the Falls, which catch every object at the base.

Just before he reached Prospect Point, where the leap was made, the man scribbled the note referred to and offered it to a woman near him. She refused to take it, and threw it on the ground and the man sprang over without a word.

THE CABOT CELEBRATION.

Montreal Star.

Amid the thunder of the Jubilee celebration, the unveiling of the Cabot memorial at Halifax has not been accorded the attention it merited. Cabot was the Columbus of Canada, and he appropriately sailed under the authority of the English king. He was the first European barque of which we have a sure history, to touch what is now Canadian territory; and his was the first English flag to float on the American continent. Exactly four hundred years have elapsed since that year—the English year of the great decade during which the life of Europe first touched the wilder life of the Americas. Through all that period this continent has been very closely concerned, indeed, with the affairs of the older continent, whose two Italian navigators—Columbus and Cabot—sailing under Spanish and English auspices, plucked it from the dark unknown; and to-day it is the "other half" of European civilization. Europeans but camp in Asia and fitfully invade Africa; they live in America.

The honouring of the four hundredth anniversary of the landing of Cabot by the Canadian people is a fitting memorial of the beginnings of this new country. In our esteem for those who have under our eyes put the finishing touches to the structure, we must not forget the pioneers who chose the site and dug the foundations. Canada's great, are not, by any means, all nineteenth century men. We have our Cabots, our Cartier, our Champlain, our Maisonneuve, our United Empire Loyalists and many another who dared the worst and knew well the meaning of hardship.

A LONG POINT RESIDENT.

HIS WONERFUL STATEMENT.

He Says:

"I Owe My Complete Cure Entirely to Paine's Celery Compound."

Mr. N. Sicard, of Long Point, district of Montreal, P.Q., is continually sounding the praises of Paine's Celery Compound. He has experienced its vitalizing and health-giving virtues; he is well aware of the fact that it pinched him from a terrible condition of weakness and suffering and placed him on the solid rock of health and strength. His brief and truthful statement regarding his failures with physicians in his own home and in the hospital is a strong and direct warning to all who are in a critical condition. Health, new life and perfect safety can alone be found in Paine's Celery Compound. Common sense and the experience of tens of thousands of saved people point to Paine's Celery Compound as the only salvation from misery, suffering and death. Mr. Sicard says:

"I hereby certify that I was cured by Paine's Celery Compound. I had been treated by eminent physicians at my home and was in hospital for eight weeks without any good results. I owe my complete cure entirely to Paine's Celery Compound."

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Misses McDonald, daughters of Dr. McDonald, of Wingham, member for East Huron, were the guests at Roxburgh's this week.

Mr. W. Mackie, night operator at C.P.R. station, met with a serious and painful accident while coasting down a hill two miles south of here, which resulted in a broken arm. He is now at his home in Finch.

A PECULIAR CASE.

DISTRESSING RESULTS FOLLOWING VACCINATION.

A Young Daughter of David McHardy, of Fergus, the Victim—Has Suffered the Most Intense Agony—Doctors Failed to Help Her.

From the Fergus News Record.

Nearly every person in this section is acquainted with Mr. David McHardy, the popular leader of St. Andrew's church choir, Fergus. Our reporter called upon Mr. McHardy at his home in Upper Nichol recently, and from him and his estimable wife a tale of terrible suffering was elicited, suffering that has brought a once strong and healthy child to the verge of the grave. The subject of the sketch, Lena McHardy, is fourteen years of age, and her parents say she has not grown any since her illness began some two years and a half ago. Her terrible suffering dates from the time she was vaccinated in June, 1894, and what she has since undergone has aroused the deepest sympathy of all the friends of the family. In conversation with Mr. McHardy and his wife, the following facts were elicited:—"Two years ago last June," said the father, "Lena was vaccinated by a doctor in Fergus. The arm was very sore and swollen all summer, and became so bad that it was a mass of sores from the shoulder to the elbow. In October, 1894, a large lump appeared on her back, over one of her lungs. The doctor who vaccinated her, treated her all summer, calling very frequently, but the medicine he gave her did her no good, and she was growing weaker and weaker. When the lump broke out on her back another doctor was consulted, who said she was in a very bad state of health. Her constitution appeared to be completely undermined, and her appetite had completely failed. The last doctor called in gave some outward applications and lanced the gathering, but it did not give the patient any benefit. Nine such gatherings have appeared since that time, but each broke and disappeared of its own accord, only, however, to be followed by another. The child became very puny, and little or no food would remain on her stomach. At night she would fairly rave with the pain in her arm and back, and consequently her trouble was aggravated by a loss of sleep. She had the best of attendance but to no avail, and she was slowly but surely sinking. Friends advised a treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and as a last resort the were tried. To the surprise of both parents and friends Lena began to improve soon after beginning the use of the pills. Her appetite returned, she became stronger and her general health much improved. The sores have not yet left her back and arm, but her constitution is being so very much improved under the treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that her parents are looking for a complete cure. Mr. and Mrs. McHardy thank Pink Pills for the present improved condition of their child, as they have done her more good than the scores of bottles of doctor's medicine which she took.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood builder and nerve restorer. They supply the blood with its life and health-giving properties, thus driving disease from the system. There are numerous pink colored imitations, against which the public is warned. The genuine Pink Pills can be had only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all others.

Fine Scientific Calculation

The fine elements of scientific calculation involved in the construction and operation of that wonderful instrument, the sidereal clock at the Greenwich Observatory, are illustrated by the fact that, on one occasion, the correction for a "level" error having become inconveniently large, owing apparently to a subsidence of the eastern support, about a ton weight of stone was placed on the western pier; this, however, having no effect, the stones were removed and a sheet of very thin paper was put under the support on the eastern side, by which the error was at once corrected. But this instrument is exceeded in ingenious mechanism by the transit circle, which consists of a large telescope, the outside of which is not unlike a great cannon, being of solid iron, and is supported by trunions which allow the telescope to be elevated or depressed, to point north or south, and to make a complete revolution, but never to diverge from the north and south line. Its field of view is large, admitting a great amount of light, thus fulfilling its purpose, viz., that of noting the exact time at which stars and planets pass south and north of Greenwich. Upon looking through this telescope is noted what seems to be a vertical row of iron bars at equal distances from each other—they are, however, spiders' webs, the centre one, passing through the focus of the object glass, being the meridian line. By observing the time, therefore, at which the "clock stars" pass over these web lines, or "wires," as they are called, is sidereal time regulated.

MAN AND WIFE IN DISTRESS

From Chronic Catarrh—But Instantaneous Relief Follows the First Application of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder—Don't Neglect the Simplest Cold in the Head, it May Develop Into This Disgusting Malady Almost Before You Can Realize It.

Rev. Dr. Boohor, of Buffalo, says: "My wife and I were both troubled with distressing catarrh, but we have enjoyed freedom from this aggravating malady since the day we used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Its action was instantaneous, giving the most grateful relief within ten minutes after first application. We consider it a godsend to humanity, and believe that no case can be so chronic or deeply seated that it will not immediately relieve and permanently cured." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Tobacco Heart.

GENTLEMEN,—My heart troubled me with violent palpitation, shortness of breath and sleeplessness. This was caused, my physician advised me, by excessive use of tobacco. Since taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills the distressing symptoms have entirely disappeared. They have cured me, and I am thankful to testify to their good effects.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Government Loan Sanctioned by the Members.

OTHER MEASURES PUT THROUGH

A Discussion Between the Leaders on the Question of Prorogation—Monday Will, it is Thought, See the End of the Session—A Lot of Good Work Done.

Ottawa, June 25.—(Special.)—The inconvenience which has arisen consequent upon the departure of so many members from Ottawa before the close of the session led to an explanation by Mr. Taylor this morning. The Montreal Gazette attributed to the Speaker the responsibility for so many members having drawn the balance of their sessional pay and gone home. Mr. Taylor said the Speaker was not to blame. If blame was to be attached to anyone it lay with the whips and leaders of both sides, who represented to Mr. Speaker that it would be convenient to some of the members to allow them to leave.

Mr. Foster confirmed Mr. Taylor's statement, but added that in future it would be better if members were not permitted to leave till about a couple of days before the close of the session.

Mr. Speaker said that some of the members had been allowed to draw their pay at the request of the whips. He had made up his mind that the practice should be discontinued.

The $15,000,000 loan resolution was then taken up. Mr. Fielding pointed out that not one dollar of the loan could be expended without a vote by Parliament in the supply bill. Under the Conservative regime the borrowing power of the Government stood as a rule at $40,000,000. About $8,000,000 of borrowing power remained unexhausted, so that, with the addition of $15,000,000, the total borrowing power would be $23,000,000. There were at present floating loans to the amount of $5,000,000, which would be taken up; $7,152,000 was required for canals and public works; for the Crow's Nest line there would be required $3,600,000, and other railway subsidies would fall due within the next three years.

Mr. Foster suggested that the rate of interest be limited to 3 1-2 per cent., which would be high enough.

Mr. Fielding concurred with him and the change to 3 1-2 per cent. was made.

The bill was then reported.

In committee on the Crow's Nest Railway bill Mr. Foster asked that it be made imperative that the C. P. R. should hand over 50,000 acres of coal lands out of the quarter of a million acres acquired under the British Columbia Southern charter.

Mr. Blair thought the bill was explicit enough. Not a dollar of subsidy would be handed over to the C. P. R. until these 50,000 acres had been transferred.

The matter was under discussion when the House adjourned at 1 o'clock.

At the afternoon session the iron bounty resolutions were taken up.

Mr. Fielding said it was thought advisable to make amends to the iron industry for losses they would undoubtedly sustain by the reduction of duties. The Government had thought it only reasonable to give them a chance to see what development was possible for a few years longer, and, to compensate for loss of duties, the bounties had been increased. The increased bounty he estimated would amount to $110,000 per annum, or a total of $233,500, based on the figures of 1896. The estimate was 70,000 tons of pig iron, of native and foreign ores of equal parts, at $2.50 per ton; iron puddled bars, 4500 tons, at $3; steel ingots, 15,000 tons, at $3.

Mr. Foster reminded the Minister of Finance that when he brought down the tariff he stated that the increased bounties proposed were intended to offset a reduction of iron duties. After this reduction, however, Mr. Fielding made a further reduction in the iron and steel duties, leaving the bounties as at first provided. If the adjustment in the original budget was fair, then the present proposals must be unjust.

The Minister of Finance replied that he had ascertained that his original adjustment between iron duties and bounties was a miscalculation, and too generous to the iron makers, especially to one large concern, which produced ore and manufactured iron and steel.

Mr. Foster objected to the restriction which made bounties payable only on iron and steel produced for home consumption. He understood the purpose of the bounties was to increase the home production without regard to home consumption. The restriction would operate harshly on producers of charcoal iron. The home demand for this article was limited, and any great development must be for the foreign market.

Mr. Fielding acknowledged that Mr. Foster's suggestions were worthy of consideration, and before the bill passed its final stage the Government would endeavor to meet his views.

Mr. Bell (Pictou) contended that the bounties did not compensate for the reduction in the iron duties. The result was to place the iron industries in great peril by the tariff changes. If the charcoal iron industry were to be benefited, the bounties must be paid on iron for export.

Mr. Fielding desired that the Opposition should look at the bounty from the standpoint of others. If Canada gave a bounty on materials exported, it would arouse resentment in the country to which they were exported, with the result that additional protection would be asked against such Canadian materials.

Mr. Foster denied that the iron bounty paid alike on goods consumed at home or shipped abroad could be called an export bounty, like the sugar bounty in Germany and France. He once more urged fair treatment to all branches of the iron industry.

After further discussion the resolution was adopted.

The House then went into committee of supply.

On the vote to pay the balance due the British American Bank Note Company, Mr. Foster asked how it was that the contract for engraving and printing stamps had been given to the American Bank Note Company instead of to the old contractors, the British American Company, whose contract had not expired.

Mr. Mulock said he would have liked to have given the work to Mr. Burland, but when it was reported to him that there was an inequality and unevenness in his work, that he had supplied paper of inferior quality, that the gumming was not first-class, and the perforation uneven, he had reluctantly come to the conclusion that it would be better to give the work to new contractors.

Mr. Foster said it amounted to this, that in this year of Jubilee, with an outburst of loyalty which was pulsating through Canada, the Government had gone to an alien concern to print off our Jubilee stamps.

The item passed.

On the item for expenses of the tariff investigating commission, Mr. Foster said this little jaunt all over the country had cost $6000. Greater extravagance he could not conceive.

A lively breeze arose in the discussion of an item involving the outlay for decapitation commissions on the intercolonial.

Mr. Foster drew from Mr. Blair the admission that he had not made up his mind what they would receive, but that their allowance was not to be over $25 and expenses. Moreover, Mr. Foster showed that in all the cases under review the commissioners were violent political partisans of the Government.

On the other hand, Sir Louis Davies came in for commendation upon the unimpeachable character of his commissioners, and the nature of their instructions.

As the House went again into committee after dinner, Sir Richard Cartwright, all smiles and affability, endeavored to come to an understanding with the Opposition as to the possibility of getting through with the work of the Commons by Saturday evening.

Mr. Powell, referring to the New Brunswick cases, argued that money spent on those commissions was public money illegally expended for party purposes.

The item passed.

On the item $1397 to pay increases in salary in the Postoffice Department, Mr. Foster said early in the session the Government decided to abolish statutory increases in the service. Now, at the eleventh hour, they were violating this principle as regards one department, to the detriment of all others.

Mr. Mulock insisted that these were not statutory increases.

Sir A. P. Caron claimed that the Government was violating every principle laid down earlier in the session. He objected emphatically, also, to the names of clerks who were to receive increases being withheld.

Mr. Foster said in fairness to the other departments he objected to this vote going through. He intimated his intention to oppose it.

Mr. Mulock said he could not give the names of the clerks who were to receive increases. If the Opposition intended to oppose the item he would have no alternative but to move that it be struck out. [Hear, hear.]

The item was, therefore, struck out.

On the item $100,000 for additional rolling stock on the I. C. R., Mr. Blair said it was proposed, in connection with the extension to Montreal, to purchase six engines, three first-class cars, three second-class, two baggage and two mail cars.

Mr. Foster said this was the first step in the great experiment—an expenditure of $100,000 to cover a nine-months' trial. A pretty costly one it promised to be. He asked any reasonable-minded man in the House to say if this was a business like procedure. If the Government was determined on its experiment, better not to go into it so expensively. He suggested that the item should stand until the House had decided on the principle of the experiment to run into Montreal.

Mr. Blair assented to this suggestion.

Mr. Tarte moved that the item of $5000 for a new postoffice at St. Martins, N. B., be struck out. He had looked into the matter and found that the revenue last year was only $615. He would not, therefore, insist upon the appropriation.

Mr. Foster invited the Minister to state his general policy on appropriations of this character.

Mr. Tarte: The general policy of the department hereafter will be to exercise a great discretion.

Mr. Foster: That will be a great change. [Laughter.]

Mr. Tarte, continuing, admitted frankly that the country was getting too many postoffices.

Mr. Casgrain: What are you going to do about the postoffice at Montmagny?

Mr. Tarte: That vote ($7500) will stand.

To Mr. Foster he replied that the annual revenue was $1743.

Mr. Somerville (Liberal, Brant) said he thought the Government was making a great mistake in voting sums for postoffices in small towns. Public sentiment in Ontario was strongly opposed to this kind of thing. It was a poor compliment to any man to suppose that he could only make his election sure by securing the erection of a useless business.

Mr. Bergeron (Liberal, Berthier) resented the statements of Mr. Somerville. He had never asked for a postoffice in his town although an item of $5000 appears in the estimates.

Mr. Cochrane protested against Ontario being ignored and a lot of little towns in Quebec being favored.

The vote passed.

Mr. Blair at 12.34 said the Government desired to answer statements of the Opposition respecting the Crow's Nest Pass, but at that late hour he did not propose to take up the matter.

Mr. Foster said if prorogation was to take place on Monday the Government must push business. He was ready to go on.

Mr. Blair said if the debate was reopened it would hold the House until morning.

Mr. Foster thought there was something behind the Minister's wish for delay. Did Mr. Blair desire to block the bill?

Mr. Blair replied in the negative, but he did not propose to go on at that hour.

The House then adjourned.

How to Avoid Wasting Time and Money.

A word at this time to the ladies of Canada may be the means of putting them on their guard, so that time and money may not be wasted.

There are certain dealers and storekeepers whose life-object is the making of large profits on every article they sell.

These dealers are now endeavouring to sell adulterated and imitation package dyes for the same price as the honest dealer asks for the reliable and never-failing Diamond Dyes.

Few ladies have the inclination to spend time or money to experiment with worthless and poisonous ingredients put up to outwardly imitate the marvellous Diamond Dyes. If you want good work you must use the best dyes. Years of thorough testing proclaim the fact that Diamond Dyes are the strongest, brightest and most economical; they are the only dyes in the world that are specially warranted. Each packet, when directions are followed, will give satisfactory and astonishing results.

Gigantic Underwriter's Sale of $40,000 Worth of Fine Clothing.

Clothing buyers are having it all their own way here. Stirring times all over our two busy stores, and lively selling becomes more lively every day. There is a spirited exchange of Fine Clothing at strangely cheap prices. Money never bought such values before. We're glad to see such signs of Peterborough's prosperity. We're glad to share in it. The fact that sales all over our stores are greatly in advance of previous season's acknowledges trade leadership.

Nothing to wonder at, after all. Few stores anywhere would begin to be satisfied with the profits we ask, and few merchants would dare to buy goods in such quantities. We have an immense outlet, and we turn it to your advantage in such

Often a cheap price means a cheaper suit. But not so during this Great Underwriter's Sale of FINE Clothing. In this busy time, we put our best foot forward to give Men and Boys the BEST that can be got in Suits. We insist upon a certain high standard of goodness. The trash buyer is not thought of here. The name of the firm who made our goods is known from Halifax to Vancouver as manufacturers of as fine a grade of Clothing as the trade can produce. It may seem bad policy to sell at the prices marked. Some people say that our methods tend to over-trading—that selling at a reckless regard of ordinary values is bad for business in general. In this case, however, it is not our loss, but it certainly will be our customers' gain.

JUMPED FROM THE TRAIN.

A Small Boy Who Was Taking a Ride Meets with an Accident.

The ten-year-old son of Mr. Jeremiah McCarthy, of Lake street, had a "close call" last evening when he jumped from the evening train, which was pulling out for Lindsay.

It seems that the little fellow's uncle is the driver on the train and he always comes to the station to see him as he passes through. Last night he boarded the train as it was being shunted up and down the yard and when it started off for Lindsay he was unaware of the fact until warned by the brakesman that it was time to jump unless he wanted to be carried off. The boy immediately jumped off into darkness and not allowing sufficiently for the speed of the train, lighted on his head in the roadway, just at the corner of Bethune and Simcoe streets.

He was picked up and carried into the office of Dr. Greer, who arrived a few minutes later and found the lad still unconscious. He came to after a time, however, though he was still dazed when he left the office an hour later. No bones were broken, although there was a slight concussion of the brain as indicated by blood from the ears and vomiting.

The boy's condition is much improved this morning, but he still feels the effects of the shock.

ABUSE OF BATHING PRIVILEGES.

Citizens Complain that the Boys do not Behave Themselves Properly.

The bathing season has again re-opened and with it comes the abuse of the privilege.

Complaints are already coming in about the manner in which the boys deport themselves. At Jackson Park most of the boys do not take the trouble to wear bathing suits of any description whatever, and spend half the afternoon in nakedness on the banks of the creek. This beautiful spot, in consequence has been deserted by ladies and children who are forced to go higher up on the hill to hold their picnics, although it is much pleasanter by the water.

Constable McGinty was up at the Park a few days ago and caught a number of youngters in the act of running along the bank naked. He made no arrests but explained the law to the boys and stated that on the next occasion he would have them brought before the Magistrate.

From the Little Lake complaints are also received of the actions of the boys on the piers. If they would remain near the shore on Burnham's Point no exception could be taken to them swimming there, but when there is a crowd on the Point and more on the piers it makes it embarassing for canoeists who are accompanied by ladies.

The attention of the police is also directed to the boathouse at the junction of Lake and Crescent streets, around which a number of boys swim and make remarks to passers by offensively calling attention to themselves.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Best Hymns to be Sung and their History Given.

Rev. O. C. Elliott of the Park street Baptist church, and Rev. A. T. Dykeman of the Murray street church, will exchange pulpits to-morrow morning.

The evening service in the Murray street church will be of an interesting character. A number of our best hymns will be sung. Before and after the singing of each, Pastor Dykeman will give the history of the hymn, its author, origin and effects when sung upon audiences and individuals. Come and enjoy it. All are welcome; seats free.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS.

Regular Monthly Meeting—Reference to the Jubilee Procession and S. O. E. Church Parade.

The regular monthly meeting of Court Chemong, 530, I.O.F., was held last night in the hall, Simcoe street, at which two new members were added to the muster roll of the Court. The Court extends its thanks to Bro. Wm. Higgins, Marshal on 20th and 22nd, and to Bros. Allison and Meldrum, delegates to S.O.E. and Council. The Toronto I.O.F. were congratulated on their splendid display and 1,000 strong turnout. A full attendance is requested for next meeting prior to delegates' departure for High Court.

PLANS OF Y. M. C. A.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In your issue of yesterday you have given Mr. Blackwell credit for having prepared the plans of Y. M. C. A. and for whatever merit there might be in the same. So far as plan is concerned I claim a portion of the merit in the present building, as this arrangement was the outgrowth of plans prepared by myself and suggestions made to the then secretary which were passed over to Mr. Blackwell and by him sent to Toronto, where the elevations were prepared by a Toronto firm of architects, though it was to have been a local competion.

Whatever merit or credit there may have been in the carrying out of the building, it is, so far as I know, all due to Mr. Blackwell and the building is there to speak for itself.

I make this statement to place myself in the proper position in reference to the competition for the plans.

Yours truly,
F. BARTLETT.

THREE MONTHS MORE.

Jas. Burris, Although he Just Got Out of Gaol, Goes up Again.

Jas. Burris was in the police court this morning again, although he just completed a two months' term in gaol on Thursday.

The charge against him this time was that of using filthy and abusive language whilst celebrating the occasion of his liberation from gaol. It seems that at about half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon Burris wandered into the Croft House yard, and seeing Mr. Lynch smoking a cigar, tried to take it away from him for himself. Mr. Lynch wouldn't have this, and Burris used some very filthy language, which, however, was nothing to the flood of Billingsgate, intermingled with threats, which broke forth when the hostler ordered him out of the yard.

The police were telephoned for, and Burris hearing of this, decamped, seeking refuge in the bicycle livery on Brock street. The Chief with the aid of the hostler soon located his man, who came to meet him and again used a lot of bad language warning the men to keep away from him. The Chief, however, closed with him, and soon had the nippers on and marched his prisoner to the cells.

This morning, although Burris pleaded hard for another chance, he was "sent up" for three months at hard labour by the magistrate.

A DANGEROUS TASK.

Putting a Rope Through the Pulley in the Top of Gough's Flag Pole.

Mr. Wm. Fredenburg had a dangerous task to perform this morning when he undertook to climb to the top of the flag pole on Gough Bros. building.

He was noticed from the street before he had ascended very far, and the employees of the George street stores were as thick as flies on the sidewalk watching him as inch by inch he climbed to the top of the thirty foot pole.

The halyards had slipped out of the pulley at the extreme top, and as the pole gradually decreased in circumference as he ascended he swayed like a grasshopper on a stock of wheat, and to a degree to make those watching the climber hold their breath, for as the pole is on the edge of the building a fall to the street must have necessarily followed if anything gave way. The guy ropes, however, held firm and the awkward job was accomplished in safety.

THE JUBILEE HALLELUJAH CHORUS IN LONDON.

Mr. John Crane's Reference to the Grand Musical Event.

Mr. John Crane, organist of St. Paul's church, and an enthusiastic musician, who is spending a few weeks in the Old Country, in a letter to a friend makes a few remarks in reference to the "Grand Jubilee Handel Festival," whose opening concert in the Crystal Palace, London, Mr. Crane had the pleasure of hearing on Monday, June 14th.

It was, Mr. Crane, writes, indeed an inspiring occasion to see and hear a chorus of 3,500 singers with an orchestra of 500, assisted by the grand organ. Mr. August Manns, a veterar at the work, was conductor, and the work was "The Messiah." The soloists were Madame Albani, Madame Mackenzie, and the old veterans, Mr. Edward Lloyd and Mr. Santley. Every one of the artists received an ovation. Their numbers were given with every evidence of their perfect familiarity with the work. I shall not soon forget the singing of Madame Albani of "How Beautiful are the Feet," and "I know that my Redeemer Liveth," or of Madame Mackenzie in the pathetic "He was Despised;" while Mr. Santley's singing of "Why do the Nations," was one of the most enjoyable features.

The choruses were a revelation to me; at the same time one is very much struck with the tempo of the entire work, being slower to a marked degree than we are used to hear in Canada.

Such massive numbers as "And the glory of the Lord," "Lift up your Heads" and the "Immortal Hallelujah" found the singers firmly united in purpose and marching with that superb effect which only a fine choir can attain. So also were the more florid phrases of "For unto us," "His Yoke is easy," and "All we like Sheep," sung with a fine display of unanimity and as few weak places as could reasonably be looked for.

The orchestra was grand being equal to any degree of strength, yet at times so delicate as to but be heard in accompaniment—only enough to sustain the voice. The performance of the delicate "Pastoral Symphony" showed the most beautiful body of strings I have ever heard, while at times—for instance in the part, "And His name shall be called Wonderful;" "Counsellor;" "The Mighty God"—it was then one heard the grand possibilities of the 4,000 performers and the magnificent organ. A very noticeable thing throughout the audience was that nearly everyone had a copy of the score and watched the progress of the work with close attention. I noticed also the spontaneous rising to their feet of the immense audience (17,000) when the "Hallelujah" was being sung.

There were a number of Indian Princes in the audience and it was interesting to watch the wonder-struck demeanor of some of these dusky dignitaries as they lent their ears to Handel's mighty chorus and marvelled, no doubt, that such a concourse of sounds should stand for intelligible music. However, no matter what course the thoughts of their inmost minds took, there they sat and there they listened.

There are to be three concerts—one of selections on the 16th, and "Israel in Egypt" on the 18th.

"The Machine That Talks."

With the aid of the graphophone the human voice is made imperishable. How you would appreciate listening, in after years, to records you can make of the little sayings of your children! How you will enjoy the possession of a permanent record of a favourite song of friend or acquaintance! The day is at hand when households, schools, and public resorts can have these marvellous instruments. Mr. Chas. Legros has been appointed agent for this part of Canada for these wonderful machines, which can be procured for $75 to $300. Go and hear it any time at his tobacco store, George street.

Boys' Thin Clothing.

The hot weather days cause mothers some anxiety how to make their boys neat, comfortable and contented in their clothing. Cool suits for the boys and little tots are being better made and better sold, because of the very competition which some people deprecate. It won't do nowadays to charge too much for any article of necessity; yet it is possible just to charge enough to warrant one in giving absolute good quality. Forced sensations are not in our line, but it would be hard to find more intense activity than there is in our Boys' Clothing department just now. In Boys' Summer Suits we show linen and fancy washing Sailor Suits, alpaca, blue unlined serge, thin tweeds, white and navy stripes and jersey cloths. The prices start at 50c. the suit. OBITUARY.

The Late Alexander Graham.

Mr. Alexander Graham, a former resident of Peterborough, died at Floral Park, N.Y., on June 24th, at the age of 63 years. The deceased gentleman was at one time proprietor of the EXAMINER. He subsequently instituted the Watchman, which afterwards became the Times. Mr. Graham was a native of Peterborough, a son of Mr. Thomas Graham, who lived on Bethune street. His mother was a sister of the late Walter Patterson, Sr. Mr. Graham was married to Miss Gilles, of Verulam, over forty years ago. He went from Peterborough to Rochester, but previous to his death had removed to Floral Park, where he had a position in the office of Childs, the great florist. He leaves behind him a family of six—five sons and one daughter. The remains were interred in Rochester.

MRS. W. J. MORROW'S CONCERT.

It was Held in Charleston, South Carolina, Recently.

The Charleston, South Carolina, Daily Post makes the following reference to Mrs. W. J. Morrow, of Peterborough, which will be read with interest by her many friends in Peterborough:

It was a large audience that greeted Mrs. Morrow and her pupils in their grand vocal and instrumental recital last night in the Hibernian Hall. The concert commenced at 8.30 and the twenty-seven numbers which composed the programme took over two hours to be rendered.

Each piece of the entertainment showed thorough training and Mrs. Morrow can be congratulated on the outcome of her last night's concert. Mrs. Morrow accompanied on the piano all the vocal pieces and did it in a manner that showed her high musical talents. Besides her many pupils who so well filled their parts last night—Mrs. Morrow was assisted by Mr. W. J. Morrow and Masters Vincent, Joseph and Cyril Morrow. The audience did not stint themselves in giving applause and the bouquets were lavishly bestowed.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL NOTES

The solemn ceremony of consecrating the magnificent new altar of St. Peter's Cathedral takes place to-morrow morning, beginning at 6 o'clock and masses will be sung thereafter at 7.30, 8.30, 9.30 and 10 30. a. m. Vespers at 7 o'clock. These services will be held in the church on whose interior work has so far progressed as to permit of such a course.

The silver jubilee—the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Ven. Archdeacon Casey—will take place at 10 o'clock on Tuesday, June 29th. It is expected that several clergymen from a distance will be present.

The formal opening of the interiorly restored cathedral church will be held on Sunday, July 4th. High mass will be sung at 10.30 and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will preach the sermon.

CARD OF THANKS.

LANG, Otonabee, June 25th, 1897.

H. P. LINDSAY, Esq., Representative Temperance and General Life Insurance Co., Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I desire to express to you and the management of the Temperance and General Life Insurance Co., my hearty thanks for the very prompt manner in which your Company paid me the amount ($1,000) of the upon the life of my son, the late Thos. Hastie.

The prompt manner in which the Company discharged their obligation was most satisfactory to me and should meet with the approval of all with whom they are doing business.

I desire to thank you personally for your kindness in expediting the payment of the policy by rendering me kindly assistance.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM HASTIE

SATURDAY JUNE 26, 1897.

MARRIED IN PICTON.

Nuptials of Miss Edna Brewer and Rev. J. C. Anderson, of South Dummer.

On Friday morning, June 11th, a very pleasant event took place in Picton, Ont., when Miss Edna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brewer, was united in matrimony to the Rev. J. C. Anderson, of South Dummer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Joliffe, B. C. L., chairman of the Picton District.

Miss Nettie Porte presided at the piano and at twelve o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were enlivening the surroundings with its mellifluent tone. The bride, most becomingly attired in cream silk, was given away by her father and assisted by Miss L. A. Wakely, of the town of Lindsay. Rev. R. S. Anderson as first man assisted his brother through the ceremony, after which the usual congratulations were most heartily extended and the company sat down to a dinner intended to tempt the most fastidious appetite.

The bride has resided in Picton for some years, during which time she has always been prominently identified with the work of the first Methodist church of that place. Upon the eve of her departure her Sabbath school class presented her with a beautiful and richly bound volume, together with an address of farewell. The teachers and officers of the school most kindly remembered her services with a number of pieces of a very handsome and expensive silver service, and, as if determined that by a multiplicity of tokens Picton and its former pleasant associations should ever be in her thought, the League, in which she always took an active interest, and of which she was organist, presented her with a well worded address of farewell, printed on the most delicate shade of white satin. Other presents were numerous and costly.

A number of friends accompanied them to the station where the blessing of Jupiter fell upon them in the form of rice. When the shower ceased and the farewells were extended they took the train for Toronto.

After spending a few days in the city, they go west via Owen Sound and the Upper Lake steamboat service to Fort William and thence to Winnipeg.

There they purpose visiting other points of interest as far west at the Rockies. After an absence of about two months they will return to Ontario, and settle at Scugog, where the last session of the Bay of Quinte Conference has stationed them to labour for the ensuing year.

Rev. Mr. Anderson has been in the service of the Methodist ministry for the past five years, and has made many warm friends during this term. The prospect for future usefulness is bright and most inviting.

Unitedly Mr. and Mrs. Anderson carry with them the sympathy and prayers for success of a wide circle of friends, also many and continued well wishes for long continuance of happy companionship. We wish the newly-married couple a pleasant trip, long life and happiness.

Rev. Mr. Anderson is well known in this town, having laboured for a year at South Dummer and Westwood, and has made for himself a circle of warm friends, who will ever watch his course with interest and pleasure.

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 22, 1897.

To Messrs. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto:

Gentlemen,— I take great pleasure in testifying to the merits of Dr. Chase's K. & L. Pills. They prove themselves to be just what they are recommended for, and are one of the best selling pills that I have ever handled.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mamie Foote is out of town for a few weeks' holidays.

Miss Clara Mix, of Warkworth, is visiting friends in town.

Rev. R. B. Denike, of Campbellford, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Geo. J. Sherry was up from Norwood on business yesterday.

Mr. Geo. McHugh, M.P., of Lindsay, passed through yesterday.

Mr. D. Eagleson, of Lindsay, has been in town for the last couple of days.

Mr. Will. Wilgar went up to Toronto this afternoon to spend Sunday.

Mr. Fred Chambers has returned to Omemee after visiting friends in town.

Miss Emma Pearce, Norwood, is visiting at the residence of Mr. Aaron Cox for a few days.

Miss Annie Fee, of Omemee, has been visiting friends in town for the last few days.

Mr. Ed. Sawyers a valued member of the Granite Lacrosse Club, has gone to Sherbrooke to live.

Mrs. W. C. Springer and daughter, Miss Georgie, of Cleveland, are in town visiting Miss R. Neithercut.

Miss Ella Gray left yesterday for her home in Oshawa, after visiting with her uncle, Mr. H. Gray, of town.

Mr. J.H. Gilmore and wife, of Rochester, passed through this morning on their way home from Burleigh Falls.

Mr. C. J. Pusey, of Wilberforce, was in town yesterday. He says business is picking up considerably on the I. B. & O. R. R. line.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, was in Omemee last evening where he preached at the preparatory communion service.

Mr. T. F. Best, secretary of the Brantford branch of the Y. M. C. A., will preach in the Park street Baptist church tomorrow evening.

Miss Ethelwyn Thom and Mr. Arthur Runnals wheeled up from Welcome yesterday. Miss Thom is the guest of Miss A. Wood, Ashburnham.

Mr. Henry Furber, who was injured in the bicycle accident at the Nicholls Park track last week, still continues to improve and can now take nourishment.

Rev. Mr. Crossley, the new pastor of the Charlotte street church, who has been very ill in Napanee, is now much better, and will move to Peterborough with his family on Thursday next.

Mr. Court King, son of Dr. King, was successful in pulling off his third year examination in medicine at McGill University. The results were announced yesterday. Congratulations.

Mr. R. B. Williamson, who was formerly a student at the Canadian General Electric Works, and now holds a chair in Lehigh University, Pennsylvania, is in town spending his holidays.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor has returned from Downeyville, where he administered the sacrament of confirmation and the first communion to a large class of children in St. Luke's church on Thursday.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, will preach anniversary sermons in the Grafton Presbyterian church to-morrow, and left on the noon train for that place. His own pulpit will be filled by Rev. C. S. Lord, M.A., of Grafton.

The condition of Mr. Frank Bradburn, son of Mr. T. E Bradburn, who was injured by the falling grand stand in the Driving Park on Jubilee day, is steadily improving. He complains, however, more of his sprained ankle than his broken arm.

The Port Hope Guide says: Mrs. (Rev.) W. R. Young and sister, Miss Ellsworth, leave to-night for Rochester by the North King, to spend a week or two among friends in the Flour City. Rev. W. R. Young is in town, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wickett, Ontario street.

The Lindsay Post says: Lebar, the Peterborough young man who got into trouble over a livery rig, received his trial yesterday before Magistrate McIntyre. He promised $13.50 in settlement of his little escapade if allowed to go, and was remanded for a few hours till the Peterborough police reported payment of the amount by his parents.

The Lindsay Post says: Rev. S. J. Shorey, retiring pastor of the Cambridge street Methodist church, left for his new charge at Peterborough to-day. The rev. gentleman enters upon a second term as pastor of George street, and the unanimous invitation is an expression of his sterling worth and marked ability. His ministrations here have shown an unprecedented success in every aspect of church work, especially in the deepening and broadening of Christian character.

HIGH-CLASS CASH TAILORS. GEORGE ST., PETERBOROUGH

IT WAS LADIES' DAY AT THE NEW Y.M.C.A.

And the Receipts of the Evening Were Large.

THE HIGH TEA A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Reception in the Evening Was Very Largely Attended, and a Flourishing Trade was Done in Ice Cream, Lemonade, Cake, Confectionery and Flowers.

The new home of the Young Men's Christian Association was placed in the hands of the ladies yesterday, and during the afternoon and evening they made a lot of money for the organization.

A high tea which was held between five and seven o'clock was patronized by hundreds, a large number dropping in to take dinner. The tables were in charge of the ladies of St. John's St. John's Mission and St. Luke's Episcopal churches, and were looked after by Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. George Rubidge, Mrs. H. S. Greenwood, Mrs. E. Sherwood. Mrs. F. E. Lount, Mrs. C. Kessenden, Mrs. G. A. Smith, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. A. Comstock, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Best, Miss Halliday, the Misses Rubidge, Miss Barlee, Miss Gibb, Miss Pearce, Miss Calcutt, Miss Emma Denne, Miss Bysbe, Miss Adams, Miss Tivey, Miss Fair, Miss Armstrong, Miss Layfield, Miss Robinson, Miss Wood, Miss Morrison and others.

The splendid and varied menu consisted of cold meats, salads, etc., the tables being profusely decorated with flowers and was daintily served by the young ladies.

LATER IN THE EVENING

a reception was held and ice cream, lemonade, cake, candy and flowers disposed of to increase the receipts.

The candy table was in charge of St. Andrew's church and was prettily decorated with flowers. The confectionery was disposed of by Miss Mary Grant and Miss May Macfarlane.

Ice cream and cake was provided in the reading room and the customers were waited upon by Mrs. Frank Mason, Mrs. John Nugent, Mrs. James Kendry, Miss Edith Shortly, Miss Vina Belleghem, Miss Lula Morrow, Miss Sarah Robinson and Misses Maud and Mabel Mason.

Lemonade was on draft in the secretary's office under the superintendence of the following ladies from the Charlotte street Methodist church:—Mrs. W.H. Hamilton, Mrs. J. J. McBain, Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. Lyle, Mrs. Hall, Miss Ada McBain, Miss Maggie Cox and Miss Maggie Hamilton.

St. Paul's Presbyterian church provided the flowers which were disposed of by the following ladies of that congregation:—Mrs. Richard Hall, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. Smith, Miss Dunlop, Miss Stewart, Miss Collins, Miss Annie Kingan, Miss Wand and Miss Brown.

The gallery of the gymnasium was filled to over-flowing by half-past eight o'clock, at which hour the basket ball match between the Reds and Blues was announced to take place.

THE TWO TEAMS

were composed as follows:

Reds—W. Brooks (Capt.), Geo. Hartman, J. Dudley, Ed. Hall and — Elliott.

Blues—Sandford Hall (Capt.), E. A. Lord, Evy Hall, H. Froude and W. Barrie.

Mr. T. F. Best, of the Brantford Association, acted as referee.

The game proved an intensely close and exciting contest lasting for forty minutes, divided into twenty minute halves.

The Blues had evidently done some practising together as a team, for their combination work was more effective than that of the Reds, although it was not often that they had an opportunity of getting free to make a pass on account of the very close playing of their opponents, who were a somewhat lighter team on the whole.

In the first half only one goal was scored and that was by the Blues, on a shot by Sandford Hall, who eluded his check for an instant, and with unerring aim sent the big ball into the basket. In this half the Reds were given two free throws at the basket on account of fouls on the part of the Blues, but the ball just missed the basket each time by a narrow margin.

In the second half the Reds started in with a rush, and in their anxiety to save their goal, the Blues again broke the rules, one of their team running with the ball, which is not allowed to be carried, but must be passed. On the free throw which was awarded the Reds, Elliott was successful in scoring and thus tieing the score.

The play then grew even more exciting.

TWO FREE THROWS

were given the Blues, but they failed to score, and it looked as though the game would be a draw, but just a minute before time was called Froude made a long throw from the side and calculated the distance so nicely as to score for the Blues. No more scoring was done before time was called and so victory once more perched on the banners of Blue.

[The "Blue" poet, inspired by the drop of another "Red" head in the "Blue" basket evolves the following exquisite verselet:

I sing again of victory.
On pluck and work attendant;
The scar of "Blues" above the "Reds"
Is still in the ascendant.
At "boodle" hunt or basket ball
We thrash the "reds" substantial—
We can give them points and beat them all
At physical or financial.

Whilst the game of basket ball was in progress a musical programme was being rendered in the auditorium, which was crowded with guests.

Mr. G. W. Williamson, the General Secretary, was in the chair and the numbers were as follows:

Vocal Solo	Mr. Nelles
Violin Solo	Mr. McCaig
Vocal Solo	Miss Vair
Recitation	Miss Aggie Patterson
Instrumental Duet	Miss Lillian Hall and Miss Bessie Counal
Recitation	Miss Alma McCollum
Instrumental Duet	Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun and Mrs. G. A. Smith
Vocal Duet	Misses Annie and Clara Belleghem
Vocal Solo	Mr. James Brown
Instrumental Duet	Miss B. Sherin and Mr. Percy Owens

During the evening the 57th Battalion Band was present and rendered a very choice programme of music.

The rooms were all thrown open to the public during the evening and were greatly admired. The upholstering of the cosy corner which was so much admired just at the front entrance, was the gift of the ladies of the Charlotte street church.

To-day is boys' day and all boys from twelve to sixteen will be accorded a cordial welcome at the new building from 2 to 6 p.m.

Praise service for young men at 8. p. m. to-night. Mr. T. S. Cole, of Toronto, and Mr. T. F. Best, of Brantford, will both speak.

The draping of the curtains in the front window of the parlour was a tribute to the decorative genius of Mr. Robt. Ross, of Hall, Gilchrist & Co. The arrangement of them was greatly admired.

Mr. B. Hudson kindly loaned a number of oil painting for the occasion, which were hung in the parlour and reception room.

A consecration meeting will be held at half past nine to-morrow morning, and in the afternoon Mr. T. F. Best, of Brantford, will give a "straight talk" to men at four o'clock. Special music will be provided.

DIXON PARK

The Young Trees Should be Watered Occassionally and the Grass Kept Cut.

Dixon Park is a spot beloved by north enders and this year it is looking particularly attractive. It is about two acres and a half in extent, and there are some beautiful old oaks on the southern portion.

Of the young trees planted perhaps one third are dead through not receiving proper attention during the dry months last year. As, however, they were a trifle too close in places a few dozen more planted in the valley and hill towards the north would remedy the defeciency.

That the park is appreciated is shown by the fact that on Saturday afternoon it is no uncommon sight to see two, and sometimes three little picnic parties in different parts of the grove. The larger trees give plenty of shade and those that are left of the younger trees appear to be flourishing, although provision will undoubtedly have to be made for caring for them during the dry season this summer. Outside of this it is hard to see just what attention the town can bestow upon the park besides keeping the grass cut, which latter Mr. A. E. Dixon, who presented the park to the corporation, will insist on.

A couple of good stout swings would be appreciated and they could easily be put in the big pine trees, of which there are quite a number. Six new benches have been placed in the grove of a colour so brilliant as to easily make them distinguishable.

The matter of keeping the grass cut will again be brought to the attention of the council by Mr. Dixon at its next meeting.

Wherever the sun shines Dr. Chase's remedies are known, and no music so sweet to many a poor soul as the song of rejoicing over restoration to health in the use of them. Ask your dealer about them.

Thousands are suffering excruciating misery from that plague of the night, Itching Piles, and say nothing about it through sense of delicacy. All such will find an instant relief in the use of Chase's Ointment. It never fails.

WHILE WE STOP TO THINK, WE OFTEN MISS OUR OPPORTUNITY.

It needs no thinking to discover that corn at TWENTY-FOUR CENTS PER BUSHEL is CHEAP, and a safe speculation. Corn has sold on the Chicago market in the years mentioned at the following prices:—1887 at 51 cts., 1888 at 40; 1889 at 54; 1890 at 75; 1891 at $1.00; 1892 at 44; 1893 at 59; 1894 at 55 and in 1896 at 30. A big crop and a good crop cannot put it much lower and a small crop and a bad yield can double it in price. I will buy it for investment and purchaser can let it remain in the Chicago elevator, or for speculation, on an advance of $150 for every 5,000 bushels.

MESS PORK is extremely low around $8.60. Stocks are light and decreasing and exports large, local consumption double what it has been for the past two years. What kept pork down for two years was large stocks and poor export and domestic demand. If you have money to invest or speculate your opportunity is now.

TELL HER SO.

Amid the cares of married life,
In spite of toil and business strife,
If you value your sweet wife,
Tell her so!

Prove to her, you don't forget
The bond to which your seal is set;
She's, of life's sweets, the sweetest yet—
Tell her so!

When days are dark and deeply blue,
She has her troubles, same as you,
Show her that your love is true—
Tell her so!

In former days you praised her style,
And spent much care to win her smile;
'Tis just as well now worth your while—
Tell her so!

There was a time you thought it bliss
To get the favor of one kiss;
A dozen now, won't come amiss—
Tell her so!

Your love for her is no mistake—
You feel it, dreaming, or awake—
Don't conceal it! For her sake,
Tell her so!

You'll never know what you have missed
If you make love a game of whist;
Lips mean more than—to be kissed!
Tell her so!

Don't act, if she has passed her prime,
As though, to please her were a crime!
If e'er you loved her, now's the time—
Tell her so!

She'll return, for each caress,
An hundredfold of tenderness!
Hearts like her's were made to bless!
Tell her so!

You are hers, and her's alone;
Well you know, she's all your own;
Don't wait to "carve it on a stone"—
Tell her so!

Never let her heart grow cold—
Richer beauties will unfold;
She is worth her weight in gold!
Tell her so!

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature, they give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

Diamond Jubilee Medal.

London, June 23.—The Queen has ordered a special diamond shaped medal struck in gold and silver for presentation to all the Lord Mayors in the United Kingdom, the Lord Provosts and the Provosts. It will be worn with a ribbon in the usual manner.

Lord Brassey and the Premiers.

London, June 23.—Lord Brassey entertained the colonial Premiers, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was accompanied by his wife, this evening at Normanhurst, the Sussex seat of the Brasseys.

The Naval Review.

London, June 23.—The Jubilee fetes at Spithead, which is to be the scene of a great naval review on Saturday, began today. General Davis, commander of the district, entertained a large number of foreign officers at Government House.

Can Work all the Time.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrh of the stomach, and tried many different prescriptions without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken fifteen bottles and is now able to work all the time. We prise Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." ANNA MERRILL, Eaton, Que.

Others Fail—It Cures!

DEAR SIRS,—From my own experience I can confidently say that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry possesses true merit. It was the means of saving my little girl's life last summer. She was teething and took violent diarrhœa. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cured her, and I feel that I cannot say enough in its favour.

DERRY BIDS FOR IT.

A Deputation Asks the Duke of Norfolk and Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Make it a Port of Call.

London, June 24.—A representative deputation from Londonderry, headed by M. Edmund Francis Vesey Knox, member of Parliament for the city of Londonderry, accompanied by the Duke of Abercorn, Lord Lieutenant of Donegal, had an audience to-day with the Canadian Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the Hotel Cecil, in order to urge the claims of Londonderry as a port for the new Canadian mail steamers.

Subsequently the same delegation had an audience with the Duke of Norfolk, the Postmaster-General, in order to ask the Government to make arrangements for increased train facilities, so as to make the scheme complete.

Both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Duke of Norfolk promised to most carefully consider the suggestions made.

They were all warmly applauded.

SEA LARK IN PORT.

The Training Ship Was Disabled in a Gale and Delayed by Head Winds.

Portsmouth, Eng., June 24.—The training brig, Sea Lark, concerning whose safety anxiety was expressed, as she was due here on Thursday last, from Queen's Ferry, in order to take part in the naval review of Saturday next, reached Spithead safely to-day. The brig had been disabled in a gale and had also been delayed by head winds.

Lovers Quarrel and Death.

Sistersville, W. Va., June 24.—Miss Ida Stewart, a prominent young society lady of this city, committed suicide yesterday in the office of Col. Bob Moore, one of the most prominent attorneys of the city. The fact is that Miss Stewart had been engaged to marry Col. Moore for over a year and that Moore and she quarrelled in his office, whereupon she shot herself dead in his presence.

CAUGHT HIM IN THE COOP.

Arthur Van Camp, a Chicken Thief, Was Fatally Shot by Voorman.

Syracuse, June 24.—Adolph Voormann, a German farmer, living near East Syracuse, hearing thieves in his chicken coop about midnight last night went out with his shotgun to scare away the intruders. Arthur Vancamp of this city, one of the thieves, pried open the coop door, and when Voormann asked him who he was and what he was doing, he refused to answer and started to run. Voorman shouted, "If you run, I'll shoot," and then he fired, Vancamp made no outcry, but ran across lots to the road, and dropped dead a quarter of a mile away.

A FAMOUS MAN!

What His Researches Have Done for the World.

DR. CHASE.

All successful and distinguished men have imitators, and Dr. Chase, the well-known author of Chase's Recipe Book, proved no exception to the rule. Dr. Chase's discoveries have many pretended rivals, but no equals.

Long scientific researches produced Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Chase's Ointment, the first a certain cure for all kidney, liver, stomach, bladder and rheumatic troubles; the latter an absolute specific for chronic and offensive skin diseases. Among his other discoveries were Chase's Catarrh Cure and Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for colds and bronchitis.

During 1895 the Canadian manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto, gave away free 500,000 samples of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and 100,000 samples of Chase's Ointment. The return they brought proved how much they were appreciated. The same free distribution of samples will be continued during 1896. Those at a distance should enclose a 5-cent stamp and also receive a sheet of the latest music in return.

They are Good.

Mr. Jas. Hagan, the well known ex-alderman of Kemptville, Ont., says:—"For some years I have been greatly troubled with pain across my back. Urinary troubles caused me much loss of sleep, and I suffered from a tired worn out feeling. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me relief in a short time. The pain in my my back has disappeared, and I feel that I would be doing wrong not to recommend them to others suffering as I did. They are the best medicine I ever used.

ASTONISHED?

Of course you were—could hardly believe that we were making such a big break in prices. Well, we like to astonish buyers, and now we're going to outdo it and "go one better" this week.

SUITS TO ORDER—

The Tweeds and Scotches and Worsteds will now go at a lively gait. Think of making up Suits to your measure, in TWEED, for $12, $13 and $14; in SCOTCH TWEED for $15, $16 and $17; in SERGE, for $14, $15 and $16; in WORSTEDS, for $16, $17 and $19—in latest styles of the tailoring art.

TROUSERS DOWN—

Another honest all wool offer which will give a hint of what we are doing. A superb stock of Trouserings will be made-to-order as low as $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00—1897 designs and all fashionable patterns. Your coat and vest may look a little dingy, but if you are not very particular, they may be made to do, provided you have a new pair of Trousers to brighten up the suit.

See our Fine Worsted Trousers for $2.50—excellent value.

FANCY CAMBRIC SHIRTS—

Here is where we have some extra special values to talk about. Young men and stylish dressers of different tastes can easily select from our assortment of Fancy English and French Cambric Shirts. No woman has the right to be a helpless, sick, nervous, fretful burden to her husband. If she is, it is due to her own ignorance or neglect. If she will take proper care of herself and look after the health of the delicate organs that are the most important parts of her physical make-up, she will soon be a healthy, amiable helpmate, instead of a burden to the partner of her joys and sorrows. No women who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly womanly organism can be a good, helpful wife to an ambitious man. It is easy to keep these organs healthy and vigorous.

The most wonderful medicine for women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the organs that make her a woman. It cures all weakness and disease. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, and permits the tortured nerves to resume their natural condition. It stops all weakening drains and the woman who has hitherto been nervous, weak and fretful becomes robust, helpful and happy. Thousands of happy women, who were once pain-tortured and miserable, testify to its virtues. All good druggists sell it.

"I write you these few lines to let you know the good your 'Favorite Prescription' did my wife," writes Dennis H. Connelly, Esq., of Clear Water, Wright Co., Minn. "Previous to mother-hood she was very sick. She could not do her own work until she took two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' She took her Doctor's medicine but it did her no good. Your medicine is the best my wife ever had."

Have you a good reliable medical book in the house? There ought to be one in every family in the world. Of all the medical books published there is not one so comprehensive and reliable as Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. In all its 1,008 pages there is not one sentence that may not be readily understood. No physician in the world has been a greater benefactor than has Dr. Pierce. The best he knows is in this book. It is illustrated with over 300 plates and drawings. It talks about hundreds of ailments and tells you how to cure them. You may have this book for the cost of mailing it. For the book in paper covers send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover the cost of customs and mailing only. For cloth cover send 50 stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

DREDGING A DESERT.

American Enterprise Retracing Prehistoric Canals.

"During my last visit to Arizona I saw, in the Salt River Valley, a sight that would strike a stranger as queer," said a New York man who makes an occasional trip to the Far West. "A steam dredging scow, such as is used in deepening rivers and harbors for navigation, was voyaging slowly and steadily through a wide strip of arid desert. It had started landward from Salt River, and was excavating its own channel ahead, the river waters following and floating it as it advanced. But the work done was not, in fact, the making of a new channel, but the digging out of an old one, the irrigating canal made by a civilized people that lived and flourished and departed before recorded American history began. That there was a time when this wide valley, now being again redeemed to man, was a garden of plenty, teeming with inhabitants, is shown by the extensive and regular system of broad canals leading from the river, through which water for irrigation was conveyed out upon the cultivated lands. These canals, though choked for centuries with drifting sand and earth, still are plainly indicated on the face of the ground, and so skilfully were they planned and built that modern engineering science applied to irrigation can do no better than retrace their course and restore them.

"The region was well chosen by the primitive canal builders as a land of habitation. The climate is dry sunny and even of temperature, and the arid earth, at the touch of water, becomes fertile and productive. Here the apricots and oranges ripen long in advance of those fruits in California and Florida, and are of rare quality. What race laid out the canals and built the towns whose ruins are strung along the valley is a question not yet settled by archaeologists. Aztecs or Toltecs, or each nation in turn, probably tarried here in their centuries-long migrations southward to the valley of Mexico, and the ruins may be of an older people than either of these.

"Near Mesa in this valley, six miles east of Tempe, is a particularly strange and impressive ruin—the ruin of an immense building, now fallen into a mound-like heap, covering an area of two acres. Its walls were of the fashion the Mexicans call cajones, built up compactly without layers or joints. It is believed that the material used was clay mixed with cactus juice, which hardened into a cement as durable almost as rock. The settlers in the valley come long distances to the ruin to get this material, which they use in making mortar for housebuilding, pulverizing it and then mixing it with water, as they would lime."—New York Sun.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR,—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigour, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy.

FRANCE'S POPULATION.

Meaning and Results of the Decreasing Number of Births.

Jacques Bertillon, the inventor of the famous system of identifying criminals, has written an article for The Temps of Paris on the decreasing birth rate in France and its effect on the population. He says:

"Our fears are again surpassed. An official report which is about to be published by the Journal Officiel shows a deficit of 17,000 lives during the year of 1895.

"This report is symptomatic and of its kind the very worst yet made. In 1890, 1891 and 1892 the statements showed an excess of deaths over births; but that was easily explained, as then the grip was at its height and decreased the births while it raised so alarmingly the number of deaths. In 1895 the figures have but one explanation; the birth rate is growing less, and it has been ever since the beginning of the century, rapidly tending to place itself on an equal footing with the mortality list. This has at last happened. If the birth rate continues to diminish—which it must do unless some remedy is found—we must resign ourselves to the fact that France is rapidly going out of existence, while other countries grow daily more powerful, as the following figures will prove:

BIRTHS PER 1,000 INHABITANTS.

1801—10	31	1851—60	28
1811—20	32	1861—70	26
1821—30	31	1871—80	25
1831—40	29	1881—90	24
1841—50	27	1891—95	22

"This decrease in births is general through France, especially in the northern parts and in Brittany. It has been explained as a consequence of civilization; but if this were so it should be necessary to accept France as the only civilized nation of the world, for she is the sole great European country where births diminish with such implacable regularity, as these figures will show:

BIRTHS PER 1,000 INHABITANTS.

	1841-1850.	1881-1890.
Germany	38	38
Austria	38	38
England	33	33
Italy	37	38
France	27	*24

*Afterward 22.

"Finis Galliae! No matter what point of view we take, the above figures lead us to that.

"The political and military consequences that will ensue are easy to perceive. On the morrow of their war France and Germany had almost the same number of recruits (256,334 in France and 330,136 in Germany), and we could still cling to the hope of again reconquering what we had lost. To-day Germany has more than one-half more recruits (448,433) than France, which yet retains the original number; and, as in Germany, the number of births is twice (1,903,160) as large as in France (908,849) since 1891, it is plain that in fourteen years she will have twice the army that we have.

"Even our wealth is threatened. Our exports reached during the years 1867-1876 an average of 3,306,000,000 francs; in 1895 they increased to 3,374,000,000. During the same period the German exports increased from 2,974,000,000 (the average for 1872-1876) to 4,500,000,000. The reason for this is very simple; the number of our workmen does not increase, while in Germany the population has jumped from 41,000,000 to 52,000,000; hence this gain over us.

"At the end of the last century France represented 27 per cent of the population of the great European powers, and our language was the one most spoken throughout the world. To-day she lives on her past. There are 46,000,000 of people who know France from birth. Such is the number of readers that a French book could have; but the same book written in German could be read by more than 97,000,000 men, and if in English by more than 115,000,000 people. Therefore, it is not only our political and our military power that is menaced by the decreasing births in our population, but also our economic power, and above everything it is the intellectual and moral influence of our writers over the world. It is the intellectual patrimony of France that is on the verge of disappearing."

Physical strength and energy contribute to strength of character, and both may be had by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Difference of Names.

The English do not call things by the same names as we know them. Below are named a few articles in both the American and English styles:

American.	English.

Conductor.	Guard.
Wheat.	Corn.
Corn.	Maize.
Pigs Feet.	Trotters.
Candy.	Sweets, Sweet-meat, Lolly.
Undershirt.	Vest.
Hash.	Mince.

It would be well for those contemplating a trip to England to keep these few common terms in mind. There are hundreds of others.—Pittsburg Despatch.

Mice as Engineers.

Professor Ballison claims that mice are good engineers. In digging holes for telegraph poles one of the workmen became greatly interested in watching the ingenuity and perseverance of a mouse which had fallen into one of the holes. It was four and one-half feet in depth and twenty inches in diameter. The first day the little prisoner spent in running around the bottom of the hole and trying to find a means of escape. The second day he had got over his hysterics and settled down in steady business. He began systematically to dig a spiral groove around the inner ascending grade. He worked night and day. As he got further from the bottom he dug little pockets where he could lie and rest. The interested witness kept it well supplied with food; after awhile the mouse struck a rock; he tried to get under, around, and over the obstacle, but without success. He therefore reversed the spiral and finally reached the top.

Suffered without help—Eighteen Years getting worse—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Bridgewater, N.S., June 21 (Special)—There is no man in this town better known than J. S. Morgan, tinsmith, who was for eighteen years had been going from bad to worse without help until at last he got hold of the right treatment. He says:—"It began with the backache, pains in the limbs, and finally settled down as rheumatism. I was a cripple and after I ran down greatly in weight the doctors said it was Diabetes. About a year and a half ago I quit everything else and took Dodd's kidney Pills. Have taken twenty-three boxes, and have regained my weight, health and strength, I am perfectly cured.

How the Difficulties Presented by a Chinaman's Will Were Overcome.

A Chinaman died, says Harper's Round Table, leaving his property by will to his three sons as follows: "To Fuenhuen, the oldest, one-half thereof; to Nupin, his second son, one-third thereof, and to Ding-bat, his youngest, one-ninth thereof."

When the property was inventoried it was found to consist of nothing more nor less than seventeen elephants, and it puzzled these three heirs how to divide the property according to the terms of the will without chopping up seventeen elephants, and thereby seriously impairing their value. Finally they applied to a wise neighbor, Suenpunk, for advice. Suenpunk had an elephant of his own. He drove it into the yard with the seventeen, and said:

"Now we will suppose that your father left these eighteen elephants: Fuenhuen, take your half and depart." So Fuenhuen took nine elephants and went his way.

"Now, Nupin," said the wise man, "take your third and go." So Nupin took six elephants and traveled.

"Now, Ding-bat," said the wise man, "take your ninth and begone." So Dingbat took two elephants and vamoosed. Then Suenpunk took his own elephant and drove him home again.

Query: Was the property divided according to the terms of the will?

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The Charity Board meets Monday evening.

—A strawberry social will be held at Mr. Jas. Stubbs' next Friday evening, July 2nd.

—The members of the Lindsay C.M.B.A. hold their annual excursion to Chemong Park July 15th.

—The Americans staying at Stony Lake are catching a large quantity of fish, and all seem to be enjoying themselves.

—The fourth annual picnic of the Selwyn Football Club will be held in the new grove on Davis' Point, Braden's shore, on Thursday, July 1st, Dominion Day.

—It is said the recent cold weather has had the effect of killing the young grasshoppers which at one time threatened to over-run the country this year. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

—It is reported that the Lakefield saw mill will not be running this summer, as the Rathbun Co. are cutting their logs at Young's Point. This will be considerable of a loss to the village.

—For beating his wife with intent to kill, Gilbert Smith, the farmer who lives near Fenella, has been sentenced by Judge Benson to eighteen months in the Central Prison. His wife is not dead, as reported, but is on the mend.

—The oldest man of this part of the country may be found in the 7th con. of Haldimand, Oak Hills, in the person of Mr. Geo. Buchanan, who passed his 107th year in March last. A few days ago when visited he was perfectly sound in his faculties and active in conversation.

—The Lindsay Post says,—Rev. S. J. Shorey, the retiring pastor of the Cambridge street church, established a record yesterday that has probably never been equalled by a minister of this district since the pioneer days of the country. Inside of ten hours he married three couples and baptized eight infants.

—Mrs. Cody, of Hamilton, enjoys the unique distinction of having lived under four sovereigns of England. She has been a subject of George III, George IV, William IV and Victoria. When William IV died and Victoria ascended the throne Mrs. Cody was on a troop ship, and heard of the change of monarchs from a passing vessel. The old lady is now near the century mark, but is hale and hearty.

BUFFALO BILL'S GREAT WILD WEST.

It is an aggregation of the peculiar and distinct representatives of the romantic and most picturesque classes of humanity. Real Indians, redskin warriors will ride side by side with real scouts of actual Indian warfare. The series of spectacles presented in the Wild West Show form a living panorama, reproducing the romances of life in the pioneer past. The auditor of an imaginative spirit can conceive himself an actual witness of the thrilling events which strongly mark the history of the march of civilization in the far west. Indians, brilliantly coloured and richly feathered, dash across the arena on their swift and hardy ponies, repeating their war-whoops. Cow boys and Vaqueros sweep to and fro, lasso and shoot, and ride as they only can. The Wild West Show, in short, enables the spectator to clearly realize those scenes and characters in the incessant warfare between white and redskin in the early days. Buffalo Bill, the most gallant cavalier of all of them, has a most striking personality. He is a splendid specimen of a handsome, vigourous and skilful Anglo-Saxon, who has emerged with honour and glory from the most trying tests possible for man to endure. The representations and incidents of Indian and cowboy life lead up to the equally stirring attractions of the congress of rough riders of the world and the great international martial alliance, which form an important adjunct to the Wild West exhibition. Among the rough riders are the Gauchos from the Argentine Republic, Cossacks from the Russian steppes, Bedouin Arabs from the desert of Africa, and the Vequero of Mexico. In the display of trained military achievement will appear detachments from the crack cavalry regiments of Germany, Russia, England and both the cavalry and artillery of the United States, making the entertainment the grandest combination of horse and horsemanship and all that pertains thereto possible to conceive. The great aggregation will appear here on Saturday, July 3rd.

THE HASTINGS DAM.

Why the Farmers along the Otonabee are Seeking Relief.

A visit to Peterborough, per steamer City of Peterborough, last week, via the Otonabee river, says the Hastings Star, explains the reason why the farmers along said river are seeking relief through the Government to lessen the overflow on the land.

The difficulty they assume is the dam at Hastings. Twenty-eight years ago a similar overflow took place, since which time it has not recurred. But when we study the immense territory drained by the Trent river and its tributaries, the heavy rains which we have had in the said territory, it is not hard to understand the cause. The clearing up of the forests gave ready relief to much of the outflow, while the main channel into which it focalizes must necessarily overflow. Already a second slide has been made in the dam here, and even if a third had been made, we question if the relief would have been very perceptible.

HEART'S HEALER

Mrs. Mugger, Wife of Capt. Charles Mugger, of Sydney, C. B., Got Relief in 30 Minutes From Heart Disease of Four Years' Standing, and Declares She Owes Her Life to Dr. Agnew's Cure For the Heart.

"It affords me great pleasure to commend Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, I was sorely afflicted with heart trouble, accompanied with dizziness, palpitation and smothering sensations. For over four years I was treated by best physicians, and used all remedies known to man. I determined to try Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first dose gave me great relief inside of thirty minutes. I used two bottles, and feel to-day I have been completely cured." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

"SHE NODDIT TO ME."

The following poem, which recently appeared in the Bon Accord, a weekly comic journal published in Aberdeen, attracted the notice of the Queen, and her Majesty wrote expressing a desire to be furnished with the name of the author:

I'm but an auld body
Livin' up in Deeside,
In a two-room'd bit hoosie
Wi a toofa' * beside,
Wi' my coo and my grumpy†
I'm as happy's a bee,
But I'm far prooder noo
Since she noddit to me!

I'm nae sae far past wi't—
I'm gie trig and hail,
Can plant twa-three tawties,
An' look after my kail;
And when oor Queen passes
I'm oft oot to see.
Gin by luck she micht notice
And nod oot to me!

But I've ave been unlucky,
And the blinds were aye doon,
Till last week the time
O' her veesit cam' roon'.
I waved my bit apron
As brisk's I could dae,
An' the Queen lauch'd fu' kindly
An noddit to me!

My son sleeps in Egypt—
It's nae ease to freit—
An' yet when I think o't
I'm sair like to greet,
She may feel for my sorrow—
She's a mither, ye see—
An' maybe she kent o't
When she noddit to me!

LOCAL LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

On Saturday last Mr. H. P. Kennedy made one of his largest shipments of stockers this season, nearly 300 head, but was unfortunate enough to have them on the worst market of the season in Buffalo, as there were 88 cars of Canadian stockers on that market on Monday and prices declined fully 50 cents per cwt., or from $2 to $3 per head. Mr. Kennedy will make another shipment on Saturday of the week, but prices are lower, at from 2 to 2¼ cents per lb. To-day he loads a car of butcher cattle for Toronto market; the prices paid are about 3¼ cents per lb.

Fat sheep are offering freely now, and all will be taken at a fair price as the demand is good.

Fat hogs are still bringing about 5¼ cents per lb. for selects.

These are Busy Days at Goughs.'

This great underwriters sale of $40,000 worth of Men's, Youths' and Boys' Fine Clothing, has assumed proportions which even we ourselves had scarcely looked for. The goods are being sold at the rate of about 47 1-2 cents on the dollar of the wholesale price, or in other words a little less than one-half the manufacturers cost. We assert that equal quantities, of equal qualities, equal shapes, equal cheapness, are not at your disposal elsewhere. In other words we lead the trade in clothing by a long stretch. Some very decided bargains are to be had just now in cool coats and vests for office and street wear. Black lustre coats from $1.25 up; slate, lemon and drab lustre, $1 up; fancy checked and striped lustre, $1 up; linen and crash coats, 90c up; unlined blue serge from $1 up; unlined grey serge from $2 up; unlined thin tweed coats, from $2.50; unlined Jersey cloth from $3; silk coats and vests from $5.25; black and grey lustre vests from 80c; striped and checked lustre vests from 75c; linen vests from 75c, white and coloured duck vests, 90c; checked and striped Cashmere from $1.50; silk and wool Cashmere from $2.25.

GOUGH BROS.,
The Wonderful Cheap Men

Two Very Queer Worlds.

The careful observations recently made by Professor Percival Lowell of Harvard, at Tucubaya, in Mexico, prove almost conclusively in the minds of astronomers that no human life can exist on Venus or Mercury, or if there are people there that they must be altogether different from those of the earth, and those who are now believed to inhabit Mars. It has been demonstrated that these planets rotate only once in the full course of orbital revolution around the sun.

The faces which these planets thus turn toward the sun enjoy perpetual day, while the further sides are wrapped in endless night. These planets have, therefore, intense heat on one side and intense cold on the other.

On one side Venus is always glowing in the light of the sun. Night or darkness are there unknown. A heat far greater than any known on this earth prevails over this half of the planet.

On the other side there is perpetual night. No sun ever shines here. The place is covered with ice and snow, and vegetation is unknown.

The same conditions prevail on Mercury. It is, therefore, apparent that if there are human beings upon these planets they must be either a hardened kind of Esquimos or veritable salamanders. Professor Lowell does not say what is the nature of the neutral zone that intervenes between the dark and the light sides of these planets.

The presumption is that here, along the edge, there must be a territory of some thousands of miles where there is a kind of twilight and where the intense heat of one side fades off into the intense cold of the other. These conditions would, it is thought, make human life possible in a restricted district, where vegetation might spring up in a ring around the planets.

SPRING FLOWERS.

I begged a flower of an old, old man,
Who sat by the wayside to mourn,
Whose life had ebb'd to its final span,
As he rested him all forlorn.
"A flower," quoth he, as he sadly smiled,
And held out the bloom to my gaze;
"I gathered these for a poor dead child,
In the thicket, close by the maze."

"What, to the dead, can a flower impart,"
I asked, as he looked on the rose;
"Surely, the clay with its lifeless heart
Seeks nought but the tranquil repose?"
But the old man looked with moistened eye,
And the tear-drop played on his cheek,
As with sorrow's voice he made reply:
"Neither flower nor dead may speak.

"These are the emblems of purity,
The lily, the rose, and the leaf,
They're symbols of love and constancy,
And remind us that life is brief.
They fade, when their nature forsakes them,
To our lives they're closely akin,
They richly adorn him that takes them,
They toil not, nor yet do they spin.

"The bride in her blushes and beauty
For adornment posies entwines,
But casts them aside ere her duty
Leads whither her pleasure inclines.
They're besprinkled with dew from heaven,
They rear themselves proudly and brave,
To us for our lives they are given,
At our death they enshroud our grave."

Wild With Eczema

Hands and Limbs Covered with Blisters, and Great Red Blotches.

Scratched Until Almost Wild. Burned Like Fire, Sleep Impossible.

Cuticura Brings Speedy Relief, and a Permanent Cure at a Cost of $2.

I was a sufferer for eight years from that most distressing of all diseases, Eczema, but can now say truthfully that I am entirely cured. I tried some of the best physicians in the country, but they did me little good. The palms of my hands were covered, and would become inflamed; little white blisters at first would appear, then they would peel off, leaving a red, smooth surface which would burn like fire and itch; well, there is no name for it. On the inside of the upper part of both my limbs, great red blotches, not unlike hives, would appear, and as soon as I became warm, the burning and itching would begin. Night after night I would lie awake all night and scratch and almost go wild. I heard of CUTICURA remedies, got a box of CUTICURA (ointment), a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT (Blood purifier), and gave them a thorough trial, and after a few applications I noticed the redness and inflammation disappear; before I had used one box there was not a sign of Eczema left. I can truthfully assert that $2.00 worth of CUTICURA REMEDIES cured me. Any one I meet who has Eczema, I do not hesitate a moment in recommending your remedies.
